Wheat Rather Spasmodic, Being Active and Dull by Turns.

EXCITEMENT IN OATS—ADVANCING CORN.

Lively Scenes Among the Bulls and Bears on 'Change—Considerable Hedging Accomplished—Stocks and Bonds.

CHICAGO, July 23.—The wheat market today was rather spasmodic, being active and dull by turns. Price changes were frequent, but during most of the day kept within a range of about 1½c with the average price lower than yesterday's close. The news was not very influential either way; the receipts about 100 cars in excess of the estimate, but cables were higher; there was a good deal of wheat for sale, however, at the start, with only a moderate demand and first sales were lower at 89⅛@89⅜c for December. The weakness, however, started a good deal of covering by shorts partly to realize profits on sales made yesterday, and this buying, with the excitement which ruled in oats and the advance in corn, quickly turned the market upward. A private cable about the same time reported bad weather in France and Paris. Schwartz-Dupee, Milmine, Bodman, Logan & Co. and Counselman & Day were good buyers for a time and there was an upward rush, December touching 90⅛c. Then there was a season of labored realizing by early buyers: corn and oats began to break, harvesting was reported as having begun in South Dakota and another Paris cable reported a decline there with weakness in Liverpool and prices took a sharp drop. December selling off to 88⅜c.

Cudahy, who covered a big line yesterday, commenced putting it out today at 90c and was an aggressive seller for a time, and the market broke as much from this as any other cause. Pardridge apparently was doing nothing. The market was fairly steady after the noon hour, after having sold off to 88⅜c for December, chiefly on the heavy realizing by longs and the estimate of 700 cars for tomorrow. There was a reaction to 89⅜c, but another break followed to 88⅛c and the market closed steady at 88¼c.

Corn was strong early and for a time the market was led by oats, and September sold from 57⅞c to 55⅝c; then there was a big break when oats collapsed.

The leading futures ranged as follows:

Minneapolis Flour Output.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 23.—The Northwestern Miller says: There was not quite as much flour ground last week as the week before. The aggregate output of the sixteen mills running is 134,038 barrels, averaging 22,-322 barrels daily, against 139,365 barrels the preceding week, 123,20 barrels for the corresponding time in 1890, and 119,270 barrels in 1889. More or less time was lost during the week by several of the mills. There were seventeen mills in motion Wednesday and they were grinding at the rate of about 25,000 barrels daily.

Since early last week the water power has been very good, though at times it shows a tendency to go down. If there were any more mills running an actual shortage of water would be developed.

The closing down of the Crown roller mill from damage by fire doubtless saved the enforcement of water regulations.

There is some improvement in the market, the most of it is in the past two days since wheat advanced. On the whole the output for a week back has probably been disposed of by fresh sales. More interest is shown from abroad than at home.

Bakers' is in good demand for export, and though the prices offered are pretty low, a good deal has been booked even for as late shipments as September. Low grades are in less request, while the trade in patents is still confined to rather small limits. The high figure at which cash wheat is kept here is still complained of, but a different state of things is looked for next month.

The advantage that the Duluth millers have by this circumstance is great, as local millers assert that the competition for the Zenith city is the most aggressive that they have to meet. Some of the Minneapolis mills are quoting lower prices than a week ago, but the higher cost of wheat will doubtless force them to mark them up again.

The export shipments for the week are 51,825 barrels, against 32,840 barrels the week before. London quotations for 280 lb patents, 30s@31s; bakers, 26s 6d@25s; low grades, 15s 9d @17s 4d.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

NEW YORK, July 23.—The stock market today was even more stagnant than those of a few preceding days, and remained from opening to close almost entirely devoid of feature, while no important change in values occurred in any stock. The two parties in the market maintain the same attitudes, and until either one or the other receives additions from outside sources or something of a positive nature is developed to have a material influence upon values, the dullness and stagnation is likely to continue. St. Paul, Burlington, Louisville & Nashville and Rock Island were the only stocks showing any animation whatever, and gave to the market what little character it possessed during the morning hours, Louisville and Rock Island being most prominent on the decline. After a partial rally the most intense dullness overspread the market and utter stagnation marked the dealings.

Some little buying of Western Union was regarded as significant but did not assume large proportions and failed to move the stock more than ¼ per cent. The pressure was increased in Louisville in the afternoon and its loss was brought up to about 1 per cent and in the last hour there was a severe drive at Burlington under the old story of an increase in its securities, and its net loss was made larger than Louisville.

The market closed dull and heavy to weak at the lowest prices of the day. The final changes are generally for small fractional losses but Burlington is down 1¼ per cent, Louisville 1⅛ per cent and Wheeling & Lake Erie preferred 1 per cent. Railroad bonds were even less interesting than usual of late and on a volume of business reaching only $452,000 the changes were less significant while as usual of late no decided tendency in prices was seen. The few import movements among the inactive issues, however, show a majority of losses.

