She Wants Indemnity for Her Husband's Death-Bruen Assignment Knocked Out-Funeral of M. W. Hardin.

A $100,000 damage suit was "commenced in the federal court yesterday by J. W. Conn and A. B. Taylor against the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railway company. The plaintiffs state that they constitute a firm which does a large businsss in Nebraska every year in the time of live stock and grain. They have been in business ever since 1875, and in this time they have been constantly doing business with the company. They carned some time ago that the other patrons of the company have been receiving favors in the way of rebutes, which they claim have amounted to about 50 per cent of the entire freight charges, but the plaintiffs have not received any relate. They are accordingly disposed to kick, and they bring the suit which is now pending on the strength of the interstate commerce law, which provides that freight charges shall be uniform between any two points. The amount of darranges which they claim they are entitled to is $100,000. The petition in the case is a voluminous one, a pile of printed and type-written sheets four inches thick being necssary to contain the statements upon which the claims are based.

A Batch of Criminals.

Judge Thornell had before bim yesterday morning the three prisoners who have been found guilty of the various offenses with which they were charged, for the purpose of pronouncing their sentences. Henry Hall ics shall be furnished with bread, until some | was given a life sentence in the penitentiary other schedule shall be agreed upon, at the rate of 81 for twenty-five loaves and the rethrough the trial, perfectly passive.

J. B. King was the next who was called upon tostandup and receive his sentence. Colonel D. B. Dailey asked the court to be lement with him, from the fact that he was a young man, and it was his belief that a long, revengeful sentence did more harm in the way of hardening the victim than it did good in reforming him. He also stated that King had already passed a term in the peni-tentiary of Nebraska. In reply Judge Thornell stated that there was only one circum-stance connected with the whole affair that could possibly be considered as in the slightest degree extenuating, and that was that the prisoner was under the influence of liquor when the crime was committed, and that he consequently did not know what he was doing. He saw no reason, however, why that fact should secure for him a lighter sentence. On the contrary, he shought it was an excellent opportunity to teach the young man a lesson, and therefore, without any desire to be harsh or revengeful, he fixed King's sentence at two years and six months at hard labor in the penitentiary.

G. A. Henry, the young man who drew a revolver on Conductor Mitchell of the Milwankeein order to protect his traveling com fare, was given a year in the penitentiary The judge gave him some good advice along with the sentence, telling him to behave himself, and that if he did so he would probably be let out before the year was up. He also overruled his motion for a new trial. L. C. James will be sentenced for bigamy

The funeral services of the late M. D. Hardin took place yesterday afternoon from the residence, Dr. Stephen Phelos of the Presbyterian church officiating. A large number of the friends of the family were present, including the members of the Grand Army, who attended in a body, the deceased having been elected to an honorary membership in the organization some time before his death. The room where the remains lay was a profusion of flowers which had been sent by friends as a testimonial of respect to the dead. After a few brief but touching remarks from Dr. Phelps, the remains were given into the hands of the palibearers, who carried it to the hearse. The following gentlemen officiated as palibearers: James Patterson, John Dielers, D. B. Clark E. terson, John Dickey, D. B. Clark, E. L. Shugart, J. D. Eimundson, J. P. Cooper, E. B. 'H. B. Eastman presents himself as a revresentative of the Vermont granite company and said his business was to work up the tombstone trade. His prices were considerably below those of the local deaters, and some of those when he has had on the string confided in him enough to sign contracts for work. These contracts he has soid to the local dealers in consideration of about 30 per cent commission, and the result has been a neat little surplus in his favor. Ensuman, according to one man's story, by quoting his goods at prices considerably lower than those of the local dealers has gotten into the good graces of a number of the Council Bluffs citizens. After this has been accomplished, and his intended victim has been induced to believe that he wants some of Eastman's wares that gentleman draws up a couple of contracts which are supposed to be duplicates. One of these he hands to the prospective purchaser and the other he reads aloud, so that he may see that the contract calls for just what he wants. The contract which is seen by the purchaser is perfectly straight, but the one in the hands of the agent calls for a stone several times smaller than the other. He reads the dimensmaller than the other. He reads the dimensions, however, to correspond with those on the other. After the two have been to all appearances, compared and found to be identical, the agent hands over to the purchaser the contract which he has been reading, for his signature. The victim does not take the trouble to read it over, supposing that everything is all right, of course, and puts down his name. The agent then pockets his contract and goes away in the consciousness of having done a good day's work. The Assignment Set Aside. The Bruen attachment case was settled at the term of the district court which has just been completed at Avoca. W. S. Bruen, it will be remembered, is an Oakiand merchant who made an assignment about three months ago for the benefit of his creditors. The assignment was attacked by a number of other creditors, eight in all, who were left out in the cold, on the ground that it was illegal. The claims held by the dissatisfied creditors amounted in all to $0,000, and their owners, without paying any attention to the assignee, levied on the goods by attachment and began proceedings to set aside the assignment upon the ground that the assignee had been au thorized to sell goods for credit, a thing which has been decided by the courts to be illegal, and upon the further ground of fraud. Judge Macy's decision sustained the creditors in both particulars and set aside the as-The creditors whose claims, to the amount of about $14,000, were covered by the assignment, are thus left without anything to settle their claims. C. E Bruen, a brother of the bankrupt merchant, is the only one who saved himself, and he did so only by displaying considerable business foresight. Seeing that the assignment would in all probability be set aside, he bought up $8,000 worth of the creditors' claims for fifty cents on the dollar, the claim which he had filed with the as signee amounting to about $3,000. The grood are to be sold April 4, and it is thought they will realize about seventy-five cents on the dollar. He will, therefore, not lose anything, although in reality he loses the amount of

