MET IN COLLISION.

Rock Island and Union Pacific Trains Wrecked at South Omaha.

At 4:30 yesterday afternoon there occurred a disastrous wreck east of Swift's packing house and about I block south of the Q street viaduct. The wreck occurred at the switch of the Rock Island company and was caused by a Rock Island passenger train and the Union Pacific fast mail, both east bound, coming together with a terrible crash. Luck-liy no one was injured, the crews jumping and the four or five passengers on the Rock Island train escaping with a general shak-

The cause of the trains coming together is not easily explained. Where the collision oc-curred a switch connects the Rock Island tracks with the main line of the Union Pa-cific, over which the former company runs its trains into Omaha. Both trains were late, and neither crew expected a train on the other road. The Union Pacific has a flagman located at the switch and when he beheld both trains coming he attempted to flag the mail train, but it was too late, and on they sped, coming together with a crash which was heard for several blocks away.

The fast mail was running at a rapid rate of speed, and the engine struck the Rock Island locomotive with a terrible force, rais-Island locomotive with a terrible localing it ing the latter from the trucks and sending it over on its left side, a complete wreck. Union Pacific engine was badly damaged, the cowcatcher and headlight being knocked off, and the four front wheels, left the track The baggage car of the Rock Island train suffered considerable damage, the front wheels and trucks being loosened, and the Car stood toppled over to one side.

The front mail car of the Union Pacific train was also slightly damaged.

The fast mail was drawn by Union Pacific engine 831, with Engineer Byers in the cab and Conductor Keene in charge. The train consisted of one baggage and three mail cars. When Engineer Byers saw his train signailed by the flagman he reversed his engine and applied the brakes, but it was too late and both he and his fireman jumped before the collision occurred and escaped unburt. A few minutes after the collision occurred a switch engine arrived and took the three mail cars not damaged on to Omaha, causing but a slight delay.

The Rock Island train consisted of a pag gage car, one chair car and three sleepers drawn by engine No. 452, with Engineer Mc Steen in the cab and Conductor Moran is charge. The engineer and fireman jumpe and escaped unburt. This train was running as a special, the regular train having been aban loned, and was to have left Council Bluffs for Chicago as No. 6.

Damage at South Omaha.

The heavy rains of Monday night and yesterday did a great deal of damage in South Omaha. The water-soaked embank ment in the rear of the Germania hall build ing caved in and the weight proved too much for the east wall of that structure.

which gave way.

At hose house No. 1, Twenty-fourth and M streets, a high embankment caved in on the north side of that building, which is a frame one, and the building came near collapsing by reason of the great weight against the wall. The wall gave way in one place and the whole building looked as if it had passed through a Kansas evelone.

Several cellars were badly flooded, the worst being the basement under Wordeman's saloon and Walker & Vincent's greery store at Twenty-fifth and M streets. The basement of the Drovers Journal was covered with about two feet of water, and as their pressroom is located there they experienced a considerable delay in the issuance of their paper. A number of other cellars had water in them, but no great amount of damage was

HUNTING WELLMAN'S MURDERERS.

Recent Discoveries May Lead to Their

Douglas, Wyo., May 17.-|Special Telegram to The Bes. |-From a gentieman who arrived from Buffalo today, who is in business there and who refuses to allow his name to be used, comes very important inman murder. When Sheriff Angus returned with the body of George Wellman, he reported that he could find no evidence of an ambush. The ground was moist from recent rains and would show the footprint of man or beast plainly and he said that a most thorough search failed to show any other signs than those of the animals rode by Wellman and Hathaway.

This is the only statement over wired from Buffalo, and in consequence the popular belief has been that Hathaway committed the murder and that the crime should not be charged to the rustiers. The facts are that Wellman was shot from ambush by two men concealed in a small guich or washout about 100 feet from the road. One of Augus' deputies named Smith left Buffalo with the posse at the same time Augus started. He returned after an absence of two days and the story of himself and men leaves no room for doubt as to the manner in which Wellman met his death, They found the tracks of three horses leading up the guich and when within half a mile of the scene of the tragedy the riders had dismounted, leaving one man to care for the horses. The other two had walked up to within 100 feet other two had walked up to within 100 feet of the road and there lossurely awaited the arrival of their victim, smoking eigarettes meanwhile to while away the time as evidenced by the half burned stubs found

When Wellman passed the assassins shot horses were, one of the murderers walked over to where Wellman lay and appropriated the pistol which the dead man carried. Hathaway seems to have had very little fear of assassination, for he stopped the horses within 300 yards of the scene of the shooting.

The clearly defined foot prints of horses and men in soft ground told this story as plainly as do the type, and with no possibility of mistake. An empty cartridge for a 40-calibre Winchester was found where the assassins awaited their victim and they could easily have shot Hathaway while he was changing animals had they wished. The deputy and posse set out on the plain trail of the murderers and followed it about twenty miles into the head of Nine Mile creek, but lost it in the rocks. This information is thoroughly reliable. formation is thoroughly reliable.

They Indulge in a War of Words Over Irish

Affairs. Dublin, May 17 .- A meeting of the Freeman's Journal shareholders has been held to arrange the directorate. The announcement that Archbishop Walsh had sent proxies for 8,000 votes called forth a vigorous protest from John Dillon. He had never heard of anything more indiscreet or that was better calculated to do injury to the national cause than this action of Archbishop Waish. It was a deliberate threat to coerce sharenoiders. He had means of knowing that there were dangers shead to meet, and that the introduction of the priestly element would be a serious blow. Mr. Dillon said he spoke with the full authority of the Mcc'arthrite committee and party and be challenged the legality of the prexies.

Mr. Healy opposed Mr. Dillon's motion to adjourn for a fortnight. He admitted that it was wrong to wash dirty linen in public, but he said Mr. Dillon had attacked him publicated.

Mr. Dillon challenged Mr. Heavy to hold a meeting to see if the McCarthy committee had lost the confidence of the party. Mr. Healy retorted that he did not set himself up as a leader as Mr. Dillon did. The latter accused Mr. Healy of desiring to lead ithout assuming responsibility.

Denver or Fort Wayne, CHICAGO, III., May 17.- | Special Telegram to The Bee. | - The Western league adjourned tonight after a tiresome session without ac complishing its object, which was to select i eity to which the St. Paul franchise is to be given. Grand Rapids, Den-ver and Fort Wayne were the lead-ing applicants, but as the answers to the conditions telegraphed to Grand Rapids and Denver were not satisfactory, the mut-ter was left in the hands of President Williams to adjust. If satisfactory terms can be made with Denver, that city will be given the ciub because of its advantage in size over Fort Wayne, which is more accessible. If negotiations with Denver fall through Fort Wayne will get the prize.

Just before the first race what promised to be a fierce storm began and for an hour the rain pured in torrents and the wind blow a gale.
