Interesting Court Incident Growing Out of the Curbing Muddle-Is the Board in Contempt of Court?

Early in July the chairman of the Board of Public Works asked for bios for curbing in ten curbing districts. In response to the advertisements bids were submitted on Berea sand stone, Highland, Kan., Gillfillan and

On July 20 the bids were opened by the Board of Public Works and at that time it was found that P. H. Mahoney and J. W. Furnas & Sons, who bid on the Berea stone, were the lowest bidders.

Instead of awarding the contract, the mem bers of the board performed the juggling act. They refused to award the contract and at the same time refused to send the bids up to the city council or return the certified checks submitted by the lowest bidder. The customary bond was furnished by the contractors, but still the Board of Public Works refused to act. Mahoney & Furnas tired of waiting and on September 4 secured at alternative writ of mandamus from judge Davis, commanding General Birkhauser, Major Furay and Col-onei Egbert to appear in court and explain.

At the hear named, 2 o'clock p. m., all hands were on deck and the music began.

The plaintiffs put in their testimony showing that the Board of Public Work had refused to award the contract, return the certified check for $500, or report the bids to the council. They also showed that the Berea stone had stond the test required. stood the test required.

During all of this time Chairman Birk-hauser was as uneasy as a fish out of water, hauser was as uneasy as a fish out of water, and fidgeted about like a sand flea on a hot day. After awhile he got a chance to go upon the stand and unfold his tale. He attempted to prove the acts of the board, or at least those that were not in the record. When this point was reached, Attorney Mahoney called the venerable chairman down by insisting that the records were the best pridence of the decays of the bear. evidence of the doings of the board.

The book was brought into court and by it the facts were shown that on August 26 the board let another contract for curbing the same streets, notwithstanding the fact that Judge Wakeley had previously issued a re-straining order, prohibiting the board from doing anything of the kind. This took the wind out of the Birkhauser sails, and his face turned as red as a boiled lobster when Attorney Mahoney charged that he had acted in direct violation of the order of the court, and should be committed for contempt, Judge Davis said that it was strange that the beard could go on and do just the thing that it had been restrained from doing so by an order of the dourt. The chairman tried to explain his action, but was called down and told that explanations could not change the record. Judge Davis took up the case and informed the charman that the record was the evi-dence upon which he would have to stand, as the court could not take judicial notice of talks held in back alleys and on the streets. He said that it was time that the board learned that a record of its doings must be kept, and that record must show how, when and where business was transacted.

home within her broad domains," was the kindly invitation that met the eye of every one about the union depot yesterday. It was printed in rich colors, as were numerous other mottoes, upon the sides and ends of three gaily emblazoned coaches that are advertising Texas and her resources,

There are virtually two exhibits-one of two cars by the Real Estate Owners association of Texas, and the other is the regular advertising car of the Fort Worth & Rio Grande railway. The idea of advertising Texas through exhibits in decorated cars, originated with Mr. T. A. Wilkinson, immigration commissioner of the Fort Worth & Rio Graude, and this is the fourth year that he has had the car on the road.

The other exhibit is under the direction and management of Colonel W. B. Slosson, director and manager; T. A. Wilkinson, emigration agent; ex-Governor R. B. Hubburd, lecturer; Captain W. J. Maltby, in charge of the cars; W. M. Feagle, press agent; W. R. Roberts, advertising distributor. The specimens in the exhibit are all products of 1891, and include grains, fruits, woods, stone, brick, ores, wool, cotton, leather, blankets, flour, packing house products and manufactured articles. A gamey tarpon, weighing 110 pound, that was captured in the waters of Corpus Christi bay, is by no means the least of the attractions. Motoces on the cars bear the following information: "Taxes of Texas 20 Cents on the $100." "Texas School Fund $100,000,000."

On hangers along the sides are glass frames filled with the various southern crops, and on the glass covers appear the following: "One haif the public domain devoted to publie schools;" "Texas has no mortgaged home-steads;" "$50 fine and imprisonment for carrying concealed weapons in Texas;" "One sheep ranch in Texas larger than the state of Rhode Island."

