LOCAL OPTION WILL GET A TRIAL SURE.

What a Prominent Republican Says After Looking Over the Whole Field Carefully-About the Speakership.

A prominent and well informed republican politician and former office, holder, living in the central part of the state, was in the city yesterday and was asked by a Bur represcotative in regard to Iowa politics and the situation of the probibitory law. He said:

'I think there are now good grounds for believing that a local option bill will pas not only the senate, but the house of the incoming legislature. For the first two or three weeks after the election there seemed to be no prospect of any change. The impracticable and extreme probibitionists were the first to be heard, and the republican members from the interior counties elected by probibition con stituents did not at first realize the tre mendous sectiment in favor of modification that exists even among the most carnest and consistent prohibitionists; but in the last three or four weeks that sentiment has developed until now it is overwhelming. Conservative prohibitionists see further delay will do irreparable harm to the temperance cause and result in the complete domination of state politics by the li nor interests. The country press is mostly in favor of modification, and I have seen in the last few days letters both private and published from some of the most ictive temperance men in the state urging "Senator Engle, the union labor senator "Senator Engle, the union labor senator from Jasper county, who voted against a license bill two years ago, has de-clared his intention of introducing one this winter. It is understood that Senator Gatch is also convinced of the ne cessity of voting for a modification, and i know of three or four other senators whom i am satisfied will take the same stand, even it the republican caucus decides that the ver lict of the last election must be ignored. In the house, where the republicans are in the majority and where the democrats must get four auditional votes, the situation is hardly more doubtful; but I know that a large proportion of the republican majority there believe that the salvation of their party and ultimate success of temperance depends upon the passage of a license law, and they are being enbouraged to de-cisive action by many of the party leaders and the press. "The speakership, over which there is usually a very warm contest, is practically conceded to W. O. Mitchell of Adams county. There are only two other candidates, who are inexperienced, weak and unpopular. By a curious combination of circumstances, only seven republican mem bers were re-elected to the house and not one of any prominence." No gripping, no nausea, no pain when De-Witt's Little Early Risers are taken. Small pill. Safe pill. Best pill.

Enjoining a Justice. A suit was commenced in the district court yesterday by Emma Wallace to secure the assistance of the court in keeping posses sion of a piece of property in Boomer township, this county which, she alleges, one Cal Fry is trying to deprive her of. She makes Fry and J. M. Axtel, a justice of the peace in that township, defendants in the suit. She alleges that a suit for forcible entry and detainer was com-menced in Axtel's court last Thursday by Fry, and that an order of removal made by the justice. She claims that he had no jurisdiction in the case, and that she had no notice of the pendency of the suit. She further asserts that unless restrained by the court the justice will sue out a writ of ouster under this void judgment. She also demands $100 as damages claimed to have been sustained through Fry's prosecution. A temporary writ was issued restraining the defendants from interfering in any way with her peaceable possession of the property in

WOULD BE A NICE PLACE.

Omaha Atter a Czar Had Renovated and Remodeled .t. "If I Were Czar of Omaha" was the ubiquitous subject discussed last night at The Club by Lawyer Ed H. Scott. The attendance of The Club, the members of which assembled at the Lininger Art gallery, was not large, but the speaker handled his subject in such a manner as to excite considerable interest and attention and subsehis introductory remarks Mr. Scott said if he were czar of Omaha he would annex Council Bluffs to the city, as no czardom was complete without a place for ban ishment. He would abolish the overhead electric wires, as that problem had been solved twenty years ago by European cities. He would have school houses erected in the center of blocks, in order that the school children would have a breatning spot and a place to romp and play upon. He would have all the streets like Farnam, as he admired the original plat of the city. He would have Omaha put aside its childish ways, because the town was twentyone years of age and should get down to more solid thoughts and ways. He would have something else besides hog statistics to show to the world. He would encourage art literature to go with these statistics. He would awaken the busi-ness men, for they were asleep, and letting a great stream of wealth from the large territory west of the city go through the city to Chicago. He would have a spirit of unanimity among them. He would be satisfied with locating a public library at some other point if the desired spot could not be obtained. He would have the street railways extended. He would have the poor derive some benefits from public corporations and monopolies He would have something better than the penitentiary and reform school for criminals and paupers. He would to a great degree rid the city of hotbeds of crime and its pestilence of disease.

He would abolish the tax on the man with small means, because it was a relie of barbarism, an absurdity, unjust. He would re-lieve the poor of taxation by adding a trilling tax to the ricl. He would have the city owning the water works, gas and electric lights, street railways and all public corporations, and this would not be socialism He would have a severe punishment for the brute of a teamster who overloaded his poor horses and inhumanly beat them be-cause the animals were incapable of carrying their burden. He would do away with the overhead check rein, and he would do innu-merable other things for the benefit and welfare of the people.

Each of these "what he would dos" was ably argued at length by Mr. Scott as he put them in a forcible and plausible sense, of the questions he admitted were diffic deal with, but he showed the needed reforms in a clear and concise manner.

At the conclusion of his remarks different members of the club, including Dean Gard-ner and G. W. Lininger and others, com-mented approvingly upon Mr. Scott's idea of what he would do if he were the czar o Omaha, after which the club adjourned until its fortnightly meeting.

COLONEL CONGER INTERVIEWED.

