OMAHA'S CREDIT IN DANGER.

City Treasurer Rush's Statement of the City's Financial Situation.

THE VALUATION MUST BE INCREASED.

Letter From a New York Banker on the Pig-Headedness of Omaha's Policy - A Remedy

Suggested.

"For the first time in her history," said City Treasurer Rush, "Omaha finds herself handicapped in the matter of selling her bonds. The credit of this city has always been first class. She has never defaulted in interest or done anything to impair confi-Sence in her ability to meet all her legitimate obligations.

"The ridiculously low assessment which some of our people fancy means low taxation has gone on from year to year until now we are brought face to face with a distressing dilemma. Huberto our bonded indebtedness has been kept within the charter limit, which was, until the last legislature amended When we reached the charter, 10 per cent. that limit justend of raising the valuation to something like that of other cities we took the other course and increased the limit to 12% per cent, and then to make it still more flexible excepted park and city hall bonds. "At the last election the people voted $1,160,000 in bonds. Of these bonds only $200,000 are actually included in the 12½ per cent limitation. While as a matter of fact we are still safely inside the charter prohi bition the bond purchaser will hardly appre-bend this truth unless he is steadfastly argued with. The school district indebtedness can of course stand upon its own merits and need not be considered in discussing the point at issue.

"Outside of the school bonds already issued the city of Omaha owes $1,930,000. Adding to this sum $775,000 voted at the last election (again excluding the $385,000 of school bonds), we find the total bonded indebtedness of the city will reach $2,711,100. Now applying the charter limit from the stand-point of the bond purchaser, who looks to the total indebtedness and takes no account of technical exceptions, and we find that to be at the present valuation of $21,000,000 but $2,625,000, or $86,100 less than the total in-debtedness which will follow the sale of the

$775,000 in bonds recently voted.
"We cannot go into the money centers with that showing and sell our bonds. Purchasers will be suspicious of the securities of a city which offers bonds for sale appar ently exceeding the limit allowed by her charter. We have been explaining from year to year that this city is actually worth $160,000,000 at least and that our assessed valuation is only about one-eighth of our real value, but year by year it has grown more difficult to convince brokers that this is true, especially when we reduce the valuation instead of steadily increasing it with the growth of the city.
"Here is a letter which I will read you in which the case is very well set forth. It is a sample of what I have received from other sources and of what may be expected if we continue to go to the world with a lying as-sessment bolstered up by legislation in-creasing the limit of indebtedness:

sessment bolstered up by legislation increasing the limit of indebtedness:

New York, Dec. 3, 1891.—John Rush, City Treasurer, Omaha, Neb.—Dear sir:

We have your favor of the 27th inst, for which please accept our thanks.

When we wrote you relative to the assessed value of your city property, we had in view the sale of a large block of Omaha city bonds which we understand will be offered in the comparatively near future. Of course it is futtle for us or anybody else to show your city assessors the light in which your city obligations will be regarded if you incur this new indebtedness without increasing the assessed valuation of property.

It is very difficult for us to understand just why you should keep your assessed valuation at such a low figure. If your indebtedness was within 8 per cent of the assessed value of property, your city would receive a great deal more for its loans every time it sells them, and if your assessed value of property, your indebtedness would of course, come way within this limit.

We are aware that you have full knowledge of just how your city is benefited by this peculiar policy, but it exasperates us every time we realize how seriously your city officials affect the city of Omaha by their pig-heidedness in this line. Their methol of keeping the assessed value of property down certainly does not benefit the taxpayer any, and the only result can be but an unfortunate one to your citizens. Yours truly, Quigley, Harramana & Tuttle.

"Now suppose we do a little calculating. If our valuation is increased to $26,000,000.

"Now suppose we do a little calculating If our valuation is increased to $26,000,000. the 12½ per cent limit will permit a bonded indebtedness of $3,250,000. Our actual indebtedness after the $775,000 in bonds is added will be $2,711,100, which is over 10 per cent. Deducting the excepted bonds and the apparent indebtedness will be low enough to satisfy eastern capitalists.
"But the objection will be raised that we

That the objection will be raised that we shall be paying more than our share of the state tax. True, but as the state tax is but 7 mills, we shall be adding only $35,000 to our present payments, and this is nothing compared with the loss which we are likely to experience if our credit shall be impaired. We cannot hope to market bonds bearing less than 5 per cent now. If we raise our valuation we can sell them for 4½ possibly 4. Minneapolis and Denver bonds have sold as low as 4 per Denver bonds have sold as low as 4 per cept, and have been taken at a premium. Ours at 4½ per cent were once sold at 3 per cent premium. Now the difference of ½ per cent at simple interest on the $1,160,000 we shall seil the coming year amounts in twenty years to $116,000. The percentage of premiums will also be affected.

