J. Mac-Bride of the Commercial Pilgrims acted in a very efficient manner as master of ceremonies The first number on the programme was a selection by the mandolin club, consisting of D. J. Koss, J. H. Mithen, Cam Patterso Frank Haas and John Keating, rendered a very taking manner. This was followed by a tenor solo by Mr. V. Feruekes, entitled "Oh, Happy Day," which, though well known, has lost uone of its popularity by age A trio for flute, cornet and piano was next number on the programme, by Messrs. F. V. Badeliet and W. L. Murphy, and Miss Maud Cavin. Miss Mary Oliver then sang a song in her usual winning way, after which a duet, 'Divertimento,' and piano, by Messrs, and Sims. Then fo ollet and Sims. Then followed a violin solo by Mr. C. A. Higgins of Omaha, who is well known on this side of the river and is always well received. The "Vacant Chair," was the title of a tenor solo sung by I. M. Treynor. Mr. Ed Cogley entertained the audience with a monologue, in which he fully demonstrated his ability to be two or more people at the same time. The musical programme was finished by a beautiful duet by the Messrs. Walter and Lou Dale of Omaha. Much of the success of the proomana. Much of the success of the pro-gramme was due to the able work of the ac-companists, Misses Anna Patterson and Daisy Higgins and Mr. Bert Sims. At the close of the programme A. T. Flicknger made an address in which he paid Rev Mr. Mackay many high compliments for the active part which he had taken in every public enterprise, and especially for the way in which he had brought about the organization of the Commercial Pilgrims through a sermon preached to the drummers about three months ago. He then presented Mr. Mackay with the proceeds of the evening's entertain reverend, he having been given to under-stand all along that it was to be a free-for-all But he was mistaken, owing to th unbility of the promoters of the entertain ment to keep a secret, and a handsome pure was transferred from the attorney to th dergyman. The latter responded in a fey well chosen words and the undlence broke up, unanimous in the feeling that the only bright snot in connection with Mr. Mackay's parture was the fact that it had given occa-

SAME OLD FIGHT.

War on Superintendent James Ready to Break Out Again. There was some very sprightly caucussing done vesterday by members of the board of equention. The election of teachers and of superintendent of schools will occur tomorrow night, and the James and anti-James factions were in close consultation for sev eral hours during the afternoon.

The friends of Superintendent James claimed that they had eight votes that the could bank on, but the anti-James wing of the board also claimed eight. As there are but fifteen members of the board one or the other side must have been leaning upon a broken or badly bent reed. There is also a Conorer and an anti-Conyer party. There are others who aspire to the office of secretary to the board, and al-though the election of secretary does not come until December, the lines are already eing drawn. Most of the James men are anti-Conoyer men, so that the relations between Superm-tendent James and Secretary Conover are not the most harmonious in the world. Mr. James seemed to be looking upon the affair with the utmost serenity. Mr. Conoyer was loing some very energetic hustling yester lay afternoon. Whether he was interested day afternoon. Whether he was interested altogether on his own account or partially on account of Mr. Bloss of Kansas City, applicant for the posi-14.13 tion of sup-rintendent, could not be definitely learned, but he was evidently very much interested in matters outside of the near rooms and in the vicinity of the cooms where a spirited caucus was in pro-

A Brilliant Young ! heologian Studies Them and Goes Insane.

NEW HAVEN, Coon., June 27 .- The theories of Lieutenant G. A. L. Totten, who is endeavoring to convince people that the world will end within the present year, have already taken root with a disastrous result. Yesterday Rev. Frank Stevens, a brilliant young minister who has been taking a post graduate course at the Yale divinity school, was committed to the Hartford insane retreat, a hope less maniac. Mr. Stevens was the most brilliant man in his class in the theological school and won a scholarship which entitled him to a long course of study in Europe. Before going he determined to take a year more here and fell in with Lieutenant Totten, with whom he soon became very intimate. It was not long before the voung minister was the most enthusiastic admirer of the United States army officer, and he shortly became the most sincere disciple the dashing Totten's millenium theory. T proximity of the world's end was too much for his brain and he slowly but surely lost his once splendid mind. Mr. Stevens' insanity has taken the form that he is the Redeemer whom Lieutenant Totlen predicts will again be on the earth this decade. He has been stationed in a fine pulpit at Southington, Coun., but last week was called to Brooklyn to supply a pulpit there. While on the way his wife discovered the first symp-toms of the terrible calamity and at once took measures to discover what she feared, but dreaded to know. It took out little investigation of the family physicians to show that the once fine mind was destroyed. He is connected by blood and marriage with the best familles in the state and was marked by the theologians of Thie for a most brilliant career in the ministry.

MARKED FOR DEATH.

Strange Story Regarding Michael Green of New York. New York, June 27.—Mike J. Green of New York, but now in Cincinnati, says that he is a "marked man? and that three men have been murdered within a short time under circumstances which strongly indicate | 50 far as It shows that the attack that Mr. Green was the intended victim and escaped through mistaken identity.

