Capture of Two Slick Chicken Thieves and the Stolen Fowls Found on Their Premises-Odds and Ends.

Lincotz, Neb., Jan. 7 .- |Special Telegram to THE BEE,]-Fred Dexter, the Northern Pacific engineer who was killed in an accident at Tacoma recently, will be remembered as a Lincoln boy by many old residents of this city, as he resided here some fifteen years ago. Mr. Dexter's death was an example of noble self sacrifice. His train became unmanageable on a grade, but he remained with his engine, blowing a warning whistle to keep the track clear until the crash came and he went down to death in the wreck.

RAIDED HIS HENCOOP. Tanner Charles Miller, who resides eleven miles southwest of the city, on the road to Dentor, was awakened at an early hour this morning by a commotion among his fowls. He arose and got to the window just in time to see two men in a top buggy drive off towards the city. He quickly dressed, and mounting a horse, took up the chase. The fellows drove pretty fast, and it was not until the city was in sight that he caught a glimpse of the fellows. Miller was unarmed, and his only resource was to follow the fellows. Ables took his portion of the plunder to a Ables took his portion of the plunder to a small house near Salt creek, south of A and near Second street. Pennington took his part to his home on Salt creek, near E street. Miller stood guard until he could secure the services of some one to notify the police.

Serceant Miller and Detective Malone went down and searched Able's house, but finding nothing of the fowls, were about to give up the search, when they thought of the garret. They mounted into the loft, and there found some of the fowls with their necks wrung.

A visit was next made to Pennington's place and the house and barn were both thoroughly searched, but no traces of the chickens could be found. The creek runs past the barn, and while exploring that portion of the place Detective Malone found the fowls. Pennington's scheme of hiding them was very unique. He had put the chickens in a bar, cut a hole in the ice, and moored the bar underneath. He was not sufficiently acquainted with the laws of physic, as the acquainted with the laws of physic, as the bag floated on the water and could easily be seen through the ice.

HORN WAS THE CULPRIT. In this morning's Ber there was an error in the account of the Horn case. It was made to appear that Charles B. Pierce, the cashier of the bank, was the culprit when in fact he was not. Theodore Horn, jr., is the fellow who got the money under false pretenses from the bank and Pierce was the man who swore out the warrant for the felman who swore out the warrant for the fellow's arrest. The mistake was most unfor-tunate, as Mr. Pierce is a young man of un-blemished character and of known integrity. YOUNG THIEVES.

The case of John Simonek, who keeps a sa oon and public dance hall at 1315 South Thirteenth street, in Metz's new building, was taken up. Detective Horrigan was called and stated that he had never seen any disorderly conduct in the dance hall or saloon at the place in question. Detective Vaughn stated that he had seen young girls, not more than tweive to fifteen years old, drinking at the bar with men. He had seen prostitutes there mingling with the others in the dance. Sergeant Graves stated that he had been at Sergeant Graves stated that he had been at the dance hall on Sunday night and at other times, but had never seen anything which he would call disrespectable or disorderly. He had seen prostitutes there alone some times, and at other times with company. The de-fense introduced several witnesses to show that the place was conducted in a quiet and orderly manner. They were mostly neighbors and property owners who live in the immediate vicinity of the saloon and dance hall. Some of the witnesses said that the place was very orderly. People dance and walk up to the bar, men and women all together, and drink when they feel like it. Young girls are accorded the same privileres as grown women, and prestitutes can attend the dance so long as they conduct themselves in an orderly

TOUCHED A POPULAR CHORD.

Mayor Cushing's Letter Relative to a Monument to General Crook. The letter of Mayor Cushing to the city council, suggesting the propriety of erecting a monument to the memory of General George Crook, and asming a commission to carry out the plan, has touched a popular chord. J. S. Collins, one of the commissioners named, said last evening: "While I was in no wise anxious to serve upon such a commission, I am pleased to know that the citi zens of Omaha are alive to the interests of paying a proper tribute to one of the grandest of men. I knew General Crook well, having been personally acquainted with him for more than fifteen years. He was a most gental gentleman, a brave general, a good citi-zen and as gentle as a child. Many a time he has sat in my store, and when the old veterans who served under him would come in, he would converse with them as freely as though they were officers of a as received as though they were omeers of a rank as high as his own.