Government bonds have been dull and steady.

State bonds have been entirely neglected.

Financial Review.

NEW YORK, July 23.—The Post says: The feature in the situation which is likely to play an interesting part on approaching financial developments is the westward movement of currency. This turn in the tide has been foreshadowed during all of the past fortnight by the balancing of the Chicago exchange. Yesterday and today the scales have topped emphatically to Chicago's side and the banks join with the United States treasury in reporting an active shipment of money westward. It is not easy to estimate the probable volume of this interior movement.

The western banks have shipped money eastward in exceptionally large quantities since the gold exports of 1891 began, but on the other hand the government has been disbursing heavily and the government payments have been pretty widely distributed throughout the country. It is not, therefore, to be supposed that New York will be compelled to return to the interior cities all the funds that it received from the same quarters during the season of gold export. That the beginning of the movement had been felt in the time money market was shown by an immediate hardening in rates, all of which were marked up today one-half per cent more.

CHICAGO, July 23.—Kennett, Hopkins & Co. to S. A. McWhorter: Fine weather, large receipts and none too encouraging foreign advices opened the market weak and the execution of numerous buying orders quickly absorbed all offerings and forced prices higher than those yesterday. It was soon evident that longs had utilized the rally to realize on. Shorts had covered freely but a prominent bear operator who took in his wheat yesterday is credited with having sold half a million at 90c for December. Early reports from the sea board indicated little inquiry for export and traders generally felt there had been no adequate response abroad to the 4½c advance; not only had the advance checked the export business but it had stimulated country shipments and a large increase in the visible seemed probable. Reports of harvesting in South Dakota were received from several sources, producing a weak feeling, which was quite pronounced. It is thought by most traders that lower prices will prevail for a day or two. The squeeze in July oats showed considerable energy at the opening, and this seemed to give tone to both corn and oats. There was active covering for a time but as soon as this demand was stopped weakness set in and prices sagged the rest of the day. Small stocks render it possible to manipulate corn, but conservative commission men look for much lower prices in the end. The weather is very favorably affecting the growing crop. Receipts of new oats were nearly three times as large as any former day and the superior grading shows the crop to be of excellent quality. If today's movement is indicative of what is to follow July will soon sell much nearer the price for August. Provisions followed other markets and were devoid of any special feature. Pressing high prices may be expected to bring out larger offerings of hogs at more moderate prices under which a material decline in provisions seems probable. The market has ruled strong for some time and ought to have a reaction.

CHICAGO, July 23.—Schwartz, Dupee & McCormick to F. C. Swartz & Co.: The wheat market has been very active, presenting the somewhat unusual case of touching call prices and afterwards selling below puts. The trading has been large and general. Early Liverpool cables were firm, and a sensational report came from France as to very unfavorable weather and consequent large buying in that market. The result was an active and stronger market here. The turn later came from the estimate of receipts tomorrow at 700 cars, and from late cables quoting all continental markets weak and lower, the result being that several large lines bought yesterday and early today were thrown upon the market from which the short interest had been generally eliminated. There was a weak closing at about bottom prices. Receipts at eleven primary points were 1,316,000 bushels; shipments, 1,062,000. Car lots sold at 90c, but closed weak at 89c. Clearances from four ports were 317,000 bushels of wheat and 16,000 packages of flour. There were some reports of the cutting of wheat in South Dakota, but it is too early for this to amount to much. Corn, like wheat, was very strong early and weak later, the early strength coming from large buying to cover shorts induced largely by the very great strength in the oat market. Receipts for tomorrow were increased, being estimated at 400 cars, which with the weakness in wheat was responsible for the late drop in the market. The oat deal furnished the sensation of the day, large purchases being made at the opening to cover shorts in July. There were numerous orders in the market for that option and there seemed to be but few sellers until it reached 45c, at which figure the loading was very large, afterwards a quick drop of 7 or 8c took place. The hog market was lower and realizing on provisions was very free, one or two large lines of lard and ribs being put on the market. Indications are that the shorts are well covered and there was a noticeable lack today of buying for long account. Market closed tame.

CHICAGO, July 23.—Logan & Co. to Toneray & Bryan.—Wheat opened active at 89⅛c, sold up to 90⅛c and closed at 88⅛c. Cables from Liverpool were firm, from Paris higher on unfavorable weather. Reports from the northwest are less favorable, complaints of rust and insect life doing damage. Heavier receipts today and some increase for tomorrow, along with an easier feeling abroad, caused some free realizing and selling by Pardridge and his followers. The close is at the lowest point of the day. The little reaction was to be looked for after the high pressure of the past two days. We still consider wheat a purchase on all breaks and will be so until results of the crop are known. Corn opened strong. The price in our near future will depend on receipts. We favor selling September on all bulges for quick turns. The oat market is active for July with fluctuations of from 6c to 7c. Hog products are dull.