His Hopes Crushed. A young farmer from Fremont county was in the city yesterday morning looking for a young lady whom he had at one time intended to marry. His name was Wilson, and when he is at home he is a farmer. He had entered into a contract with the relatives of his affianced bride for the lease of the farm owned by them near the boundary of Pottawattamie and Mills counties, agreement had all been completed and all the parties to it had signed the contract, with the exception of the young lady. The husbandex-pectant had not yet asked for her signature to the document, thinking that could be ob-tained at any time, as the couple were to have been married tomorrow, and the plan have been married tomorrow, and the plan was that the young beeple were to take up their residence at the bride's old home, and her young sisters were also to continue to live at their old home with their married sister. But young Mr. Wilson's hopes and auticipations of a happy future were cruelly crushed when he learned Saturday that the young lady had disposed of all her possessions at her home, and was in Council Biaffs with her brother who lives in Montaga. with her brother, who lives in Montana. The young farmer bridled and saddled his horse and rode nearly all of last night, and reached the city early this morning. Upon making inquiries belearned that they had registered at the Hotel Gorion and had left on the 6 o'clock train last night for the west. The girl left no explanation of her conduct to console her described lover, and he says he can conjecture no reason for her act. Besides deserting him the lack of her name to the contract for the lease of the farm makes the document wold and leaves Mr. Wilson in another predicament.

The young man spent the day looking for his would not be bride, without any success in finding either the girlor any reason for her strange conduct. At 4 o'clock he took the train for Fremont county, where he will go back to his old job of following the plow.

Puzzles the Police.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 23.-Excitement still runs high in McKeesport and vicinity over the murder of Detective Gilkinson and the shooting of the other officers. There seems to be an imponetrable mystery sur-rounding the nervy man Fitzsimmons, or Budd, who fought the officers. Budd claims Omaha & St. Louis rallway company. The plaintiff in the case is the widew of Andy Christ, who was injured in a wreck on June that he awoke out of a sound sleep to see his wife struggling with two men, and he fired, not knowing who they were. When the detectives searched his house they found papers showing that Frederick C. Fitzsimmons had recently fallen heir to property in Brookville, Ont. A telegram was sent there and a reply promptly came that Frederick C. Fitzsimmons was at his home in that city. This lends additional mystery to Believ-ing in your slacere desire to extend impartial ing in your sincere desire to extend impartial treatment to all classes, we respectfully invite your excellency to consider the propriety of placing some one of this class, so peculiarly illustrative of the nation's progress, in a representative and prominent position in connection with the world's fair. In many states of the union as well as in our national congress the legal status of the American neero is still a matter of serious American negro is still a matter of serious discussion and legislation. That he may be clothed with power to speak for himself with authority, that the old time idea of fair play may prevail, which grants to the peers of the accused the right to voice in judgment we beseech that you will consider the merits of a number of able jurists who belong to the people we represent in the judicial appoint-ments which we understand will be made in the near future. "" The president in response said that so far as a position on the world's fair commission was concerned there were ne vacancies, and if one were to occur the alternate would fill the place. Hit became possible, however to do anything and a proper man was pre-sented he would make the appointment Speaking with reference to the request tha a colored man be appointed to the bench, the president asked if the delegation had a man who was thoroughly versed in law and had arrived at that eminence in practice which would entitle him to fill an appointment as circuit hidge. "Present the name of a good man," said the president, "and I will give it that consideration which its importance demands."

When the committee told the president that there were a number of that class among the race whose names would be presented to him with the endersement of the bur in the state in which they practiced, he advised that their names be sent in, and promised to consider them impartially.

The interview was very pleasant, the president inviting the committee to call again, and thanking the negro press convention for the kindly remembrances of his endeavors to act fairly by the race.
