NATIONAL COMPETITIVE DRILL

It Will Next Year Bring a Hundred Companies to Omaha.

THE WORK, OF THE OMAHA GUARDS.

List and Achievements of Some of the Organizations of National Reputation Which Will Be in Attendance. The National Competitive Drill association, at the meeting held at Indianapolis on July 6, unanimously decided to hold the next annual encampment in this city in 1892. At this meeting Captain H. B. Mulford of the Omaha guards was elected president and John E. Aitchison of Omaha secretary of the associa-

For the purposes of more easily organizing the association the United States was divided into three divisions. All that portion of the United States east of the Mississippi river and south of the Ohio river is to be known as the southeastern. East of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio river is to be known as the northeastern, and all that portion of the United States west of the Mississippi is to be known as the western division.

The executive committee consists of twelve members-six captains of infantry, three captains of zouave companies and three captains of artillery. The president of the association is, ex-officio, chairman of the executive committee; the members of which are as follows:

Southeastern Division-Chairman, Captain Harry Allen, Chickasaw guards, Memphis, Tenn.; Captain Roff Simus, Southern cauets, Macon, Ga.; Captain Kit Deffrey, Memphis zouaves, Memphis, Tenn.; Captain

Benham, Battery B. New Orleans, La.
Northeastern Division—Chairman, Captain
J. B. Curtis, Indianapolis light artillery, Indianapolis, Ind.; G. A. Hurd, Aurora zouaves, Aurora, Ill.; Captain F. M. Joyce, Aron rifles, Cincinnati, Ohio; Captain C. S. Domer, rational fencibles, Washington, D. C. Western division—Chairman, Captain William Heyman, Waish zouaves, St. Louis, Mo.; Captain C. A. Sinclair, Branch guards, St. Louis, Mo.; Captain A. P. Woizencraft, Dallas artillery, Dallas, Tex.; Captain Robert B.

Green, Beiknap rifles, San Antonio, Tex. The chairmen of these divisions constitute a committee on by-laws, rules, etc., which are to be submitted to the association at the meeting in Omaha in 1892. All correspond-ence relative to the association or to the oncampment of 1892 is to be carried on through President Mulford and Secretary Aitchison, who already have a great deal to per-form. These gentlemen are working hard form. These gentlemen are working hard on the 1892 encampment, and are trying to decide on the best time of the year in which to hold the encampment. They are looking about for the most desirable grounds on which to locate the same.

Captain Mulford says, "this will be the first national encampment that Omaha has ever had, and it will undoubtedly be the largest encampment of the kind ever held in largest encampment of the kind ever held in the United States. We expect to have at the least one hundred of the crack military companies of the states here, any as many of these companies are now drilling up for the Omaha encampment, some beautiful drills may be expected."

Some of the companies that have expressed a desire to be in Omaha in 1892, and that the Omaha guards met on bleodless fields at Indianapolis, have quite a record as prize-winners, and a few words about them may be found of interest.

The Branch guards of St. Louis, Captain C. A. Sinclair were organized in June, 1877, 88 Company G. First regiment Missouri national guards, and have attended regimental or brigade camp each year. They have won first prizes in Roodhouse, Ill., in 1885, Jacksonville, Ill., in 1886, Louisville, Ky., in 1884, at Jacksonville, Ill., in 1889, at St. Louis in 1878, 1879, 1884 and 1888, and the first prize 1878, 1879, 1884 and 1888, and the first prize and Galveston cup at Indianapolis, Ind., in 1891. They took second money at Dubuque, Ia., in 1882, at Indianapolis, Ind., in 1883, and second interstate at Kansas City in 1890. They were awarded third place at Dubuque in 1884, at Philadelphia in 1885, and at Kan-sas City in the maiden class in 1890, and got the fourth place at St. Louis in 1899, and got the fourth place at St. Louis in 1882, and at Galveston in 1886. The Belknap Rifles of San Autonio, Texas, company B. Thirtieth regiment Texas volun-teers, Captain Robert B. Green were organized in September 1884. This company repre-sentated the state of Texas at the Centennial celebration at New York in 1889. They have attended state encampments each year and in addition have won first place at San Antonio in October 1885, at Galveston in July 1880, second money at Lampasas, Tex., in June 1885, at Galveston in June 1886, at Australia tin, Tex., in 1888, and at Indianapolis, Ind., in July 1891. They also took third prize at Washington, D. C., in June 1887.

