

THE BOSTON STORE.

If You Have Goods to Buy, Prepare to Buy Them Tomorrow.

As We Will Make One Great, Grand, Herculean Effort to Close Out All the Remaining Railroad-Wrecked Goods Tomorrow.

NEVER BEFORE HAVE WE PLACED IN THIS POSITION TO OFFER FIRST-CLASS STAPLE DRY-GOODS AT ONE-FOURTH THEIR ACTUAL VALUE AS NOW.

7 CASES BLEACHED MUSLIN FROM THE RAILROAD WRECK.

Two cases of fine quality yard wide bleached muslin go at 25c a yard.

One case all sound and perfect, first-class quality, bleached muslin for 5c a yard.

Three cases, including all the best grades, yard wide bleached muslin, manufactured, go at 7c a yard.

One case Lonsdale cambric, 9c regular price 15c.

BEST INDIGO BLUE CALICO, 4c.

This case of goods is all sound and perfect, we bought it from the railroad wreck and so it goes cheap.

We still have almost a case of that fine white extra wide Sinker flannel which will be closed tomorrow at 4c. It is worth 12c.

LADIES' AND MISSES' HOSIERY.

We have exactly 183 dozen of ladies' imported all wool seamless cashmere hose worth up to 50c, which go tomorrow at 10c.

All the finest ladies' full regular made fast black cashmere hose from the railroad wreck go at 25c.

Children and misses hose from the railroad wreck go at 5c.

All the men's, ladies' and children's underwear from the railroad wreck have been greatly reduced to close them out tomorrow.

COTTON BATTING 5c, A ROLL.

All the cotton batting from this railroad wreck—about 14 bales in all—are to be closed out tomorrow at 5c a roll.

MUSLIN UNDERWEAR FROM THE R. R. WRECK.

Although we have sold immense quantities of ladies' muslin underwear from the railroad wreck, we have still a lot left.

To close it out with one grand sweep we have put it in lots at 25c, 35c, 50c and 75c. These values will surprise you.

Everything else remaining from the railroad wreck that has been heretofore advertised has been greatly reduced.

It must positively be a great bargain.

Buying all goods strictly for cash and in larger quantities than any other house in our line enables us to offer many cash bargains, unapproachable by any other house.

AN UNNATURAL CONSEQUENCE.

Omaha Has One of the Greatest Medical Institutes on the American Continent.

Never in its history has the Omaha Medical and Surgical Institute had so many patients in its care as now, and for the first time in its history it is being patronized by those who prize its future welfare.

The reason that this great institute has become even more popular in the last year than ever is that the gentleman now at the head is a man of high standing and high confidence.

This gentleman is none other than Dr. A. T. McLaughlin, the president and physician in charge.

Those who do not know Dr. McLaughlin personally cannot but be struck by the success which he has attained in his profession.

Dr. McLaughlin is a man of high standing and high confidence, and his name is a guarantee of success.

Bennett's Social Gathering.

The employees of W. R. Bennett Co., held a rather unique entertainment on Monday evening, the 5th inst., at the 1018 S. 14th st.

As the chairman, Mr. W. J. Bennett, remarked, there are but few opportunities in a large house of business like W. R. Bennett Co.'s for the clerks to become socially acquainted with each other.

A social gathering occasionally might be the means of making them all better acquainted with each other.

W. R. Bennett Co., could be justly called the pioneers of cheap trading in this city.

The first brought into circulation the humble penny here and from a small beginning it has grown to a business of immense proportions.

This success is due to their system of selling goods at the lowest possible profit, making only one price, and treating all alike.

They have 12 departments in their store, employ over 100 clerks, and have an army of drivers, teamsters and stable help.

They carry their business on under their constant and personal supervision and are constantly making improvements in their service to insure quick and correct service to the customer.

For instance, they have adopted a scheme whereby their customers can get waited upon quicker than in any other house in the city, and where they can depend on having exactly what they pay for, and accuracy in every particular.

It is appropriate that their employees should emanate or propose schemes to benefit their fellow clerks.

All the members of the firm were present at the entertainment and below is a report of the entertainment.

The first part of the evening was devoted to music and recitations. Prof. Butler rendered a delightful selection on the piano, followed by Mr. R. J. Wherry, who sang in a happy manner.

"The Way through the Woods," was sung by Miss Brtha Bayless and Mr. Wherry. "Freeman," a descriptive piece, was sung by Mr. W. H. Dodge.

The floor was then given to dancing, and to the merry strains of an orchestra the young people chased the flying moments by.

Mr. Ives was the master of ceremonies, assisted by Messrs. O. Melan, Chlanda, Hoyman and Fell.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.

Still Another Proof that Omaha is a Metropolitan City.

The latest addition to the educational galaxy is a young but prosperous conservatory of music, which, although only a few months old is already far beyond the experimental point and is today one of the recognized necessities of Omaha.

The branches of instruction embrace the piano, vocal music, the organ, the violin, harmony and composition, and the foreign languages. This institution is founded upon the plan prevalent in Germany and the larger American cities.

The plan of instruction is similar to that pursued in our public schools. Another important feature of the class system is that it secures better instruction and lessens the cost.

All pupils of the conservatory are taught harmony free. The faculty is composed of Prof. E. M. Jones and J. G. Cummings, who are also the directors of the conservatory. Mrs. J. W. Cotton, Mr. W. T. Taber and Mr. Charles Baetens, are too well and favorably known to Omaha people to need introduction or comment.

Prof. Baetens was formerly a professor in the Cincinnati college of music, and is a thorough master of the violin. Miss Lydia E. Russell, a graduate of the Cincinnati college of music, is instructress in elocution. Professors Jones and Cummings have just returned from taking an extensive course of study under Prof. Xaver Scharwenka (piano) and Prof. Phillip Scharwenka (composition). They have also attended the best schools on this side of the Atlantic. The new term will open in the conservatory, located on the 10th floor of the New York Life building.

The Parrot's Joy. A good story is told of a gray African parrot. It was usually kept in the nursery along with its owner's children, and its greatest delight in life was to see the baby bathed, says London Tid-Bits.

One day, however, it was somewhat suddenly taken from the nursery to the kitchen, where its cage had not been placed above an hour or so when the whole household was horrified by the parrot shrieking in the most piercing tones.

O, the baby! the dear baby! Of course everybody rushed in hot haste to the kitchen. Here they found the parrot, wild with excitement, watching the toasting of a sucking pig!

STONEHILL'S.

The Handic Treasure.

An adventurous lad who had climbed to the top of Simpson's Rest, a bold promontory, which rises like Gibraltar from the northern edge of Trinidad, Colorado, accidentally discovered a cave on the mountain side.

It was a large, dark, and gloomy cavern, and he had just entered it when he saw a glimmering torch, he boldly ventured in. A glittering and a rusty cutlass rewarded his curiosity.

As he was about to leave a horrible groan issued from the darkest corner. Speechless with terror, he scrambled to the cave's mouth. Hastily summoning a friend they cautiously reentered the cavern.

All at once noise like demoniac laughter came out of the darkness. The cold great froze on their brows, their eyeballs started from their sockets. Once more that awful sound broke forth and as the notes became more plain the boys recognized the voice of the laughing jackass.

It was a poor little mountain burro who had fallen in the cave, and was laughing with joy. He had just finished the lid of a box of Standard horse and cattle food, all he had had to eat for four days. It had been left in this cave by Don Spiro Spero, the bold Mexican bandit.
