KNOCKED THE OLD MAN DOWN

Parties to a Law Suit Come to Blows in the Court Corridor.

USED A CRUTCH ON HIS UNCLE'S HEAD

Councilman Tuttle Acquitted on the Charge of Being Interested in a City Contract--Other Cases in Court.

The people who lingered about the corridors of the court room in Fitz Ben building were witnesses to a case that was not on the docket, and one that for a few brief moments made things exceedingly lively.

The general docket there is a case bearing the title of John D. Thomas against John P. Thomas. The plaintiff is an old man, while the defendant is a young man. Besides the fact that the plaintiff is the uncle of the defendant, who is a cripple and walks by the aid of a pair of crutches.

As the story goes the old man enjoys law suits, and for years and years his name has appeared upon the court docket, either as plaintiff or defendant. During all of this time he has been possessed of considerable property, and to place it beyond the reach of creditors some time ago decided to do this. The nephew was willing to divy with his uncle, but thought that he ought to have something to compensate him for playing that he was a rich man.

Then the elder Thomas brought suit to compel the younger Thomas to relinquish his right and title to the property.

Yesterday the two men met in the corridor just outside Judge Scott's court room and some hot words followed. The case on trial was the state against Thomas F. Tuttle, member of the city council, representing the Fourth ward. When the grand jury met last winter an indictment was returned in which Tuttle was charged with having been interested in a contract on the city when the first count in the indictment charges that on August 11, 1891, when a member of the council, he was also a stockholder in the contract with the plaintiff company that was awarded the contract for furnishing plaster that was used on the walls of the city hall building. The second count in the indictment charges that through the instrumentality of Tuttle, his company secured the contract referred to.

After being out for ten minutes the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

Verdicts Returned.

For a number of days the case of Thomas Price against C. P. Treat has been on trial in Judge Ferguson's court. Treat was the general contractor when the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley was grading into the Black Hills. Price was the sub-contractor, and in the settlement of the contract, Treat agreed. Price claimed that there was something like $30,000 his due, while Treat denied owing that or any other amount. Last night the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff the sum of $10,373, with nearly three years' interest.

In Judge Keyser's court, in the case of Braucher, Smith & Co. of Chicago against the Western Printing company, the jury returned a verdict of $1,317 for the plaintiff. The claim was for a bill of goods purchased.

Other Court Doings.

Tom Roach, accused of having entered the store owned by Andrew Lingquist on the night of April 2 and stolen therefrom goods of the value of $6, was arraigned before Judge Davis and pleaded not guilty.

A verdict has been returned in the case of Caroline Follman against the city of Omaha. The case was tried before Judge Scott and the plaintiff secured a judgment for $500. The plaintiff, an aged lady, some months ago was walking along Dodge street, when Mr. E. J. Elcherson fell through a hole in a defective sidewalk and broke her leg. A $5,000 damage suit was at once commenced.

In the case of E. L. Van Etten against Edward F. Test, the jury returned a verdict finding for the defendant. Both parties claimed the title to seven feet of ground in the vicinity of Twenty-sixth and Harney streets.

The troubles attending Cushman & Young in their South Omaha saloons will be decided by the creditors and the petitioners aver that they have skipped the town. The James Walsh Mercantile company sues $100.35 and J. D. Her would like $500 that he advanced to assist the men in procuring their license.

Corrit S. Gould, a boy charged with his wife's case, is charged with desertion from his bed and board.

Federal Court Doings.

Almond A. Vincent was arraigned in the federal court for passing counterfeit money and for having the same in his possession. He pleaded not guilty to either count.

Albert Andrews, a boy charged with stealing a letter from the mails, withdrew his plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty as charged in the indictment.

Jerome Patten pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery and was fined $1 and sentenced to remain in the custody of the marshal until Saturday.

Joseph A. Berlein was arraigned and pleaded not guilty of selling liquor to an Indian.

John Towns took the opposite course and pleaded guilty to a similar charge. The judge disapproved of such conduct to the amount of $25, and John will tarry with Marshal Slaughter until May 23.

A case is now pending in the state court at Lincoln for attempting to blackmail Banker Outcault of the capital city. It was arranged on another feature of the same transaction. He was charged with using the mails with the intent to defraud, and pleaded not guilty.

DAVIS "DUKED."

But the Police Have Him Now for Impersonating an Officer.

A well known young lawyer had business with a client in the city at Fifteenth and Capitol avenue. While talking with his client, a young woman, J. Davis, the B. & M. yardmaster, came to the door and stated that he was a policeman in disguise. "I can't help that," said the lawyer, "but what do you want here?" "I want you, young fellow, so come along."

The attorney went but when they reached the patrol box his captor intimated that the prisoner might "duke" if he felt that way. Davis, however, was willing to answer the charge of impersonating an officer. Davis says he must have been in a trance and is only surprised that he did not impersonate a Methodist pastor.

