County Commissioners Increase the Levy on a Slightly Increased Valuation.

ASSESSMENT OF THE CITY BANKS.

Decided Increase in Their Valuation Made by the Board .- An Offer for the Overdue Bonds Rejected.

The county commissioners, or at least three of them, Chairman O'Keefe, Messrs, Berlin and Timme, met yesterday afternoon and made the tax levy for the coming year. Owing to the numerous changes and corrections in valuations while the members were sitting as a board of equalization the books were not completed. The valuation of the county was approximated at $25,400,000, and upon this basis the levy was made. The following shows the levy and the amount that it will furnish for the various

LONDON TOWN.

Mr. Rosewater's First Impressions of the Modern Babylon THE SUNDAY BEE will contain a character-

stic letter from Mr. Rosewater.

London has been described time and again yet owing to its immensity and the varied character of its 5,000,000 inhabitants a keed observer can always find something new and striking to say about it. Mr. Rosewater gives a very graphic description of some of the more prominent features of the empire city. What he tells about the treasures of antiquity stored in the British museum, the vast collection of armory and arms in the tower of London, and the tembs and monuments of the illustrious dead in Westminster abbey and St. Paul's cathedral will be read with keen interest by the patrons of this paper. The unbounded wealth locked up in the Bank of England and other numerous banks in the same vicinity, the beautifully laid out parks and public squares, the condition of the streets, the way the city is lighted and the modes of travel in the mighty metropolis are all touched upon in an entertaining manner.

DOUGLASS ON HAYTI. He Talks Interestingly of the Condition of the Republic. New York, July 10.-The New York Age, devoted to the interests of the colored race, has interviewed Minister Fred Douglas on Haytian affairs and today prints what he

"How do you account for the frequent recurrence of these revolutionary movements in Hayti?" "I account for it on the ground that the young men of Hayti have become accustomed to look to the government as a means of enriching themselves and of procuring those pleasures to which young men educated in France are commonly addicted Government is the source of wealth."

"Do these upheavals justify the argument of the white Americans as to the inherent in capability of the colored people for seif-government f

"No more so than the revolutions in the south American republics are an indication of an inherent inability and incapability for self-government. Latin races have never yet proved themselves able to maintain any permanent republican government. To my mind Hayti is going through the same pro-cess some of the most cultivated nations in Europe went through some years ago. She has the same vices and virtues that were exhibited in Germany."

"How do you explain the recent tendency of our big dailies to argue the virtue of sending white men as ministers to the posts now occupied by colored men!" "That idea is based evidently upon the assumption that more can be won from the fears of Hayti than can be obtained from the reason and good will of Hayti, and on the still further assumption that a white man will command compliance with his demands upon a black man more readily than a black upon one of his own kind. It is born of the thought that a black man stands in awe of the white, and is confined more to our ex-perience as a slave-holding people than to facts as they exist in the history of Hayti. Hayti has shown that she cares no more for a white man than she does for a black. They demonstrated by their assection of indedemonstrated by their assertion of inde-pendence that they could look a white man in the eye and not lower their chin an inch. Hayti has balf a dozen white diplomats in her capital to one colored, and she has yet to show one hair's breadth of deference more to a white man than a colored man. Instead of being humiliated by the presence of one of her color, it is evident that she is proud to do him honor. There is nothing that any white man has asked of Hayti or is likely to ask of Hayti in behalf of the United States that will colored man as by a white man."

"Is there any hope for Hayti!"
"Is there any hope for Hayti! My answer that I don't allow myself to despair of Hayti. Her progress may be slow, halting and fitful, but she will make progress. I visited her twenty years ago, and while I have beard men say that things are worse and worse, my experience and observation directly contradict the assumption. She has more schools, more churches, more marriages and better houses and better clothed people than she had twenty years ago. Why should we despair of her? She has intelligence, she has a constitution, she has increasing contact with the outside world, she has new tele-graphic communications with all the great graphic seats of learning. She is granting privileges for railroads. She is putting up electric wires, telephones and building bridges. She has her three departments of government—a judiciary, a legislative and executive depart-ment. She raises an increasing revenue. Her people are men and women. reason why she should not go on the same 100 years longer."

PLEASANT ASSEMBLY SCENES.

Much Vaunted Chentaugua Activity By No

INTERESTING SERIES OF LECTURES. Congressman Bryan's Opinion of Politics - Elevating Instead of Degrading - An Eloquent Woman's Charming Address.

CRETE, Neb., July 10,-|Special to THE BEE. |-The fine weather which has coaracterized most of the assembly still continues. The attendance keeps up as well as heretofore, and the sunlight broods over everything. Nothing is so deceptive as the appearance of a Chautaugua assembly. The casual visitor sees a few children at play in the groves, a few individual reading the papers on the piazzas, and concludes that the much vaunted assembly activity is a delusion. But let him enter the classes which are everywhere in session. This morning he would have found an examination of the children's and young people's classes taking place in the normal building. In the tabernacle chorus practice was in progress, while Frank Beard handled a drawing class in the press building. Thus the week goes on.

The subject of the morning devotional ser-uce was "Christ at the Feast," At 10 o'clock the normal class considered "The Royal Throne—Judah." Dr. Duryea having arrived from Omaha the bible students' class met in the Congregational building at 10 o'clock.

The Women's Christian Temperance union training class handled "Railroad Work" and "home Protection as Defined by Nebraska Lawmakers," Lawmakers,"

At 11 o'clock Mrs. Beard lectured on "An American Poet -Longfellow." This is the second lecture the lady has delivered. On account of the excellence of her first presentation a large audience greeted the lady today. Her rapidly sketched the life of Longfellow, and dwelt upon the characteristics of his life and genius.

