UTILIZING THE TIN MINES.

A Move to Establish Tin Mills in This City.

GOOD EFFECTS OF THE MCKINLEY BILL.

Enthusiastic Meeting of the Local Fire Insurance Mea and Submission of Their Committee's Report.

The advisability of an effort on the part of the empitalists of Omaha to secure a branch of the un manufacturing industry for this city was suggested by Customs Collector Alexander at the meeting of the real estate exchange. His suggestion was as follows:

Now that meetings of the exchange are held again, and the members are seeking out one means and another by which the material interests of Omaha may be alvanced. They to call attention to the possibilities which been to lie before as in connection with the.

"A protective tariff sufficiently high to encourage development of mines which are known to exist in this country has been established, and within five years I believe, the manu facture of tin plate will have become one of our most prominent in dustries.

"The most extensive mines of tin ore that have ye been discovered in the United States are said to be located in the southwestern part of Dakota, and two great rail-

Would it not be wise on the part of Omaha capitalists and business men to the reughly investigate the matter, with a view of establishing rolling mills and plating works in this city! Certainly the product of the mines must find an outlet somewhere, and I am strongly impressed with the idea that, if taken up in time, the bulk of distribution can be made from this city. Conflicting regrets concerning the city. Conflicting reports concerning the character and extent of the Dukota mines are current, but I am credibly informed that great schemes are on foot for their devel-opment. I believe this matter can be agl-tated to advantage, and would stiggest that members of the exchange give at least a part of their time to the discussion and investiga-

"I have determined, in the meantime, to visit the great Harney Peak mines, and others in that region, for the purpose of making ex-tended in quiries into their character, and the plans and purposes of their managers. Through the courtesy of gentleman who are intimate with parties in charge, I have been favored with letters which will enable me favored with letters which will enable me to gather reliable data, and in a short time I warrant the increase in the tariff provided by the McKinley bill. If there was he was sure, he said, that Omaha could, by prompt and liberal action, establish immense rolling and plate mills here and become the distributing enter for the bulk of the output from the Mr. Alexander will start next week for a trip through the hills. On his return he will make a detailed report of his investigations to the real estate exchange. In this connection, it may be stated that General E. F. Test is also strongly imbued with the fact that the thi industry should be encouraged in this city, because, he holds, there is millions in it for intelligent capitalists. He points to the fact that since the passage of the McKinley bill Chicago has concluded to established a large tin factory. The general says that a fin works have would be

The Pen with Which Washington Was Not Admitted.

Washington, Oct. 8 .- [Special Telegram to the BEE.]-There is lying in a beautiful glass in the capitol of the youthful state of Washington a penholder of native ebony, cut in the forests that shelter Puget Sound and a large and beautiful pen of gold, made from the products of one of Washington's most famous mines. This pen and holder bear a label which informs the public that they were used by the president of the United States to sign the act of congress enabling Washing ton to become a state and were presented to the people by Mr. J. W. Robinson. It is true that Mr. Robinson brought this pen to Washington for the president to use in signing the enabling act, but it did not work, and so the president picked up one of the ordinary wooden penholders and steel stubs that he commonly uses, which cost about five cents a dozen, and signed the bill with that.
