The Postal telegraph company moved its headquarters yesterday to the Grand hotel. A graid hot lunch will be served at Billy Maloney's all day today and tonight. Every-body invited.

Micanda M. Thacker died yesterday morn ing at the family residence, corner of Four teenth street and Sixth avenue, aged four-teen years. Notice of the funeral will be

A sult was commenced in superior court yes terday by F. W. Sputman against S. W. Clark and Clifford Clark, the proprietor of the Hotel Gordon, to recover $250, wich, it is claimed is due the plaintiff for provisions furnished Miss Beitch, who keeps a dressmaking establishment on Pearl street, is suffering from an attack of brain fever, and it is feared that she will not recover. Friends in Eldora have been notified of her illness, and it is thought they will be here in a few days.

In police court yesterday morning John S. Covey was arraigned on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He stated that he was a traveling man, and that fact was, in the eyes of the judge, enough to warrant him in carrying a revolver. He was discharged, W. W. Bittlesty was fined $20.20 for drunkenness and indecent exposure, and J. Johnston was fined $15 for a plain drunk. The first annual report of A. J. McClaren poli tax collector, has been handed in to the mayor. It shows that 543 persons have paid the № required, and 679 have worked out the same on the streets, making a total equivalent to $2,440. But one suit was commenced to collect tax, and that was settled without trial. Mr. McClaren collected cash from forty more than did his predecessor, and 157 more persons worked out the amount Some excitement was caused yesterday morning at the corner of Pearl street and Broadway by the actions of a lot of linemen who have been stringing wires for some days past. A weight attachment is used in put-ting up the wires and this frightened several horses, rendering their drivers correspondingly angry. Some warm words passed, and the linemen were getting their war paint and feathers on ready to clean out the whole gang when Officer Murphy happened along and poured oil on the troubled waters by threatening to arrest everybody in that part of town if the disturbance was not quieted. There were no arrests made and there was no further trouble with the linemen.

Most of the Grand Army men who were attending the state encampment at Dubuque returned yesterday morning in their special car. They reported an excellent time, and stated that they had been entertained in a royal fashion by their hosts. They stated that one of the main causes of Colonel Stead-man's defeat in the race for the office of di-vision commander was the meagre repre-sentation from the southwestern part of the state. Of the visitors who have not yet returned, John Lindt is still in Dubuque, Co adman stopped at Carroll, while Will McFadden has gone to Illinois, where he will

DEVELOPMENTS IN THE CRANGLE CASE.

Interesting Testimony Concerning Coyne's Personal Character-Doesn't Want to Fight-Beat His Wife-United in Death.

The grand jury made its first and final report yesterday afternoon. The following indictments were returned: Gus Carlson and Simon Oleson, Iarceny

They are charged with having stolen a team of horses, a bobsled and a set of double harness from Daniel O'Connor in Weston on February 9 last. Dan McClinnia, embezzlement. The defendant in this case made collections for the firm of Voegele & Denning of Omaha to the amount of $600, which, it is claimed, he failed to turn over to his employers.

S. Terry, assault with intent to commit rape. Terry, it is charged, entired a young girl named Theresa Geiger Into his photograph gallery in Minden and there committed the crime alleged.

H. D. Muck, cheating by false pretense.

They entered a house owned by N. Schurz and formerly occupied by Koblentz as a residence, and took out a couple of wagon loads of furniture which had been attached by Schurz for rent, and was in the custody of the city marshal at the time. The larceny is alleged to have been committed on the night of February 28, E. C. Castle, uttering forged instruments. Castle is charged with having passed a note for $27 on J. R. Martin of Silver Creek town-ship with the names of himself and Albert Foun signed to it. The name of Fenn is said to have been a forgery.

