

BURGLARS FORM A SYNDICATE.

Amazing Discovery Which Has Been Made by the Milwaukee Police.

IT WORKS LIKE A REGULAR TRUST.

One of the Most Noted Confidence Men at the Head of the Organization—How it is Worked.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 17.—A burglars' syndicate or trust now exists, according to an official of the police force in this city. In fact, there are said to be about a dozen of these syndicates, and the next move will be to consolidate them. The facts leaked out through the arrest of a noted criminal here a few weeks ago "on suspicion." In his day he was one of the most noted bank robbers of the east and his picture adorns nearly every rogues' gallery in the country and occupied a full page in Inspector Byrnes' book of noted criminals. This man now belongs to that class which is designated in police circles as "gent."

For some time the police of this city have had an idea that an organized gang of thieves have been working the town. The variety of work done puzzled them, however, as it extended from safe cracking to sneak thieving. When this man was arrested the officials decided to pump him. An attempt was made to make him believe they had a case against him, but he so stoutly maintained that he had done no wrong here for a year that it was given up. It was decided to send him up to the house of correction for a year or so on general principles.

When he heard this programme he broke down and said he was already dying of consumption. A bargain was made and he told of the "burglars' syndicate" with which he was connected. A little investigation convinced the officers of the truthfulness of his story and they are now at work on the strength of the information furnished. The first trust was formed in New York City by a confidence man nearly a year ago. It was his theory that the burglars, safe breakers, bank sneaks, pickpockets, bicycle men and the whole outfit, by working together, they needed management. With a shrewd manager at their head many of their stupid blunders could be prevented and by systematic work never had a man detected could be greatly cut down. He got about twenty-five men together and so conducted matters that very few knew each other. With a capital stock of $2,000 mapped out a route, sent scouts or traveling lookouts ahead, and furnished transportation for his men. The tour was very long and only one man was held and he finally escaped by the power of the money furnished by the syndicate.

This summer half a dozen such gangs have worked different territory. The method was for the men to jump into a town or city at night and do their work and then move on to the next stand. The large cities were placed a week's engagement instead of one night. The continual shifting from one town or state to another makes their capture very difficult. Under the old system burglars and thieves always showed a tendency to stay where they made a good haul and kept on working until the police located and captured them. Under the direction of the Napoleonic confidence man this has all been changed, and from a burglary standpoint, the syndicate system seems to be a great success.

THE JEWISH ALLIANCE.

Important Business Meeting Held by the Omaha Branch. The Omaha branch of the Jewish Alliance held a large and enthusiastic meeting Sunday afternoon at the Jewish synagogue on Thompson street. The main question considered was the recommendation made by the mother branch of Philadelphia, suggesting that the Russian refugees be colonized at various points in the vicinity of western cities and towns and assisted with the funds of the society in becoming self-supporting.

This matter was discussed at great length by all present during which phases of the Philadelphia branch were developed. The following were appointed for that purpose: Isaac Oberfelder, R. Kohn, Julius Meyer, S. Katz, Louis Heller, J. D. Nathanson, H. Tenoch, Louis Slobodsky, Isaac Weinroth, C. Brandeis and H. Freidman. This committee was instructed on the probable cost of land within a radius of about fifty miles from Omaha and various other points covered by the recommendation of Philadelphia. The committee will report at a meeting to be held next Sunday afternoon at the synagogue.

Medical Science Unable to Provide a Solution of the Mysterious Disease—Story of One of the Afflicted.

CHICAGO (REUTERS OF THE REE.)—The following was published in the Chicago Tribune, Aug. 17: Dr. Frank, whose paper on the skin of human beings who shed their skin regularly created so much interest in the Chicago medical society, has received the following letter from Mrs. E. Shutt of Admah, Washington county, Nebraska: "I am thirty-nine years old, and since the year 1876 have had an attack of this kind every second or third year regularly. In March, 1881, I had a very bad time and entirely shed my skin. In May of the same year I had another spell, as I call it. My skin came off in the same manner as this man you write about. My hair falls off every time my skin comes out. In March of this year I was the same old story. My symptoms were exactly the same as those of Mr. Price. My motive in writing to you is to prove to you that there is another case like the one you write about."

