

AT NEBRASKA'S STATE FAIR.

Annual Exposition Opened at the Lincoln Grounds Yesterday.

GREAT SHOW OF FARM PRODUCTS MADE.

What the Farmers Say Concerning the Crop—Scenes Among the Exhibits—Among the Machinery and Implements.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 7.—[Special to THE BEE.]—The state fair opened in a most auspicious manner. The temperature in the open air was about 70° and enabled the people to visit all parts of the grounds with but comparatively little fatigue and to dispense with the annoyance of an umbrella.

Visitors reached the grounds as early as 6 o'clock, a constant stream filling the main entrances up to 10 o'clock in the afternoon. They came in wagons, motors and by the B. & M. stub to the grounds. This last mentioned accommodation saves the necessity of a change of cars to those from abroad either in going to or leaving the grounds. The trains leave every five minutes and are so arranged that they return to town for another load, two trains being thus employed the whole day.

The motor cars also run within the grounds and by an arrangement which is an evidence of enterprise are enabled to accommodate thousands of people who may thus be taken to any part of the grounds.

In the several halls, the work of decoration had not been completed in many exhibits until late in the afternoon. Tomorrow, however, everything will be in excellent condition, and the refuse which has cluttered the aisles will have been removed and the place turned over for the benefit of the people.

Today 10,000 people will be in attendance. This is one of the largest gatherings ever known on the first day of a state fair in Nebraska. It will steadily increase until Thursday, when the largest attendance is expected.

About 6 o'clock tonight the sky became overcast and a light rain fell for a few moments, but hopes were entertained for a pleasant day for tomorrow.

The grounds are full of police, but many people take exception to the manner in which the former enforce the orders of the board. Several conflicts took place today between officers and the people. At the Lincoln Grounds, Westover, a local blacksmith, was struck by Officer Sanders with a heavy wire cane over the head, receiving two large cuts from which the blood flowed copiously. Westover, it is claimed, sought to strike the officer. He was the officer objected, words and blows resulted. No disposition has as yet been made of the case by the police court.