Numerous avirants from that neat's works Numerous extracts from that poet's works illustrated the points made by the lecturer. The perfect purity of his productions was made a theme of discussion. As a lecturer Mrs. Beard is a success. Her voice is remarkably clear and strong, and her enuncia-tion is perfect.

At 2 p. m. Hon. W. J. Bryan, congressman from Nobraska, spoke in the pavilion to an immense audience. Mr. Bryan's subject was "The Young Man in Politics." Among other things, he said: "There is a general impression that politics is degrading. This is wrong and I protest against such a seutiment. In a land like ours it is necessary for every one to take part in polities. Duty to country is rising above fealty to party. Purity in poli-tics is not an 'iridescent dream.' Immoralities are always handicaps in the race of poli-tics. In the home the young man should be trained to enter into and not to avoid politics. trained to enter into and not to avoid politics. The science of government or politics is a foble science worthy the attention of every true citizen. Peace requires good men in politics as much as war. The absence of good men from politics invites corruption. The Australian ballot system aids greatly in the purification of politics, but correct education does more. Eloquence will always exist, and must be born in a man concentrated to a great purpose. The problems of today are as great as any that have ever contoday are as great as any that have ever con-fronted our people. There are two forces in America, one which tends to center everything at Washington and another which tends to weaken the bonds of union. Civil government is a golden mean, but difficult to secure. The corporation is something which requires the immediate attention of our lawmakers. The money question, class legisla-tion, accumulation of money by the few, are some problems which should be considered. He who becomes a student of the science of government young, has the greatest oppor-tunities of usefulness. There is a special mission before the young men of this genera-tion. It is the mission to establish beyond all chance of change the reconciliation between the north and south." At the close of Mr. Bryan's effort an impromptu reception was held on the platform of the pavition. At 3:30 o'clock Frank Beard delivered a lecture with crayon illustrations. The drawings were fine, and the lecturer's wit was liberally applauded.

The afternoon chorus training occurred at 5 o'clock. The Chantauqua Literary and So-cial circle round table and the Ladies' Mis-sionary conference met as usual. Tonight Rev. George W. DON'T THINK

That because it's July, and July is usually considered a dull month simply because it used to be dull when our granddaddies kept store, that we intend to "let up" for a minute. On the contrary, we intend to work harder, hustle faster, and make still greater efforts to keep our sales up to the top notch. Athough our stock is in better shape today than it ever was in July, still we find on looking around a number of odd lots; a few suits of one kind, a few of another, several broken lines of boys' suits; fifty shirts, all large sizes, and a lot of another sort, all small; a line of shoes all cleaned out but a few pairs; a line of hats all sold but one size, and so on.

WE DON'T WANT 'EM.

Do you? The man with the red ink has been around the store marking them down. He didn't mind what their value was, simply marked them so low that the first man that fits 'em can't help buying. Need clothes? Want shoes? Anything in shirts? Hats?

To Organize an Extensive Co-Opera-

TOPEKA, Kan., July 10 .- A call has been issued for a general convention of the farmer's alliance and all industrial organizations in the state at Topeka, August 20, for the purpose of organizing a co-operative association for the control of all farm products and exchange of supplies. The call was signed by J. B. Freuch, secretary of the farmers' alliance; Senator Peffer, S. McLallin, editor of the official alliance paper; W. F. Wrightmyer, secretary of the national citizen's, alliance, and Fred P. Biley, general manager of the Mutual Protective association. The pili-ance leaders would not explain the objects of the convention further than to say that it was for the purpose of taking steps to pro-mote the scheme of co-operation among all classes of producers.

Mr. French, secretary of the alliance, de-nied that the scheme was in any way connected with the alleged farmers' trust out-lined in the Chicago dispatches or that the intention was to devise schemes for withholding grain from the market. A co-opera-tive system of life and fire insurance will be perfected. Fred P. Springs, Mo. KILLS THE HESSIAN FLY.

Discovery of a Parasite Which Exterminates the Wheat Pest. CHAMPAIGN, Ill., July 10 .- Early last spring Prof. Forbes, state entomologist, received from the Smithsonian institution at Washington, a few of the larvae of a parasite supposed to be destructive to the Hessian fly This parasite is found only in Europe. He undertook an experiment to prove whether the larvae are destructive to the fly here, and if so to what degree. In order to determine this, a small section of wheat about a yard square was enclosed in a box, arranged so that the grain could bave light and grow. A considerable number of Hessian flies and the larvae mentioned were put in and the box so closed that they could not escape and other insects get in, and thus the experiment was begun. The larvae have hatched and are flourishing. They are almost microscopical and seem to have been created solely to prey upon the Hessian ily. The parasite is a wasp-shaped little mite, supplied with a sharp sting or auger. With uncering instanct it finds the place where the fly has aid its eggs under the husk of the straw, and boring down into it the parasite lays its egg inside the egg of the fly. There it develops into a grub, consuming the egg of the fly and destroying it. This is in outline what has been proven by the experiment made. parasite was first discovered committing its depredations upon the Hessian fly in the stipation and liver regulator, London, July 10.-The Canterbury dioces conference has been discussing the relations of the church to educational schemes. The dean of Davenport, Ia., at the request of the archbishop spoke on education in America. Free education, he said, recognized as a fact whether desirable or not. It was felt to be of the utmost importance to have some kind of education as extensive as possible. Against free schools there was a religious objection and also the objection that the teaching was upt to become mechan ical. He added that an attempt was being establish everywhere, schools, but that as yet no great progress had been made.