"The other objection is that which is so often raised, that an increase of valuation means an increase of taxation. This does not follow. The proportions under an honorable assessment remain the same. The example assessment remain the same.

able assessment remain the same. The expenses of the government and the interest on bonds are the same whether we value our property at $21,000,000 or $50,-000,000. Whether we shall add to our indebtedness on account of increased valnation is a question with the people for the

'We must either raise our valuation or suffer loss of credit. The only other alterna-tive is the London market, where we could probably sell 5 per cent bonds even with the present valuation. I hope our people can be brought to see the fallacy of the low valuation. Our public improvements and in fact the growth and welfare of the city depend upon it.

"We shall not be able to sell the bonds voted until midsummer. The time for advertising is February or March. December and January are the worst months in the year to go on the bond market. Advertising, etc., will consume March and April probably. Therefore the new valuation can be returned for 1892 in time to affect the sale of the bonds and I sincerely hope as a taylayer and elit. and I sincerely hope as a taxpayer and citi-zen that our county commissioners and municipal assessors can be brought to appreciate the necessity of providing what seems to me to be the only way out of a very em-barrassing dilemma."

Mr. Hascali then spoke of the great need of a sewer system in the south part of town and said that too much water was drained toward the north. Branching out on the park site the speaker said: "We must not let the park commissioners impose upon us in the selection of a site for a south side park. If they do we must stand together and make it hot for them. We can get up meetings and call the attention of the get up meetings and call the attention of the press and the public to our rights. Why, if the city council should do what the park commissioners propose, the populace would rise upon masse and drive them out of town. ANNOUNCEMENTS.

This morning at 9 o'clock seats will be put on sale for the engagement of Aronson's New York Casino Opera company, which opens a three night's engagement at Boyd's theater on Thursday evening, presenting Audran's latest opera, "Uncle Celestin," This opera is by the author of "Olivette" and "The Mascotto," and has been received with great favor in the east. In Paris it recorded a run of 300 nights. The company includes such people as Jefferson De Angelis, Jennie Refferth, Annie Myers, Villa Knox, Max Freeman, Harry Macdonough, Jennie Weatherby and a dozen other operatic celebrities. This will be the first opera company of the season for the new Boyd, and will doubless draw large houses.

Tonight will be the closing performance of Mr. James T. Powers and his excellent com-pany in "A Straight Tip," at Boyd's new theater. The local bicycle club has decided to attend tonight's performance of "A Straight Tip" in a body, out of compliment to the star, who is an enthusiastic member of the Riverside Wheel club of New York City, and is said to be the most expert wheelman in the theatrical profession.

Lillian Lewis, an emotional actress, who has made considerable fame for herself in the past five years in the east and south, will make her debut before an Omaha audience at Boyd's new theater on Sunday evening. Miss Lewis is said to be one of the most beautiful and accomplished women on the American stage, and whatever has been said about her acting, she is universally credited with a distinct individuality in her methods. Her voice and physique are superb and has attracted widespread admiration. Miss Lewis has attained her prominence as a star on nerit alone. Very little money has been expended in placing her before the public, and she has risen gradually from an obscure actress to one of wealth and distinction. Her tour is under the management of Mr. E. G. Stone, who has surrounded her with a most capable company, including Edmund Coiller, Arthur Elliot, Louise Pomeroy, Walter Eytinge and others of note. Miss Lewis will make her Omaha debut as Lena Despard in "As In a Looking Glass," on Sunday evening, playing "Credit Lorraine" Monday and "Article 47" Tuesday evening.

"The frish Corporal" will begin an engage-ment at the Farnam Street theater today with matinee and evening performances. This is an emotional, military grama. JUSTICE ON THE WARPATH.

Incidents That Serve to Relieve the Monotony of Court Proceedings.

REBUKED A JUROR FOR IMPERTINENCE.

Final Capture of a Truant Juryman Too Full to be Fined-Lawyers Roasted by the Court -- Notes.

The spectators who attended the sessions of the district court yesterday went away satisfied. They got their money's worth and a good rate of interest on the invest ments, so to speak.

The courts bristled with sensation at every turn. It commenced in the criminal court where Judge Estelle held forth with the Jake Price murder case on trial. The facts in this case have been written a number of times. Yesterday morning the examination of the jurors was continued, and among the first men to go into the box was Dennis Purtell. The usual preliminary questions were asked by County Attorney Manoney and answered in a satisfactory manner by the juror. J. W. Eller, who is defending, took the juror in hand and asked: "Were you about the jail the night on which Smith was taken out by a mob and hanged to the electric motor wire?" case have been written a number of times. wire!"
"That's none of your business," at once responded Purtell The court caught the answer and at once proceeded to read Mr. Purtell a lecture that was intended to make his hair curl. He said that no juror could come into court and trampie upon its dignity. Such an act was in direct contempt of court and a repetition of it would result in a fine and a jall sentence.

Purtell was excused and another juror

Before adjournment the jury was secured, and was escorted by the sheriff to the scene of the alleged homicide. Price refused to accompany the jury. Finally Caught the Truent.

