"FEV." SHERWOOD'S INHUMAN CRUELTY.

Members of the Colored Boys' Band Beaten Almost to Death and Starved by a Heartless Evangelist.

Four years of internecine strife and bloodshed ended the civil war, but it did not end the serfdom of the African race in these United States, for today there is a case of colored slavery in Omaha that for servility, abuse, brutal lashings and fearful mistreatment is not exceeded by the atrocities that were only too common in ante-bellum days.

The victims of this servitude have not neen hidden in secret quarters, shut out from the sunlight and secreted from the public gaze, but have been paraded daily on the streets of Omaha for nearly three weeks, while Omaha's citizens have contributed lib erally of their loose change to fill the pockets of the monumental fraud and hypo crite who manuferades in public as a great evangelist and missionary, while be hind the scenes he is the heartless, cruel and cole-blooded slave driver who boasts that he has whoped and beaten his defenseless charges until their blood has run down into their shoes.

their shoes. Strange as it may seem, and it is none the less startling tocause true, the bend of eight little colored beys who have filied the air in the business portion of the city with music for days and weeks past but slaves. They have marched up and down the streets, employed sometimes by one basi-ness house and sometimes by another as an advertisement, and when not thus engaged, have still made their unceasing rounds, playing at botels and on street corners, picking up pennics here and nickels there, as contributed by appreciative nickels there, as contributed by appreciative and sympathetic crizens. To node of these, however, have the real facts in the case been known, or the financial dona-tions would have been promptly shut off. Every cent went to their unfeeling taskmaster, whose only reward was a kick or a cuff, and only too frequently a fearful lashing with a rawhide.

Ing with a rawhite. The boys were brought here three weeks ago by "Rev. Dr." Sherwood, the illiter-nte individual who held forth at the colored camp meeting in Syndi-cate park as a Florida missionary. cate park as a Florida missionary. They are all orphans, and were secured by bim at an orphan asylum in Alabama. He kept them in a tent on the grounds during the campmeeting, but almost daily marched them to either Omaha or South Omaha to play for what they night earn. At night, however, they were on the grounds, where they had to do their share in carrying out Shorwoad's separational entertainment.

Sherwood's sensational entertainment. The true state of affairs did not come to the knowledge of THE BEE until last even ing, but an investigation was at once insti-tuted, and every charge made was corrobor-ated while it was found that not one-half had been told regarding the fearful treatment accorded these boys. The band is kept by "Rev. Dr." Sherwood

The band is kent by "Rev. Dr." Sherwood at Mrs. Walker's boarding house, 1211 Dav-enport street. They went there last Monday after the campmeeting assembly broke up, but under the original order of things the boys were not fed there. They were given 10 cents each with which to get their meals, and were supposed to hunt up the restaurant where they could get the most the restaurant where they could get the most for their money, or do without entirely as they saw fit, out they were sure to go hungry in any event. Mrs. Walker, who is a motherty colored woman, of the type that is so dear to the bearts of every one who has ever been associated with the southern "mammy" of the old days, learned of the starvation process that Sherwood had adopt-ed, and she at once told the little fellows to eat at her table where they could have all they wanted. Sherwood was not pleased with the arrangement, and to yent his ill nature he resorted to the rawhide more frequently than ever, and the defenseless children were

been attended with surprising results. As far as his treatment of his boys is concerned, I know nothing, atthough I must confess that I think he worked them pretty close. I was I think he worked them pretty close. I was very busy while at componenting, and al-though the boys were frequentity there I saw very little of them. As to Sherwood's guilt or innocence I know nothing, as he is a com-parative strancer to me, but I do not think anything of that kind has ever been charged against him before. Mrs. Walker's statements are certainly de-tilled to crodence, as her truthfulness is well known to every member of our church." Mrs. Moore regretted the olsgrace and scandal that had been brought upon the Plan for Bringing It to the Attention of the PLANS OF THE STATE BUSINESS MEN. They Will Take a Special Train Loaded Mrs. Moore regretted the disgrace and scandal that had been brought upon the church. She said she had seen quite a good deal of the boys, and they had told her that they were whipped, but admitted that they frequently deserved it. She understood that the whippings were generally administered because the boys did not learn their lessons. Mr. Sherwood had told ner that he was related fords to hulid

Statements us to where the children came from are contradictory, as it was stated last evening that they had been picked up in various places. Mrs. Moore informed the reporter that Sherwood had told her that he got the last boy in Atch-son. He also said that he did not keep the boys after they got above a certain age of but did not pay as well. His policy was to turn them adrift when they became too large and pick up others to fill their places.

