KILLED THEIR BEST FRIEND. Lieutenant Casey Trained the Indians

to Work. The death of Lieutenant Edward W. Casey, who was shot through the head while venturing close to the hostile Sioux camp, following close upon the loss of Captain Wallace and of the many men killed at Wounded Knee, shows that a costly price has already been paid for the campaign now going on. Lieutenant Casey was an enthusiast on the subject of the possibilities of Indian scouts, and had been very successful in his management of these auxilliaries. A Californian by birth, but appointed from Louisiana to the military academy he had served as a subaltern in the Twenty-second infantry more than seventeen years at the time of his death, having been assigned to that regiment as a second lieutenant in 1873, and obtaining his promotion to be first lieutenant early in 1880. A year's detail as senior assistant instructor of infantry and artillery tactics at West Point in 1883 was followed by service of more than two years as adjutant of his regi-ment; but it was his success with his company of Cheyenne scouts at Fort in Montana, that made him better known outside of military circles. Of this company Mr. Frederic Remington recently gave a description in Harper's Weekly: "When at thas place I was driven out to the little village of Lieutenant E. W. Casey's Cheyenne scouts. I saw a long line of well-constructed leg building,cor- Fals and stables, also a large garden fenced and cultivated. I entered the houses and saw comfort and cleanliness. I saw smiling faces and laughing children. I saw perfectly kept cavalry arms and accoutrements, and fine Indian soldiers, who stood like bronze statues, and saluted in the best possible form, while never a muscle of their stern faces twitched and they looked a soldier and felt a soldier, and were in fact the finest I had ever seen. I saw them mount and fall in and drill in admirable shape, all by a sign of Lieutenant Casey's right hand, because do not understand English well enough. I admired the indomitable zeal of Lieutenant Casey and hoped his work would lead to greater things.

'Six months before all these men were down at the Lame Deer agency doing nothing, unless to go out gunning for a ranchman's cattle, Lieutenant Casey brought them up to the mouth of the Tongue river, uniformed and equipped garder after irrigating the land. He then took them up the Yellowstone, and—it is almost beyond belief-he gave them axes with which they mauled logs, and with the help of their ponies they tugged then out to the river and drove them down to the fort. They then hewed the logs and built cabins as good as any ranchman's in the country. Lieutenant Casey and his interpreter (an old Fifth infantry soldier, who has been in battle against the Cheyennes) were the only white men along. Beyond doing all this work, they are well-drilled, and all in six months. We keep army recruits four months at a depot before we forward them. I should not be surprised if Lieutenant Casey had his Indians herding sheep in course of time, and that is the particular thing that an Indian will

The beauty and talent displayed by the entire cast in the historical production of the gorgeous spectacle, "America-1492, 1882." has never been surpassed in this city. The has never been surpassed in this city. The costumes are entirely foreign to all ideas ever advanced here and the ground work of the entire spectacle is founded on the principal historical facts of this country. It is filled with soul stirring music and thrilling battle scenes, and the situations in both field and forum are really beautiful. It is undoubedly the most instructive production now before the public. A special matinee for ladies and scholars will be given next Saturday afternoon, and packed houses will be in order during this most instructive spectacle.

The entertainment provided by the Eden Musee this week is one of the strengest ever presented at that popular house. Ella Ewing, the giantess from Missouri, who has been such a popular attraction the past week, has been retained this week in order that all may avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing the greatest wonder in modern history. Another freak that has just been put on this week is Nellie May, the Nebraska fat girl, who weighs 410 pounds and is but sixteen years old. This girl is a perfect wonder and years old. This girl is a perfect wonder and so fat that she walks with the greatest difficulty. In the Bijou theater the Howard imperial minstrel company of tweive well known black face artists holds forth. This company gives a really enjoyable entertainment and instead of detaining a person three hours give an hour's performance full of wit and humor.

"Evangeline," with its two score of Acadian maidens, its merry but miserable rufflans, its demure heroine, its dashing hero, its Dutch captain, its Irish policeman, its lone fisherman, its cunning notary, its coquettish chaperon, in fact, "Evangeline" with all its glorious halo of stage triumph, magnificent scenery, superb costumes 4nd dazzling brilliant effects will be seen at Boyd's Saturday and Sunday, January 17 and 18. Richard Harlow will play Catherine and none other than Joe Harris will fill the role of the lone fisherman. Ben Lodge, the favorite comedian, will play Le Blanc, while two exceptionally talented and beautiful young ladies, Miss Lillian Walters and Miss Geraldine McCann, are in the parts of Gabriel and Evangeline.

