Adams' Map of History. Bishop Vincent, chancellor of the Chautauqua university, says of Adams' Map of History now being used at the Council Bluffs Chautauqua; "I regard it as a most ingenious, compact and wonderful device, admirably calculated to give a clear idea of contemporancous eyents, and to fix in the mind the general facts of history. It is a textbook, library of nistory, a panorama and picture gallery all in one. I cannot too emphatically commend his wonderful help."

This is heartily endorsed by all who have examined it.

Fireman Clatterbuck and Captain Cetter

of the Fo. J hose team on Lower Broadway had a fight several nights ago, the particulars of which have been kept from the public with a care worthy a better cause. At the time of the disappearance of Fireman Evans a couple of weeks ago it seems old scores were raked up with the most reckless aban-don, and for some reason Clatterbuck and Cotter could not hitch. A quarrel took place last Saturday night in which Clatterbuck was knocked down, and the report was that he had lost several front eeth which, when last seen, were in close proximity to Cotter's boot. The re-port is denied by Chief Levin so far as the teeth are concerned, but for some reason or other Clatterbuck has disappeared, and ail inquirers after him are told that he is a home taking care of his sick wife. Cotter it considered by the chief to be one of the bess men in the company, and that fact prevents him from getting a scoring for his loss of temper. Levin states that Clatterbuck is simply taking a lay-off in the hope that whe he goes back to work the captain will appreciate him better, and things will run more smoothly.

Hotel Changes Hands. The Ogden house was sold yesterday by Messrs. Morse & Parmalee for $50,000. John Danforth was the purchaser. A large amount of land formed the consideration, including a tract near the Chatauqua grounds acres in Harrison county. The Lost Found.

Little Joe Beem, who wandered away from the residence of O. W. Butts night before last and was lost, was found at about midnight. The juvenile drum corps had gone off and left him, and he had not the slightest idea where to go to find his home. All the men and boys in the neighborhood spent the evening in the search, and at last he was found on Sixth street, between Tenth and Eleventh avenues, safe and sound, but frightened nearly to death.

MASS MEETING IN THE AFTERNOON.

"Scholar in Politics" Eloquently Discussed-Speaker Down for This Morning-Will Not Appear -Music Tonight.

Yesterday was announced as children's day at Chautauqua, and a large number of children accordingly took advantage of the announcement, although there was nothing especially adapted to them on the programme with the exception of a mass meeting of young people in the afternoon, which was addressed by a number of speakers. In the morning James Clement Ambrose lectured on "The Scholar in Politics," to a good audience. He is an eloquent speaker, and his effort was highly appreciated. In the evening there was a concert by the Stryk en Blaas Lust club, under the leadership of Prof. Charles Bacttens of Omaha. This club has appeared before Council Bluffs audiences before, but never did it do so to any better advantage than last evening. The club played together remarkably well, showing a marked improvement since it was last heard here in public.

Dr. Emory Milier, who was engaged to lecture this morning on "Tests of Truth," was found unable to stand his own test, and he will not be on hand. The programme this morning will be a blank, but for the usual class exercises. In the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock there will be a concert to the assem-bly chorus and the State band, under the di-rection of Prof. C. C. Case. This evening Mrs. Mary Lathrop will lecture and Miss Baylss and Mr. Painter of Change in Captains. Colonel D. B. Dailey has sent in his resignation as captain of the Dodge light guard, and it has been accepted. As stated in Tur-BEE some time ago, the members of the com pany have selected Captain A. H. Scarff of Omaha as his probable successor. The com pany has extended an invitation to the captain to act in that capacity, and he has stated his willingness to do so. According to the rules of the militia, however, Captain Scarff is not elicible to the position until he has been a resident of the state for six months, so that the formal election has not yet taken place. Caught a Horse Thief. A constable from Minden was in the city last evening, having in tow Frank Rutan, who is charged with having stolen a fine team of horses and a carriage from Reasch's livery stable in Minden. Last Monday he hired the team and went out for a drive, but failed to return. Telegrams were sent out after him and at last ne was located in Shelby county. An officer was at once sent to head him off, and he was captured. He was taken to Minden yesterday and given a preliminary examination, after which he was bound over to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of horse stealing. He was unable to give ball and was brought to this city for safe keeping in the county juil, where he occupies a berth in the steel evlinder.

