WILD WORDS IN THE COUNCIL.

Members Indulge in Unofficial and Profane Personal Remarks During Debate.

KNOCKED OUT THE BALLOU ORDINANCE.

Efforts to Put it on Its Passage Failed—It is Now in the Committee's Hand—A Winter Circus.

The council meeting last night was a regular winter circus, and for three hours thirteen members indulged in horse play.

There was war from the start and if guns had been in order some of the members would have been in the hospital or the morgue this morning.

The meeting was an adjourned regular, and was for the purpose of considering the BalloU electric light ordinance.

As soon as the roll was called the council went into committee of the whole with Mr. Cooper in the chair.

The clerk started to read the ordinance, but before he had read a dozen lines Mr. Bechel moved that it be recommitted to the committee on electric lights. This motion met with defeat and the clerk again commenced reading, but was interrupted by Mr. Chaffee, who stated that the ordinance was not the one that was referred to the city attorney.

Mr. Morearty insisted that it was the identical ordinance and a war of words ensued.

Mr. Chaffee insisted that he wanted to do justice to the city, the BalloU company and all parties concerned.

This was denied by Othoff, who remarked that the hand of the Thompson-Houston company was visible in the ordinance.

Mr. Specht said the ordinance was the remark, and intimated that the man who made the statement was a liar and the truth was not in him.

Mr. Morearty insisted that the clerk read.

Mr. Bechel objected, giving for his reason that the ordinance had been tampered with since it left the hands of the city attorney.

Mr. Davis said the city attorney had reported against the ordinance.

Mr. Specht said the ordinance, and not the city attorney, passes the ordinance.

Mr. Bechel moved that the committee be and report against the passage of the ordinance.

Mr. Specht objected against any further delay.

Messrs. Brazier, Asthoff and Specht clamored for the reading of the ordinance, and the opinion of the city attorney.

The clerk was again allowed to read, while Mr. Bechel was upon his feet demanding recognition.

Chairman Cooper applied the gas rule, and Mr. Bechel, by saying, "I will hear your motion when the reading of the ordinance is completed."

At last the reading was completed, and the committee rose, the chairman recommending the passage of the ordinance.

The report was rejected.

Mr. Chaffee asked Mr. Morearty if he was willing the subway clause should be stricken out.

Morearty refused to answer.

"Then we will defeat the ordinance," said Chaffee.

"You can't do it," yelled Specht and Morearty in one voice.

"Morearty has the original ordinance, drafted by the city attorney, in his possession, and if he will present it we will vote for its passage now," said Davis.

"This ordinance was submitted to the attorney," retorted Morearty.

"Yes," continued Davis, "and he moves more about ordinances in one minute than you do in six months."

"Perhaps he does, but I know enough to know that you are a fool and that some of you fellows are now in the employ of the Thompson-Houston company," said Morearty, as he wildly waved his fists.

President Lowry pounded for order, while

Morearty continued by saying, "I am proud to be able to say that I champion the course of the people and not a corporation."

Chaffee insisted that the BalloU people want not only a franchise to light, but they also want a franchise to build sub-ways, which franchise, he said, is intended to oppose.

Davis said it was another Dorsey scheme and he would not be a party to it.

Specht insisted that Wiley wanted too many of the councilmen to hope for honest legislation.

Morearty arose and asked that the ordinance be recommitted.

Bechel moved that it be placed upon its feet.

Othoff moved to amend by referring it back to the committee on gas and electric light and the city attorney.

Bechel amended by moving that the amendment be laid on the table.

In turn the motions and amendments were put, and when the ordinance came out of the ballot it was referred to the committee on electric lights.

"There are four bars to this ordinance," said Chaffee.

"The trouble with you is," said Othoff, "you have been unable to get into any of the barrels."

Chaffee demanded an explanation, but before he could make his heart heard, President Lowry declared the ordinance referred to the committee and the city attorney to prepare a corrected ordinance with all objections features stricken out.

Mayor Cushing called the attention of the council to the passage of the Australian ballot law, stating that its passage will necessitate dividing the city into new election districts. He suggested that a special committee be appointed to arrange all necessary details, so that in the event of special election there will be no unnecessary delay.

The communication was referred to a committee to be appointed Tuesday night.

The appointment of W. F. Bechel and A. J. O'Donohue as city appraisers to all vacant lots of Chris. Hartman and W. J. Shriver, who were appointed last May, and refused to serve, was confirmed.

The New Omaha Thompson-Houston electric light company was on hand to bid for future lamps that the city may require. This company agrees to furnish lamps on the following terms: One hundred 20 candle power lamps, $40 per annum per lamp; 100 arc 250 candle power lamps, $50 per annum per lamp; 200 arc 250 candle power lamps, $60 per annum per lamp. The proposition was referred.

A resolution allowing Pascoe & Gallagher and their property owners along the line of Tenth street to connect their buildings with the new viaduct was adopted.

At last the reading was completed, and the committee rose, the chairman recommending the passage of the ordinance.

The report was rejected.

Mr. Chaffee asked Mr. Morearty if he was willing the subway clause should be stricken out.

Morearty refused to answer.

"Then we will defeat the ordinance," said Chaffee.

A SUCCESS INDEED.

Juvenile Ball Game Given for the Benefit of the Hospital.

You would certainly have agreed with the poet about "the happy days of childhood" if you had been present at Germania hall last evening. There was none of the "straying turo" the "widowed" business, but there was more fun and genuine enjoyment crowded into a few fleeting hours than could be found in the wildwood in many a long day.

The occasion was the third annual juvenile ball masque under the auspices of the reorganized ladies' auxiliary of the Omaha turnverein, and it was a most pronounced and brilliant success.

The affair was arranged exclusively for the children, and none but juveniles were allowed on the floor. Nearly 125 masters participated, and many of the costumes were exceedingly pretty, while some were as unique as they were ridiculous.

The committee of arrangements consisted of Miss Emma Kluener, chairman, Misses Anna Schuize, Alvina Engler, Amanda Kleinbeck and Emma Andres. The latter lady presided over the refreshment booth.