pany F. Second Georgia regiment, Captain Roff Simms, organized May 12, 1885, and from that time down to the present have been hustling after the first money at all prize drills. They wanted everything in sight at Indianapolis this year, and a great many thought they would get it, too, but they didn't take a thing back to Georgia with them except fourth place and a determination to take the Galveston cup away from the Branch guards in Omaha in 1892. The National Fencibles of Washington, D. C. Captain C. S. Domer, have taken first place at all drills on their home grounds, second place at Kansas City in 1890 and fifth ace at Indianapolis in 1891. The McCarthy Light guard of Little Rock, Ark., Company A., First regiment, Arkansas national guards, were sworn into the service of their state in January, 1887, and since then have each year attended encampments. Under the leadership of Captain J. M. Dungan they have taken third place at Galveston, Tex., in 1889, second place at Atlanta, Ga., in 1899, and sixth place at Indianapolis, Ind., in

The Chickasaw guards of Memphis, Tenn. Company A, Second regiment, national guards of the state of Tennessee, Captain Harry Allev, have the distinction of being the originators of prize or competitive drills. The "Chies" were organized in July, 1874, and soon after that time, owing to the friend-ly rivalry between the cities of Memphis and Nashville and the frequent beasts of the military companies of the two cities, Captain Allen's command arranged for a series of crills for the sake of the prizes and of determining as to which city held the better company. Since that time the Chickasaw guards have been adding some new prize to their list till new it has assumed such gigantic propor-tions that it is too long for publication. Cap-tain Allen says the "Chies" will be in Omaha next year and that there will be another first prize added to their belt when he returns

The Floyd rifles of Macon, Ga., company C, Second regiment, Georgia volunteers, Captain J. L. Hardeman, is one of the oldest military companies in the United States. It was organized over fifty years ago and was in active service for the confederate government through the late was toking part in ment through the late war, taking part in many of the battles. The history of this company would fill volumes and would make choice reading for soldiers both old and young. Of late years the rifles have attended encampments at Cumberland, St. Simons', Macon and Chicamaga, Ga. They took the second place at St. Simons' in 1888 and third in the maiden drill at Indianapolis, Ind., in

The Purh videttes of Columbus, O., Company A, Fourteenth regiment Ohlo national guards, Captain E. G. Balley, were organized in 1877, and have attended the yearly state encampment. They had never attended any inter-state or national encampment until they went to indianapolis, Ind., in 1891, where they entered the maiden class and were

The Aron rifles of Cincinnsti, O., Captain F. M. Joyce, were organized as a zouave company in 1883 and changed into an infantry company in May, 1891. This company and their large drum and bugle corps are composed of the college and society boys of Cincinnati, and are the pride of their city. As they had never been in a prize drill they entered in the maiden class at Indianapolis in 1891, where, by the excellence of their drill, they won for themselves fifth place.

The Lima City guards of Lima City, O., Company C. Second regiment, Ohio national guards, Captain F. M. Beil, have seen more of actual service than prize drills and encampments, as they have been called out repeatedly to protect the interests of citizens of their state. Their regiment, the Second of their state. Their regiment, the Second Ohio, national guards, took first regimental prize at the centennial encampment at Philabrize at the centennial encampment at Philadelphia in 1878. In addition to the regular state encampments, this company has attended national encampments in New York, Washington and Cleveland, and, in their first contest for a prize in the maiden class in Iodianapolis, Ind., in 1891, they were set down for the sixth place.

captain had resigned shortly before the time of the drill.

