

THE DAILY BEE.

E. ROSEWATER, Editor. PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING. TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION: Daily and Sunday, One Year, $10.00; Six Months, $6.00; Three Months, $3.50; Single Copies, 10 Cents.

THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY, PROPRIETORS. The Bee Building, 307 North 16th Street, Omaha, Neb. Telephone 100.

STATEMENT OF CIRCULATION. For the week ending Oct. 11, 1890, was as follows: Sunday, Oct. 6, 1890, 20,814; Monday, Oct. 7, 1890, 20,814; Tuesday, Oct. 8, 1890, 20,814; Wednesday, Oct. 9, 1890, 20,814; Thursday, Oct. 10, 1890, 20,814; Friday, Oct. 11, 1890, 20,814.

UNSEASONS lies the head that has a national census to account for. NOW let the republicans prepare to profit by the glaring blunders of their opponents.

THE SUNDAY newspaper is the people's school book and the greatest of popular magazines. THE DEMOCRATIC "What is it?" gives the republicans the opportunity of a life time to sweep the county.

GUIDED by ordinary intelligence the republican convention will achieve success if the right men are nominated. IN substituting regular salaries for fees Fremont sets an example which may be followed with profit by every town in the state.

BARRETT died too soon for the peace and prosperity of Guatemala. Barillas lacks even the genius to stay whipped. His specialty lies in provoking wars which he cannot win.

THERE is something in a name after all. A Mr. Footitt is driving a lively business as a mounted street commissioner in a Kansas town, while a Mr. Breadth discounts his name by shouting against corporate rapacity in Missouri.

MARION HARLAND is a descendant of Captain John Smith, which is another reason why the world should be grateful to Pocahontas. Except for her timely intervention Captain Smith would have had no descendants and we should have had no Marion Harland.

TRIVIAL things sometimes change the whole course of a man's life. But for the failure of a business arrangement in his early life, Senator Stanford of California would have been the editor of a weekly paper instead of railroad baron, and there are people who think the public would have been better off.

MAYOR GRANT has been again nominated by Tammany Hall in New York, which serves notice that it feels strong enough to defy the organized decency of the great metropolis. If the proposed annexation of surrounding territory will give the honest and capable a chance to overcome the venal and incompetent elements in that city, then annexation cannot come too soon.

THE WHISKY TRUST AND PROHIBITION. And now the bureau of forgery and perjury organized by the prohibition leaders has given publicity to a letter from the president of the whisky trust. This letter is said to be an answer to a forged letter written to the bogus Lucius Rodman, in response to a remonstrance against the trust's indifference about prohibition in Nebraska.

If this letter is genuine the president of the whisky trust simply told what he knew to be a bald-faced lie. The whisky trust has not contributed one dollar in money to defray the anti-prohibition campaign expenses in Nebraska so far as anybody can learn.

As a matter of fact the whisky trust would prefer to have prohibition in Nebraska. It could have had prohibition repealed last winter by the Iowa legislature if its influence had been legitimately exerted. The truth is that prohibition increases the consumption of cheap-grade whiskies and decreases the consumption of beer.

THE SEED OF NEW ENGLAND. "In these degenerate days," says a current newspaper paragraph, "you can find almost anybody in the land of the pilgrim—except the pilgrim."

There is a measure of truth in the remark. New and strange currents are flowing into the life of the little group of northeastern states which, from the earliest hours of American history, have shared in every national event and have yet remained a land apart.

THE DECADE which began in the quality of New England labor with the advent of the Canadian mill hand soon made itself manifest in the politics of the larger cities. The encroachments of the recently imported foreigner and the elimination of the native was here a slower process, but it has become in the end nearly as complete.

THE first practical step toward harnessing the power of Niagara was taken last week. Work was begun on tunnel, the completion of which, should the hopes of the projectors be realized, will change the Falls from a hackman's paradise into a drive wheel of industry.

THE argument of Mr. Charles G. Daves before the supreme court of Nebraska, in the important case of the state against the Atchison & Nebraska railroad, is of such importance to the people that THE BEE presents it in full this morning.

THE seed of that superb civilization has been scattered broadcast all over this union. Long ago some of it was planted in the western reserve of Ohio, where it has borne abundant fruit.