Furniture Men Clean Out a Poor Woman's House,

Mrs. Hattie Remington, living at 1111 Jackson street, sought an officer yesterday morning and told a distressing story. Her husband started out in the country three weeks ago in search of work, and since that time she has been trying to support herself and children

She had purchased some furniture on the installment plan and had paid thereon $44, and still owed $22. The required payment was $2 a week, and this was made until her husband went away, when she was unable to keep it up, and yesterday was three weeks behind.

The furniture coopany sent its wagon and a mar, to get the property and everything was loaded up and carted away, leaving nothing in the house but the poor woman and her children.

Fhe woman begged the man to leave the sitchen table, and take the bed and all else, if necessary; but he turned a deaf ear to her entreaties and carried out his orders. She was also told that if she redeemed the goods she would have to pay $6 as charges for taking them out. The woman did not know what to do, and was standing drying near the corner of Fourteenth and Harney when an officer saw her and learned her story. She was told to visit the police court in the afternoon and if the law would afford her any redress for the money paid on the property taken, steps would be taken to assist her

Several times in the past four years the adjournment Till Tuesday. The taking of testimeny in the East Omaha case was resumed yesterday morning, John Swobe being the first witness. Mr. Swobe testified that he had been a resident of Omaha since 1867. During the years from 1863-67 he had charge of the wood yard of the ferry company and looked after the hauling of the wood. From 1807 to 1876 he ran the forry boat between Omaha and the Bluffs. He indicated a long strip of land on Bluffs. He indicated a long strip of land on the lowa side of the river from which he cut wood for the company in the 60's and said that this land feel into the river soon after the wood was cut from it. The wood was sold because it was in danger of being wasted away by the current. He stated that the river was cutting into the bank on one side all the time and filling up on the other side. The witness indicated on the maps the changes made in the course of the river. During the years from 1857 to 1876 the witness ran a ferry boat between the two towns. The During the years from 18.7 to 1576 the witness ran a ferry boat between the two towns. The river was continually changing during that time. These changes were going on all the time, but were slow and gradual in their nature. In 1877, during the latter part of February the river cut across the narrow neck of land made a new channel but left the old bed full of water. The wit-ness last saw the neek of land in the summer ness last saw the neek of land in the summer of 1576 and it was then only about two hundred yards in width. The witness also stated that during high water the river made deposits on land which had already been formed but did not make new land. The floods of 1857 and 1871 over-flowed the bottom lands but made no marked observes in the visibility of sending a special train filled with the products of Nebraska on a tour through the east has been discussed. It is an enterprise which has been attempted by only two changes in the character of the land. The cuts in the banks of the river do not usually or three states at long intervals and has occur when the river is high, but when it is about half full. On cross-examination the witness stated

The Nebraska State Business Men's asso-On cross-examination the witness stated that the strip from which the ferry company brought the wood was about three hundred feet in width and about one-half or three-quarters of a mile long. This strip all fell hat the river the same year shortly after the wood was cut from it. He indicated on the maps the land which had been formed which made what is now known as "the Island." Captain W. W. Marsh was the next wit-ness called and stated that he was formerly president of the Council Bluffs and Omaha ferry company, and was now president of the Gedney pickle com-pany, president of the Guna street railway company. He said he had been a resident of Omaha since February, 1863, and of Neclation numbers in its membership a good big share of the representative merchants in every county in the state and merchants who are not members are invariably in sympathy with its aims and objects, and the fact that the association has decided to take hold of the proposed advertising tour is guaranty sufficient that it will be carried to success. The matter is not new to the association. It was suggested by several members at the association convention in this city in May last and since that time has been under con-sideration by the advisory beard of the state Association and has been discussed by every local branch in thirty-three counties of the state and they are all unanimously in favor company. He said he had been a resident of Omitha since February, 1863, and of Ne-braska since 1856. Euring the early days he was in charge of the forry boats and of the Missouri Pacific transfer. The company operated its ferry boats from 1855 to 1857. From 1863 to 1857 the witness was president of the company. The company owned land along the entire river front on the lowa side, varying in width from one-eighth to ome-half mile in width. It also owned land about three miles above the But as to the plan. It is proposed to raise by small subscriptions from 50 cents up a fund of from $50 to $300 from each county in the state. The Business Men's association will do this much. This amount will be largely swelled by private subscriptions from wholes alo merchants, manufacturers and the wholes no merchants, manufacturers and the big corporations of the state. The sit-nation has been quite fully characterized by State Secretary Hodgin and other officers and active members of the state association and they are all thoroughly con-vinced that a fund of $15,000 to $20,000 can be easily secured for the unposed enterprise owned land about three miles above the Broadway landing on the lown side. The witness indicated on the maps the course of the river during the many changes which oc-curred during the years the boats were run-ning. All those changes were slow and gradual and the withe shad never known any important change to some during think easily secured for the proposed enterprise. Secretary Hodgin is in receipt daily of let any important change to occur during high ters from the best merchants of the state pledging their liberal financial support to the water.