How the Next Republican Nomination for President Will Be M de. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 16.-Colonel Conger, member of the republican executive committee, in an interview today, speaking of the coming convention, said: "The committee proposes that the whole field shall be looked over and the strength of the various candidates carefully considered, then a decision will be made and the man will be named by acclamation by the convention. There will be no contest on the floor of the convention. There will be no attempt to pu down public sentiment, but the whole matter will be informally understood and acquiesced in by the delegates before the convention gets down to work." Regarding the letter of declination from Blaine, Colonel Conger said there was nothing in it. "There could be no reason why Blaine should write a letter now," he continued, "or wait until the nomination had been tendered him, and in that event, under the plan the committee proposes to work, he certainly could not decline; neither could Harrison or any other man who may be

AMERICAN SABBATH UNION.

Third Annual Convention in Session at Des Meines.

DISTINGUISHED CITIZENS

Members from All Portions of the United States Taking Part in the Exercises-Other Iowa News.

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 16. - Special Telegram to THE BEE.] - Shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon the third annual meeting of ties in the city. It surpasses all former years both in beauty and low prices. the American Sabbath School Union opened in the Central Presbyterian church. This is the national organization which was effected in 1888 at Washington, D. C. It is composed of delegates chosen and voluntary from the leading evangelical churches of this country. Its board of managers is composed of distinguished ministers from almost every large city and lay members chosen from the various churches. Two are bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church-Edward G. Andrews of New York and John F. Hurst of Washington, and Postmaster General Wanamaker. At this convention a third of the membership of the board will be elected. maker. The convention was called to order by Dr.

Johnston, pastor of the Central church, Johnston, pastor of the Central church, who extended a welcome to all and introduced Dr. H. H. George, president of Geneva college of Pennsylvania, who delivered an impressive invocation. The organization for business was effected with Colonel Elliott F. Shepard of New York in the chair, and working committees were appointed after working committees were appointed, after which reports of secretaries and state associations were heard. Among the notable men in the convention

Aroug the hotage men in the convention are T. A. Fernley, D.D., of Philadelphia; J. H. Knowles, D.D., of New York, general secretary and editor of the American Sabbath; Rev. J. H. Helwig, D.D., president of the Onto Sabbath association; A. K. Lamb of Madison, Wis.; A. G. Scott, the Nebraska World's fair commissioner; Dr. Charles A. Bianchard of Wheaton college, Iit.; J. P. Mille of Chleres

Mills of Chicago.

The secretary of the union for the sixth. seventh and eighth districts is Edward Thompson, LL.D., of San Francisco. Thompson, LL.D., of San Francisco.

The program for the evening was as follows: Devotional service, conducted by Rev. George S. Mott, D.D., president of the Sabbath Association of New Jersey: address of welcome, Rev. A. L. Frisbie, D.D., president of the Des Moines Ministerial association; response, Colonel Elliott F. Shepard of New York; address, Rev. Edward Thompson, D.D., of San Francisco; address, Rev. J. H. Knowles, D.D., of Newark, N. J.; address, "The Sunday Opening of the Columbian Exposition," Rev. Herrick Johnson, D.D., LL.D., Chicago, Ill. At the evening session Rev. S. Mott pre-sided. The address of welcome to the dele-gates was delivered by Dr. Frisbie of Des Moines. Colonel Shepard replied to it. He paid a high compliment to Iowa as a Sabbath observing and temperance state. Speaking of the work of the union, he said it was to restore the observance of the Sabbath. He said it was only one seventh of the time, and thank God that the majority of the people in the country still observe it.

"True it has its enemies," he said. "They commenced by breaking the Tenth commandment, by coveting the time not theirs, but God's. The nations that are most backward are those who disregard the Sabbath; those who are most advanced are those who observe it. "True, not all people in the Saubath observing countries keep it in its strictness but just in proportion as the number of a people observe the Sabbath, just in the proportion God prospers that people. One of the objects for which the union will labor is for the closing of the World's fair. While we are exhibiting our evidences of growth or prosperity we can well afford to exhibit evidence of our morality, which can be done in no better way than to the people of other countries the real American Sabbath." Dr. Herrick Johnson of Chicago spoke at length on the duty of the government to insist that this nation take no part in the dese cration of the American Sabbath. He argued the question at length, answering the arguments of those who favor opening the fair. Members of the Iowa Columbian commission were present and were called on for an expression on Sunday opening. Two of them voted for closing but the others refused to

IOWA'S FAIR COMMISSION,

Meeting Held in Des Moines to Ar range for a Building.

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 16 .- The World's fair commissioners held a session here today, The committe on plans for the Iowa building and to estimate the expenses of the Iowa exhibit, made a longthy report. Nine designs were submitted for the state building, the cost not to exceed $75,000, but the award is not to be made until the legislature passes an appropriation for the building. Mrs. Clark of Des Moines, member of the woman's board supmitted an outline for exhibit pro posed by women of the state; she said the women wanted at least $20,000 of the state appropriation. The live stock men asked for $50,000.

Other interests pressed their claims with equal vigor. Secretary Chase stated that the exhibition fever has caught Iowa and the demand for a large appropriation will be en-forced by public sentiment. The state has available for extraordinary appropriations for the next two years' only $300,000, this will not be sufficient and the fair commissioners will probably work for the restoraion of the $500,000 clause abolished by the last legislature.