The exhibit cars left last evening, those of the Real Estate association going to Lincoln to exhibit at the state fair, and the railway car to Kansas City.

KANSAS IS ALL RIGHT YET.

Address of the Republicans to the People of the United States.

TOPERA, Kan., Sept. 8,-[Special to THE Ber. |-At the recent convention of the Kansas League of Republican clubs in this city a committee was appointed to prepare an address to the public for the refutation of the calamity talk being circulated through the country by leaders of the independent party. The committee has completed its work, and issues the following tonight:

At the recent state convention of republican leagues, the undersigned were appointed a committee to prepare an address, designed especially to refute the slanders upon the state of kansas by the advocates of the people's party.

especially to retrice the standers upon the people's party.

These defamers of the state that protects and cares for them, are persistent in the charge that Kansas, under successive regulblican administrations, has been reduced to a beggariy condition. The atrocious crime of being a state of borrowers, we shall neither attempt to pullitate nor deny. Most of our people came to Kansas with small means, but with a large share of that robust energy that has always denominated the state, and in a quarter of a century have achieved wonderful material results.

"Our debts stand for our investments, and not for our losses. They represent our enterprise, and not our misfortune; our property, and not our poverty. They will be paid, to the last penny, in the legal currency of the country—not a coin clipped, not a doilar depredicated."

Kansas is emerging from an era of general

try—not a coin clipped, not a dollar depreciated."

Kansas is emerging from an era of general depression that is not limited to state lines, nor confined to the jurisdiction of republican administrations. Kansas has shared misfortunes and endured calamities that are the common heritage of the human race, but she is neither bankrunt nor discouraged. One of the newest states in settlement, she is one of the foremost in the magnitude of her wealth and fertility of her resources.

Kansas has been under the uninterrupted control of the republican party from the date of its admission as a state, and an imperial common wealth has been developed. A magnificent capitol building and charltable institutions with superb equipace, argregating in cost $6,000,000, have been built and paid for, and the state has not lost a dollar by defaication or the dishonesty of public officials.

The total assessed valuation of property in the state is $48,000,000, whele represents an actual valuation of the state is five times as great as that of Florida or Delaware, three times that of South Carolina, double that of Alabama, Arkansas or Mississippi, $47,000,000 nore than New Hampshire, $48,000,000, more than New Hampshire, $48,000,000, have than New Hamps

Connecticut.

Kansas was the thirty-fourth state admitted into the union, but now ranks inheteenth in population and eighteenth in wealth. The wealth of the United States, during the last decade, increased 43 per cent; that of Kansas 50 per cent, nearly double the general average.

Kansas is the second state in the union in railway mileage, having an aggregate of 8,93 railway mileage, having an aggregate of 8,920 miles.

The school property of the state is valued at $10,017,142. Free schools are maintained from eight to nine months each year. In addition to the common schools the state has a university, a normal school, and an agricultural college—all justly celebrated institutions of learning.

There are in the state 2,339 church edifices costing $5,80,872. From 1880 to 1891 there was an increase in the church and school; property of the state over tweive and a half million dollars.

an hereuse in the church and school; property of the state over tweive and a half million dollars.

A beneficient system of education has been fostered by the republican party, and today there is a greater diffusion of popular education, and a smaller percentage of illiteracy and crime, in Kansas, than in any other organized community upon the face of the globe. In all that pertains to a strong and vizorous state, the history of civil society furnishes no parallel to Kansas.

