George Stavely died last evening, aged ninety-one years, at the residence of W. J. Stavely, 1013 Avenue C. He leaves a widow and two sons. The notice of the funeral will be given later.

The sacrament of adult baptism will be administered in St. Paul's church this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Mrs. M. Merman began a suit against the cily yesterday for damages to her property which is situated on Statesman street be-tween Bloomer and Clinton. She claims that in the summer and fall of 1850 the city ordered a street thirty feet wide to be excavated in front of her lots. The excavation caused the ground to cave and crumble, so as to necessitate the removal of the house. She was also deprived of the means of approaching her house. She demands damages to the amount of $1,000 for the inconvenience to which she has been put.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

The Jury Disagreed. The jury in the case of the State vs R. T. Bryant, charged with obtaining money underfalse pretenses, struggled with the problem, guilty or not guilty, all day yester-day, as they did the day before. Some of Bryant's friends were on the jury and it was evident that they would not allow the de-fendant to get the worst of it as long as fendant to get the worst of it as long as they had strength to vote for his acquittal. At last, all hopes of coming to an agreement were given up, and last evening at about 9 cclock Judge Thornell was summoned to the court house. After hearing the statements of the members of the jury, he decided that there was no use in trying to force them to an agreement, and he accordingly discharged them. mgly discharged them.

Failure to Convict the Kissells-Contractor O'Hean Sues the City-Narrow Escape of a Farmer From Drowning.

Late yesterday afternoon several suits were filed in the district court which will place in uncertainty the ownership to property in the northeastern part of the city valued at about $30,000. In all the cases B. H. Riddle, Helen Riddle, and Marshall J. Riddle the Central Law Journal of St Louis for this week is entitled "Bills of Exceptious," and is from the pen of Mr. W. E. Bainbridge, who is connected with the law firm of Sims & Saunders of Council Bluffs.

The dog rushed which was half asleep, around the room, but found nothing. Lying heard rushed around the room, and finding nothing lay down to go to sleep, when the parrot, havin had so much fun, jumped off its perch on to the floor, went up to the dog and yelled outagain "Seek 'em, Tige."

This time Tige did "seek 'em," and the way that parrot was handled was a caution. Had it not been that someone heard the confusion and came in and rescued him he would have been killed. He managed to get on to his perch, and, after gazing at his feathers scattered all around the floor, looked mourafully back at one solitary feather standing upon his tail, and in a dole-ful voice said: "I know what is the matter

Fred and George Kissell were before Justice Patton yesterday afternoon for a preliminary hearing on the charge of the larceny of a lot of jewelry from the Grand hotel a week ago, an account of which was given in THE BEE when the arrest was made. When the case was called the justice stated that Edith Kissell, the young woman whose confession led to the arrest in the first place, had made a complete denial of the story which she had told and which had been sworn to before Justice Patton. As her tes-timony was the only thing the prosecution had upon which to base their hopes of a conviction, the defendants had to be discharged.

Miss Kissell stated that the confession was exterted from her by means of threats. She said that she had been taken to the office of the chief of police, where she was kept until 11 o'clock at night, answering questions by the dozen in regard to the affair. She was told, she claims, that if she did not confess she would be taken to the penitentiary or some other terrible place that night, and as she believed what was told her, she came to her predicament was by making a clean breast of it. She said that there was not the slightest truth in the statement that she had made under oath before Justice Patton, and that she had not see either of her brothers since six weeks previous to the robbery.

A Contractor After the City.

Timothy O'Hearn, the contractor, commenced suit is the district court yesterday against the city to recover damages to the amount of $1,500, which he claims by reason of the city in refusing to allow him to go on with the grading of Commercial street, the the chimney. It was generated in dense contract for which had been let to him by the city council. After the letting of the contract the park commissioners brought a good deal of pressure to bear on the members of the council, as Commercial street runs through Fairmount park, and the park commissioners were afraid that the grading of the street would be an injury. The result was that Mr. O'Hearn, who was all ready to go on with the work, received an order from the council the work, received an order from the council revoking the permission which had been granted to him previously to commence operation. He claims that if he had been allowed to go on as he had intended he could have made at least $2,000, but he will be content with a judgment for $1,500, which is the amount the petition asks for.

Narrow Escape from Downing. News was brought to the Binfs yesterday morning of a narrow escape from drowning which took place near Parks' mill, east of the city, the hero of the occasion being Adoif Oitman, a farmer who resides about seven miles northeast of here. Oltman was driving along the road a short distance beyond the mill when he came to a culvert not far from tue bridge which spans the creek at that place. When he struck the culvert, in some way, he does not know how, his horse fell off into the creek, taking him along. Oltmann drifted down thestream a short distance, and then caught on a snag that was partially hidden by the water. He was in this unpleasant predicament when he was discovered by A. F. Clatterbuck, his son, S. A. Clatterbuck. and some of their workmen. The workmen were at once dispatched for a boat with which to reach the man, the water being six feet deep at the place where he was, so that wading to him was out of the question. After the men and started for the boat, Mr. Clatterbuck and his son came to the concu-sion that Oltmann was about to let go his hold on the snag, so they set about rescuing him in another manner. They fastened a rope to a large stick of wood and threw the stick into the water in such a way that it would, float to the drowing man. A few minutes later he caught it and mustering up all the strength he had, held to it with a grip like death until he was drawn to the shore by his rescuers.