And now the bureau of forgery and perjury organized by the prohibition leaders has given publicity to a letter from the president of the whisky trust. This letter is said to be an answer to a forged letter written to the bogus Lucius Rodman, in response to a remonstrance against the trust's indifference about prohibition in Nebraska.

hard lines of race prejudice. But, more than all else, the seed of New England has taken deep root in the great and hopeful empire that lies west of the Missouri river. It has come with its capital and culture to develop the marvelous resources of plain and mountain and valley in this section of the United States.

The pilgrim was never the exclusive possession of any locality. New England held him in trust. The south and the west have now claimed their share of his personality. And the west, being the biggest and most congenial of the sections, succeeded in getting the largest piece of it.

THE JUDGES AND CLERKS. The selection of judges and clerks for the ensuing election is one of the most important duties devolving on the county commissioners. The grave issues to be determined at the ballot box no less than the necessity of a prompt and accurate count demand that the commissioners abandon the beaten path and procure the services of first class accountants and men.

While the proportion of taxes paid by other counties in the state have been reduced or remained stationary, Douglas county's proportion has increased. In 1881 the total revenue of the state was $53,000,511, of which Douglas county paid $20,674,555.

ONE CENT POSTAGE. One of the objects which it is understood Postmaster General Wanamaker hopes to accomplish during his administration is the reduction of letter postage to one cent.

THE FORESTRY division of the department of agriculture will soon undertake an interesting experiment. Congress appropriated two thousand dollars for the purpose of testing the artificial production of rainfall.

THE PALACES OF THE WEST. The palace has become the symbol of western development, not the palace of the monarch, but the palace of agriculture, of industry and of natural products of the earth.

THE CONFLICTS and struggles that preceded the achievement of German unity, that long deferred hope of German statesmen which had its realization at last in the humiliation of France, were not without value to the United States.

THE BEE will be found a most interesting review of the career of these and other distinguished natives of Germany who as citizens of the United States have contributed largely to the honor and fame of the country.

THE BEE has made a honorable proposition toward securing a free and fair ballot in the coming election. It demands a free count and proposes to put only reputable and responsible citizens on the election board.

to more judiciously returned to the people, because all citizens to a greater or less degree share in its benefits. OMAHA AND THE STATE. Prohibition agitators and their deluded followers openly urge the adoption of the amendment to "banish Omaha."

It cannot be necessary to argue the desirability of a public art gallery, or to point out its value as an educational force. These, it must be presumed, are obvious to all intelligent people.

THE PALACES OF THE WEST. The palace has become the symbol of western development, not the palace of the monarch, but the palace of agriculture, of industry and of natural products of the earth.

THE CONFLICTS and struggles that preceded the achievement of German unity, that long deferred hope of German statesmen which had its realization at last in the humiliation of France, were not without value to the United States.

THE BEE will be found a most interesting review of the career of these and other distinguished natives of Germany who as citizens of the United States have contributed largely to the honor and fame of the country.

THE BEE has made a honorable proposition toward securing a free and fair ballot in the coming election. It demands a free count and proposes to put only reputable and responsible citizens on the election board.

THE BEE has made a honorable proposition toward securing a free and fair ballot in the coming election. It demands a free count and proposes to put only reputable and responsible citizens on the election board.

THE BEE has made a honorable proposition toward securing a free and fair ballot in the coming election. It demands a free count and proposes to put only reputable and responsible citizens on the election board.

THE BEE has made a honorable proposition toward securing a free and fair ballot in the coming election. It demands a free count and proposes to put only reputable and responsible citizens on the election board.

THE BEE has made a honorable proposition toward securing a free and fair ballot in the coming election. It demands a free count and proposes to put only reputable and responsible citizens on the election board.

undoubtedly be effected, and the people of this city be given an opportunity to see a collection which has been described as equal to any ever exhibited in the United States. Meanwhile the Western Art association of this city is not inactive.

It cannot be necessary to argue the desirability of a public art gallery, or to point out its value as an educational force. These, it must be presumed, are obvious to all intelligent people.

THE PALACES OF THE WEST. The palace has become the symbol of western development, not the palace of the monarch, but the palace of agriculture, of industry and of natural products of the earth.

THE CONFLICTS and struggles that preceded the achievement of German unity, that long deferred hope of German statesmen which had its realization at last in the humiliation of France, were not without value to the United States.

