THE NEED OF A STRONGER ORGANIZATION

Statement of Eastbound Tonnage. with the Panhandle Leading-Bidding for the Harvey Branch of the Wabash.

Curcago, Oct. 13.- | Special Telegram to THE BEE.]-A large degree of importance is given to tomorrow's meeting of the presidents of lines in the Interstate Commerce railway association. It is practically certain that no scheme of reorganization has been formulated. Chairman Walker's recent article on reorganization under the proposed agreement of the weatern associated railways has received much favorable comment, however, and with that as a basis it may be decided to issue a call to all western railroads. There is not a high official of a western road in Chicago, but favors the formation of a strong association. A dozen of them so expressed themselves today. Said President Cable of the Rock Island: "There is urgent need of a strong association. The Rock Island has been a consistent friend of the present association, and I hope that means will be found either to strengthen it or replace it with a strong one. I do not know that any plan will be suggested tomorrow, but I think that a possible one would find many friends."

The Panhandle in the Lead. CHICAGO, Oct. 13 .- [Special Telegram to

THE BEE. !- For the first time in its history the Panhandle road leads the Chicago castbound lines in a week's statement of tonnage. "The worst of it is," commented a freight official of a Vanderbilt line, "that, so far as we know, the traffic was all taken at tariff rates. Usually we can prove that a weak line with an excess of tonnage is cutting rates, but not so in this case. The Fort Wayne had some trouble on its line and helped out the Panhaudle; it's all in the Pennsylvania family, you know."

The total tennage last week was 71,025 tens, against 71,823 the previous week and 60,446 the corresponding week of 1889. Of this the Panhandle carried 14,197 tons, the Lake Shore coming second with 11,363 tons.
Of the grain and provision tonnage the Grand Trunk took 25 per cent, Nickle Plate 18,
Michigan Central 15, Lake Shore 13, Ft.
Wayne 11, Panhandle 10 and the Baltimore & Ohio 7.

The opinion is unanimous among the strong lines that something must be done to raise the rates and maintain them. From the beginning of the dressed beef war, six months ago, the eastbound lines have been dividing a loss occasioned by reduced rates of over $100,000 a week. It is now estimated that cut rates will add at least $30,000 a week to this amount. The matter has already been discussed by the trunk line presidents and comes up this week before the Central traffic association. Definite action will be taken then or at the November meeting, when lake competition will have nearly

The report was circulated today that it is now negotiating for that part of the Wabash extending from Des Moines to Harvey, Iowa. The Des Moines extension is completed from Fort Madison to Birmingham, Iowa, connecting with the Chicago line of the Santa Fe at the former place, and it was the original inten-tion to build direct to Des Moines, the right

ELEVEN LIVES LOST.

Terrible Result of a Fire in London Yesterday Afternoon. LONDON, Oct. 13.-[Special Cablegram to THE BEE.]-A four story building occupied by Rowley & Brock, government contractors for military head gear, burned this afternoon. Six persons were burned to death and thirteen seriously injured. The premises occupied a frontage of thirty feet on Middle street and the same frontage on Cloth Fair and extended thence lifty feet to Newburry street where was situated the entrance used by the people who worked in the building. The fire broke out at 1 o'clock in the workshops on the upper floor. There were thirty persons in the building. Two minutes after the fire was discovered the whole building was a mass of flames. The spread of the fire was so rapid that the working people found every avenue of escape except the windows cut off. Through these some of the employes jumped to the ground. Five women employed by the firm were killed by jumping from windows.

When these in the building found their works that the statement of there were the statement of the statement.

Several of the more cool-headed occupants of the upper rooms procured pieces of sheeting, which they tied together and then making one end fast in the rooms, they throw their improvised rope out of the window and by this means descended. In some instances, however, through insufficient strength, the sheeting parted and those who were seeking to escape from the flames were precipitated to the ground and badly injured.

EMPLOYE INSTANTLY KILLED.

Adam Dehring's Skull Crushed by a Fall of Thirty Feet-An East Omaha Milkman Commits

The new Tenth street viaduct has been the scene of a number of accidents since its construction began six weeks ago, but the most frightful and serious of them all occurred about 5 o'clock last evening.

Suicide.