He reached the shore after being in the water just a half hour. The cold water and the terror of the occasion had together affected him until he was so weak that he could not stand. He was taken to Clatter-hundly house makes he was reach for Babuck's house, where he was cared for. Be-yond being frightened half out of his wits and soaked to the skin by the fragrant waters of Indian creek his injuries were found to be found to be slight, and it is thought that be will be nothing the worse for his accident in

Wanted-Fairmount Park.

Elia Kecfe, through her attorney, D. B. Dailey, commenced a suit in the district court yesterday to gain possession of twenty lots in the middle of Fairmount park. When the surt was completed last fall in which the title of Fairmount park was at issue, it was supposed that the question had been settled once for all, but the commissioners now see that they will have to go through the ordeal again. The defendant's petition is quite a marvel of brevity. It merely states that the property does not belong to the city or to the park commissioners, and that it is wrongfully detained from the plaintiff, who is the real owner. By what right the plaintiff makes her claim it does not state. Mr. Graham was seen last night in the hope that he could give some clue to the matter. He stated that he was in total ignorance as to what claim she had on the land. He was reasonably sure, however, that she would fail to show any right to it, from the fact that the condemnation proceedings had taken place eleven years ago, and that any claim that the defendant might have would now be outlawed anyway. The question of the legality of the condernor tion proceedings had been fully investigated at the previous trial, so that he had no fears on that score. What new claims may be made cannot be said, but whatever they are, it is needless to say that they will be fought with all the legal talent that may be necessary. During the previous trial Judge Trimble, Finley Burke, G. A. Holmes, and Sapp & Pusey, appeared for the city, and it is probable that they will be retained for the present case, with the addition of the present city attorney, J. J. Stewart.

Out for a Ride.

The city council took a ride around the city yesterday afternoon for the purpose of making some investigations relative to a petition which was introduced at the last meet ing of the council for the grading of a strip of land in the western part of the city. The land in question lies between Indian creek and Sixteenth street and between Broadway and Eighth avenue. The property owners, or at least a large share of them, in that part of the city, have united in asking the council to have it raised to the established grade No definite decision was arrived at by the aldermen, and it is not likely there will be until the next meeting, but the general feeling that the grading was needed. The coun cil also went up to Commercial street to look at a washout which had been made on the street near the point where it enters Fair mount park. The washout is still there.

Charged with Bigamy. The case of the state vs L. C. James, on the charge of bigamy, was on trial in the district court vesterday. It is a peculiar case and the more that is found out about it the stranger it appears. Mrs. James, the first wife of the defendant was the principal witness in the trial on the side of the state. She testified that she and her husband moved to Lincoln county, Nebraska, with their four children, and that after they had lived there for a time James decided to puil up his states and come to the Bluffs. He told his wife that he was going to leave her, but she had not the slightest idea that he had any intention of securing a divorce. The first intimation that he had such an in-tention was when she picked up a paper which contained an account of the granting of the divorce, which was done by Judge Thornell on January 25, 1890, D. B. Dailey being the plaintiff's attorney. Six days after the granting of the divorce he married his present wife, Ella Kissell. As soon as Mrs. James No. I heard of the granting of the divorce she came on and instituted proceedings to have it set aside on the ground that she had not been notified that the suit was pending. As soon as the case was given a proper hearing with Mrs. James on the field to tell her story, the divorce was set aside. She then had her fuithless husband indicted on a charge o bigamy. There was but little evidence brought in by the defendant to counteract the effect of this damaging testimony. The attorneys on both sides waver their arguments. attorneys on both sides waver their argujury will be given this morning.

The Marons Fire. The Marcus fire still continues to be topic of conversation on the streets and a great deal of speculation is indulged in as to its origin. The presumption that the fire was communicated by the electric light wires supplying the arc lights has been brushed away by the electric light company and their experts upon the snowing that such a thing is an absolute impossibility on a closed circuit. If the wires should come into contact with any substance that would deflect the current it would produce a "groun d' that would be at once detected at the central station and in all the lamps on the circuit. If the contact should produce an arc sufficient to hum off, one of the wires would be in-stantly broken, the wires rendered narmless and all of the lights put out.