CONSTITUTION POISONS THE BLOOD; DeWitt's Little Early Risers cure constipation. The cause removed, the disease is gone. CUSTER CITY BOOMING. Natural Beauty of the Surrounding Country Attracting Many Tourists. CUSTER CITY, S. D., Aug. 17.—[Special Telegram to THE REE.]—Custer is on the eye of prospectors. The refrain is in the air. A mining center and summer resort—a unique combination. Such is in store for this beautiful city and its hospitable people. Here are great mountains of refractory ore rich in gold. The ores assay $18, 820 and $50 per ton and upwards and the quantity is practically unlimited. One mine about four miles west is putting in new machinery, by which the ore will be roasted preparatory to the stamping and free milling and afterward condensed and sent to the smelter at Omaha. Whatever process proves best the men who own valuable mines now have the ear of capital and the southern hills have entered upon an era of development.

THE TIDE HAS SET IN TOWARD CUSTER as a summer resort. People who have found this place are clamored. The Sioux City club house is now being erected a short distance up the mountain toward Dyoctroite peak, which is 1,000 feet above the city. The club house, within the city limits, will overlook the city. Behind rises a beautiful natural park of tall pines, rocky points, flowers, ferns and mosses. To the east, east and west is spread a panorama of mountain views, including the Horny range with its fine peak. No finer playground is to be found on this continent than in these mountains. While the view of this range of mountains is equal to anything in the Alps. Within a mile of the city is a beautiful mining property, rich and within easy riding distance mines of gold, silver, tin, copper, mica and other rare metals, so that a tin cabinet can be easily made. Here is a beautiful hot spring, and a pleasantly cool temperature, with cool spring water and the breath of the pine trees, making summer migration from more and more a necessity will leave this choicest spot, the very heart of the Switzerland of America, undisputed. The business men of the northwest are allied to the Black Hills. Those who now build cottages at either Custer or Hot Springs are getting the best while it is to be had.

On Monday a large excursion came up from Hot Springs, and came up very enthusiastic over the fine scenery. And there was a party of half a dozen ladies and gentlemen from Chicago under the guidance of Eugene Holtlander now a member of the Chicago board of trade, but a pioneer in this country in 1877. A day spent at the newly discovered Custer park and Custer lodge, 7,000 feet above the sea, with the grand and rugged scenery, decided them to come again next summer. A four-hundred drive to the stockade where Custer found the battle of the Little Bighorn in 1874; a picnic at the New York mica mine where beautiful specimens were gathered in abundance; and rides to various gold mines have been among the diversions of the week.

EFFECT OF A BLOW.

Morton Quick Dangerously Hurt in an Altercation.

Morton Quick and a well digger named J. Scott engaged in an altercation at Fifteenth and Farnam this afternoon and Quick was knocked down. In falling his head struck the curbstone and he was rendered unconscious. He did not regain his senses until after he reached the station. Dr. Gagen was called to attend him and found that a blood vessel in the head had been ruptured. Quick's condition is quite serious. Scott was locked up charged with assault.

After applying what remedies he could at the police station Dr. Gagen ordered the patient to be removed to St. Joseph's hospital. Quick was taken there and found that a blood vessel in the head had been ruptured. Quick's condition is quite serious. Scott was locked up charged with assault.

GERMAN D. WYATT.

German D. Wyatt, who died yesterday morning, was a well known young business man of Omaha, who ranked high among the upright and honorable men of the community.

He was born in Williamstown, Canada, March 22, 1859, and came to Omaha in the spring of 1884, having been married in Chicago during the preceding January. He engaged in the lumber business in Omaha, with which business he was connected at the time of his death, being vice president of the Omaha Lumber Co., a general manager of the Harney Peak tin mining company today. Plans for the concentrator which will crush 750 tons of metal per day are now being drawn, and this will be set up in a few months. Shortly after the concentrator is in operation another with the same capacity will be added, making a daily output of 500 tons.

Funeral services over the remains of the late John A. Ahmanson took place yesterday afternoon at the family residence, 349 Leavenworth street. A large number of relatives and friends assembled to pay the last tribute of respect to one of Omaha's oldest and most respected citizens.

Rev. L. M. Kilb, pastor of the Southwestern Baptist Church, delivered a very appropriate address in the parlors of the family residence. The floral offerings were numerous and superbly beautiful.

Interment took place at Prospect Hill cemetery. The pallbearers were Dr. D. A. Foster, Dr. E. A. Allan, Mr. Herman Meyer, Mr. William Sawyer, Mr. R. K. Ballyman and George Lieberknecht.

