The Fifth ward contest case is still the leading attraction at the superior court room.

The most interesting thing about yesterday's proceedings was the testimony of George H.

Acker, who was one of the republican judges of election in the Fifth ward, although those who looked for anything sensational in his testimony must have been disappointed. He explained the method of counting the baltots that was adopted by the judges and clerks, giving a full description of the room where the voting took place. He counted the votes himself and then handed them to Hensel, the democratic judge. He stated that there was a humber of republican tickets in the box on which the name of C. A. Tibbitts appeared as candi-date for alderman, but as Tibbitts was run-ning in the Second ward all votes which had peen cast for him were counted as blanks, by greement of the judges. On cross-examination he admitted that on ced between them and the number of names in the pollbook, one man and possibly two having voted whose names had not been put down through an error of the clerks.

A. M. Burcham, one of the cierks, in the Fifth ward election, was put upon the stand and corroborated Acker's statements as to the wave in which Tibitts' votes were counted. A strong effort was made by Ar-torney W. H. Ware for the prosecution to tangle Mr. Burcham up, but without success. The case will be resumed this morning at 10 scribers de nurred and their refusal to pay resulted in the bringing of a dozen or more suits to collect their subscriptions.

On the motion o the attorneys for the defense the case was taken from the jury and a vordict rendered in favor of the d-fendant for the costs of the case. The ground for this proceeding, as stated by the court, was that this was a vol intery donation, depending upon a specific consideration; as the road was not completed n the time agreed upon he held that the agreement was without consideration, and that the subscription could not therefore be ollected. All the similar cases which have been tried have resulted in a victory for the company, but have been appealed to the su-preme court. The points raised in the pres-

Draining Off the Flood. City Engineer Cook spent a good share of yesterday morning with his assistants in wading about over the flooded district in the northwestern part of the city, making the surveys ordered by the city council preparatory to making arrangements for draining off the surplus water. He found on making the survey that his theory was correct, and another council meeting was held in the afternoon to hear his report. The council gave him instructions to proceed with the work by making a system of ditches con-necting with the Thirteenth street sewer ig along Seventeenth and Twenty-sev eath streets and finally emptying into Spe lake. The motor company will be ordered to build a cuivert under its tracks at the intersection of Avenue A and Seventeenth street The work will be done at once, and the resi-dents of the inundated territory will have a chance to see what the ground looks like once more.
