THE CONDITION OF TRADE

Business in a Jobbing Way Shows an Increase Over Last Season.

THE EFFECTS OF ABUNDANT FARM CROPS

Cold and Wet Weather Has an Unfavorable Effect Upon Trade, Rendering Country Roads Impassable and Delaying Movement of Produce.

No one fully realizes the widespread influence exerted upon business by the weather until some change in the conditions renders that influence unfavorable. The past week or ten days there has been a good opportunity to study this subject fully. The cold and wet weather, in addition to making every one feel decidenly uncomfortable, has exerted a depressing influence upon almost every branch of trade.

Country roads have been rendered almost Impassable and as a natural sequence farmers have been kept at home and the country retail trade has suffered in their absence. An oversupply of rain and mud, accompanled by a scarcity of customers, is a combina-tion not calculated to induce the country merchant to place large orders for goods.

Accordingly decreased sales with a ten-dency to Gullness is the condition of the job-bing trade. The effects of the weather, howbing trade. The effects of the weather, however, do not end here. Farmers have been prevented from marketing their surplus produce by reason of the unfavorable condition of the roads and now the season has so far advanced that with the coming of good weather they will be occupied with putting in the spring crops.

The result will be that the marketing of the surplus of last year's core crops.

the surplus of last year's corn crop will be greatly delayed, and meanwhile the money tied up in that commodity will be unavaliable for trade purposes.

Looking at the subject from this point of view it is easy to believe that no very grea

Betivity in country retail circles can be an ticipated for some little time.

Grain men generally anticipate an in creased marketing of corn in June and July and if their expectations are realized a moractive demand for goods may be looked for at that time.

It must not be understood from this tha either the retail or jobbing trade is suffering any great depression. The most that can be said is that the demand for goods is not as active as it might be or as it doubtless would be under a little different circumstances.

When we come to compare the present with the trade of a year ago it is easy to realize that a big gain has been made. If splie of the bad weather with all its attend-ant disadvantages trade this month shows a decided gain over the corresponding month last year. Omaha jobbers are not complaining any, but on the contrary are generally very well satisfied, not only with ent conditions, but with the outlook for the future.

Results of Large Crops.

The popular idea is that the larger the crops of farm produce the better it is for trade, as the farmers will have more money to spend for goods of all kinds, luxuries as well as necessities. Hence it would follow that on years when large crops are harvested business must be more active and the de-mand for goods largely increased.

This is true in a general way, but as the term business has a very wide signifi-cance and covers a multitude of diverse interests it is not strange to find that there are some exceptions to the general rule.

Last year fruit was abundant and cheap in Nebraska, and it was largely utilized by the thrifty housekeepers of the state in fil-ing hundreds of thousands of glass cans. So great was the demand for fruit jars that dealers could not supply them fast enough, and the manufacturers were swamped with orders. As a natural consequence grocery jobbers have noted a less demand for all kinds of canned and dried fruits than would ordinarily have been anticipated during a prosperous season.

As another example we hear complaints As another example we hear complaints from the manufacturers of cereal goods, oat meal, pearl barley, hominy, etc. The jobbers find that their customers are not buying as freely of this class of goods as usual. A retail dealer from the western part of the state explained the reason the other day in this way: "When I left home I refused to pay 10c per bushel, in trade, for a load of as nue potatoes as you ever saw. Do you suppose that people will buy rolled cats and similar commodities when potatoes can be had at 10c

Other examples might be furnished of decreased trade in special lines, due to the abundance of farm products. As a general thing, however, what is lost in one line is made up in some other. What the farmer saves in groceries he is quite likely to put into dry goods, or some other cluss of goods, and if not he will use the money in paying off mortgages and thus place himself in shape to become a better customer in the

does not show as much improvement general way as interested parties would like to see. In certain lines and with certain dealers it is very fair, but retail trade as a whole lacks snap and consequently collec-tions are none too good.

This condition of business does not appear to be confined to Omaha alone, but is true in all the large western cities. In some it is even worse than in Omaha and from what can be learned from traveling men it would appear that Omaha is really better off in this respect than any other large western city. Business men of all classes realize that there is a very great necessity for business enterprises, such as manufacturing, that will give steady employment to more people. The city wants more consumers who will increase the demand for goods in a retail way and keep more money in circulation.