Official reports from sixty count'es of the state show that during the last three months there was a net reduction in the mortgage indetedness of those counties of $1,300,000. Assuming that there was a proportionate reduction in the remining forty-six counties, the total diminution of the mortgage debt of the state would approximate $2,550,000, and this was during the summer, before the farmers began to realize on this year's crop. Our wheat crop the syear of 50,000,000. One-fourth of this is ample for home use, leaving $3,000,000, to add to our investments, or to pay our debts. Our surplus corn will bring us $20,000,000, to add to our investments, or to pay our debts. Our surplus corn will bring us $20,000,000, worth of cattle and hogs. After supplying themselves and paying their annual expense bills, the farmers of Kansas will have $10,000,000 worth of horses and $25,000,000 worth of cattle and hogs. After supplying themselves and paying their annual expense bills, the farmers of kansas will have $104,000,000 as the net result of a single year's work. Some of link large profit will be nedded to our permanent capital, but most of it will be employed in liquidating Indebtedness. The wandering vagabonds who have joined the alliance for political purposes only, and who are trying to make a living by the sweat of their faws, instead of honest toil, will of course fail to pay their debts; but there is a resolute purpose all over this state to pay, as rapidly as possible, all the debts incurred furing our period of deveronment. The balance of t and many of the original victims are convalescent.

Reports that are entirely trustworthy indicate the rapid decline and certain death of the alliance as a political party.

A marked decrease in the vote of that party is sure to be recorded in November.

The new party, under the seductive leadership of demagogues, who magnify the farmers misfortunes and belittle their resources, obtained control of the lower house of our list legislature. Its conspicuous failure as a law-making body filled the more sensible members of the alliance with charrin, and they will embrace the first opportunity offered to reinstate themselves in the republican narty.

Kansas is marvellous in its history, matchless in resources, and magnificent in its achievements, and the party that maligns the state and dishoners itself is already struck with the blight of death.

IMPERATIVE DEMAND FOR MORE ROOM.

Transmississippi Congress Next Month -Is Mrs. Cormick Insane?-Fickle Fortune's Wheel-Silcott's Signature-Other Local.

The fall term of the public schools opened yesterday with a large increase in the number of pupils in attendance. Many of the buildings were crowded to overflowing, and some provision will have to be made to relieve the This condition of affairs is more apparent at the High school building than at any of the others. There are about three hundred and seventy pupils in the class entering the High school this year and there is barely room to seat them. The facilities for holding recitations are entirely inadequate and Prof. Lewis says he must have three more rooms for that purpose. It will be necessary to nold eighteen or twenty recitations daily when the school gets in running order and there are only eleven rooms in which to hold recutations. It has been decided to keep the ninth grade on one study for the present and have them attend school only at the time they are called on for recitations.

they are called on for recitations.

The Central school is in its usual crowded condition with the little tors packed in like sardines. The first A, B and C grades are in one room. In this room there are seats for about eighty pupils, and ninety-live pupils are in attendance. As the attendance the first day is always small, there will probably be about one hundred and twenty will probatly be about one hundred and twenty pupils in this room before many days. There are five medium sized rooms occupied by the Central school, and one small room scarcely large enough to turn around in. In these rooms are crowded enough children to fill seven good sized rooms.

The High school committee was at the building this morning endeavoring to solve the problem, and a proposition will be made at the board meeting this evening to send the ninth grade pupils to the Goldsmith building on Twentieth street. One member of the committee strongly favored the idea of erecting a four-room, one-story frame build-ing on the High school grounds and using it for the High school pupils. It is probable an effort will be made to do this in the near

At the Wainut Hill school the lower grades are overflowing and a large increase in the number of pupils in these grades is expected in a few days. Mr. Coryell visited the build-ing and will recommend that two rooms be rented in an adjoining building until the new building is erected on the Hitchcock site. Every room at the Lake school was comfortably full and the indications were that the lower grades would be overcrowded in a few days. Miss Wnitmore stated that in all probability the boundary of this school would be changed in order to avoid increasing the umber of rooms in the school.

At the other buildings the rooms were well filled, but there seemed no immediate danger

The thirty-six principals employed in the Omaha schools met the superintendent of schools at the rooms of the Board of Education at 5 p. m. last Saturday.