"Regarding a monument, I hardly know what to say, though after conveying his body to Cleveland for burial I commenced to give the matter some thought, and after looking through numerous cometeries, I am of the opinion that for $5,000 we can place a life-size bronze figure upon a stone base. This would be quite cheap and very appropriate. I would have the statue in citizen's garb, as but few men ever saw the general in uniform. In my long acquaintance with him, but twice did 1 see him in the uniform of his rank, and he always appearing before the people of this city as a civilian, he would be better known as I

"Regarding the location, I would say, by all means erect the monument in Jefferson square. I cannot say what the views of the other members of the committee may be, but ere long we shall have a meeting and then decide upon what we want." George W. Lininger said: "I knew noth-ing about my appointment-until I saw Mayor Cushing's letter, published yesterday in Tire

BEE, but I assure you it will give me great pleasure to act with the other members of the committee. I have always regarded General Crook as one of Omaha's most honored citizens, a gallant officer and one of the greatest Indian fighters the world has ever known. For this reason-I most emphatically say that Omaha should feel proud in having an opportunities of erecting a monument to his memory. It should be in the center of Jefferson square, and considering his deeds of valor, I am of the opinion it should represent him as a general. A group would be very attractive and pleasing to the eye. Let the central figure be the general and have about him the figures of some Indians. This would always bring to the mind of the observer his record as a warrior.

"I would have it life size upon a granite "Would have the size upon a grantee base. In fact, I would have the whole thing of granite, taken from the Rocky Mountains. "We have some sculptors in the west, who are artists in their line and I am confident such a meaument as I have spoken of could be completed at a cost not to exceed $10,000 and possibly much cheaper.

"At the next meeting of the Art associarion I shall ask for sketches, which may prove of some help to the committee. My ideas as given I shall not insist upon-being carried out, as I have not talked with any of the members of the committee and do not know what they propose."

John A. Creighton said: "I knew nothing about my appointment until I read THE BEE, and consequently am not propared to speak. However, I favor a monument in Jefferson square and shall be glad to act in conjunction with the balance of the committee.

A SHAKING UP OF SENATORS.

The Terms of Twenty-Eight Expire With the Present Session.

ARMY OFFICER ASSIGNED TO PINE RIDGE.

The President Nominates Orestes G. Bailey for Register of the Bloomington Land Office-Miscellancous Matters.

WASHINGTON BUREAU THE OMARA BEE, 513 FOURTHEATH STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 7.

There will be a lively shaking up of the senate as a result of the battles before the various state legislatures, many of which began yesterday, with others to follow fast, There are twenty-eight senators whose terms expire with the close of this short session. These include Senators Allison of Iowa, Blackburn of Kentucky, Blair of New Hampshire, Brown of Georgia, Call of Florida, Cameron of Pennsylvania, Eustis of Louisiana, Evarts of New York, Farwell of Illinois, Hampton of South Carolina, Ingalls of Kansas, Jones of Arkansas, Jones of Nevada, Mitchell of Oregon, Moody of South Dakota, Morrill of Vermont, Payne of Ohio, Pierce of North Dakota, Platte of Connecticut, Pugh of Alabama, Spooner of Wisconsin, Squire of Washington, Stanford of California, Teller of Colorado, Vance of North Carolina, Vest of Missouri, Voorhees of Indiana and Wilson of Maryland, This list, it will be seen, contains some of the strongest figures of the senate, such as Evarts, Ingails, Spooner, Teller, Vest, Voorhees and Morrill. Some of them are sure to retire owing to adverse legislatures in their respective states, as in the case of Spooner and Evarts. Others have already been elected, while most of them have contests. which are now in progress. It is the belief here that Evarts will be succeeded by Governor Hill. Spooner's successor will undoubtedly be ex-Secretary Vilas. Blair may remain owing to the favorable turn of affairs for the republican legistators of New Hampshire, Hampton will give place to Irly, a Carolinan who has hit his man at ten paces. Blackburn, Voor-hees, Vest and Stanford can stay here as long as they want, as their re-election is a mere formality. Cameron had a row on hand, but he has adroitly profited by the recent No-vember disaster, which showed the Pennsylvania republicans that they must stand to gether or be awamped. Altogether the personnel of the senate will be materially changed by the contests of the coming few

BAILEY APPOINTED REGISTER AT BLOOMINGTON. Today President Harrison nominated Orestes G. Bailey for register of the land office for the Bloomington, Neb., district, Register Ashley's resignation having been received and accepted some days since. S. R. Glinn was a candidate for this place, but his application was not received until after the delegation had decided to recommend Bailey. Mr. Bailey is a farmer living at Bloomington and was a member of the lower house of the legislature in 1887. A CHANGE AT PINE RIDGE.

