Lincoln 5, Omaha 2. Omaha and Lincoln met at the ball park yesterday and parted, but the Black Sox's curls were dangling at the beits of the Capital city boys. They won easily, and Captain Macullar says they shan't have a run today,

And indeed it would be a shame if they should happen to win.

But that is impossible—unless the Lincolns You ought to have seen them pretend to play yesterday. It was the greatest bluff of he age.

About eight of them ought to be in the brick yard.

That's their proper sphere.

THE LANGSTON-VENABLE CASE. It is Causing House Republicans a Lot of Trouble. WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. - Special Telegram to THE BEE. |- Another day was wasted in the house today, that body adjourning before 1 o'clock owing to the absence of a quorum to approve even the journal. As a matter of fact no one expected that there would be a quorum present, and so, while there were 160 republicans in their seats yesterday, quite a number of them did not consider it worth their while to show up today, feeling quite confident that there would not be a quorum of republicans in the house. The Langston-Venable election case will be decided on Monday. After that the business of the session will be taken up by considering the deficiency bill until the tariff conference report comes in, and that really is the only remaining business before the present session of the Fifty-first con-

would be needless to deny that there are very many stauch republicans who feel quite impatient at the present aspect of affairs. Representative Owen said to your correspondent today. "I think it a most unfortunate mistake that the Langston-Venable case was called up the Langston-Venable case was called up just now. I admit the wisdom of the general policy of demonstrating just now that the republican party will stand by the negro, but I am compelled to say that I think it would have been much better if we had demonstrated our intention to deal fairly by the negro earlier in the session. It is no hardship for Mr. Haugen of Wisconsia, who represents a district that polls a rerepresents a district that polls a re-publican majority of over two thou-sand, to stand up day after day and lead this fight. He is sure of re-election whether he is in his district or not, but there are very many republicans who are not quite so fortunate. There are at least forty or fifty republican members now fighting for re-election whose majority is nearer two hun-dred than two thousand, and it is rather hard for these men to abandon the field in the very midst of the fight and come back here, spending day after day in the effort to seat Mr. Langston. It is true we will vindicate our platform of devotion to the will vindicate our platform of devotion to the colored man, but by seating Mr. Langston we will less five or six or possibly more republican members who are, as I say, compelled to drop their own fight and come here to seat him. It would have been just as easy, I think, to have delayed the Langston-Venable case until next session and great a change to fight our next session and give us a chance to fight our own battles before we are kept here two weeks waiting for a chance to seat Lang-

Mr. Owen represents the senti-ments of a very large number of other republicans, and it is undoubtedly this very feding that their own district and their own return to congress is of infinitely more importance than the scating of Mr. Langston that has kept very many republicans away. Those who are coming here to make a quorum which will seat Langston on Monday are doing so at the risk of their own election and John Langston is taking no small responsibility upon himself in demanding that this Fifty-first congress seat him to the exclusion of all matters. matters and at the risk of the defeat of perhaps a dozen republican members at the may be added that if Mr. O'Ferrall had permitted a vote on Tuesday, when Mr. Hanghen first called up the case, there is but little question that Langston would have been seated, there being enough reproblem votes to oin the democratic votes in scating Mr. Venable Mr. O'Ferrali's blind fillbustering, though, has made the scatter of Langston a party policy and as such there will be many repub heans voting to sent langston next Mo who do so for the party's sake alone. I noticeable fact that Mr. Chentham of nessee, the only colored member in the house of representatives, has not said a word in behalf of Mr. Langston, and it is not alto-ge ther assured that he will be present when a final vote is taken.

The Benwell Marder Trial.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Sept. 20.—|Special Tele-gram to THE BEE.]—The case of Reginald Burchell, for the murder of Fred C. Benwell, in February last, will be called the first thing on Monday morning. From all that can be learned the defense will be an alibi and that Benwell was alive after the date on which the murder was supposed to have been committed. Detective Bluett, who has been unceasing in his efforts complete Burchell's defense, has secured two men who, it is said, will testify that they saw Benwell alive after February 1, the supposed date of the murder. Witnesses will be brought from Brantford who, it is said, will testify to the same effect. The case of the presecution is somewhat weakened by the fact that it is reported that Neville A. Pickethall, whose name was con-Pickethall, whose name was con-nected with the murder at one time as a suspect and taken as an important witness, has disappeared and that he will not appear at the trial. Burchell continues as confident as ever and shows the least concern of all connected with the case. The trial will probably consume the entire

Two Charming Luncheons. Mrs. M. R Risdon entertained a number of her lady friends Wednesday afternoon at a very charming luncheon, which the hostess knows so well how to conduct to a successful conclusion. SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

Marshal Maloney Resigns. Marshal Maloney, being dissatisfied with his treatment by the city council, has resigned. His successor is not yet known. Many thing that Mr. Maloney raised the efsany title that Mr. Maloney rused the efficiency of the police force us to a very high standard and equal to any in the state. The marshal ends his official career with the respect and confidence of all good citizens. Put Back in Distress. San Francisco, Sept20,-The British ship Ventura put back to this harbor this evening in distress. The Ventura sailed from here August 6 for Ireland. On Sepsember 19, during a hurricane, an enormous wave, over a handred feet high, was seen approaching. It towered over the vessel for a moment and then passed clear over it. Everything movable was washed away. The iron door of the lee cabin was lurst in as if by a battering ram and the cabin filled with water. Two scames were swept overboard and drowned. The waves grew, if anything, heavier pounding the ship furiously, which suddenly turned over on its side, leaving the keel above water. The sailors clung to the vesselss best they could. After several hours the wind veered, the cargo began to shift, the vessel righted and the crew managed to work her back here.