The conviction that Omaha's manufacturing interests must be broadened out is taking a stronger hold upon business men every day, and hence the growing desire to aid the building up of local industries by every means possible. Even retail merchants are coming to realize that the best way to create good paying customers is to encourage the local manufacturers who will give steady employment to labor. The great trouble just now is that so many business men confine their efforts toward building up manufacturing industries to talk sheep the corresponding week of April last year.

The cattle market the past week has been in the main very sat sfactory to the seiling interests, notwithstanding the fact that the supply has been over 8,000 heavier than last week. The supply at Chicago has been disappointingly light, and the market stronger there. This led to increased buying by shippers and exporters and of course the dressed beef buyers had to keep up with the procession. Up to Saturday the advance on beef and shipping steers was from the to Sec. but the unusually heavy run Saturday caused a be to lie decline. Prices are still anywhere from 15c to 40c higher than last week. There has been no material change in butcher stock values and stockers and feeders are in fair supply and demand at substantially last week's quotations.

An increase in the supply of hors was more

An increase in the supply of hozs was more reduced shipping, demand and prices have declined from 20c to 25c on all grades. Light and butcher weight hogs still continue to command a premium of from a shade to be over heavy hozs, but the quality of the offerlogs running very even, the range continues narrow, never exceeding 25c and generally around 15c or 20c.

Sheep are quotably from 10c to 15c higher than last week, but too few have been reserved to test the real strength of the market.
Everything effered has met with a ready sale and the demand was never more pressing than at present.

Everything offered has net with a ready sale and the stemand was never more pressing than at present.

The week closes with a run of 258 cars, 5,362 head, the largest receipts this year. Chicago was reported firmer and with a good shipping and export demand the market opened very nearly steady on good heavy cattle, but soon eased off, and quotations were be to 1 c lower. On common light and medium weight stuff the market was slow and lower from the start, the decline being anywhere from 5c to 15c. Considering the heavy run and the fact that it was a declining market business was tolerably active and very little remained unsoldin first hands. Dealers generally were looking for a break the early part of next week and were willing to let go at a reasonable price. Good to choice 1,250 to 1,00-1b, steers sold from $6.80 to $1.30, fair to good 1,000 to 1,300-1b, steers from $6.80 to $1.30, fair to good 1,000 to 1,300-1b, steers from that on down to $5.00.

But a comparatively small proportion of the offerings were cows and mixed stock. Trading was active at ateady prices, sales being from $1.25 to $1.15 with the bulk around $2.15 to $2.75. Buils, onen and stags were firm at from $1.50 to $4.30 for inferior to prime stuff.

The trading in stockers and feeders was somewhat limited, but there was a good undertone to the market and no weakness was developed. Regular dealers have quite a few on hand and bought freely with the belief that the prevailing pleasant weather will bring out a good line of country buyers and advance prices next week, Representative sales:

Traders Carried the Proposition for a Revival of the System by a Slight Ma-Jority-Not Much Interest Was Manifested.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 23.-Balloting on the quotation question seemed to interest more people on 'change today than the quotations themselves. The fact that Pardridge was making a very much one-sided market drove many members to the voting tables to cast a ballot "for" the revival of a general distribution of market figures. The members not only voted at the tables, but stayed there to influence others. The proposition carried-589 to 433.

Tonight, compared with last evening, wheat was 4e lower, corn 4c, oats 4c, and pork 74c, with lard and ribs unchanged. The chief bearish influence was the bright and warmer weather over most of the country, giving a better outlook not only for the winter grain but seeding operations, and largely discounting Prime's crop review, which was quite loomy. Opening prices were 4c underlast evening's opening prices were 4c underlast evening a and there was a decline of 4c more, then a raily of 4c and minor fluctuations to the close, which was steady. Many of the blz buyers of yesterday were free sellers today. Logan was perhaps the most prominent of this class, and much of the big line he took yesterday on the bad weather scare was put again. Pardridge, who was a free seller of July yesterday, covered a good deal on the break today.

ngain. Pardridge, who was a free sciler of July yesterday, covered a good deal on the break today.

The corn trade felt the effect of the fine weather and a little better movement. The receipts were 70 cars more than estimated, reaching 230 cars. The market was very dull, except at rare intervals. The opening prices were from 35c to 15c below last night's figures. Moderate offerings carried the quotation off a fraction more, after which there was a rally of 15c, succeeded by a decilier of 3c, with a subsequent weakening of 3c.

