The North Second street bridge will be thrown open for traffic today. The steel handralls were ordered from Birmingham, Ala., and have not yet arrived.

No meeting of the ladies' gymnasium class will be held on tomorrow evening, but the next regular meeting will be held the following Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The traveling men are delighted with the Hotel Gordon, and the citizens take no little pride in the notel, for under the management of Mr. Clark it is becoming a great favorite.

An extra force of seventeen teams have been put to work on the Indian creek ditch excavation. This gives Contractor Huber nearly one hundred teams, and insures the completion of the work within the required thirty days if the weather does not seriously interfere.

Yesterday was the birthday anniversary of Mrs. W. H. Highsmith, and last evening the Union Pacific yardmen, over whom Mr. Highsmith is foreman, met at his residence and presented the lady with a handsome sil-uer water service. The gift was worthily bestowed and keenly appreciated.

Unusual preparations are being made for the observance of Thanksgiving tomorrow. It is becoming one of the brightest and hap-piest festivitief of all the year, and people are looking forward to its coming this year with unusual anticipations of pleasure, for the general public of Council Bluffs has much to be thankful for.

Articles were yesterday filed by which W. D. Poterson becomes the adopted son of his grandfather, Christian Peterson. The boy's father is said to be in the state of Washington, and his mother in Schuyler, Neb. Both Seem to have abandoned him and so his grandfather has taken him up. He is a man of property and the boy will have a good home and proper care home and proper care.

At a late hour last night a man named Myers, accompanied by his wife, approached Officer O'Brien and asked for the arrest of his Other O Brien and asked for the arrest of his son John, aged fourteen years. He said the lad would not go to school, run out a nights, sleept in box cars, at depots, etc. The boy was found and sent to the station. He will be sent to juil for a brief period. Mr. Myers resides at the corner of Avenue L and Twenty-second street. He stated his had not been at home for over a week. When found the boy fought very hard to make his escape. the boy fought very hard to make his escape

One of the largest audiences that has gathered in the opera house this season was pres-ent last night to hear the presentation of the beautiful little Irish drama "Eileen Oge," by a local company. The work of the amatuers was so well done and the audience so highly pleased that an effort will be made Catholic fair is in progress. A generally better pleased audience has not left the opera house this season than that which reluctantly vacated the chairs last night when the curtain was finally rung down.

Mother-Women Quarrel Over a Colt-Cutoff Misrepresented -Minor Mention.

In the district court yesterday the case of Henry Combs vs Edward Burbridge was on trial. The plaintiff is a colored man, who has of late had considerable free advertising in connection with Cut-Off Island, he being one of the leading squatters, and one of the most responsible financially. In fact, he has been a sort of leader in the numerous exciting contests which have taken place over the possession of the property. The defendant is a well known and wealthy farmer. This suit is one in which the plaintiff asks for $10,000 damages on account of having been arrested for stealing a harness belonging to the defendant. Combs was arrested in Omaha, in connection with a white man, named Straight. The harness was found upon a horse of which Combs claimed ownership. Combs declared he had not seen the harness before, and knew nothing about it. He agreed to come over to Council Bluffs without a requisition, protesting his innocence. It was claimed that the Ing his innocence. It was claimed that the Council Bluffs officer who had come over to Omaha after him put the handcuffs upon him, at the solicitation of Barbridge. Combs was acquitted of the charge and Straicht was given a juil sentence. This was two years ago, and soon after that he commenced his suit for damages. The case was called up for trial several terms ago, but it was discovered that certain donal times wave missing and a that certain depositions were missing, and a continuance was therefore had to permit of the depositions being retaken. The case is being quite sharply fought. A number of witnesses from Omaha were over yesterday to testify to the good character and reputa-tion of Combs. The defense will probably be reached today.

the time to make hay is when the sun shines. The sun is shining for the buyer this season and the seller has to come to time and sell his goods in the season they are bought for. We have an overstock of goods and right now is the time to sell it—we know it! The weather is unfavorable for the dry goods trade, but we propose to sell our stock, if low prices will do it. We will offer tomorrow and during this week such attractive hereafors in during this week such attractive bargains in cloaks, jackets, wraps, misses' and children's cloaks, underwear, and all heavy clothing at such prices that it will pay anyone who studies economy to lay in their goods for the season. Our tock is all fresh and of the latest and best styles. Our holiday department, which is the acknowledged center of attraction, will be open to the public after Monday. It takes up our entire third floor and consists of the latest, choicest and rarest novelties that the Amer-ican and European markets produce. A trip through our house and the various depart ments will convince every loyal citizen of Council Bluffs that our institution is not behind the times, but the loader of all estab-lishments in the northwest. Everybody cor-dially invited. Call and see us.

