CURIOUS ABOUT CERTAIN CONTRACTS.

They Want to Know Why Berlin's Injunction Case Against the Other Commissioners Was So Suddenly Dismissed.

Somebody will have to walk up to the desk and explain why the suit of R. S. Berlin against Richard O'Keeffe, Peter Corrigan, L. M. Anderson and William Turner, county commissioners, was dismissed without having

The complete history of the case was pub-Mshed in The Bee of June 10. Early in 1890 a contract for grading the south end of South Thirteenth street was awarded to William Carr. The work was completed but there was no money in the road fund to pay the bill. The commissioners found a way out of the difficulty and transferring the money from the bridge to the road fund, Carr was ordered paid.

ordered paid.

R. S. Berlin protested against pursuing such a course, but being in the minority his protest was not heeded and a warrant on the bridge fund was drawn for the full amount.

The next day, October 28, 1890, Berlin secured an injunction from the district court enjoining the county board from delivering the warrants. This tied the matter for a few months, but on March 1, 1891, the suit was dismissed on motion of the attorney for Berlin. The defendants paid the costs, taxed Berlin. The defendants paid the costs, taxed at $30.83 and Carr got his warrant after which the amount was paid out of the bridge fund of the county.
At the time there was a lingering suspibreeze blew over.

Commissioner O'Keeffe explained the transfer by stating that at the time the improvement of the street was first talked of, it was the intention to have built a culvert along the street, but upon getting estimates from the county surveyor it was ascertained that it was cheaper to grade than to bridge, and so payment was made from the bridge fund.

clon that all was not just right, but the made from the bridge fund.

In connection with the case there is a pretty little story to the effect that an assessment to pay the costs of the suit was levied upon all of the democratic officials of the county. They complained at first, but afterwards took their medicine and contributed their proportion of the amount.
It was supposed that the dismissal of the suit would settle all trouble, but it has not, for the committee of the Real Estate Owners' association will now investigate and ascertain just why the suit went out of court.

After the committee gets through with this it proposes to make the commissioners and their bondsmen show why four commissioners voted to transfer money from the bridge to the road fund and then used it for grading purposes.

In going to the bottom of this matter the committee will be assisted by a committee from the Fifth Ward club.

After the Tax-Eaters. The committee of the Real Estate Owners' association appointed to investigate some of the affairs regarding the running of Douglas county has not yet completed its labors. The committee has disposed of the bond question and will make a final report at the next meeting of the association. Just now there is something else on the griddle, and a plan is on foot to make a study of the county affairs and ascertain if the county is not paying salaries to clerks who are mere hangers on and are ornamental in-stead of useful. There were other men who had soft snaps secured through favoritism or by having performed some political work for officials.

This committee will make a thorough investigation, and if they find the facts as stated, they will ask that the supernumeraries be Ayer's hair vigor restores color and vitality

Douglas County Teachers Warming Up to Institute Work. The third day of the Douglas county teachers institute opened yesterday with an attendance of about ninety. Regular lectures are being delivered on all the branches required for the various certificates and interest in the work is increasing rapidly.

Miss Webster, in her drills in primary and advanced reading, handles the institute as she would a class of pupils, and, with her varied experience, is able to practically illustrate the successes and failures of teachers in this most important branch of public school edu-cation. In her work in distory she devotes

Professor Logan keeps up the interest and enthusiasm in mathematics and civil government, but is winning his greatest laurels as an institute lecturer and instructor in his work in didactics which is being made a great feature of the present session

In his opening lecture outlining the subject and defining its scope he spoke, in effect, as follows: The relation between psychology and educ ation is an intimate one, hence the necessity for teacters to study psychology.

As there is a wide difference between the adult mind and the child mind and as educadeals with the growing intellect especially it is necessary to study child nature

To the educator nature points out the way.

The work of the child ought to produce pleasure rather than pain; if the work is not agreeable there is something wrong. The child should be an actor in the development of his mental faculties and not a passive re-

The great law of mental growth is well-directed, well-regulated mental exercise.

The facilities of the child are not successively developed as Rosseau taught, nor simultaneously, but all making their appearance at the same time should receive atten-tion in the period of their greatest activity. the "undesirable" emgrants would in all probability find no difficulty in obtaining a favorable certificate, just as they were here-tofore assisted out of their countries to this.

Take, for instance, the much persecuted Russian Jews. Do you think that the czar of all Russians persecutes them out of pure cus-sedness! I don't. I know that they are as "undesirable" there as they are here, and I believe that the only object the czar has in view is to get rid of as many of them as pos-

have chosen some other country than ours to

"You see the kindergarten is a German in stitution. It found its birth and has met with its greatest success in Germany where the youth is not of that nervous, early maturing character that is so marked a character istic of the American child. Where the prevailing temperament of the children is much more singgish and not so apt to run to premature mental development as in this country, I can readily see how the kindergarten becomes of great ad-vantage as a means of awakening the reasoning faculties of the children. But the average American child is wideawake and ready to take hold of mental tasks even before its physical development is prepared to sustain severe mental effort.

"If the board of education in Omaha should decide to introduce the kindergarten, I would suggest that a few schools only be opened at unities where there are German or Bo hemian children; also where the children of the poorer classes may have the principal benefit of the training thus provided for. Then I would suggest that none but the very best teachers for kin-dergarten work be employed, so that these EMICAGO BUREAU OF THE BEE. CHICAGO, Aug. 19. Harry Gilmore says that his defeat in hi recent bout with Wilkes at South Omaha, was not due to the prowess of the latter's fist, as stated in Tue Bee, but to the hardness of his head. This is the way Gilmore explains it. He had all the best of the sparring up to the middle of the second round, when he and Wilkes made right leads simultaneously. TO REPRODUCE POREIGN STREETS. Four men from Egypt are bidding for the privilege of reproducing a street in Cairo at the world's fair. This was one of the best drawing features of the exposition in Paris. "It will be worth $150,000 to the board of directors." said a member, "and $500,000 to the men who get it up." The successful bidder will be required to build an exact reproduction of a street in Cairo. Scores of Egyptians will be imported, and dressed in their native cos-tumes they will stand in the doorways and invite visitors into the shops where wares are sold. Every phase of life in Egypt is to be represented.

The board of directors will probably make arrangements also for a Japanese village, an East India village and a Japanese street. They may also get street scenes from Constantinople and from Persian cities. Half rates on a majority of the railroads in the United States for the transportation of exhibits to the world's fair may yet be granted. Where do you buy your hats, anyway? Are you one of those numerous men that condemn a thing before they see it? Do you pay five dollars for a Derby hat with some toney hatter's name on the inside, and think there's no other hat made? Do you ever stop to think that five dollars has been the price of that same grade of hat made by that same hat man for a number of years, and that although everything else is cheaper, you are still daying the same price for hats? That's business. Did you ever buy a hat of us? We sell hats, and sell more of 'em than all the hat stores in Omaha put together sell. We sell just as good a hat for three dollars as any five dollar hat on earth. We sell just as good a hat for a dollar ninety as you can buy for three dollars of anybody. And this season we have made a contract with the largest manufacturer of hats in America to make its us an immense quantity of the best cheap hats ever offered in this countries. They are made of good fur stock, lined with silk, trimmed with gros grain ribbon, and are as good a hat in every way as you'll see sold for a couple of dollars.