The feature in oats was the buying of Mav and selling of June and July by a large operator. The initial trades were at from 15c to 3c. The trade in provisions was about as yesterday and the week—the liquidation of long lines of barreled pork and steadiness in lard and ribs.

Business was alight and fluctuations narrow. There was a stronger tone to take freights and rates advanced 15c to 13c for wheat and There was a stronger tone to take freight-and rates advanced be to Pic for wheat and Traders' Talk.

CHIOAGO. III. April 23.—F. G. Logan & Co. to Duncan. Hollinger & Co.: We have had a dull and uninteresting wheat market today. Trade was light and fluctuations narrow May opened at $3.5c and closed at $9.5c. July selling from $\frac{1}{2}c$ to $\frac{1}{2}c$ under. The trading is now largely in July and we expect that from this forward it will be in that month unless in settlement. In our opinion it will be to the interest of our friends to get out of May into July. The former munth is difficult to trade in now. The growing crop in California reported today as disappointing in appearance. There is considerable talk of damage to the winter wheat plant in this state and Missouri. We think it too early in the season to have any serious day age. The latest from Dakota is a late seeding and the lant still under water. The cash demand here continues, but the difficulty to buy cash wheat still exists, which restricts business. A quiet day in the corn pit. The present holders are willing sellers at anything over 42s for May. The fluctuations have been from 41\(\frac{1}{2}c\) to 42c. Fine weather will have a depressing influence and especially for the July option. Not much doing in oats. We look for them to sell lower. The business in hog products was light. The only feature was the selling of about 15.00 barrels of July pork by a local operator. The buyers of it were scattered, the packing interest taking most all of it. July pork closed at $9.52; lard, $25; ribs, $5.65.

Chicago, lin. April 21.—Kennett, Hopkins & Co. to S. A. McWhorter: The fact that foreign markets did not respond to an advance yesterday, aided by fine seeding weather, has given us a heavy market today. Possibly it would have been from traders to open fresh trades of Saturday. The market shows no clear would have been a weak one from the general reluctance of room traders to open fresh trades on Saturday. The market shows no clear indication of a wide move in either direction. The situation is apparently bearish, but there is one fact that may have considerable influence, namely the large and continuous engagements for export. Should they keen up for some time at the current rate and cicarances increase proportionately, prices would be likely to go higher, but alleged engagements for exports via outports are regarded with suspicion by the trade, for experience has shown they are sometimes resoid and the transactions are no different from ordinary speculation. Some interest has been the trade, for experience has shown they are sometimes resold and the transactions are no different from ordinary speculation. Some interest has been taken in the sharp advance of cash wheat in New York today, as it has drawnattention to the report that but elight ears out of 240. No. 2 Chicago, were found good enough to fill contracts in the former city. It is believed that this will tend to depress Chicago wheat, and correspondingly enhance value of No. 1 northern. The next visible supply statement will probably show a large reduction as the reports have been larger, receipts at primary markets smaller and a part of the shipments by lake will disappear altogether. For example, Eric and Sandusky have received 700,000 bushels of grain and neither port is included in the visible supply report. May corn held steadily most of the session around 47c, traders assuming that the clique would absorb all offerings at that price. This impression proving unfounded there was a quick drop of 4cf on a show of realizing, but the decline was quickly checked when the clique brokers seemed to support the market. Oats were rather easier but no features of interest. Provisions have been a little weak. The feeling is quito bearish on pork but lard and ribs have a good many trends, although they are not at present predicting much better prices.

Chicago, Ill., April 21.—Counselman & Day to Cockreil Brothers: Wheat was quiet today, and, inasmuch as the whole meteorological circuit showed a marked improvement in weather conditions, the trade looked for lower prices, and some selling of long wheat resulted. The position of cash wheat, however, is growing stronger, and the already large short interest is against much further decline. Corn was depressed by the principal ho, ders, who marked prices down gradually without losing much corn in the process. Their object seems to be to discourage a large accumulation of stock, and to make it unprofitable to kim dry the lower grade. Oats were lower on warmer bright weather and selling by the lo