Mr. A. B. Laforme, Boston, Mass., says: I ordered and distributed one dozen large bottles of Bradys' Brandy among my friends afflicted with headache, and in every case it has afforded almost instantaneous relief.

CLOSED IN GLORY.

Second Annual Convolve of the Tabernan Knights and Daughters. Ended.

The celebration of the second annual session of the International Order of Twelve of the Knights and Daughters of Labor came to a close last night. They were in session three days. The grand temple and tabernacle was presided over by Sir Frank Wilson of Kansas City, Kan.

The annual sermon of the convolve was delivered by Rev. J. W. Hill of St. Louis. The sermon was large and the sermon was an exceedingly interesting one, outlining the achievements of the order. Rev. L. M. Hagood of Bowling Green, Ky., also delivered an address which was received with much approval.

Yesterday was memorial day and it was celebrated with considerable pride and pomp. The knights and daughters in the afternoon assembled at Tabernan Hall on South Tenth street and formed a procession in carriages and gave a street parade, which was distinguished by its creditable showing.

The procession arrived at Washington hall at 5 o'clock, at which time a prize drill took place between the first and second divisions of cadets under command of Sir J. E. Brown, I. D. G. M. The grand drill took place at the same hall last night at 10 o'clock. The Palatine Guards of the Royal House of Meida, the cadets and visiting members the contestants.

The installation of officers also took place in the evening. Frank Wilson, chief grand mentor, and founder of the order, delivered the charge. Queen Mother Halsey represented the tents in fine needle and art work. Priestess Martha Buckner of the Golden Sheaf tabernacle presented to the tabernacle a fine patchwork quilt which was sold at auction. The twelve tribes of Israel, including Ham, Simeon, Judah and Joseph, were represented.

The colored people of Nebraska and Kansas are very highly pleased with the success of their second annual convolve, and the local members of the order have received considerable credit for getting the convolve here and the highly satisfactory manner in which they conducted it.

Following are the officers installed: Chief grand mentor, Frank Wilson, Kansas City, Kan.; vice grand mentor, John L. Wright, Lincoln; chief grand preceptor, Silva E. Robinson, Kansas City, Kan.; vice grand preceptor, Annie McMillan, Lawrence, Kan.; chief grand scribe, A. W. Hopkins, Leavenworth; chief grand recorder, Ella D. Smith, Kansas City, Kan.; chief grand queen mother, Emma Garner, Topeka; chief grand treasurer, J. E. Bruce, Omaha; chief grand orator, J. H. Wilson, Omaha; chief grand priestess, Mary E. Washington, Lincoln; chief inzer St. sentinel, Frances Miles, Omaha; chief grand judge, Annie Howard, Topeka; Sarah Williams, Lincoln; Joseph Alexander, Lawrence, Kan.; Mattie Carter, Ottawa, Kan.

THE COMPETITIVE DRILL.

Time for Closing the List of Entries Extended a Month.

Nearly all the crack military companies of the United States have entered for prizes and military honors in the national encampment which opens here June 13. For their recommendation it has been found necessary to rent 1,000 extra tents from Kansas City. These will be placed on the grounds Saturday, June 11.

Among the late entries is the Dodge Light Guards of Council Bluffs, under command of Lieutenant John C. Dixon. They have entered for the championship in the Maiden class.

Through Senator Manderson the national association has made a request to the secretary of war for the detail of three army officers of suitable rank--two of the infantry and one of the artillery--to act as judges of the drill.

Senator Manderson has just written Secretary J. E. Aitchison that he would use his most persistent endeavors to have the officers detailed by the War department.

The old fair grounds, in which the encampment will be held, will be improved and enlarged. Work on the extension and the improvement of the grounds will commence the first of next week.

On account of the delay occasioned by the railway association in making their reduced schedules of rates for the encampment, the officers of the drill association have concluded to hold their entries open until June 1, at which time they will close, instead of May 1 as originally contemplated.

At meeting of the local executive committee A. L. Reed was substituted as a member in place of George H. Boggs, who has resigned as he will be absent from the city for some time. The committee also fixed the following rates of admission: Single tickets, 50 cents; children under 10 years, free; children over 15 years, 25 cents; season tickets, eight admissions, $2.50; carriages 25 cents additional; grand stand 25 cents.

Rev. James H. Corbin, pastor M. E. church, Wilson, N. C., says: I have used Bradys' Brandy and never in a single instance failed to obtain immediate relief from headache when directions were followed.

The Abruptness of Death.

"I find no fault with death but its abruptness," was the expression of an English literary celebrity. Truly there's the rub. However men may come to look upon death, whether as a perpetual peace or an angel of flight which will conduct to a land of eternal beatitudes, that element remains to disturb the serenity of the faith. Man is always in the midst of some incomplete task; the dependent ones are ever clinging to his providence. These conditions, like an enchanter's wand, perpetually invoke the remembrance that death is liable to appear abruptly at any moment, to take him from his unfinished work and from those who still need his fostering care. What wonder then that an otherwise complacent contemplation of the change from mortality to immortality should be disturbed by the consciousness of this "abruptness." If there is anything that can mitigate this unsatisfactory sense of the unavoidable and bring the mind into a state of repose it must be life insurance, for the insured knows that whatever else death may be able to steal of his life work, his policy makes sure that his providence for his family will not be found in the sad category.