Injunction Suits Resurrected. P. E. Seabrook shied his castor into the ring yesterday morning and it was not picked ip. He was on the ground for the purpose of taking defaults in the liquor cases which were commenced in the district court by L. M. Turner, and from the time he commenced he did not stop until he had added twentyeight scalps to his beit, of those who had not taken the trouble to come into court and protect their headgear from mutilation. made defendants have filed answers and their cases will be taken up and tried in the usual way in a special term of court which will be held, with Judge Thornell on bench, commencing probably next Monday In the afternoon Attorneys Burke

Henry, who have been managing affairs for the man Burgess, the "unknown" who com-menced suit in superior court a short time after Turner had made his debut across the hall, came before Judge McGee and wanted their share of the defaults. After they had gotten to work they found that they had not drawn up their original notices in just the style they had intended, and that the most they could get under the circumstances would be an injunction against the de-fendants to prevent them from maintaining saloons on the property in they were located at the tim the suits were brought. The injunc-tions, so the court stated, would not prevent them from opening up a saloon next door if they wanted to, nor would it prevent them from selling out their property to other parties, who should carry on the sale of intoxicants with as much abandon as though the prohibitory law had never been passed, and pronontory law had never been passed, and nuisances had remained confined to pig pens and holes in the sidewalks, as they used to be in the olden times. Two defaults were taken by Burke & Henry, the defendants being S. W. Clark and Al Nonck of the Gordon hotel and J. Peterson and C. Ritter. The case Richard Holst and Henry Spetman of Kiel's hotel, were dismissed at the plaintiff's cost Get the prices on wall paper at the Boston store, Council Bluffs.

Did Not Want to Fight.

C. Sanford, the young man who was advertised to fight B. Rhodes of Avoca on the 25th, has sloped, and if reports be correct, the strip of territory that intervenes between himself and his competitor, is daily widening. What direction he took is un known, but it is a fact that he has gone, and the fight will not come off as expected. Ever since the papers were signed for the fight both parties were in active training. Rhodes exercising daily over the Wood-bine, and Sanford in Hawley's place in Omaha, and a great deal of enthusiasm had been awakened among local sports, who thought that an event of mor than usual interest was to come off. Their disgust at Sanford's disappearance knows no bounds. As soon, however, as the disappear-ance was learned of, the parties who had been instrumental in bringing Sanford and Rhodes together set about finding another pugitist who should match fists with Rhodes. An 'unknown' has been secured, and it is stated that the fight will come off without fail, not at Omaha, as it was at first sup-posed, but some place within the corporate limits of Council Bluffs, provided that the police authorities do not interfere. The purse will be for the same amount as the first-$100 a side.

The Crangle Case.

District court was occupied yesterday all day long with the trial of the Crangle-Maish case. In the morning Andrew Martin, who lives on the property now in dispute, was placed upon the stand to testify. He was ccused of having secured a loan of $6,000 on his property on account of representations made by him that the land was worth $14,000, and that it had coal velos on it that he wanted to develop with the proceeds of the loan. In his testimony Martin stated that he wanted a loan of $4,000, but was induced by the firm of Parks & Pleasants to take $0,000 with the understanding that he might have back he understanding that he might pay back the extra $2,000 at any time. He testified that he afterwards payed back $2,500 of the oan to Parks & Pleasants. There was but little in the evidence all day to warrant the promises of sensational developments which were made by the attorneys in the crimina-tions and recriminations that passed between them in their filings. E. H. Bowman, at one time clerk of the district court at Rock Island, now living in Omaha, was put on the

In the evening an extra session was held, and it was during this extra session that things livened up, and it looked for a time as though Mr. Coyne's reputation would be coniderably the worse for wear before morning. Covne himself was put upon the stand first, our his testimony did not contain much of importance, except his denial of the truth of the depositions of Henry Fluegel, in which he accused Coyne of having tried to buy his

J. J. Parks, an attorney who was formerly a resident of Rock Island and a member of the firm of Parks & Pleasants, now of Wichita, Kan., was asked whether the depositions that had been introduced by Benjamin as Fluegel's were really signed by Fluegel. He examined the signature a moment and then said in a very decided way that the signature was not Fluegel's. At this point Benjamin interrupted L N Flickinger, who was doing the examining, and requested him to produce the original depositions, that they might compare the writing. Flickinger replied that the depositions were in the hands of Fred Hans of Rock Island, and that he would not If any of Rock Island and that he would not give them up. The questioning then proceeded. Parks stated that he had known Coyne since 1872 and that his general reputation for truth and veracity was bad. In reply to the question what made him think that the depositions above referred to were not in the hand writing of Fluegel, he stated that the name was not spelled correctly, and that Fleurel knew enough to spell his own name. He said he and Coyne were not friends; in fact, they were not on speaking terms, and had not been since shortly after they became acquainted. He could tell the circumstances that led up to the trouble between them, but Benjamin was not anxious to be enlightened on that point, and in a . hort time Parks was allowed to step down.