Held to the District Court. The case of the state against Charles E. Switcher, in which Switcher was accused by Julius Bonyon of threatening to shot him, was called in Justice Holmes' court yesterday afternson. Both Switcher and Bonyon are farmers living a few miles out of the city, and lately they have been carrying guns and threatening to annihilate each other at the first favorable opportunity. Switcher had Bonyon arrested and bound over to the dissonyon arrested and bound over to the dis-trict court in Shaw's court, and Bonzon re-turned the favor by having Switcher arrested and Justice Holmes held him to the district court in bonds of $500. Ball was furnished and the two men went home, where they will confine their gunning to prairie chickens and rabbits in the future. Oddfellows Conclude Their Session. TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 20.—The sovereign grand lodge, Independent Order of Oddfellows, concluded its annual session today. A resolution was adopted deprecating the holding of national conventions by the Daughters of Rebekah. The grand lodge declined to take action in the matter of barring saloonkeepers from membership. The pro-posed constitutional amendment excluding them from admission to the order was left to the discretion of subordinate lodges. St. Louis was chosen as the place for holding the next convention. THE PRESIDENTS OUTING. He Visits Several Places and is Cor-dully Received. CRESON SPRINGS, Pa., Sept. 20.-The president devoted today to a visit to the lumber and bituminous coal region of central Pennsylvania. He left Cresson this morning at 10 o'clock on a special train and does not expect to return till 7 o'clock in the evening. He will visit the towns of Tyrone, Osceola, Houndale, Phillippsburg, Clearfield and Carmins ville and inspect the points of interest

CLEARMELD, Pa., Sept. 20.—The special train bearing the presidential party reached Aitoma at 10:30 o'clock and made a short stop. The station was crowded with people anxins to see the president, but they were not allowed inside the gates. The next stop was at Tyrone, where the station was through with people, mostly laboring men, bearing flags, and they cheered the president almost continuously until the train moved off. The president came out on the rear platform and shook hands with several hundred per sons. The party received a most enthus astic greeting all along the line, especially at Osceola and Houtzdale. Business was sus-pended at both places and all the inhabitants urned out to give the president a rousing re ALTOONA, Pa., Sept. 20,-At Houtzdale the twelve citizens and provided with a carriage drawn by four white horses. A crowd numbering nearly ten thousand persons lined both sides of the route and greeted the distinguished visitors with frequent cheers. Kincaid post, Grand Army of the Republic, acted as a guard of honor. The procession finally stopped under an evergreen arch acar the station and the president and General Hastings were escented to the grand stand. Brief speeches of welcome were made by W.H. Dill and W.T. Shaw, and the president responded as follows: "My fellow-citizens: i beg to assure you that I very president responded as follows: "My fellow-citizens: I beg to assure you that I very highly appreciate this cordial welcome. I do not regard this greeting as personal. I assume that in this demonstration you are evincing your loyalty and fidelity to the gov-ernment of which we are all citizens. You welcome me as one who for the time being by your choice, is charged with the execution of the law. It is a great thing to be a citizen of this country, and the privilege has its corresponding obligations. privilege has its corresponding obligation. This government can never be wrecked by treuson or the fruit of those who for a time are placed in public places so long as the great massare true to the principles of the government and the flag. Set your love upon the flag and that which it represents. Be ready, if occasion should call, to defend it as my brave comrades here did in the time of its greatest peril. We have before us today long trip and must abbreviate the exercise here. Now, to every one of you—those who come from the village shops, those who come from the mines and from every vocation of life to join in this welcome—let me declare that I have no other purpose as president of the United State than to so administer my office as to promote the general good of all our people. His re-marks were loudly applauded. The party then returned to the cars and the president stoo isn the platform and shook hands with nearly one thousand people before the train started.

The party arrived at Phillipsburg about 3 o'clock and was welcomed at the station by nearly all the inhabitants of the town. The party was driven through the principal streets in carriages and the president was greeted with enthusiasm all along the line.

The booming of cannon greeted the party of the president was greeted the party of the president of the party of the on its arrival at Clearfield and was fol-lowed by several thousand people who had gathered at the station. The president was driven through the principal streets and on his return to the train held the usual reception.

The principal event of the trip, however, was at Curwellsville, where the presidential party remained nearly two hours. The party was driven to the residence of A. E. Patton. where a public reception was held, followed by an elegant luncheon. The president was given a cordial greeting and shook hands with nearly fifteen hundred people. It was originally planned that the train should re-turn to Cresson at 6:30 o'clock, but it was about that hour when it left Curwellsville and it was nearly three hours later when it reached Cresson. At all the principal sta-tions on the way back crowds gathered and cheered and yelled. The president enjoyed the entire trip very much.