Adam C. Dehning, a young man living with his father at 2513 Pacific street, holding the position of heater or fireman for one of the small hand furnaces that the bolting brigade uses, was walking along a girder with a bucket of coal which he had the moment before carried up the ladder. In some manner he missed his footing and fell to the ground, a distance of about thirty feet. He struck on his head and shoulders, and was instantly killed. His skull was crushed, expos-ing the brain.

The unfortunate man fell upon one of the huge girders that lar upon the ground, thus making the deadly work of the fall more terrible. The workmen picked him up and carried him into Bell's drug store, but there was no hope of bringing back the vital spark of life. The remains were conveyed to Heaffy & Heaffy's, where the inquest will be held today at 10 o'clock. Denning was a young man, being but eighteen years old, but he had worked a good deal upon high buildings and was accustomed to dangerous places of that kind. He was sober and industrious.

SHOT THROUGH THE HEART. Suicide of Dionis Buchli, an East

Omatia Milkman. An inquest will be held this morning to Inquire into the suicide of Dionis Buchli, whose remains are lying at Burket's undertaking

The deceased was a milkman, living on a little tract nearly seven miles from the center of the city, and about a mile north of the white lend works in East Omaha.

The first that was known of his death was bout 5 o'clock last evening, when one of his reighbors visited his place and was horrified to find Buchli's dead body lying cold and stiff on the bed and an American buildog revolver, 38-caliber, beside him, where it had evidently dropped from his hand when the fatal shot was fired. His clothing was saturated with blood which had flowed from a builet hole just below the heart. It was obviously a case of suicide, and the deed had apparently been committed some time Sun day night.

The deceased had laid down upon the bed, placed the muzzle of the revolver close against his heart and pulled the trigger. His clothes and the skin underneath were powder burned. Death had been instantaneous, as burned. Death had been in the bullet pierced his heart.

The deceased was a bachelor and lived alone. He kept eight cows, from which he made a living by peddling milk in the city. He was about thirty-live years of age, and was a brother-in-law of Cajori, the druggist at Sixteenth and Pierce. The latter was at once notified of the tragic offair, and was upon the scene before the coroner and under taker arrived. He took charge of the dead man's effects, but could give no information that would offer any solution for the suicide. Buchli was an industrious, hard working man, and was not addicted to dissination and none of his neighbors had any idea of his suicidal intentions.

It is possible that the inquest will develop something that will explain the tragedy

> The Country Boy at the City Hotel. The young fellow who comes to the city and stops at the hotel is not always the hayseed that some folks take him to be, but some of his ways are amusing Not long ago one of these young mer came in and stopped over with us all night, said a clerk at a Chicago hotel to Tribune reporter. Having madesome inquiries about the room, as to how high upit was and whether I thought there was any danger of a fire, he handed me an envelope containing some money. Then he took off his watch and a couple of rings. I took his valuables and put them away, and sent him to his room in care of a bell-boy. In about twenty min-utes he pushed the button. I yelled 'Front," and the boy wenten the run. Pretty soon he came back with a couple of collar buttons, and they were nice ones. The boy said that the roomer wanted them put with his other valunbles. I put them away. In a few minutes the roomer hitthe buttonagain and again I yelled "Front." Away went the bell-boy, and induction the returned with the information that the roomer said he had a diamond shirt stud which he couldn't get out and wanted toknow if he could send his shirt down and have that locked up. I went up to his room and told him I would be personally responsible for that and he went to hed But he was down next morning before ! went of watch, and I'll bet, judging from his looks, that he didn't sleep a

> > No Garters in That School.

The edict has been issued, and by it the young lady students of the Oswego state normal school are forbidden towear garters, or at least the historic style of garter made farnous by Edward III. of England, who in 1450 created the "Order of the Garter." recognized to this day as the first knightly order of England, say an Oswego, New York, special to the Chicago Herald. Kings and queens, and the titled women of royalty may, i they wish, continue to wear the style, but Dr. Mary V. Lee will see to it that the young ladies who attend her classes in physical culture in our normal school wear their hosiery suspended by side elastics attached to an undergar ment at the waist, or by none at all. Dr. Lee says the old style, whether worm above or below the knee, hinders free circulation, prevents development, and is injurious to the ladies. Dr. Lee first made war upon the corset and tight lacing, then she gave herattestion to the high-heel shees worn by the young lady students. The first mentioned garments were supplanted by snug-fitting waists and nowa pupil of the normal can be told by the style of her shoes.