The defendants did not desire to cross-exnine this witness, and John Tostevan, the city engineer of Council Bluffs, was called. He testified that he had known the river project, and there is no question whatever but that all of the money needed will be forthcoming when it is wanted. With the money it is proposed to fix up one or more exhibition cars filled with all kinds of Nebraska products from the farms and factories of the state, and then charter a train for a month's four through the middle, since 1854 and was in Council Bluff's at the time the Nebraska meander line was located. He indicated on the maps the changes which had been made in the channel during the five years succeeding 1851, during which the eastern and New England states, showing up river encroached about one-half mile north the products and resources of the state, each county contributing to the fund to be ention the Nebraska side and about the width of the river south on the Iowa side. The witness decimed to fix the extent of the changes which took place It is proposed to have the exhibition train visit the eastern states, especially those where there are communities of farmers who during any one year, as he had not made any nensurements.

Mr. Tostevan was not cross-examined and was followed by Henry Homan, a resident of Omaha, who stated that he was familiar with the river and testified in detail as to the work early and late for meagre harvests. With such a crop showing as Nebraska will be able to make, this year there is no ques-tion but that the enterprise would result in bringing a large number of eastern farmers the river and testined in definitive to the changes which had taken place in the bed of river. Mrs. Walker soon put a stop to that, how ever, and when the "evangelist" protested against her interference on the ground that he hired rooms and paid rent, she informed him that he didn't pay rent for beating those children, and if he repeated it she would certainly send for the patrol wagon.

Sherwood desisted from his cowhiding and for the past two days his corrections have taken less severe forms.

The boys are worked from early morning until late at night, and when the landlady was asked about it she said that few men i the city do the work required daily of those ten or twelve-year-old boys.

He said he was to keep them out unti 5 o'clock, and would ma e all the principa streets of the center of the city, and go as far south on Thirteenth as Vinten street. The case is a pitiful one, and it is proposed to take the boys away from the cruel wretch who is making an easy living out of his abus of them. The alleged divine was arrested about o'clock last evening and the police station blotter bears the entry, "W. H. Sherwood, fighting." The prisoner put up $6 in money, a gold watch and some trinkets for his ap-

"I never saw Sherwood until he came here," said Mr. Franklin, "and merely made his acquaintance and that of his wife, or the woman who is supposed to be his wife see that she is called a white woman, but that I believe to be a mistake, as I am certain that she has colored blood in herveins. Mrs. Walker is a truthful and highly respected member of our church, and 1 certainly think her statements are entitled to credence. She

Among the clergymen present were Revs Dr. Hodgets, Crane, Bross, Ware, Merrill, Van Buren, Allen and Mills. It was the most imposing pleasant and promising En-worth gathering ever held in Omaha. Ad Addresses were delivered by the Revs. Crane and Bross. The great feature of the evening was the taking of steps for the organization of on Ep-worth society for the cities of Omaha, South Omaha and Council Bluffs. The society will complete its organization at Trinity Metao-dist church on the second Tuesday evening of September, where the chapters will hold their next meeting. When he filed his complaint he showed a letter that Robert son had written him in reply to his first com-munication. It stated that all Mr. Johnson would have to do would be to send $5 to the agency, together with his photograph and a description of himself giving his weight,