STOCKS AND BONDS,

Traders Were Only Prepared to Do a Mod. erate Business. NEW YORK. April 23.-The stock market to day was moderately active, but being under the nummer for most of the session was weak almost throughout, and while the limited nature of the speculation prevented any heavy declines or wide fluctuations, the losses were material in all the leading shares. The coal stocks were inclined to advance during the early portion of the day. The purchases for Philadelphia were marked, though as that center was so lately a seller it is probable that the demand was to cover shorts exclusively. The effect, howcent, and to some extent the list felt the in-fluence. The room, however, was still bearfluence. The room, however, was still lear-ishly inclined and the published utterances of representatives of one of the largest for-eign banking houses to the effect that the movement of gold outward would probably continue for some time from this out, supple-mented by further advance in exchange rates, encouraged the traders to attack the list, which they did with v.gor and unusual impartiality, and under the pressure every-thing yielded. Reading, St. Paul, Northern Pacific, Atchison and New England were the active stocks but they moved with the rest of the list and the losses were uniform. The usual raily at the close falled to come, notwithstanding the bank statement which showed a large gain in the cash and increase in the surples reserve of $3,000,000. There were no special features and the coal stocks cave way with the rest in the late dealings. The market finally closed active and weak at the lowest price of the day. The final changes are all losses and they extend to 1 per cent in Jersey, Lake Shore and Northern Pacific preferred.

Financial Review.

New York, April 22.—The Post says: The break in the stock market during the seconhour was based wholly on today's advance 1 sterling exchange. An advance in sterling rates on Saturday is an unusual occurrence and the advance was so promptly utilized by the bears in the stock market that the whole market is open to suspicion. There is no supply bills on the market and if there were would be fully as cheap for a speculative broker to borrow on them as to borrow on the time money market. More than this an aggressive bidder is so rare a sight in a Saturday's exchange market that he is certain take the bankers by surprise. Manipulation under such condition becomes even mor simple than the familiar bidding up of stock in holiday seasons.

LONDON, April 23.—I New York Herald Cabl—Special to The Bee.!—The principal event:
the Stock exchange is the announcement of the Mew Indian 3 per cent sterling loan for the Stock exchange is the announcement of $1.30,000. It has been freely dealt in at 19 per cent premium. Old issues are unchanged Indian rupee paper has given way $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. Consols are a shade easier for the account General business has been almost at a stand still. The house has been very thinly attended. Home railways close with some rregularity. Passenger lines were favorably influenced by the fine weather. Brighton deferred leave off only $\frac{3}{2}$ per cent. A small improvement is established in Great West ern. Metropolitan and Northeaster while Great Northern. Hull. Barns ley and North British preferre are slightly lower. American railways have been most in active. The principal movement is a fall of $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent in Atchison incombonds. Canadian lines have been quite nealected and are a shade easier. Foreign railways have been very little dealt in and sho no particular alteration. There has bee very little inquiry for money today. Shor [Copyrighted 1892 by James Gordon Bennett.] ways have been very little ucast in and son oparticular alteration. There has be very little inquiry for money today. Sho loans have been easily obtained at ½ p cent. The discount market has also bequiet. Two and three months bills are quot at from 1 to 1½ ner cent. at from 1 to 1% per cent.

QUAINT AND CURIOUS.

No bank failure has occurred in China for 900 years. For a failure the officers must lose their heads.

Ruin has fallen there only twice in twenty-nine years. Previous to the last rain, which occurred in 1888, there was a perion of dry weather which lasted twenty-six years. The famed Kohinoor, which has been cut twice, says a South African diamond digger now in this country, is a small one compared with many others. He adds: "The most seen was the one found at Kimberly by a life the American named Porter Rhodes. I paid £5 just to look at it. The sight was a liberal education for a diamond expert. He afterwards sold it to the countess of Dudley for $500,000.1

During the recent cyclone in Kansas a cow was lifted from the ground, carried to the top of a hose and deposited on the angle of the roof, where she could neither fall nor be taken down. So they had to go up on the roof and kill her.

Whos Grant Allen in his story of "The Devil's Die" described his heroes as finding a wrock in midocean swarming with rats the critics said it could not be. The wreckers who went aboard the Gottenburg Castle off St. Mary's isle, recently, had just that experience. But the critics have no doubt for-gotten all about the matter by this time.

The Jewish scholar, M. Halevy, has compiled from the cuneiform tablets discovered at El Amura, an account of an Egyptian governor of Jerusalem under Ameuophis IV., at El Amura, an account of an Egyptian governor of Jerusalem under Amenophis IV., 1.500 years before the Christian era. At that time Palestine was in a very disturbed state, overrun by the Babylonian hordes and misgoverned by the local satraps. At this early period Jerusalem was a populous city, and contained a temple consecrated to the god, Adar. The bureau of the royal archives was under the discattles of a moment. under the direction of a woman