THE BEE will be found a most interesting review of the career of these and other distinguished natives of Germany who as citizens of the United States have contributed largely to the honor and fame of the country.

THE BEE has made a honorable proposition toward securing a free and fair ballot in the coming election. It demands a free count and proposes to put only reputable and responsible citizens on the election board.

THE BEE has made a honorable proposition toward securing a free and fair ballot in the coming election. It demands a free count and proposes to put only reputable and responsible citizens on the election board.

THE BEE has made a honorable proposition toward securing a free and fair ballot in the coming election. It demands a free count and proposes to put only reputable and responsible citizens on the election board.

THE BEE has made a honorable proposition toward securing a free and fair ballot in the coming election. It demands a free count and proposes to put only reputable and responsible citizens on the election board.

THE BEE has made a honorable proposition toward securing a free and fair ballot in the coming election. It demands a free count and proposes to put only reputable and responsible citizens on the election board.

plan is honestly and carefully carried out, it will raise the credit of the city and its opponents, no matter how the election may go. An honest ballot is the first desideratum and every voter should be willing to abide therewith.

As the Bobben's View It. It worries the democratic press that a white population of 60,000 in Wyoming should elect one congressman, but they consider that number of white people in a southern state to be entitled to elect five or six.

Much consolation in this. An exchange has been indulging in some startling reflections as to what would be the value of a single potato if that tuber were the only article of food in the world.

The American Girl in Her Glory. If Mrs. Adams really wishes to study the American girl, either married or unmarried, she should visit her in her own country.

Gossip of Politics. An adventure which befell young Mr. Bryan recently on the Missouri Pacific while traveling in the guise of an anti-monopist, is related in a Plattsmouth newspaper.

General L. W. Collyer is himself ill. He has entirely recovered from the chill contracted at Lincoln while resting in the cold, damp shadow of popular disapproval.

Paul Schminke is hotly denounced by the Nebraska City News as a dictator and tyrant. The spectacle of Paul in the act of performing his acts of tyranny must remain a household name.

The rural press is demanding that James E. Boyd shall furnish the public with a diagram of his firm record, but the democratic standard bearer can hardly spare time from the present battle to dilate on ancient history.

There is some disposition to fight over the war of the rebellion in the present campaign. Everything was going along nicely and the people were deep to the discussion of live state and national issues until Candidate Deed dropped the remark that "Jeff Davis was a better man than the present head of the government."

Salaries paid town and county school teachers in Nebraska average considerably above those paid in Iowa and Kansas. High license went into effect in Nebraska in 1881, and closed up many dives.

NEW BOOKS. "Vengeance is Mine," by Daniel P. Cass, published by the New York Co. "Of making books there is no end," said the wise man, and its truthfulness is constantly seen upon the new stands of the country.

"The New South," by Henry W. Grady. Editor of the Atlanta Constitution. It tells of the new south and one of its ablest exponents and representatives. No man in all the country south of Mason and Dixon's line was so particularly fitted to write of the future of the southland than the lamented editor of the Atlanta Constitution.

"The Editor," by Francis Greely. Editor of the Tribune. In this volume the various types of temperance reformers are well represented. The story is graphically told and said to be founded on facts.

"The Editor," by Francis Greely. Editor of the Tribune. In this volume the various types of temperance reformers are well represented. The story is graphically told and said to be founded on facts.

"The Editor," by Francis Greely. Editor of the Tribune. In this volume the various types of temperance reformers are well represented. The story is graphically told and said to be founded on facts.

"The Editor," by Francis Greely. Editor of the Tribune. In this volume the various types of temperance reformers are well represented. The story is graphically told and said to be founded on facts.

"The Editor," by Francis Greely. Editor of the Tribune. In this volume the various types of temperance reformers are well represented. The story is graphically told and said to be founded on facts.

"The Editor," by Francis Greely. Editor of the Tribune. In this volume the various types of temperance reformers are well represented. The story is graphically told and said to be founded on facts.

"The Editor," by Francis Greely. Editor of the Tribune. In this volume the various types of temperance reformers are well represented. The story is graphically told and said to be founded on facts.

"The Editor," by Francis Greely. Editor of the Tribune. In this volume the various types of temperance reformers are well represented. The story is graphically told and said to be founded on facts.