They Elected a Superintendent. The board of education held a meeting last night for the purpose of electing a superintendent for the city schools. From the reports that were current on the streets yesterday evening it was understood that a majority of the board went into the meeting with the conviction that the deadlock would be broken, and before an adjournment would be taken the new superintendent would be named. It was reported that a conference was held in the office of Mr. Schoentgen yes terday afternoon, which was attended by Mr. Blaxsim, if not other members, and that an agreement was effected by which Mr. Blaxsim was to nominate the winning candidate after a number of fruitless ballots would show that the other members would not consent to vote for Prof. Leonard, the Youngstown, O., man, who was so highly recommended for the position. Whether there was any truth in the rumor or not the proceedings and result of the meeting indicated that a majority of the members had determined to end the controversy.

All the members were present, and President Stewart called the members to order in his usual bland and courteous manner, and it had avery mild beginning. Before the ead was reached the etherial mildness had changed into some vigorous blasts. As the meeting was called expressly for the purpose of electing a superintendent it was expected that a large number of citizens would turn out and hear the gentlemen quar-

would turn out and hear the gentlemen quar-rel over the matter, but no one was present except a few interested parties who had claims to urge, and the reporters. Immediately after assembling the board proceeded to take a formal ballot, and the re-sult showed that Prof. Leonard had re-ceived the votes of Messrs. Wells, Hunter and Schemutzm, who have so encounty supand Schoentgen, who have so earnestly supof Mount Pleasant, Ia., received two votes on the next vote Leonard received two votes and Prof. Ballinger received one. On the next vote Leonard received two, Jackson two, Ballinger one and Leroy D. Brown of California one. Voting with similar results continued until the fourteenth ballot had been reached.

During the time six candidates were voted for, but none of them reached over two votes. After the result of the fourteenth ballot had After the result of the fourteenth ballot had been declared Mr. Wells addressed the chair, or rather, dressed up the chairman, in a very vigorous style in a thirty minute speech. It was a scathing and bitter speech, in which Member Wells gave utterance to his feelings and admiration of the president in a very free manner. Chair-man Stewart sat complemently chowing a man Stewart sat complacently chewing a man Stewart sat complacently chewing a paper wad during its delivery, and only in-terrupted him once when he alluded to the president having sneered at Prof. Leonard because he was a Methodist preacher The president warmly contradicted this as-sertion, but Mr. Wells reiterated it and called attention to the fact that Mr. Waite chuckled when the sneering al-usion was made to the underty. Mr. Stewlusion was made to the preacher. Mr. Stew-art again explained his remark at the previous meeting, but Mr. Wells said he preferred put his own construction upon it and let other members do the same. When Mr. Wells concluded, Mr. Blaxsim said he believed he held the key that would unlock the problem and he was going to try

After the meeting was over some of the friends of other aspirants claimed that the caucus was packed with Connoliy's friends from the First and Third wards who had no right in the meeting. It is quite evident that there will be a bolt from the caucus nomina-tion, but Connolly's friends claim they will elect their man in spite of bolters and sore

OMARA, Nov. 25 .- To the Editor of THE BEE: In your issue of Thursday, in regard

BRE: In your issue of Thursday, in regard to the city council's activity in connection with the competition for city hall plans, you refer to me in an unjust manuer. It is your privilege to criticise the acts of public officials, but I do not think that you should attack my character in that criticism without just grounds, and such you have not unless you would so consider the spiteful howls and bitter talk of some of our less successful competitors who, I am aware, have repeatedly called on you and several other newspaper men to denounce the action of the council, insinuating all sorts of things, but without daring to make a specific charge. Among these you will not find honorable, con-Among these you will not find honorable, con-scientious architects, but plenty of unprinci-pled pretenders unable to show capability in their works, who hesitate at nothing to gain their works, who hesitate at nothing to gain their dirty ends and a few dollars. They intend to build themselves up on my downfall, if this they can accomblish, and in this way attempt to explain why the inexperienced young architect (as they usually term me) should defeat them in what they know in their hearts was the fairest competiwho were certainly most interested, thought that our plans were not the best presented, why didn't they make some objection then? The committee brought in a unanimous report on Friday afternoon and no action was taken by them, so as to give every member of the council an opportunity to carefully comthe comptroller's office open to the public. At this time the scaled envelopes containing the architect's names had not been opened. These parties looked over the plans themselves and sent a great many prominent builders and citizens to, if possible, detect a single flaw or objection. What was the result! On Tues-day night the council met, and without even a discussion, the report of the committee was adopted, every member voting aye except Mr. Hascall, who stated after the meeting that he head, doubt even in the test of the states of the Mr. Hascall, who stated after the meeting that he had no doubt our plan was the best, but he had not had time to examine the rest of the prizes. Now, why, ff anything was wrong, could they not get a single council-man, to object to our receiving first prize? Had I hypnotized them all or would anybody believe I bought them all? Now in reference to my having been a