The superintendent after a few preliminary remarks, instructed principals to open their schools in the same minner as they have in past years, and intimated that if any changes were made in the future that they would come only after consultation with the Principals were requested to send in to the superintendent, prior to October, their sug-gestions looking towards any changes that seem necessary in the course of study. The superintendent also announced that pupils who were taking private lessons for advancement to other grades, or to the high school, would be admitted to the nigh classes in conformity with past custom; but that in the future it would be necessary for such pupils to pass an examination given by the se room the pupil

It was also decided that any variation from the practices prescribed by the rules of the board, whether by authority or not, were to cease, and until further notice the rules and regulations were to be scrupulously en-

The superintendent called attention to the defective classification ap-parently existing in the setools, and stated that, excluding suburban schools in the month of May last, there were 120 classes in the schools having less than fifteen pupils in each class, a condition of affairs which the superintendent thought was not conducive to economy or efficiency. He discussed the principles underlying classifica-tion, called the attention of principals to the fourth and fifth grades as being the places from which most of the disintegration sprung and outlined a pian for remedying the diffi-

In discussing the questions of policy the superintendent expressed the conviction that the members of the Board of Education did not favor a reduction of salaries and that no one connected with the schools had any serious thought of unduly increasing the burdens of the teachers. He said that the sentiment of the board was favorable to the kindergarten, and that at an early date some progress would be reported in that

The superintendent regretted that so many of the ablest teachers were crowding up towards the eighth grade, and expressed his personal conviction that the salary of the teachers in the first grade should be the same as teachers of the eighth grade.

AN IMPORTANT MEETING.

Omaha Will Have the Transmississippl Congress Next Month. Hon. W. A. L. Gibbon, chairman of the executive committee of the transmississippl congress, has issued a circular letter to the delegates in the various western states suggesting the week commencing Monday, October 18, as the time for holding the next session of the congress, which will meet in Omaha.

This action was taken in accordance with a rule of the congress which provides that the executive committee of the state in which the meeting is to be held shall name the date of the meeting subject to the approval of the other states. Mr. Gibbon sees no reason why the date fixed shall not be accepted and will commence work at once arranging for the reception and entertainment of the delegates and visitors.

Speaking on the subject of the congress yesterday Mr. Gibbon said: "The congress is an important body, more so, I think, than is generally understood. There will be about a thousand delegates and visitors present, representing the active pub-lic spirited men of every state west of the Mississippi, and they will be in session, four five or six days in a discussion of such ques-tions as arid lands, deep harvor, transporta-tion problems, and issues that especially con-

The proper entertainment of the delegates and visitors will take time and money. The tocal committee is required only to furnish a meeting place, and for this purpose I have secured the Grand opera house. While this is the only requirement, we cannot afford to allow it to go at that. Denver entertained the congress royally at its last meeting, and we must do as well here." Mr. Gibbon hopes to secure the co-operation of the Board of Trade and the Real Estate Owners' association in the work of arranging for the proper entertainment of the congress. IS SHE INSANE?

MORE MANDAMUS.

Bidders on Sidewalk Stone Threaten the Board of Public Works. The members of the Board of Public Works and City council are liable to be brought into court to answer to another mandamus. Some weeks ago the board invited bids for furnishing flag stone for sidewalks in the Stone company oid 2214 cents per square foot; the Gilfullan Stone company 23 cents, and Ernest Stuht 16 9-10 cents. Instead of entering into a contract with Stuht, the board sent all of the bids up to the council, where they were rejected. It was claimed that the stone furnished by the three firms was the same, came from the same quarry and that the whole scheme was a trust.

Yesterday afternoon the Board of Public Works held a short session and followed out the course adopted by the council. All of the bids were rejected. Mr. Stuht, who represented the Highland stone, was present and served due notice that he would mandamus the city officials and compel them to enter into a contract with him. He stated that when the board advertised for bids that it meant something and that he did not propose to be used as a scapegoat to force down the price of the