Boyd's opera house will present for the first time in this city during the last three nights of next week a new comic opera, which served to please New Yorkers im-mensely last summer at Palmer's theater, despite the almost unbearable torridity. The new opera also introduces a new opera com-past in the title of the William J. Gilmore for the magnificent production given in "The Sea King." The score is said to brim with melodies which are already popular where the opera has been heard.

Between the first and second acts of "Odette" at Boyd's opera house this evening the orchestra, under the direction of Mr Salisbury, will play for the first time a transcription of the song, "Only a May Day Crown," composed by Mr. Eugene Jepson, a member of the company, and dedicated to Miss Clars Moving. Big Doctor's Bill.

Probably the largest fee for medical or surgical attendance ever paid in New York was the sum of $100 to Dr. Willard Parker, about fifteen years ago, for an operation in a wealthy family resident John William Hargreave writes near New York, says the Chicago Her-Chief Seavey from Scarborough, Eng-land, for information regarding his son, affliction in the United States, at least among native Americans, although far from uncommon in France and Switzer-land. From the side of the face and neck hung a fleshy sack, hideously disfiguring and making life a burden to the heir of several millions. He carried the out-growth in a silken bag, which hid it from view, but did not render less conspicuous the fact of its presence. The young man appeale to the surgeons of the highest reputation in France and London; but they made an examination and concluded that an operation would result fatally. Then he turned to the well known American surgeon, who consented. It is said to have been a most arduous task of surgery. But the patient lived, and without the deformity.

Secretary Debs of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen Tired. Grand Secretary and Treasurer E. V. Debs of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Fremen has announced that at the conclusion of his present term he would retire from any official connection with the order, says a Terre Haute dispatch to the Chicago Times. Mr. Debs has been since 1880 elected six consecutive times grand secretary and treas-urer of the order without a single dissenting vote, the last being at San Francisco last September for a term of two years. He is also editor of the Fireman's Magazine, the official publication of the order, and after Grand Master Sargent is the best known man among the firemen. The physical strain and a desire to enter other business are given by Mr. Debs as the reason for his retirement. Debs' term will not expire for nearly two years, and his reasons for announcing his contemplated retirement now is that the order may look about for his successor. Mr. Debs' announcement will be a great surprise in brotherhood circles and will also be of interest to all the orders in the Federation of Railway Employes. Mr. Debs is a member of the supreme council of twelve, and it was he who last September at the conclusion of the important meeting here, which declined to order a strike on the New York Central, wrote

The following gentlemen were elected as directors of the association: Thomas Swobe, Joseph Garneau, J. H. Birket, R. S. Berlin, J. M. Swetnam, William Krug and D. H.

A resolution was passed recommending to the board of directors that the matter of making a loan upon the property of the associa-tion be considered and reported upon at the next meeting of the association. In case the loan is made the association will doubtless get the park in shape for the June races next spring. The association will meet again soon at the call of the president. The Warehouse Bill.

The members of the board of trade committee appointed to draft a warehouse bill to present before the legislature failed to meet in conference yesterday afternoon, on account of the fact that several of them were out of the city. Secretary Nason has seen several members of the committee, however, and they are agreed upon the provisions of and they are agreed upon the provisions of the bill. It will be practically a duplicate of the Illinois law relating to public ware-houses. It is likely that Secretary Nason and some other members of the committee and some other members of the committee will visit Lincoln within a week to confer with several prominent members of the legislature who have written the board of trade offering their assistance in the furtherance of a bill of this kind, which will insure Omaha and Nebraska a grain market that will not be owned and controlled by Chicago.

A BRITISH POMPEIL

A Buried Brito-Roman Town Laid

Bare After 1,000 Years. A British Pompeli has just been disvered near Reading in Berkshire, on the great Strathfeldsay estate of the duke of Wellington, says a London dispatch of the Dunlap cable company. It is a true city, not a mere camp and when fully excavated will throw light upon the domestic life of our remote ancestors of more than one thousand years The city now being laid bare is the Brito-Roman Silchester. The whole area has been free from all building operations ever since the Roman occupa tion of Britain; in fact, the soil is virgin, having been pasture land for centuries. The excavation committee has already succeeded in revealing to nine teenth century eyes life in a British city that had a long existence in a day of which history is almost silent. The task of excavation is a tremendous one but the work is being prosecuted as funds come in.
