The speculation was professional from top to bottom, manipulation was painfully apparent and the movement of prices was far from being general, but was strictly confined to the different groups as they were successfully taken in hand. The public does not seem to have come in on the excitement. The act results of the week seem to prove that the great coal deal had spared the speculative public.

Strong Arguments of Senator Paddock in the Interest of Pure Food.

WHY THE BILL SHOULD BE PASSED

Numerous Communications Demanding Its Favorable Consideration Read in the Senate Chamber-All Classes Interested in the Proposed Legislation, WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BEE,)

513 FOURTEENTH STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C., March 4.

The floor of the senate was occupied for two hours this afternoon by Senator Paddock in an elaborate defense of his anti-adulteration or pure food bill. Senator Pacdock took up carefully one by one the objections urged against the measure and answered them fully. He demolished the arguments of the constitutional cranks by a review of previous legislation on similar lines. He read letter after letter from grange and alliance organ izations endorsing the bill and communication after communication from the most eminent experts in the country, who added their commendation to his work on behalf o both producers and consumers. Senator Paddock closed his speech with fine peroration, appearing to the senate to register the will of the people. He ap-peared to senators on behalf of public health, on behalf of public morals, in the interest of the great consuming masses, especially the poor, to enact this bill into a law. He warned the senate that there would, sooner or later unless the evil was remedied, be an uprising against the swindlers and cheats who are now robbing the public with apparent impunity. He called upon the body to take heed that when the people demanded bread it was not given a stone. Senator Paddock's speech was listened to with marked attention. May Close the Fair on Sunday.

Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota, chairman of the senate select committee on the quad o-centennial exposition, is opposed to opening the World's fair on Sunday. Of course it is within the bounds of probability that congreas i ay decide on the affirmative side, but the postibility is by no means a probability. Senat ir Pettlgrew says: "This is a Chris sanctity of the Sabbath must be preserved.
When we legislate in opposition to one of the commandments our title to Christianity will be difficult of maintenance. It is urged that an opportunity should be given the laboring men to visit the fair. That argument must apply to the laboring men of Chicago. They are members of organizations so strong that are members of organizations so strong that no establishment would refuse a request to grant its employes a holiday on which the great exposition might be visited. The economical point of view must not be overlooked since the issue has been raised and the question debated. I am satisfied that more people, two to one, will stay away from the fair if it is opened on Sunday than the additional people who would attend on Sunday.

Booming Hoies for President. Today Representative Walter Hayes returned from Iowa. This evening he said: "I am pretty certain that there will be a solid Boies delegation to the Chicago convention, and as far as I can learn from republicans they will send Harrison delegates to Minne-apolis. I don't think there is much prospect of the passage of the Gatch bill. I heard that there were three republicans in the senate who will vote for it, but there are more than three democrats who will vote against it Personally I am opposed to that bill. I places too many restrictions around the liquor dealer and will not accomplish any good purpose. The bond required is too high. No one but a rich man could engage high. No one but a rich man could engage in the business. If the traffic is to be legalized at all I do not see why it should not be put on a legal footing with other business. I favor just enough license fee to insure the payment of police expenses in looking after the proper enforcement of the laws. The Gatch bill would result, in my judgment, in preventing the sale of liquor under the license system because it would prevent men from going into the business owing to the financial exactions and restric-

Charitable Mr. Hill Exposed.

The adherents of Senator Hill are disposed to make a political point in his favor because of his action in drawing his pay as senator only from January 7, 1892, the day when he took the oath of office, up to the end of last month. This left standing to his credit on the books of the disbursing clerk of the sen-ate $4,921, his pay and mileage from March 4. 1891, during the period he was serving as governor of New York at a salary of $10,000 a year. The friends of Senator Hill are trying to create the impression that his failure to draw this back salary as senator will result in the balance to his credit being turned into the United States treasury. This is an utterly faise pretense, First Comptroller Matthews of the treasury said today that the balance undrawn of $4,221, now on the books of the senate to the credit of Mr. Hill would remain there to his credit and that in no way could it be turned into the treasury by Senator Hill's mere failure to draw it. Mr. Hill could at any time draw have an indisputable claim upon the United States treasury for that amount. This sim-ple statement from Comptroller Matthews thoroughly exposes the false pretenses of self-denial on the part of Senator Hill.