At the direction of the president Captain Pierce of the First cavalry will take charge of the Pine Ridge agency. Captains Ewers of the Fifth, Earnest of the Eighth and Lee the Ninth infantry are also assigned to agency duty, to be placed as General Miles may direct. It appears that Agent Royer has not given satisfaction to either the government or his wards, and it has been deemed expedient to place the agency in the handsof an officer. Further than this assignment the recommendation of General Miles that certain agents should be relieved and army officers placed in charge will not be followed. The relief of Agent Royer is the extent to which the president will go in the direction of giving the army control of the Indian agencies, and although some officers may be placed out in some agencies, the agents will be retained. It is not believed that it would be expedient to put an end to the educational and other work in the hands of the Indian agents by substituting army officers, who could do no more than issue rations and look after the peaceful condition of the Indians. The army, it is stated in executive circles, has had absolute control of the Indian agencies so far as military power is concerned in the present disturbance and it is held at the war and interior depart-ments that had there been army officers in charge of the Indian agencies instead of the present agents, nothing more could have been done in the direction of peace than has been done. At the very incipiency of the Indian trouble Secretary Noble directed the agents to co-operate with the army and obey the command of the officer in charge of the roops, and they have complied.
Secretary Noble said tonight: "Don't mistake the action of today. Only Agent Royer has been or will be displaced. The assignment of the other officers than Captain Pierce are to do military duty at the agencies, but will not supplant the agents."

INTERESTED IN THE SHIPPING BILLS.

The pan-American transportation company watching with much interest the outcome of the shipping bills now before the house, for if these bills are passed it will mean a posed lines connecting the United States with Central and South America. J. Clarke of Chicago, who is in behalf of the company, said today that the company was ready to begin operations as soon as congress granted the charter. Their first step would be to send a man abroad to charter from two to five steamers of not less than 4,000 tons burthen each. If, however, the subsidy bill went through, the plan of chartering steamers abroad would be abar doned and American ships would be used in doned and American sample order that the company might secure the bounties which the subsidy plan proposes.

Mr. Clarke says that the $1,000,000 necessary to start the company is already in sight and will be forthcoming immediately upon the granting of the charter. This will allow an early meeting at Galveston, Tex., where the officers for the company will be chosen. Agents will at once be dispatched to South-ern and Central America in behalf of the company. It is expected that the new line will get a large share of the coffee trade coming up from Brazil, as well as a considerable part of the traffic in fruit from the West

THE EIGHTH OF JANUARY.

Seventy-six years ago this day-January 8 $15-was fought the battle of New Orleans. is there in all these United States a single soulliving who was present and took part in that contest of arms? It is doubtful. And Jackson, the hero, has been dead for more han forty-five years! It was in the defense of New Orleans that Andrew Jackson achieved his enduring renown. So on this anniversary his unprecedented achievement is recalled. Time was when next to the Fourth of July January 8 was the greatest of this country's holidays. There used to be grand street parades, cannon woke the echoes upon the hillsides, and flags floated from public and private buildings. Toasts to "Old Hickory" and the "Hero of New Orleans" were drunk and orations, stirring and patriotic, were de-livered to commemorate the day and the man. Sometimes there would be festivities only, when songs and ballads were in order, recalling the incidents of the British repulse, how Packenham was killed, how his army was routed, how the "fair women were saved from a brutal soldiery. One of these had this ending:

"While old Mississippi to the ocean shall

The laurels of Jackson shall flourish and grow; Future ages with transport shall publish his fame, And mingle his praises with Washington's

Perhaps the most popular of all the songs that were wont to be sung on those gala days was the "Hunters of Kentucky." Two of the stanzas ran thus:

Ye gentlemen and ladies fair Who grace this famous city, Just listen if you've time to spare, While I rehearse a ditty, And for the opportunity Conceive yourselves quite lucky, For 'tis not often that you see A hunter from Kentucky On! Kentucky! Oh! Kentucky!