HOW FUNNY YOU

Where do you buy your hats, anyway? Are you one of those numerous men that condemn a thing before they see it? Do you pay five dollars for a Derby hat with some toney hatter's name on the inside, and think there's no other hat made? Do you ever stop to think that five dollars has been the price of that same grade of hat made by that same hat man for a number of years, and that although everything else is cheaper, you are still paying the same price for hats? That's business. Did you ever buy a hat of us? We sell hats, and sell more of 'em than all the hat stores in Omaha put together sell. We sell just as good a hat for three dollars as any five dollar hat on earth. We sell just as good a hat for a dollar ninety as you can buy for three dollars of anybody. And this season we have made a contract with the largest manufacturer of hats in America to make for us an immense quantity of the best cheap hats ever offered in this country. They are made of good fur stock, lined with silk, trimmed with gros grain ribbon, and are as good a hat in every way as you'll see sold for a couple of dollars. The first shipment of these hats will be placed on sale to-day at the phenomenally low price of

BARDSLEY'S INVESTIGATION.

Council Committee Unearth More Fraudulent Transactions.

MORE EVIDENCE OF HIS DISHONESTY.

Private Money Used to Increase His Income—Recent Revelations in the Case.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—The council subcommittee to investigate the affairs of ex-City Treasurer Bardsley and the Keystone bank, met this afternoon. Governor Pattison was present and was sworn and asked concerning the item in the report to Mayor Stuart by the expert accountants of the payment of $714 in 1889 by the Chestnut Street bank to Bardsley. Governor Pattison said in answer to the questions.

"I was elected president of the Chestnut Street bank in 1887 and served until the second week in January 1891. The city opened an account with the bank, which was made a city depository. Bardsley at that time was treasurer of the city. No interest was paid Bardsley. I never met Mr. Bardsley as president but twice and I never knew him socially. At no time, as president of the bank, did I have any conversation with Bardsley on the question of deposit, directly or indirectly in the payment of interest. No interest was ever paid on state money. The first intimation that we had that money deposited by Bardsley was state money was when we were called upon to file a bond of $100,000. This, Mr. Singler (who succeeded Mr. Pattison as president of the bank) subsequently did. Bardsley came to the bank in 1889 and received certificates of deposit. These certificates were gotten by Bardsley from time to time, and it was upon these that interest was paid about $600 at one time and $300 at another. The first intimation that I had that the bank was paying Bardsley interest was when the cashier came to me and said that Bardsley wanted 3 per cent on his money. The bank could not afford to pay the interest, and the account was withdrawn. These certificates of deposit are issued by all banks and interest is paid on them. The account for which we gave Bardsley the certificates was not a check account and the money merely remained in the bank. We never paid Bardsley interest."

This practically concluded the governor's testimony. The committee then resumed the examination of the mayor's expert accountants' report relative to the money loaned by Bardsley to a great number of persons as shown by the stubs of a check books. The sum loaned by Bardsley was mostly small. The list of persons who appear to have received money from Bardsley for various reasons was a long one and included many prominent politicians. In the cases of the latter the money in the majority of cases was repaid.

By the testimony of the experts Bardsley, in addition to his various illegal sources of profit to himself, appears to have had the use of $27,355.28 for two months. This money belonged to the sinking fund and was the proceeds of the sale of loans to pay the city's debt. Bardsley intended of paying the money to the treasury loaned it out at interest for the period mentioned.

Before the committee adjourned the chairman was directed to request District Attorney Graham to transmit to the committee all the books and vouchers relating to Bardsley in his possession, excepting the correspondence between Bardsley and Attorney General McCamant.

The next public session of the committee will be held Thursday. The committee will hold an executive session tomorrow for the purpose of receiving the reports which have been examined.

Mertsham's Nozzle. Fred Mertsham, assistant superintendent of motive power and machinery on the Union Pacific with headquarters at Cheyenne, is the inventor of a variable exhaust nozzle for locomotives. The exhaust nozzle is one of the most important parts of the intricate mechanism of a locomotive, and its frequent clogging of this particular part is the cause of a great waste of fuel and a loss of speed. The device of Mr. Mertsham does away with this clogging, and effects the great saving in fuel and an increase in speed. It has been in use on a large number of Union Pacific engines for some time and the inventor has been offered large royalties from other roads for the use of his device.
