Political Leaders Hold a Convention Under Difficulties-An Uprorious Mob Makes it Lively for Mc-Carthyites-Fierce Fighting.

DUBLIN, Nov. 4. - Dispatches from Waterford, where the convention of the national federation is being held, say that great excitement provails there. The streets are crowded with uproarious mobs of people ready for any kind of a disturbance. The police in their efforts to control the mob have been making a free use of their batons, with the result that several civilians have been injured.

Mr. Timothy Healy, who was horsewhipped yesterday by Mr. McDermott, nephew of the late Charles Stewart Parnell, and solicitor for the Parnell family, was one of the speakers. He said, among other things, that he would not be deterred by violence from pursuing the course he had mapped out for himself, and repeated the language in reference to the widow of the Irish leader which he used at Longford on Sunday last, and which ted to the chastisement he re-ceived at the hands of Mr. McDermott,

Mr. Dillon on arriving at Waterford, was received with mingled cheers and hisses. Three hundred police guarded the federation delegates on their way to the convention, which was held in the city hall. The police repelled repeated charges made by the mob. The Parnellite sympathizers tried to rush through the entrance of the city hall, bu were beaten back.

were beaten back.

The convention proceeding, Mr. Dillon confirmed Mr. O'Briens Boulogne revelations, and added that the men now calling him a traitor had telegraphed to him while he was in New York, offering him the leadership in succession to Mr. Parnell, Continuing Mr. Dillion said that in spite of the continuous calumnies heaped upon him, he had never before revealed this fact. Messrs.

Harrington and Redmend and other promi-Harrington and Redmond and other promi-nent Parnellites had joined in the request, nent Parnellites had joined in the request, which was made after he had declared against the leadership of Mr. Parnell. He refused the leadership because it was a painful and difficult position—a position which he had never sought or wished, and one which he would be slow to accept. After arriving at Bulogne he told them that he could not accept the position unless all concurred in promising loval support. Those could not accept the position unless all concurred in promising loval support. Those men, one and all, promised that if he took the chairmanship they would be his loyal followers. He had done nothing since that altered his position a hairs-breadth. For weeks at Boulogne they were as anxious to get Mr. Parnell out of the leadership as the majority were. If they had steadily adhered to that policy they might have saved Mr. Parnell from an impossible position. If any one in the world was responsible for Mr. Parnell's fate, after Mr. Parnell himself, it was the men who, when the supreme hour came, had not sufficient courage, manliness or honorable friendship to take a firm stand and impose their jud g ment on him. [Cheers.]

Thirty delegates, while crossing a toll bridge, were thrown to the ground and trampled upon, many being hurt and bleed-ing profusely when rescued by the police. Several thousand Parneilites held the ap-proaches to the convention hall and everywhere struck down opponents. The whole quay, a mile in length, was the scene of savage fighting. Many persons were taken to

AMERICA'S GREAT GUNS.

Recommentations and Suggestions of the Chief of Ordnance.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 .-- Brigadier General Flagler, chief of ordnauce, in his annual report to the secretary of war, says that the work of supplying our fortifications with new models of disappearing carriages for large guns, is some years behind the guns. He recommends the construction of a seacoast carriage factory and the further enlargement of the facilities for the manufact re of carriages at the Watertown arsenal. The report states that the department has thus completed two eight-inch, one ten-inch and one twelve-inch breechloading, steel rifled guns. One of the eight-inch guns was tested with German smokeless powder with significant results, fifty pounds of the compound giving the projectile a higher velocity with about the same pressure as 125 pounds of black powder. The time allowed the Preumatic Dyna mite Gun company for the delivery of ten guns has been extended to January 1 next for the first delivery and July 1, 1892 for the

Among the estimates submitted is one of $1,122,000 for oil tempered and annealed steel for eight, ten and twelve inch guns, including the parts required for the manufacture of a type sixteen inchgun. On the subject of this great gun-about equal in size to the largest rifle in the world. General Fingler Recent improvements in the resisting power of ships armor would seem to still further emphasize the aiready recognized necessity for guns of this calibre. As it would be foolish to conclude that the improvements in the resisting power of armor have reached their final limit, and as much time is required for completing a type of gun of such high power as may have become an absolute necessity for overcoming such resistance, the sooner the work is commenced the

Other estimates are: For steel twelve inch sea coast mortars, $725,000; for thirty carriages, $449,500; for carriages for new eight, ten and twelve-inch guns, $1,805,000; for smargement of the heavy gun carriage plant at Watertown, Mass., $151,000; for armor piercing projectiles, $20,000; deck piercing twelve inch shells, $100,000; alteration of the grant of the carriages $100,000. fifteen and sixteen inch carriages, $100,000, report describes at length the exhaustive experiments made by the department with magazine small arms, including the latest European models. On this subject the report says: That but few magazine guns of American design have yet been brought be-fore the board. This depart-ment is doing all in its power to afford American inventors all opportunity to meet the requirements of new existing con ditions, namely the change in calibre and the introduction of smokeless powder. The investigations made and knowledge gained by this department have not demonstrated so much excellence in the magazine arms which have been adopted by foreign nations as was expected, and have not shown such perfection in any one of them as could warrant its adoption for our service. It is hoped that this country can produce a better arm, and until it can, or certainly until it has been demonstrated that it cannot, it would be be wise to defer a change from the excellent single loader now in service to a magazine

Speculation is the one word that explains all—speculation in stocks and grain with the Maverick bank funds backing the deals. The first great speculation of the Maverick bank was by Messrs. French and Potter in New York and New England. It was successful from a pecuniary point of view, but in that success lay concealed the ultimate ruin of the bank. In the New York and New England mystery deals the banks funds were used to a startling degree, and the system of operations then begun culminated in the ruin of the bank, and all its directors. Although the Maverick has been known as

Although the Maverick has been known as a speculative bank, no one outside of Mr. Evans and the bank directors could have imagined the extent of the speculations.