DUN'S REVIEW OF THE WEEK

Domestic Trade Gradually Improving and Taking on a Healthier Look.

SPRING'S BUSINESS OF GOOD PROMISE

Most of the Large Industries Show an Increasing Activity, and from Everywhere Favorable Reports Come-Clearing House Statements.

NEW YORK, March 4 .- R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: Domestic trade gradually improves, even at the south, where much of the troubles have been due to unwillingness of holders to sell cotton at low prices, rather than to actual loss in such sales. Supplies of money are everywhere ample. It is still the fact that the two dark spots are directly caused by overproduction. Cotton receipts this week have been light. Efforts to curtail the production this year appear to meet with some success. The only possible remedy for the trouble in the iron trade is to be applied, according to dispatches, by the closing of some of the furances. Current prices are called about the lowest on record. The rail combination still waits for buyers. The trouble in this industry is that too great and sudden expansion was expected. Copper is unchanged, tin weak and lead moderately active. The coal market continues uncertain, as the combination is not ready to act, but agents recommend an output of only 2,500,000 tons in March.

A better situation appears in textile manufactures, for cotton mills are well employed and trade in cotton goods improves all over the country, even at the south. In woolen mills and in sales of wool decided improvement is seen. Wool is lower, as holders grow anxious to sell before a new cilp comes. The spring trade in dress goods closes in good shape, while in men's woolens the right fabrics and colors to meet the taste sell rap-idly. More demand is noted for black chev-

In boots and shoes there is much more activity, though the many buyers at Boston still act with reserve and shipments are as yet 7 per cent behind last year's to date.

From the Centers of Trade. General trade at Boston has been curtailed by the storm, but increased orders are seen in nearly all lines.

At Philadelphia wholesale trade in dry goods is satisfactory, especially with the At Baltimore the grain export trade is the largest ever known.

All kinds of iron and steel are weakening at Pittsburg, manufactured and struc-tural being lower with a dull trade, and some puddling mills have closed, but glass is fairly active. Cleveland notes rolled iron active but weak, while improvement is seen in hard-ware, groceries and shoes, and the dry goods trade is good. The spring jobbing trade is fair at Cincin-nati and prespects are good and manufacturers more active than usual.

Detroit notes fair jobbing trade, some lines exceeding last year's. At Chicago considerable increase over last year is seen in general trade, and receipts of dressed beef are four times, of wheat three times, and of flour and oats double last year's, with increase of a third in rye and bariey, a quarter in corn and some in cattle and cured meats, but decrease in wool, hogs and sheep.

At Milwaukee wheat receipts are 2,000,000 bushels, against 600,000 last year; the flour output 177,000 barrels, against 125,000 last year, and the lumber trade good, with job-bing trade largely beyond last year's. At St. Paul the jobbing trade is 5 to 6 per cent greater than a year ago.

At Omaha trade is quiet,
At St. Louis trade is hindered by impassable country roads, though the spring outlook is very encouraging with the rapid move ment of the corn crop.

Kansas City reports increased sales over

Denver a fair trade.

Sait Lake reports a light business, with Sait Lake reports a light business, with reader won quite as much of the applause as slow collections. In the South.

At Memphis trade is improving and also at Montgomery, but at New Orleans the im provement is slight; cotton is wear, rice rather dull, but sugar in good demand. Speculation has not been at all active, and it may be fortunate that gold exports checked the rising fever in season. Wheal has declined balf a cent, with small sales the receipts for half the week being over 2,000,000 bushels, against only 575,000 bushels exported. Corn comes forward freely, receipts being 1,800,000 bushels in three days, but exports are heavy, 1,239,000 pushels in the same time, and the price

Pork products are a shade lower, but oil i quieter and coffee lower.

The business failures occurring through out the country during the past seven days number 240, as compared with 270 last week and 265 for the same week last year.

the rumors sufficed to create a sharp advance in Delaware & Hudson, with a corresponding demonstration in other coal stocks. When FLIGHT AFTER BEING SHOWN MERCY this movement slackened, for want of con-firmatory disclosures, the Vanderbilt group of shares developed great strength and gave support to the general market. He Had "Doctored" His Books and Spent Other People's Money-Given a Chance to Settle He Seeks Safety in Absence.

