

JUST LIKE A DIME NOVEL.

How One Man Had an Indian War All to Himself.

TERROR FELL ON THE CHEYENNES.

They Killed Four of His Family, but He Stew Over One Hundred and Fifty of Them.

In June, 1862, a man named Sanderson packed his family and a few household goods into a wagon and headed west from Omaha...

Luckily for Sanderson he was soon joined by a strong party of hunters who were bound for the Laramie mountains...

Soon after I left him he discovered the trail of a village on the move. This he followed until he found the Indians on a creek in a low and narrow valley...

The two Indians were killed before noon. The ponies fed to the south, and it was not until they were some way up the valley that any one in the camp took alarm...

This body went to keep company with the others, and then Sanderson withdrew to a safer position. The mysterious disappearance of three people from the village kicked up a great excitement before evening...

HIS GHOST MADE A WILL.

A Lawyer Made an Innocent Partner to a Testamentary Fraud.

WASN'T LEGAL BUT ENDED ALL RIGHT.

When Did Old Mr. Busch Die, and Did His Beard Grow After Death—Clever Ruse of His Nephew.

"The first will I ever made was for a ghost," says a writer in the Boston Globe. "I had just received news that Mr. Busch, a wealthy old gentleman, was dead, when he walked."

"Well, I want to leave everything I possess to Allen Busch, my sister Ada's only child. Go to work, for I must return to the house," sinking into a chair. "I don't want my other nephew, Potter, to have a cent."

"The next morning we all heard the news. Old Mr. Busch had breathed his last at 7 o'clock. I confess I was startled, but I was not sure but that Mr. Busch's ghost made the will that night, and by so doing, he had secured the property which he had intended to leave to his nephew, Potter."

"I should be alive tomorrow," he said, "and I want you to know the truth. My Uncle Busch died at 7 o'clock, and went up to his room without being seen. No one was there. He was awake and going fast."

"I gave him the water and he put his hand on my arm and kissed me. He died that way. Nobody came near us, and I kissed him again and crept down stairs, as I passed the dining-room I saw Potter and the doctor stuffing themselves and laughing, and then and there, what with contempt of them and a wish to see my uncle's last wish carried out, as well as my own, I hit upon a plan. I was an actor, as you know, and my line was old men. More-over I am very like my uncle. I went back to his room, gave him one more kiss—he was already dead—and I got up and cap and slippers from the wardrobe, made myself up and came to you. You know the rest. I've bought to leave my money to Potter. He is dead. I'd have been the heir in course of time, probably, at any rate. Suppose we give this money to the orphan at the asylum. Nobody has a legal right to it."

"I'll make a will for you to that effect," said I, and so he did. "Van Busch," said he, after the will was executed, "you don't owe me a grudge for having been fooled, do you?" "Allan Busch," said I, "I was fooled; I don't deny it, but I'll keep the secret. Get well, old friend."

Mr. William T. Price, a justice of the peace at Richland, Neb., was confined to his bed last winter with a severe attack of lumbago, but a thorough application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm enabled him to get up and go to work. Mr. Price says: "The remedy cannot be recommended too highly. Let anyone troubled with rheumatism, neuralgia or lumbago give it a trial and they will be of the same opinion."

CURED

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO. ATLANTA, GA.

Books on Blood and Skin Diseases Free.

My Boy. Swift's Specifics, S. S. cured my little boy of rickets, from which he had suffered a long time. I had tried the best physicians and great quantities of medicine without avail.

There who manages the prison so well in his absence that, until the Duc d'Orleans became a prisoner, the governor was often able to run to Paris. But after that event he was himself virtually a prisoner.

Neat Trick of a Faker. A wandering sleight-of-hand man was entertaining the loungers at the Gibson in Cincinnati the other afternoon with an exhibition of his tricks, says the Times-Star.

In the Big Sandy Region. "In the sorghum region of the Big Sandy river," said a wholesale merchant to a reporter for the Cincinnati Times-Star, "are some of the most abject people that can be found upon the face of the earth."

Inspection of Factories. A woman factory inspector in Philadelphia has made 400 inspections during her service of six months. In nine cases out of ten she found that the operatives did not know where the fire-escapes were.

PATTI MEETS GLADSTONE. Miss Patti and Gladstone were both in Edinburgh a few days ago, and the great statesman called upon the famous singer. The topic of conversation, which seemed to be of interest to both, was the relative merits of the Scotch Mineral Waters (travelling agents are each obliged to use, although each one for a different purpose).

Orleans in Captivity. The Duc d'Orleans was not more glad to leave Clairvaux than M. Arnaud, the governor, was to see him set at liberty, says the Chicago Herald. That functionary is what Zola would call a bonapartist. He is a clever, scholarly man and a thorough Bohemian, prizing most intellectual freedom and independence of the comforts and elegances of civilized life.

English Medical Students. Medical students in London are compelled to go through a course of four years' study, hospital attendance, and lectures, before being qualified to appear for their final examination. By an order of the general medical council in England the term of preparation has been extended to five years.

Weather Indices. Up to this date our monthly prognostications have been fully as reliable as the prophecies of the late lamented Wiggins, but at the beginning of a new year we expect to do still better. The customary January thaw will be dispensed with and passengers who travel in the electric lighted, steam heated, vestibuled palace cars of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Ry., between Omaha and Chicago, will be comfortably carried, without the hardships of the outside atmosphere. THE SUCCESSFUL CONTESTANT

OUR PRIZE OF $20 WORTH OF GOODS.

From Our Store, is

Thos. Scanlan, 2116 California St.

They May Tie Us But They Can't Beat Us.

There has never been such a sale in the city of Omaha as we have had on our overcoats since the prices have been reduced.

WE Will continue the sale at the past phenomenally low prices, as we determined to make the biggest record in this section of the country.

ARE You supplied with a cheap coat, with a fine coat, with a medium-priced coat? If not come to us and we will save you 25 per cent on your purchase.

IN Our underwear department we have been way below any other house in the city for the quality of wear we have given. And

IT. Is a well established fact by this time that Hellman will not be undersold. We shall make another cut in our underwear department which will be so marked as to close out even the last undershirt and drawers in our house.

Our $5, $6, $7, $8 and $10 overcoats will be cut 10 per cent more. That will make them at prices less than they can be bought at wholesale.

"We are in it with all our might."

HELLMAN, Cor. 13th and Farnam.