Now, in reference to my having been a particular friend of Mr. Chaffee's, such is not a fact. I had known him but a very short time before the competition was settled and had never had fifteen minutes' conversation with him at any one time, and I do not remember ever to have talked to or been with him in private at all. This applies as well to any man in the council. There was not one whom I could call a personal friend. As to subscribing to the Twenty-Eight-Broatch club fund, I will state positively that I never even knew of such a club until long after the election, first reading of it in Tug Brg. This firm has never subscribed to any political fund except that of the Bankers' and Business Men's association, and personally all I subscribed to the Broatch campaign was to the republican central committee to help elect Lininger. Now, Mr. Editor, this is an exact statement of facts. I have tried, as a young man, and a son of Omaha, to be successful in my profes-sion and gain the approval of our citizens in an honorable manner, and I defy anyone to show a single dishonorable or mean act in m.

In my practice I have had dealings with hundreds of contractors here and elsewhere and I don't believe you can find one who will say he has not always received fair treatment at my hands. Do you consider it a crime to be young, or is it a sin not to have built fire-proof buildings! Isit not a fact that some of our competitors had not built fire-proof buildings! I am satisfied to let the building show whether or not the experience is lacking. It is now over three stories high and most of the fire-proof iron work is in place. Up to the presthat Rosewater is fighting. It is necessary to the future of this club and to the success of its members. ent time our plans have proven without de-fect, not one doilar extra being expended for "It's easy enough to say 'we must' but how are you going to do it!" any oversight or omission. As to the pay-ments made, we were entitled to them ac-cording to the rules of the American association of architects, which rules govern nearly all competitions held in this country. Our plans were done, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding. In conclusion, I will tell you why, of all reasons, our plans were superior to all others presented. Not being sufficiently concelted to imagine that I knew all that could be learned about city halls, I sent for plans of all the best buildings of this character known, even to Berlin and Leipzig, and known, even to Berlin and Leipzig, and studied them thoroughly. In addition to this, I personally interviewed every city official as to the exact floor space, counter and desk room and vault capacity required now, and also probable requirements of the future, and we planned to give them just what they wanted. This none of our competitors thought necessary. I have answered this personally, because it was, as I took it, for me intended. Knowing you will set me right in the eyes of the public by publishing this, I am yours respectfully, Changes F. BEINDORFF. CHARLES F. BEINDORFF.

Not Quite so Bad as Represented.

The Des Moines Register of yesterday morning contains an item concerning the controversy over the ownership of a portion of Cut-off island, and notes the filing of the noj tice for the Iowa authorities, to appear in the federal supreme court and defend the claims made by Pottawattamie county of urisdiction over the land in question. In discussing the matter the Register asserts that the island is "inhabited by a lawless crowd who take advantage of the dispute between the two states to obey neither the laws of Iowa nor Nebraska." This is stating a reputed fact with a little too much vigor. That portion of Council Bluffs is not inhabited by a lawless crowd, but life and property are as safe there and the proper observances of the laws are maintained as thoroughly as in any other portion of the city. There was a time, perhaps, but it was many moons ago, before the city sovernment threw the panoply of the law over the territory, that some laws were not as strictly enforced as they should be in a Christian country. If the territory was ever de signed as a rendezvous for lawless people, the proximity of the Omaha police and the frequent visits made by them prevented any such gathering. Before it was generally known that Omaha had no jurisdiction over the locality the Council Bluffs city authorthe start it was necessary to maintain two policement there necessary to maintain two policement increases all the time, but for the last two or three all the time, but for the last two or three the time to preserve and the time, but for the last two or three months one man has been able to preserve peace, and has had occasion to make less ar-rests than any other man on the force. Those who are in the organization talk differently. They say it will amount to a good deal, and that they not only can but will do a good deal, especially in regard to the treatment of horses.

The statute on the matter is as follows: "If any person torture, torment, deprive of necessary sustenance, cruelly beat, mutilate, for a start of the same with proper food, drink, shelter or protection from the weather, or cruely drive or work the same when unfit for labor; or cruely abanden the same; or carry or cause the same to be carried on any vehicle or otherwise in an unnecessarily cruel and in'unnan manner, he shall be pun-ished by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days, or by fine not exceed ing $100.

Another section of the law is: "If any person keep or in any way be connected with, or be interested in the management of, or receive money for the admission of any person to any place kept or used for the purpose of fighting or batting any bull, bear, dog, cock, or other creature, or engage in, aid, abet, en-courage, or assist in any bull, bear, dog, or cock, or a fight between any other creature he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor."