There was no change in affairs in Judge Davis' court. Lawrence F. Wassmuth, the truant juror, was still absent. The sheriff appeared before the court, He stated he had hunted far and near Wassmuth and all that he could learn was that the man had started out on a learn was that the man had started out on a protracted drunk some time during Sunday evening. The order of contempt entered against the sheriff was expunged from the record and he was ordered to send more men after the juror. Wassmuth by occupation is a dog catcher and served with Count Pulaski during the early part of the dog catching season dog catching season.

Wassmuth was caught and returned to Judge Davis' court at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. During the whole of the forenoon Sheriff Boyd and his deputies were out on a still hunt for their man. Just after noon as Deputy Pollick was passing a saloon at Tenth and Howard streets he caught a glimpse of Wassmuth's face through the window. Entering at the front door the juror sped out the back way and started down the street toward the river. Pollick started in hot pursuit and for a time it was a neck and neck race, with odds on Wassmuth. Neither of the men stopped, but as they reached the river the pursued became winded, and was overtaken just as he reached the river bank. On the way back he declared that he had committed a great crime and would take his life. He said that he would rather die than face the judge. He did not die, however, but was brought before Judge Davis. There he was too drunk to offer any explanation of his conduct, and was remanded to the custody of the sheriff to appear in court today. Opposed to Further Parley.

Judge Hopewell caught the spirit of excite-Judge Hopewell caught the spirit of excite-ment at an early hour and brought several lawyers up standing. For several days the trial of the case of Ailen against Mahew has been on in his court without any hope of reaching an early termination. The case was one of those neighborhood troubles that orig-inate in Elkhorn. The plaintiff was seeking to foreclose a mortgage that he held upon the town hotel. The evidence was all mixed up and in such wretched shape that it could not be untangled. The court became weary and ordered all of the parties out of court. He told them that if they did not reach a settlement at once he would enter an order of dismissal.

Minor Court Matters. L. A. Spurch was before Judge Davis and secured an injunction restraining one W. D. Cook from interfering with his ousiness. The hearing was set for Saturday morning. According to the petition, on October 28, 1890, the plaintiff purchased from A. H. McGregor a meat and grocery business at the corner of Eighteenth and Chicago streets. A short time thereafter he took into partnership one E. A. Disbrow. Matters went along well for a few months, when his partner counived with Cook, and by so conniving, without his (Spurch's) knowledge a mortgage was placed upon the stock. He ecured an injunction restraining one W. D. a mortgage was placed upon the stock. He knew nothing about the transaction until a few days ago when Cook commenced fore-closure proceedings. He now alleges that Disbrow owned no portion of the stock and that the mortgage was fraudulent.

Three additional suits were commenced against J. J. Johnson & Co., coal dealers, yesterday afternoon and attachments issued.

The American Water Works company sued $807 for supplies furnished; Dickenson Bros. & King brought suit for $3,511 to recover for goods sold and delivered, and the Mexico Fire Brick company commenced an action to recover $1,700 due on an open account. Judge W. H. Morris of the Seventh judicial district came down from his home at Crete yesterday and spent a portion of the day, the guest of Judge Estelle.

Tomorrow morning we will begin on our first floor our regular annual sale of winter suits for men. The thousands who have taken advantage of these sales as they have occurred yearly almost to the very day, will read this announcement with interest. They know what it means. They'll all be here. The simple announcement that the sale was to begin would bring 'em. To the newcomer since our memorable sale of a year ago, as well as to the few old-timers who have'nt taken pains to investigate former sales, we will say this: Every year since we began business we have held a special suit sale at about this time of the year. Each succeeding sale has seen the crowds grow larger, until last year we were hardly able to wait upon the goodnatured mob around the special tables. We have always offered extraordinary values at these sales; this one will be no exception. If you've never attended one of these sales this be will a good one to begin on.

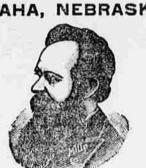

Gives you your choice of about three hundred strictly all wool fancy plaid cassimere suits, and two hundred and fifty very desirable fancy striped cheviot suits. These suits are lined with a fine twilled lining, well trimmed throughout, and were made by tailors who knew their business. The regular price is just eight-fifty.

Is the price of a splendid all wool cassimere suit, without any exception the best value we have ever offered at a moderate price. The goods were made in a mill where they have never been introduced to cotton. The pattern is a neat plaid; the linings, trimmings and making are all substantial, and the man who has laid aside twelve dollars for a suit of clothes will get twelve dollars worth of suit for seven-ninety in cash.

Gives you your choice of three styles of suits worth thirteen-fifty to fifteen dollars. They come in fine cassimere and fancy striped and plaid cheviots. They are cut, fined, trimmed and made by workmen who can "hold their job." They've got the style to them. They've got the wear in them. They've got the shape that you'd get with fifteen dollars anywhere but here.

MOORE'S TREE OF LIFE

Monmouth, Ill., Feb. 11, '89.
Dr. J. B. Moore, —While suffering from a severe cold. I was induced to try Moore's Tree of Life Catarrh Cure. It afforded almost immediate relief; and while I have been a sufferer for years from catarrh, since using this remedy I have not been affected in any way with this decidely annoying disease.
