What Two Well Diggers in Search of Water Found.

Henry Hieler and H. R. Fisher, two well diggers, were digging a well on the property of Lou Adams, Forty-fifth and Leavenworth streets Saturday. When a depth of fortyfive feet had been reached the bottom suddealy fell out of the hole and the men had a narrow escape. They managed to save their lives by quickly grasping the rope of the windlass which was hanging down the well. As it was, all their tools were swept away into what was then supposed to be a sub-terranean stream.

For a time the water rushed by the open-ing with great rapidity and gave out a peculiar sulphurous odor. After a time the rushing and the odor ceased. The water is very clear now that it has become quiet and Soundings were made in an endeavor to as-certain the depth of the cavern, but 100 feet of rope ist down failed to find the bottom. Mr. Adams has abandoned the hole as a well and will have it securely boarded up. The walls of the shaft near the bottom are rapidly caving in, caused, no doubt, by the action of the water during the first rush. Last night the surface of the water at the ottom of the well was perfectly smooth. No current was visible. It is probable that the well diggers have tapped some of the many subterranean streams that carry off the great rainfall of

The deficiency will be below the average. The deficiency will be at least 20,000,000 quarters. The paper adds: It is expected that fold winds and frosts have almost destroyed the French crop. Ger-many, Holland and Belgium all fornish pes-simistic reports. In Roumania there is a decreased wheat area, and in india there has been a bad wheat season. The only exception is Hungary, where there are better prospects. It is al-most certain that the world's wheat consump-tion will exceed the production computed. simply a misunderstanding. Mrs. Olive L. Walker of Davenport filed suit in the district court of that place March 24 asking for a divorce from her husband and aimony. Walker is worth about $20,-000. The following day they kissed and made up, but since that time Walker has quietly been converting his property into cash. The other day he decamped, leaving a note bidding his wife good-bye and encloscumstances. She came to St. Joseph last June, claiming to be stranded en route to California. The Grand Army posts provided for her until her death. Mrs. Rice had with her a little girl whom she called her daughter. Shortly before her death she called Mrs. J. F. 4. F. Rolla to her bedside and confided to her the care of the girl, stating at the same time that she had stolen the girl when she was seven days old and had spent a fortune in fleeing from the pursuit of her father. Mr. Charles Yeaman, a merchant of Water-town, S. D., arrived in the city the other day, and after in-quiry found Mrs. Rolla, from whom he claimed the child as his daughter. He stated that Mrs. Rice had not stolen the child in tho first piace, but his first wife, who died at the little girl's birth, had given her babe to Mrs. Rice to care for until he could take suitable charge of it. When Mr. Yeaman married a second time and went for his little girl'he found that Mrs. Rice had secretly departed, taking the girl with her. FLATTERING CROP PROSPECTS.

Good Reports from Southern Nebrasks and Northern Kansas. Arcmson, Kan., April 6. - [Special Telegram to THE BEE. |-C. M. Rathburn, superntendent of the Missouri Pacific, whose ter ritory includes about one thousand miles of road north and west of Kansas City, has had reports as to the crop prospects from all his subordinates and from every station in his territory. He says they are very gratifying, the best in the history of the road and the realization equals the anticipation. Northern Kan equals the anticipation. Northern Kan-sas and southern Nebraska will have the largest yield of wheat ever known. The acreage was never so large. Farmers who suffered by the drouth last year have seem-mgly given all their attention to wheat this season rather than risk corn, which matures so late in the year. This, however, does not mean that there will be a thortage of corn, as the farmers have such a good wheat prospect they are getting ready to try corn as usual. The readmaster writes that in the Solomon valley, where the drouth was so bad last