Having a High Old Time.

W. G. Doorn, a real estate man, has a wife out of town and has had for the last three weeks, during which time he has been having his fling. The "fling" has landed him in the police cells, a swollen, disheveled, miserable wreck with one shaking foot over his eternal resting place.

Doom was taken in for his own protection and attended by the city physician, who is of the opinion that with a little more rope the victim would "fling" himself into eternity. He has allowed his home to degenerate into a cheerless barn and his horses starved in the stable until the neighbors discovered their condition and cared for them.

HE REVEALED IN BLOODSHED.

Four Women in Denison, Tex., Murdered by an Unknown Assassin.

DENISON, Tex., May 19.—Tuesday night was a night of horror in Denison. Between 11 o'clock and 3:30 a. m. an assassin unknown brutally and premeditatedly shot and killed four women, two of them leaders of local society and two inmates of disreputable houses.

The first victim was Mrs. Haynes, the wife of Dr. Henry P. Haynes, one of Denison's most respected citizens, prominent in business and social life. Mrs. Haynes, a young and very attractive woman, was assassinated while alone in her home, or else taken forcibly from it and put to death by her captor.

The second victim was Mrs. Hawley, the wife of Dr. Henry P. Haynes, one of Denison's most respected citizens, prominent in business and social life. Mrs. Hawley, a young and very attractive woman, was assassinated while alone in her home, or else taken forcibly from it and put to death by her captor.

Five hours later, in the very heart of the city, a beautiful young lady, Miss Teen Hawley, was also shot and killed by some unknown person. Miss Hawley was killed near her home, where she was sitting on the front porch through a window, killing Maude Kramer.

After this he passed to the next street, where he mortally wounded Rose Stewart, who was about to retire to her room at Mrs. Williams'. This fatal shot was fired from the sidewalk, the ball entering beneath the right arm.

The assassin then directed his steps to the baggage of Mrs. Divers, where he fired from the front porch through a window, killing Maude Kramer.

After this he passed to the next street, where he mortally wounded Rose Stewart, who was about to retire to her room at Mrs. Williams'. This fatal shot was fired from the sidewalk, the ball entering beneath the right arm.

These four foul murders have created intense excitement, which is increased by the fact that there is as yet no clue to the criminal. Hundreds of armed men are searching for the murderer. Bloodhounds have been brought into service, but so far without success. Several arrests of suspects have been made, but the guilty man is believed to be still at large.

WILL HELP RAPID CITY.

Proposed Plan by Which South Dakota Railroad Facilities Will Be Increased.

RAPID CITY, S. D., May 19.—[Special to THE BEE.]—By telegraph from Chicago yesterday it is learned that the committee of the Board of Trade and city council have, in consideration of aid given the road by Rapid City, received a guarantee that the Dakota, Wyoming & Missouri River railroad will be completed within the next six months.

Work has been in progress on this road, which runs from this place westerly through the Black Hills to the coal and iron fields of Wyoming, for nearly a year. Its completion for Rapid City means a great deal in the line of more economical working and the establishment of a new class of iron and steel smelters to treat all classes of ore.

Negotiations are now under way for the completion of the Rapid City, Missouri River & St. Paul road eastwardly across the reservation to the Missouri river during 1892. The assurance that the western line will be completed this year will hasten the building of the eastern line.

WHITNEY BACK FROM EUROPE.

He Says He Will Not Preside Over the Anti-Slavery Convention.

NEW YORK, May 19.—The Tribune says: William C. Whitney, ex-secretary of the navy, returned from Europe yesterday on the Majestic, apparently much benefited by the sea voyage. His return was awaited with much interest, particularly by the friends of the anti-slavery cause. They want Mr. Whitney to preside.

"I am not a member of the convention," said Mr. Whitney, "and not being a delegate of course I cannot act either as temporary or permanent chairman. This settles that part of it. I have not been identified with the movement, nor have I been consulted in regard to it. But I have expressed no opinion in praise or condemnation of the project."

This was as far as the ex-secretary cared to go on political issues.

RANGED FROM A RAILROAD BRIDGE.

A Colored Man Taken from Jail by a Mob and Shot.

MANCHESTER, Tenn., May 19.—At 2:30 this morning thirty men entered the town and going to the jail demanded Charley Everett, the Tullahoma negro. The sheriff had spirited him away to a barn in the suburbs.

After a long search Everett was found and carried to a railroad bridge. The room of a young lady relative of Mr. Smith of Tullahoma had been ordered by the negro Monday night for the purpose of rape, although the negro claimed robbery was his object.