The Aurora zouaves of Aurora, Ill., Captain G. A. Hurd, were organized in September, 1887, and is composed of representative business men of that city. They have taken money at each place they have entered the competition, having got third meney at Kansas City in 1890, first at Chicago in 1890, and first at Indianapolis, Ind., in 1891. Their genial captain is looking for fresh laureis, and is now working his "drill team," hoping to take first place in the zouave class in Omaba in 1892.

Omaba in 1892. Waish zouaves of St. Louis, Mo., Captain William Heyman, were organized in June, 1886, are named after their patron, Rev. Father Walsh, priest of St. Bridget's church, St. Louis. They have taken first prizes at Austin, Tex., in 1888, at Galveston, Tex., in 1889, and second place at Kansas City in 1893 and Indianapolis, Ind., in 1891.

The Dallas light artillery of Dallas, Tex., Captain A. P. Walzeneraft; the Rockville light artillery, of Rockville, Ind., Captain F. E. Stevenson; the Dickason light artillery of Danville, Ill., Captain Yaeger, and Battery A of St. Louis, Captain F. M. Rumbold, the winners of the first, second, third and fourth prizes respectively at Indianapolis in 1891, and the famous Indianapolis light artillery, Captain James B. Curtis, under whose auspices the National encampment was given at Indianapolis this year, have all won prizes at Indianapolis this year, have all won prizes at state and national drills and will undoubtedly attend the 1892 encampment in Those companies, together with the other crack companies that will be in Omaha next year, will assure an encampment that will be a credit to Omaha and an attraction which will bring thousands of visitors to the city, all of whom will leave pleased with what they have seen and with none but words of praise for Omaha.

CONCERNING MEIRLEJOHN.

What a Townsman of the Great Controller Says of Him Personally. Chauncey Wiltse of Fullerton, Nance county, was in the city last night. Speaking of Senator Meiklejohn as a candidate for supreme judge, he said:

"Mr. Meikleiohn will not accept the nomination for supreme judge. He doesn't want it. Neither does he want the nomination for governor. He doesn't want the nomination for any office except that of congressman. I had a talk with him the other day and he told me that if he couldn't get the nomination to congress he wouldn't accept any. Meiklejenn is fibancially a poor man. He wants to go to congress. I don't think there is money in any office unless you know how to steal. And Meiklejoha is not a man of that kind,"

that kind."
"How was his name mentioned first in connection with this office?"
"When the central committee met in Lincoln several weeks ago, they cast about to see whom it was possible to elect to the supreme bench. They came to the conclusion that it would be a man who could poll a number of democratic votes and they thought that Meiklejohn could do that because of his ruling at the opening of the last legislature. But it's all folly to take of electing a supreme But it's all folly to talk of electing a supreme judge by the republicans or democrats this fall. OMAHA'S NATIONAL BANKS.

Compiled Statement of the Condition of Their Affairs.

STATEMENTS COMPARED.

Omaha's Financial Institutions Make a Very Satisfactory Showing-Almost Nineteen Millions of Dollars on Deposit.

The national banks have published a statement of the condition of business on July 9, pursuant to the call issued by the comptroller of United States currency. The compilation of the statement presented below will give a very good idea of the actual condition of the Omaha banking institutions.