A report of the department of agriculture at Washington says: Rye in Europe is a cereal second in importance to wheat only. In many countries it is the staple breadstuff, its use making possible a larger exportation of wheat from exporting countries and supplementing the higher priced cereal in importing countries. In eastern Europe the product is larger than the wheat crop in Austria, Germany and Russia. The crop in Russia is larger than any cereal crop grown in any country of the world except corn in ours. The fact that rye so largely supplements wheat in the European dietary makes the prospect for the crop this year of unusual interest, in view of the serious shortage of wheat. The European agent of the department, after a careful investigation, sends the following cable covering prospects up to July 7: "Weather improved. Russia, greatest producer, at least 30, possibly 40 per cent short; Germany, 20; Hungary, Holland, France, Roumania and Denmark, 15."

NEW YORK, July 23.—Kennett, Hopkins & Co. to S. A. McWhorter: The stock market has been in many respects a repetition of other days. London has not contributed anything to the business of the day. The London market is in about the same see-saw conditions that this is in. It rallies and falls back within fractional limits. This market is waiting for the situation in Europe to clear up either by becoming worse or better. The public is out of the market and professional traders are too timid to take any great interest. The outlook in this country, barring a possible stringency in money, could not well be brighter. Railway earnings are already showing up handsomely. The Northwestern company for the month of June increased $191,000 and the Pennsylvania company for June increased $475,000 net. At present, however, mercantile business is poor, the iron and coal trades being especially dull. There is but little pressure to sell iron, at the same time the demand is small. The coal companies are constantly exceeding their allotment of production and actual prices are below circular rates. The market closed dull and lifeless with a tendency to lower prices.

Chicago Live Stock Market.

CHICAGO, July 23.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—Today saw a further sagging in prices for cattle, the general market being 10@15c lower than yesterday. This makes a decline since last Friday of 10@15c in good to choice grades, and of 30@50c in anything grading below good. Cows are off to $1.25@3.00 for poor to choice qualities, and common to choice steers are quoted at $3.40@5.75, while Texas grass cattle are down to $1.50@3.40. The average quality of offerings was very common, and at least three-fourths of the day's transactions were at prices below $4.50.

The prevailing prices for cows were $1.75@2.75, and for Texas cattle $2.15@3.00. The day's receipts consisted of about 8,000 natives, 4,000 Texans and 2,030 western range cattle. Including cattle left over from Wednesday there were not less than 18,000 in the yards. It was found impossible to dispose of that number, enough stock being left unsold to make it decidedly improbable that tomorrow will see more satisfactory markets than was experienced today.

It was very much such a hog market as was experienced yesterday. The shipping demand lacked the strength that has hitherto characterized it and as local packers were not sharp competitors, salesmen were obliged to yield another point. The average of the prices was about 10c lower than for Wednesday or 15@25c lower than for Tuesday. The decline has fallen principally upon heavy and medium weights, the former showing the greatest shrinkage. Light hogs of prime quality are not more than 10c lower than Tuesday. The sales ran from $2.50@4.50 for culls, to $5.85 for fancy assorted light weights. The top for heavy hogs was $5.65; and for medium weights $5.70. The trading was principally at $5.00@5.40 for averages of from 200 to 300 pounds, and at $5.30@5.75 for hogs weighing less than 200 pounds. The market closed quite weak, with some hogs left over.

The Evening Journal reports: CATTLE—Receipts, 14,000; shipments, 4,000. Market slow, lower; prime natives, $5.70@6.10; good to choice, $5.30@5.85; others, $3.85@5.20; Texans, $2.50@4.25; stockers, $2.25@3.75; butchers cows, $2.75@3.75.

New York Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Staple cottons were in moderate demand though shirtmakers are buying a little more freely and there was considerable doing in clothing woolens. The request of jobbers is not expected to show particular interest this month, but the manner in which the prompt delivery of goods is ordered by western buyers indicates a very favorable condition of things in this relation. The market was unchanged and prices ruled firm.

STARS AND STRIPES CURSED.

A Saloonkeeper's Insult to Our Flag Avenged.

EL PASO, Tex., July 23.—A number of young men were enjoying a banquet served at the restaurant La France on July 14, in honor of the fall of the bastile. The party embraced Americans, Mexicans, Frenchmen and Germans. An excellent menu was furnished, the champagne was brought in and the feasters commenced to toast the flags of the different nations which were placed in the hands of the banquetters by Mr. Des Boides. When the flag of the United States was brought out a young man named Schulenberg snatched the flag from the hands of a gentleman, and with insulting remarks and actions threw it to the floor. The gentlemen present arose from the table and the party broke up. Schulenberg was invited to apologize publicly, which he did.

Peter Wendel, a German saloonkeeper in Juarez, in speaking of the matter yesterday to a party of Americans in his saloon, said Schulenberg was right, and began to curse the American flag. This aroused the blood of the Americans present, who proceeded to demolish his saloon. Not a window or door was left in the building. There were no arrests.