Now Packenham had made his brags, If he in fight was lucky,

He'd have our gals and cotton bags,
In spite of Old Kentucky.

But Jackson, he was wide awake

And wasn't scared at trifles; For well he knew what aim we take With our Kentucky rifles.

A few words as to the battle. It was to lecide whether New Orleans should fall into the hands of the British or not. Jackson and his army were to defend; Packenham and his force were to detend; Packennam and his force were to break down every opposition, and then occupy the town—with "Beauty and Booty" as their cry.

Jackson held a position behind a deep trench running from the Mississippi eastward to a swamp, at a point where the solid land het ween was less than a mississippi. land between was less than a mile in width—a position naturally strong. Every effort was put forth to make it still stronger. A rampart of cotton bales behind the deep ditch constituted the fortification, back of which was the small force of Jackson, and in fron of it the British army.

Under the fire of a battery of six eighteen counders, the main body of the enemy, led by General Packenham in person, advanced storm Jackson's position. The result, as all the world knows, was a splendid victory for the Americans. Two thousand of the British soldiers were killed and wounded, while the loss of Jackson was seven killed and six wounded! Another old ballad that was often sung in ANOTHER MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

A New York Physician Has a Better Remedy Than Koch's,

New York, Jan 7 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE.]-The line of inquiry and investigation that has been taken up by physicians in this city in consequence of the discovery of Koch's lymph at Berlin has apparently led to another valuable addition to the known truths of scientific medicine. An experiment that has been carried on at the House of Rest for consumptives at Fremont by the visiting physician, Dr. S. C. Bruce of this city, has succeeded in developing some very remarkable facts, and although the ground of experience is not yet wide enough to admit of an absolute conclusion, it seems to warrant the statement that Dr. Bruce has discovered a remedy that promises as startling results as those obtained by the now celebrated lymph. The information was placed at the disposal of the Times today, which seems to show that cases of phthisis, in advanced stages, which have shown little if any reaction under the lymph treatment, have under the treat-ment introduced by Dr. Bruce shown wonderful improvement and give reason for much hope. In the manner of application the sub-stance used by Dr. Bruce is entirely similar to the lymph, a hyperdermic injection being made of from twenty to ninety minims in the back of the patient near the shoulder blade. The patient, after reserving this injection or inocculation, has in every case under treatment shown favorable symptoms, not the least of which is a remarkable gain in weight and recovery of appetite.

SENATOR PADDOCK.

"Regarding the new Omaha postoffice building I have but little to say, as that matter is wholly in the hands of Senator Manders on and Representative Connell, though I doubt if much will be accomplished at this session of congress, as it is pretty thoroughly understood that the present congress is cut-ting down all appropriations and the general tendency is to go lower, if such a thing be possible. As I understood the matter, it has gone about as far as it can until an appropriation is passed.

"Don't speak to me about the McKinley ill. At Washington and at every other place I go the bill is proving the greatest chestnut of the age, and I would not be sur-prised to see it modified very much, though it is working much the same as new bills of similar nature always do at first.

"A bill that will prove of much benefit to the country at large and the state of Ne-craska in particular, is my food adulteration bill. At this time fifteen states of the union have bills against the adulteration of articles of food, but there is no general law covering the question. This bill of which I speak begins, so you might say, where the state laws leave off. Food that is adulterated may not se used in the state where manufacture there is not any law preventing its being shipped out of the state for the consumption of the innocent purchaser. This bill that has been lavorably reported from the committee will work in conjunction with the interstate commerce law and will provide for the levy of a penalty to be imposed upon the shipper as well as upon the manufacturer.

"I have not expressed an opinion on the fight at Lincoln, nor do I intend to, though it is quite amusing to be at a distance and watch the conflict."

The Fire Record. CAIRO, Dl., Jan. 7 .- Fire this morning destroyed the building occupied by the New York dry goods company and the provision and grocery establishment of the New York store company with the contents. An adjoining meat masket and sausage factory were also damaged. Loss, $105,000; partially