Looking for Her Mother. Mrs. Jennie McGwire, a young woman of about twenty years of age with a threemonths-old baby in her arms, was tramping wearily around the streets all day yesterday looking for her mother, Mrs. Eliza Boller, who is supposed to be somewhere in the city. The young woman visited the postoffice repeatedly and made inquiries of nearly all the employes of Uncle Sam in the big building, but none of them knew anything about her mother. The general delivery clerk at the postofice recalled the fact that Mrs. Boller had received mail within a short time but had not leit any orders where her mail should be delivered. Mrs. McGwire is in destitute circum-tances and had constitute the delivered has stances, and had come to the city with her child in compliance with instructions from her mother who recently came here. The young woman came in on one of the trains from the south yesterday morning from Ham-hums to and the batterday morning from Hamburg. Ia., and she had just $1 left after sh reached the city. During her weary tramp around the city looking for her mother she encountered some person who took the time to kindly direct her to the police station. Here she told her story and enlisted the offi-cers in the search, but they failed to find the parent.

parent. Last evening Officer Beswick kindly took the woman to his home and cared for her and will assist her today in her search.

Bright Gracie Corbaley.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock the remains of little Gracie Corbaley were laid to rest in Fairview cemetery. Many friends gathered to take a last view of her who in life had not only been the sunbeam of her home but had also won the love of all with whom she came in contact. It truly seemed that none knew her but to love her, and this was only verified by the many beautiful floral offerings given by friends of the little child. Beautiful indeed was the offering where he is quite well known, and from whence he received some flattering recom-mendations. At the present time he is acting temporarily in the position of editor of the St. Joseph Gazette. He is a man about fifty years old and has been identified with public school work during the greater part of his life.

The public will be generally satisfied to take Mr. Sawyer on trial and will be de-lighted to know that the bone of contention in the school board has been removed.

While the controversy has engendered a good deal of apparent hard feeling among the members it is not as deep-seated as it ap-pears to be. While the remarks of Mr. Wells in the meeting last night were severe and cutting, they were dignified and courteous and did not awaken any counter bitterness.

Fighting the Tax.

Catharine M. Fulton yesterday secured an injunction against County Treasurer Blumer, restraining him from selling certain real estate for taxes. In her petition she claims that she purchased the property of G. M. Fulton in 1887, and that the county treasurer held it llable for the peronal property tax for 1888 of the Boston Tea company of which G. M. Fulton was a member. She insists that the property at that time was her own, and that she had no interest in the Boston Tea company, and was in no way responsible for taxes on its stock of grocer-ies. She claims to have made tender of the taxes on the real estate, but that this way refused, the county treasurer insisting on the tax of the Boston Tea company being also paid.

Nipped a Pair of Boots.

Yesterday afternoon a fellow, unknown a present to the police, nipped a pair of high priced boots from a line in front of the boot and shoe store of John Green, on Upper Broadway. The performance was observed by the proprietor himself, who was in the back room and saw the thief through the window. Before he could get to the door and look around the fellow had disappeared. It was supposed that he quickly dodged into some of the adjoining stores, but a search failed to reveal him The matter was reported to the police and Officer Beswick was detailed to look up the thief. He is described as a large sized man, dirty and roughly dressed and generally re-sembling a tramp. He selected a pair of nines.

A Noteworthy Exception.

From the Kimball (S. D.) Graphic: While the columns of the Graphic are open to any and all unobjectionable advertisements, yet it is quite impossible for us to speak knowingly of the merits of the various articles of mer-chandise advertised. Particularly is this true of patent medicines. But there are excep-tions occasionally, and a noteworthy excep-tion is the celebrated Chamberlain's Coug-Remedy. This now universally known med cine has been advertised in the Graphic for "speckled cannon ball" of the wishyfo washy plum porridge over which our forefathers made such to-do, and which four or five years, but not until recently had we any personal knowledge of its wonderfal efficacy which has come about through the an old scribe tells us consisted of prevailing influenza and the stubborn cough or mutton boiled with broth and thickthat has so often attended it. The Parnell Gladstone Split.

LONDON, Nov. 25 .- A meeting of national sts was called for 10 o'clock tonight, but nothing was done, and another meeting is ar ranged for tomorrow. Several liberal candi-dates have annoanced their withdrawal from the campaign, foreseeing defeat. The Par-nellites openly assert they will stick by Par-nell even if they delay home rule fifteen Gladstone was annoyed because Parnell, at Gladstone was annoyed because Parnell, at the meeting, did not mention the interview with Moriey and resents keenly Parneil's disregard for his protest. The conservatives and unionists gleefully chat over the split in the opposition. Liberal newspapers in many instances comment in the strongest terms on Parnell, flouting Gladstone and his contempt for his liberal allies. for his liberal allies.