As the amount of money held on aeposit by the banks is a pretty good indication of the condition of business it is only natural to call attention to this item first. A glance at the table below will show the total deposits of the national banks to be $15,492,028.80, or a gain since February 26, the date of the pravious statement, of over $500,000. The deposits, however, still fall short of the amount held by the banks in October, 1880, but the money is coming back gradually and it can be a question of only a few months when the less caused by the depression of when the loss caused by the depression of last winter and spring will be wiped out. Taking the figures of the last statement made by the state banks on June 30 it will be seen that the total deposits held by the Omaha banks are $18,662,885,87. Another noticeable feature in the statement is the heavy decrease in the rediscounts. In last October there were no rediscounts re-ported, but in December the total was over a half million dollars, showing that the banks were compelled to borrow quite freely. In February this amount had been cut down over one-half and the present statement shows only $87,000. In the matter of loans and discounts there has been an expansion of $348,151.10 as compared with the February statement. A careful study of the figures will bring ut a number of interesting facts. The following is a statement of the condition of the national banks on July 9, 1891:

Union Pacific Workmen Can Have Eight Hours by Asking.

The attention of Mr. T. H. Daily, chief clerk in the office of the superintendent of motive power at the Union Pacific shops, was called to the remarks made by John Quinn, chairman of the meeting held in the interest of the eight-hour law Monday night, to the effect that a notice had been posted in the shops directing all men who wanted to work eight hours to apply to their foremen. Mr. Quinn also remarked that this meant discharge for any man brave enough to speak for the new movement. Mr. Daily was asked what truth, if any, was contained in Mr.

Quinn's statement, 'Such a notice was posted,'' replied Mr. Daily, "as we wanted to know just what the men wanted. It makes no difference to the company whether the men work eight hours or nine and one-half. They are all paid by the hour and have been for some time. If they want to work eight hours there would be no objection made. Not a single man has made application to have the hours cut down. Even the men who were down at Lincoln last winter loobying in the interest of this law have not applied to have their hours reduced. This eight hour business is all fine theory but when it touches the men's pocketbooks i is another thing altogether.

"The shops were run eight hours last summer," continued Mr. Daily, "and the men were kicking all the time. We have been running nine and one-half hours this summer and I have not heard of anyone kicking because the hours are too long.

cause the hours are too long.
"Our machinery is running all the time and two shifts of men are worked in order to get out the material ahead of the workmen. The company would be perfectly willing to put on three gangs of men and let them work eight hours each, but I will venture to say there would be a tremendous howl go up if such a thing was done. "The chances are that we shall keep right

BUYING NEW HOSE.

All of the commissioners were present, and a half dozen anxious rubber men formed a deeply interesting lobby.

There were thirteen bids submitted, and they were read by Mr. Smith, after which the agents of the various companies were allowed to expatiate on the merits of their respective goods and the demerits of those sent in by competitors.

The bids were as follows:
Revere rubber company of Chicago and Boston: Revere rubber hose, 85 cents;
American packet hose, 56 cents. Both guaranteed for four years against a 500 pound pressure.

Omaha rubber company; Eureka, 90 cents;
Paragon, 80 cents; Shieid Victory, 95 cents;
Horseshoa packet, 70 cents; Arm and Hammer, 60 cents; Elk's Head, 50 cents. Mineralized rubber company: St. Andrew's Cross, 68 cents; Anchor brand, 74 cents. Both guaranteed for three years against 400 pounds pressure.

The ambitious agents were then excluded from the room, and were induited one at a time to sing their little songs. Each bad his piece well learned, and they told the commissioners enough about making hose to enable them to start a factory if they so desired. Mr. Hurt-man presided throughout at the dissecting table and performed elever post mortems on each sample piece of hose passed up for in-spection. At last he cut his finger and passed the cleaver over to Chief Galligan.

After deciding that they did not know how much fabric hose they wanted, and that they would probably buy more or less of rubber the board adjourned until 2 o'clock this after noon. The agents cussed mildly under their breaths at the delay and then put on smiles that were supposed to be good for another twenty-four hours.

Medals for Brave Firemen. W. C. Faye has written Chief Galligan offering to present a gold medal to the fireman who shows the greatest bravery and courage in saving life or property between the present time and March 1, 1803. The award will be made by a committee, consisting of Chief Galligan, Mayor Cushing and the captain of a company in which there is not a contestant for the medal. In case there is no company without a contestant, the third member of the committee will be named