Games of Character. There is perhaps nothing on the Chantaujua grounds that gives more pleasure and profit than the games of character. Mrs. Aiden (Pansy) says of these games: "They cannot fail to interest and profit the old as well as the young. The student of history, geography, etc., can here find amusement and healthful fun. I would I could persuade many families whom I know to find in these games their entertainments rather than in ertain other amusements so called."

CAPTURED A DARING FIEND. Young Women I rive Their Assailant

Into an Officer's Arms. PLAINFELD, N. J., 14 .- Miss Harriet Richardson, who lives at her father's house in Race street, North Plainfield, had a young woman friend, Miss Delia Lathrop, visiting her over Sunday. The young women had been having a pleasant evening, entertaining callers, and it was late when the last guest had gone and they had retired. They were were just dozing off when they were startled by hearing the crash of a window pane. Then they heard the window slowly raised, and in an instant a man leaped into the room. The girls were almost paralyzed with fear and were absolutely unable to cry out. When the man began to attack Miss Richardson her companion sprang at him. The girls fought fiercely. They soon saw that they were struggling with a negro. The vigorous attack confused the man, and he ran to the open window. He stepped on the roof of the perch and let himself down to the ground. The screams of the girls attracted the attention of Marshal Rutledge, who was on his beat. The assailant ran directly into his arms. He gave his name as Samuel Johnston, and said he came from Newark. He was examined and sent to the Somerville ail to await the action of the grand jury.

COULDN'T WAST TILL SHE DIED Woman Gives a Church a Thousand

on Her Deathbed. NEWCASTLE, Pa., July 14.-The Epworth Methodist Episcopal church has just received a legacy of $1,000 in a very peculiar way. Mary Greer was an eccentric old lady of nearly four score years. About four weeks ago, feeling that her time had come, she sent for her lawyer and a friend to make her will. She first asked to be carried to a woodshed in her yard, and there she pulled aside some rubbish and disclosed a can containing $4,000 in gold. Then the old lady was carried into the house again and made a will bequeathing $1,000 to the church and $500 to the Newcastle $1,000 to the church and $500 to the Newcastle hospital. It so happened that public bequests made within thirty days of the death of decedent do not hold in law and the good Methodists became a little anxious as Mrs. Greer became weaker. One day Pastor Squires called on the dying woman and informed her of the provisions of the statute, suggesting that if she desired the church to have the $1,000 beyond question she had have the $1,000 beyond question she had better pay the money over before her death. This she did and he gave his receipt and the congregation is richer by that amount and poorer by the loss of a devout worshipper.

Complaint at Hastings Concerning the

SOME STARTLING FACTS OVERLOOKED.

What the Superintendent Might Have Told if Put on the Stand-Other Interesting State Matters.

Hastings, Neb., July 14 .- [Special to THE HEE.]-It is reported here that there is not the celerity displayed in the examination of the books at the insane asylum that there might be. However, the citizens here approve of any examination, no matter how slow it is, so long as it is fair.

It is wondered here why the druggist who stood in with Dr. Test is not put upon the stand. It is not believed that he would com-mit perjury, and if he only tells all he knows it is asserted that there would be developed some startling facts in regard to the corrup-tion of certain members of the legislature. There are a number of citizens here who posi-tively declare that not only the druggist but also the baker might be able to tell something about the corruption fund of $700 raised for members of the legislature and to secure the passage of the deficiency bill for the asylum. A number of well known citi-zens say that when the corruption fund was being raised that the druggist and the other fellows interested in it assured the merchants approached that in case the bill was passed the money contributed would be

In two or three instances it is known that contributions have actually been made good and it is therefore supposed that all contributors to the corruption fund have received back the amount contributed by them. Now not only the citizens of Hastings, but it is safe to assume that all the taxpayers of Nebraska, would like to know from what source these funds were drawn to repay these contribu-tors. If the state of Nebraska paid these fellows, it is urged that the citizens of the state should know it. This is the reason that there is considerable speculation as to whether the druggist will be called on to
