he TALE of a SHI

Something like four years ago we placed on sale in our furnishing goods department, a white shirt. This shirt we had made for us in four different grades, each grade being made of as good materials as it was possible to put into a shirt, and sell it at the price we expected to make. To show our faith in it, we branded it with our own brand and named it

"THE NEBRASKA SHIRT."

We sold this shirt to our customers and guaranteed them that they were buying a better article for the money than they had ever bought before. It stood the test. Men who bought it then, buy it yet. From a really small beginning, our sales have reached enormous proportions, our orders now running into thousands of dozens annually. Each season we have seen opportunities for improvement which we have not been slow to adopt, until now we think them as nearly perfect as a shirt can be made.

The matinee sale for the Jefferson-Florence engagement opened yesterday morning at 9 o'clock at the Grand opera house box office with eighty-seven men in line, and when the box office closed last evening the sale for the matinee and evening performances aggregated the handsome total of $2,500. The company will arrive from Slotx City this morning at 9:20 in their special car. They will play "The Rivals" at the matinee this afternoon, and "The Heir-at-Law" this evening. There are a number of good scats that can be obtained this morning for the matinee performance, and a few orchestra scats are left for this ovening. Desirable scats are yet on sale for both performances.

Mortimer's company of merry comedians will render the three act musical farce en-titled "Larking." at the Grand opera house tomorrow evening at popular prices, re-served seats being 50, 35 and 15 cents.