Insurance experts from Chicago yesterday cleared up the mystery. An examination of the stove showed that it was the cause of the mischief. It is one of the largest size Stew-art pattern. Shortly before Mr. Marcus and his clerks left the building a not of coal was thrown upon the fire and the dampers turned in the usual manner. By some means the small door in the rear near the base, used for cleaning the soot from the base of the stove, became loose and fell out. This interfered with the draft and prevented the gas liber ated from the coal in the stove escaping up volumes and found in exit at the top of the heater, and gradually filled the room. When it became sufficiently dense to make an explosive compound it was ignited from the gas let, burning in the front part of the store. It was this dense mass of flame that filled every part of the store that did the mischlef and attracted attention on the storet. the street. Insurance men say this is a frequent cause of fires, and is one of the dangers arising from the use of hard coal in large

The work of adjusting the losses has been nearly completed. To Mr. Marcus the loss will be very beavy. His insurance only covers about 60 per cent of the invoice value of the goods, and after the insurance companies has the full amount of their size the les pay the full amount of their risks the merchapt will lose heavily.

GOULD'S LATEST SCHEME.

He Proposes Putting a Blanket Mortgage on the Union Pacific.

New York, March 20.-[Special Telegram to THE BEE. |-The Tribune says that it is able to announce that the managers of the Union Pacific have under consideration a plan for the creation of a blanket mortgage to cover the entire system owned and controlled by the company, similar to the mortgage which the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe issued upon its organization. The details of the plan are unobtainable, as many of them are incomplete, while other depend upon negotiations now in progress. Jay Gould is giving his attention largely to the work necessary to carry through so great a financial operation and accountants are preparing exact schedules of the bonded indebt-edness and other liabilities, while lawyers are examining into every question of law which might arise in the execution of the scheme. The purpose of the mortgage is to effect a solidification of all the branch lines of the Union Pacific, provide for a floating debt and arrange means for the settlement of the debt to the government. Will Maintain Bates.

CHICAGO, March 20 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE.]-The one most prominent fact in vestern railroading is that all lines seem under positive instructions to maintain rates at all hazards. For two months there has hardly been a whisper of a cut rate. The St. Louis passenger rate disturbance is not a cut rate, it having arisen from the two cent mileage of the Jacksonville & Southeastern company, which cut no figure until the alli-ance with the Atchison, but this break in rates is considered of such importance that all western and southwestern lines would probably agree to-morrow to make a sub-scription large enough to buy up all low-priced takets in the market. This plan was practically agreed on at to-day's meeting of the general managers, and will be submitted to the full meeting to-morrow. Not Yet Settled.

Circago, March 20.-The 3-cent bugbear was supposed to have been settled vesterday when the Alton agreed to give the Jackson ville Southeastern until March 26 to redeem its promise regarding the withdrawal of mileage tickets, but when the western passenger managers today reconvened, they found a telegram from President Hook de nound a telegram from Freshelt Hook de-manding until April 10. The Alton people would not hear to this, and in reply to the telegrams sent nothing definite could be learned from President Hook. Finally the Atchison settled the matter by pledging themselves that if the outstanding tickets were not taken up by March 26 they would cancel their arrangements with the Jacksonville Southeastern, and in the meantime would answer for its faithful observance of the agreement. This was satisfactory to the

The Report Confirmed.

NEW YORK, March 20.-Sidney Dillon, president of the Union Pacific road, today confirmed the report that the directors were arranging to place a mortgage on the property. It is stated that a mortgage will be made for $250,000,000, the largest ever recorded, and will provide for taking up the underlying liens and also for an immediate issue to pay off the floating debt. The plan is expected to be completed in time to pre-sent to the stockholders at their meeting

National League of Musicians. MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 20 .- The National League of Musicians today discussed the resolutions bearing on the charges of Theodore Thomas' alleged boycott of Chicago musicians. They declare that in view of the Chicago Orchestra association's scheme of ecurin g Theodore Thomas and colonizing in Chicago his so-called orchestra, recruited in New York and European musical centers, and expressly stating that in their contract with Thomas no Chicago musicians were to be contracted with as regular members of said orchestra, the local union No. 1 of New York is instructed to call on Thomas to annul said contract, and in case of refusal, to discipline him. After a heated discussion the resolutions were withdrawn at the urgent request of the New York union, be-cause the Chicago delegates did not have any documentary proof of their charge. The proposition to join the Federation of Labor was finally ruled out of order, and the resolution to make low pitch the standard musical pitch of the United States was adopted. Owen Miller of St. Louis was elected president. The result is construed to be a victory dent. The result is construed to be a victory for the element favoring union with the American federation of labor. The other officers are: Vice presidents, Jacob Schmitz of Cincinnati, Frederick Wetherell of Syra-cuse and S. Davis of San Francisco; treas-urer, J. M. Lander, New York; secretary, Jacob Beck, St. Louis. The next meeting will be held in New York City.