A reporter found the wife of Green yesterday afternoon at 66 East One Hundred and Sixth street. After considerable reluctance Mrs. Green admitted that her husband about eleven months ago had had some trouble with some society and since then he had been traveling. Mrs. Green had the appearance of a person who was constantly harassed with some great fear and evinced the greatest hesitancy in answering any questions. She said her husband formerly was "an agent," but six months ago he became an artist. It was said that Mr. Green had the following address printed on his business envelope: "M. J. Green agent, No. 228 Broadway, New York." nvestigation proves that No. 228 exists on The case in many respects resembles that of Dr. Cronin. Mr. Green was one of fifty men who sailed in 1867 in the brigantine Jacmel in the interest of the Fenians. Subse-quently he was suspected of being a spy and has been kept out of all secret societies. Mr Green first became aware that he was being followed when he left Chicago for Cincinnati, June 10, where he secured employ-ment. When he left Chicago he gave the people to understand that his destination was Cleveland. On the morning of June 11, the body of Louis Cadar, a Hungarian, was found near Chadwick street, Cleveland. Cadar bere a remarkable resemblance to Green and the fact that Green was supposed to be leaving Chicago for Cleveland lends additional interest to Green's belief that he is a "marked man." The next murder occurred in Cincinnati on June 18, when the body of William Kendell, a well-known business man, was found in the Ohio river. Kendell was murdered just after dark while on his way to his home in Newport. Kendeli also bore a striking re-semblance to Green, so much so that in the dusk of evening the two men might easily be mistaken for each other. This murder might indicate that Green had been traced to Cincinnati by his enemies and was again marked for death, and that Kendell had been mistaken for Green. This belief is further strengthened by the fact that Green frequently crossed the river, and Kendell was last seen going in that direction.

The third death which is strangely connected with Green is that of a man who was found dead some time ago in Central park Green had been near the same place in the park the night before, and the dead man bore a strong resemblance to him

BARDSLEY'S AFFAIRS.

Investigation of His Transactions with Glendenning & Co. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 27.-In the course of the investigation of the affairs of ex-City Treasurer Bardsley in connection with Glendenning & Co. the law department has learned that the bankers, who were depositors in the Fourth Street National bank, had, May 22, received a clearing house due bill from that institution for $30,257.58. About ten days ago it was presented by a messenger of the City trust company, who asked that the bill be made payable to their order instead of Glendenning & Co. This request was made on behalf of Bardsley, who said the due bill was his property and not public money. Miss Tatham, a niece of Bardsley, who made the request, said her uncle wanted to have it transferred this way to the trust company. The demand was refused, and the city solicitor, after investigating the matter, hall a bill filed in the court of common pleas against Bardsley, his wife and niece, the Fourth Street National bank, Glendenning function asks that the Fourth Street bank be restrained from paying the bill and that Bardsley, his wife and niece be restrained from negotiating it, and compelling them to transfer it to the city authorities. It is also asked that Glendenning & Co. be compelled to explain the transactions which led to Bardsley getting the due bill. Judge Gordon and Presiding Judge Fin opinions in relation to the right of the city to claim the property of the Bradford mills and to continue the injunction restraining John and James Dobson from selling the Bradford mills under a judgment for $173,000, confessed by the Bradford mills to the Dobsons at the instance of John Bardsley in order to protect the Dobsons against liabilities incurred as sureties for Bardsley as city treasurer.

Judge Gordon stated that on the motion to dissolve the injunction in the case of the city against John and James Dobson and the Bradford mills the court was divided in its opinion, and that according to the ordinary rules of practice the preliminary injunction granted by the court on the filing of the bill would fall. The bill, however, was not dis-missed, but would pass through the court and be heard according to the usual routine in such cases and that the full court might make another decision when the case came up for final hearing.

THE NAVAJO INDIANS. Engaging in the Weird Snake Dance, But Not Going to War.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 27 .- The alarm ing reports that have been sent out concern ing the Indian trouble on the Navajo reservation are much more sensational than the facts would warrant. One of the paymasters located here says that he returned from the reservation a few days ago and that the Indians at this season of the year collect in bands, paint themselves and indulge in the weird snake dance.

A few white settlers near the reservation unacquainted with the habits of the Navajos, became timid and made exaggerated reports at the forts and several troops of cavalry are on the ground, but no trouble is auticipated. There is some slight difficulty with the There is some slight difficulty with the Moquis, a branch of the Pueblos living near the Navajo reservation.