> When the clerks and bookkeepers in Mc-Cord & Brady's wholesale grocery house commenced work on last Monday morning one desk, which had been occupied steadily for ten years by H. J. Darrell, was vacant.

> The employes of the office paid no atten tion to the absence of their associate, and started about their usual duties, supposing that Darrell had been detained by illness. To the members of the firm, bowever, the absence of their trusted bookkeeper had a deep significance. A little quiet hustling on the firm's part resulted in the discovery that Darrell had suddenly left the city on the preceding Saturday night and that there was no > immediate prospect of his return. Then the books were looked into and some startling disclosures made. It was found that besides some financial troubles already known to the firm Darrell had doctored his books and managed to get away with quite a sum of cash.

The belief that current manifestations are the outcroppings of definite plans of the He Juggled Two Sets of Books. Darrell was a well known young man about greatest importance to the railroad and financial worlds continues to dominate the market. The strength of these influences is exhibited by the strikingly small effects of the continuance of gold ship. town and of late had been traveling a little fast. For about a year and a half he had been secretary of the Elks lodge and club. When the club disbanded on February 1 a small effects of the continuance of gold ship ments. The fact that London has appar board of three trustees was appointed to setthe up the affairs of the coucern. When the trustees took hold it didn't take them very long to find out that Mr. Darrell was short in ently suspended its bulling of our securities may, however, be regarded as an element in the indifference with which the further dehis accounts to the tune of about $400. As the committee went deeper into the books cline of specie was apparently regarded. Exchange has declined until selling rates are the amount grew larger, and a peremptory demand was made on Darrell by the trustees for an immediate settlement. for an immediate settlement. This the secretary could not give, and while admitting his shortage promised to fix the matter.

It happened that the Elks club was indebted to McCord, Brady & Co. for a considerable amount. This Darrelt thought was rather fortunate for him, so it is stated he agreed to cancel the bill of his firm to square himself with the clun and a little syneric. himself with the club and a little expert

This fact became known, however, to the proprietors and in a private conversation with Darrell he was given thirty days in which to find other employment. The notice was given only a day or two before he disappeared, and it was on this account that the books were overhauled immediately when Darrell failed to show up on Monday morn-him an interesting character wherever he may go, but repeated visits to Omaha have made his a familiar face and figure, and many Darrell has quite a history, and, by the way, Darrell isn't his real name. Some twelve or fourteen years ago he came to Omaha and applied for a position in Steele, Johnson & Co.'s office. He was a promising looking young man but could not give any looking young man, but could not give any references in this country, as he had only recently left England. Some English ref-erences were furnished and he was put to eral encores. It is equite immaterial what his subjects were. His talks had all the quaint, droll, satirical and ludicrous flavor work. In the course of two or three weeks the firm wrote to England inquiring about Darrell and received a couple of very flat-tering recommendations. A letter was also sent to the postmaster of the English village and his reply more than surprised the mem-bers of the firm, who had already began to like their new clerk.

This letter gave a minute description of him, but stated that he was not known there by that name, but another, which was given Going fully into the matter, the postmaster gave a lengthy history of the young man, which reflected anything but credit upon him, as his life seemed to have been made up of crocked transactions. Furthermore, the writer stated that Darrell was a defaulter and had been compelled to fly to a foreign land in order to escape a prison and punish-

Was Liked and Trusted Here. Shortly after the receipt of this last letter Darrell was bidden to the house of one of the members of the firm. He went and his em-ployer addressed him by his English name, The young bookkeeper was completely sur prised and stunned. After a moment's besi tation he broke down and confessed that the postmaster in his old English home had told the truth. He said that if given another trial he would brace up and lead an honest life. He was showed to remain for a time, but after that none of the company's cash was slowed to pass through his hands.

at a desk in McCord & Brady's house. Things went along all right for a time and Darrell was promoted rapidly. About two years ago be had a spell of sickness and W. H. McCord advanced him a sum of money which the gentleman in his burry to leav town forgot to pay.

At the Elks club the trustees declined to make any statement of Darrell's crookedness beyond saying that he was entirely devoid of character and that he did not know what it was to be honest with himself or anybody Though having an interesting family, Dar-rell has spent a great deal of his time lately in drinking and gambling places and houses of iti repute.

It is hardly probable that McCord, Brady & Co., who are the heaviest losers, will make any effort to have their ex-employe appre-