J. K. Cook, who had been deputy clerk of the circut court at Rock Island, but is now in the Swift packing house office in Omaha, was then called to the stand. He had known Coyne for eighteen years, and had known him personally about ten years. His general reputation for truthfulness and veracity was bad, and he would not believe him under outh where there was any money at stake. Coyne had been indicted fourteen times for perjury, felony and subornation of perjury, but for some reason or other only one of these cases had ever come to trial. In the one instance he was tried and found guilty, but on an appeal to the supreme court the decision of the lower court was reversed, after which the case was dismissed. On cross-examination considerable talk and back talk was indulged in which caused some amusement among the spectators.

"Do you know anything from your own personal knowledge about Coyne's reputation since you left Rock Island, or do you form your opinion from what you have already heard !" was asked by Benjamin. "Well," was asked by Benjamin.
"Well," was the reply, "I know what the people in Rock Island have been saying about him for the last ten years, and I suppose his reputation as still lasting."

"But you don't have any personal knowl edge!"

edge!"
"No, I know what he was up to a year ago,
"No, I know what he was up to a year ago, to think and I have never had any reason to think that he had mended his ways."

"Where have you obtained any information as to Coyne's actions since you left Rock sland "I received a letter from my father which

"What did it say of him?" "It said that there was a probability of lot more indictments being returned against Several more questions were asked by Benjamin for the purpose of tangling up his witness, but the result of it all was to show up his client in such an unfavorable light that he at last gave up the cross-examination entirely. Court was then adjourned untithis morning, when the trial of the case will be resumed. It is thought it will be completed by this afternoon.

United in Death. Thomas Kelly, father of Contractor Kelly, fied yesterday morning at 2 o'clock of la grippe, at the age of eighty years. Mrs. Ellen Kelly, the wife of the deceased, died ast Wednesday, and at that time Mr. Kelly was lying so low that the physicians had notified the sorrowing friends that it was only the question of time, and of a very shortime at that, when he would follow. On this account the burial was put off for a day or two longer than had been at first intended. Yesterday morning the husband passed away The funeral will take place this morning at to'clock, and the two who have journeyed together through so many years of life, will be carried together to their last long resting place in the Catholic cometery. The services will take place in St. Francis Xavier's

Charles Conley, a fireman at No. 1 hose house on Upper Broadway, raised the neigh borhood last evening by beating his wife. He lives on Vine street, between First and Sec ond streets. He came home last evening and pretty soon the neighbors began to hear a commotion from his house. In a short time he was seen to chase his wife out into the street, where he began pounding her is the face with his fists. The woman's scream for help brought assistance and she wa taken away to the house of one of the neigh-bors and the door locked on her pugnacious husband. According to the statement of eyewithesses the trouble was the result of jealousy on the part of Conley, he having accused her of making arrangements to mee another man at a place of questionable reputation. Mrs. Conley has the reputation of being a highly respectable woman. She was bruised in a horrible manner.

FRISCO'S STOCK EXCHANGE.

Attorney General Hart Commences Proceedings Against It. San Francisco, Cala., April 17 .- Attorney General Hart has commenced proceedings against the San Francisco public stock exchange, in which he asks that the corporation be enjoined from doing business and its mode of doing business decreed illegal and its charter forfeited. The complaint sets forth that all the bids and offers made in the exchange are through the agency of what is known and called in the by-laws the "main phonograph:" that no bid or offer is, or ever will be, spoken into the main phonograph to be announced; that all bids and offers dietated to the phonograph city cylinders to b announced by the main phonograph for the purpose of a purchase or sale are made by a person dictating alleged orders without the hearing of other members of the exchange without the hearing of the public and with out the hearing of any person who may buy or sell in aid of the exchange other than the operator.

Issuing Subsidiary Coin. NEW YORK, April 17.—Before teaving for Washington today Secretary Foster said that the treasury department was already beginning the issue of subsidiary coin. The idea was to have it take the place of silver dollars. Where silver dollars were used to any extent in making exchange and application was made for a quantity of them, the department would issue subsidiary coin in amounts of $200 or $300, or even less. In this the vaults of the department would be dis