They object to the United States authorities taking their children and sending them to schools in the cust, saying that it is against the terms of the treaty. A few of the young bucks are executing a war dance as a kind of bluff, but the troops at the reservation can easily handle them, and there is no fear of any serious trouble. Нолькоок, Ariz., June 27.—Colonel Corbin left here this morning for Kean's canon with two troops of the Teath cavalry under com-mand of Major McCletlan. At Kean's canon the force will be joined by two companies from Fort Wingate, also two more pieces of artillery. It is Colonel Corbin's purpose to arrest the ringleaders and medicine men and remove them from their tribes for a time, at least. This he hopes to do without serious trouble. The coantry is very dry, and there having been little or no rain since March, the movement of troops is made a difficult

Have Not Declared Themselves. Washington, June 27.—Don Pedro Monta and his associates, representing the Chilian congressional party, made no effort today to meet the president, Acting Secretary Wharton or any of the government officers, and have so far given no official notice of their presence in Washington or their mission to the United States. Their position as ropresentatives of what is rightly or wrongly regarded in this country as an insurgent party makes necessary extreme delicacy and the exercise of tact in their effort to establish communication with the officials of this government. It is therefore probable that their first overtures will be made only after unofficial means have been taken to lead up to their object and make clear the justice of their contention that the so called insurgent party should be accorded the rights of belligerents in the United States. The principal advantage expected to accrue from such recognition is rather of a negative character, as it would not involve allowance of the right of the congreasional party to our arms and recruit men in the United States, but would aprevent the Balmaceda government from exercising this right, as it may now, and would thus place both factions on an equality.

SAM WOOD'S MURDER.

Account of It. TOPEKA, Kan., June 27.-Mrs. S N. Wood

His Wife Writes a Letter Giving an

has written a letter to one of the newspapers here giving an account of the murder of her husband at Hugoton, Stevens county, last Tuesday. Mrs. Wood's version of the killing coincides with other reliable reports in upon her husband was made while his back was turned and that all of the wounds were in his back and side. Mrs. Wood gives a long circumstantial account of the murder and states that she has evidence in her possession that the death of her hushusband was the result of a conspiracy by his enemies to get him out of the way. She accuses Judge Botkin of the Stevens county district, against whom Mr. Wood caused impeachment proceedings to be brought in the last legislature, and County Attorney O'Connor, whose election Wood was contesting in the state supreme court, with being the cutef conspirators. James Bran-nau, the murderer, she says was only their willing too!. In support of her theory of con spiracy Mrs. Wood recites the following in eident: "A little son of ex-Judge Nash said rident: "A little son of ex-Judge Nash still in the presence of Mrs. Fleming of Ulysses as we drove into town, 'There comes Sam Wood and they are going to kill him today.' A girl quickly told him to keep still, that he was talking too much." In conclusion Mrs. Wood says: "I have not the slightesthope that any of these murderers, whether in official or unofficial stations, will ever be brought to justice, But I do know and thank God that His sternal justice never fails. I shall try to His eternal justice never fails. I shall try to pray that the time may swiftly come and that we may not be sundered long.""
Governor Humphrey today took the Wood murder case out of the hands of the loca

SUNK IN SAN FRANCISCO HARBOR Coaster Palestine Struck a Rock and

tice to the murderer.

Went Down with Full Cargo. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 27.-The coaster Paiestine struck a rock just outside the harbor last night and sank. The Palestine was commanded by Captain McCartney, was a vessel of 1,400 tons and was nine days out from Tacoma with 2,500 tons of coal for the Southern Pacific company.

A big hole was knocked in her bottom and she sank an hour after striging in thirteen fathoms of water. Only the top of her masts are now to be seen. As soon as it was seen that she must go down, Captain Me-Cartney ordered the boats lowered, and all on board, twenty-one in number, embarked safely, as the sea was quite calm at the time and the weather clear. The Palestine's captain, Thomas McCartney, who has been in the coasting trade for many years, said: "I have been in and out right over the bar there lots of times and I cannot understand how this happened. The weather was clear as a bell. There was a pilot boat near me, but coasters don't take pitots and I had no need of one. The tug Wizard spoke to me and waited to tow me in, but it was clear and the wind was fair and I right in the main channel where I there was thirty-three feet of water. were drawing twenty-four feet. The shock was a lively one and the ship began to fill forward immediately. The Wizard came back after we struck and took us in tow to try and pull us in, but could not do anything as the ship settled rapidity.

"I got the boats over and the men into them. The Wizard had to let go and the ship drifted outside. The tug staid by the ship till she sunk. She was then about a mile and a half outside the bar. She wen down in about thirteen fathoms and just her three topgallant masts are now above water. The sea was comparatively calm when we struck. It was clear all about us, but hazy

Cleveland said business men were usuallr engrossed in the immediate details of the y business to such an extent as often led to the habitual neglect of affairs of legislation and the course of governmental policy. Business men ought to be particularly interested in such things because they are more closely affected. Still few would forget their ordinary work to engage in the business of legislation, indeed, busi-ness men were accustomed to regard politics as something which, if not entirely disceputable, might well be left to those was had a taste for it. Business interests have made spasmodic interference in politic spurred on by the selfish desire to be specially and ex-clusively aided through legislation. Such interference was worse than inactiv-ity. They should see to it that they were properly represented in the national conneits. If they did not, then they would be governed by men who simply made a trade of politics. Mr. Cleveland said national representatives should be free to give their best attention to the general subjects of legislation. This was denied them when people of their neighborhoods loaded them down with private bills. They were often thus bribed with votes for their measure to vote for another measure equally bad.
