Nebraska side of the river. Quite an effort is being made to create a sentiment against the proposed Short Line bridge in favor of a combined wagon and foot passenger bridge. The argument is being used that a bridge constructed and maintained by railroad companies would be extortionate in tolls, etc. The opposition is meeting with very little encouragement, as the people realize that a bridge constructed by any company would be of incalculable value to South Sioux City. INDICATIONS OF Nebraska's Manufacturers and Consumers Exposition Will Be Attractive.

FEATURES OF THE APPROACHING EVENT

Interior Cities of the State Will Display Their Commercial Advantages with Pardonable Pride-Kearney's Unique Exhibition-Arranging the Building.

The old Collseum building is rapidly undergoing a series of transformations in preparation for the first annual exposition of the Nebraska State Manufacturers and Consumers association, which begins June 11 and continues for eleven days. The change is far from being complete as yet. The old posts and rafters are conspicuous in all their unhewn roughness. The graperies that served to conceal their unshapely outlines on former occasions of festivity are unsightly rags of tattered bunting, and the ugly green signs with their legend, "No Smoking Allowed," creak dismally on their hangings, solitary reminders of the days when a joily crowd of skaters rumbled around the polished floor and groups of merry muskers danced under the scintillating glare of the electric candles.

But the combined huboub of a score saws and hammers, the bustling array of carpenters and decorators and the energetic efforts of the managers of the enterprise give promise of great things before another week shall pass.

How Things Are Changed.

The bare and gloomy walls will cebe the rumble of machinery and the whir of spindles. The rent and tattered draperies will dies. The rent and tattered draperies will be displaced and the big building now so dark and dreary in its emptiness will be alive with the concentrated hum and energy of all the manufacturing industries of Nebraska. Here the prospective spectator need not judge by glowing descriptions or stereotyped illustrations of the scope and enterprise of Nebraska manufactures. It is all to be realistic. Business men will It is all to be realistic. Business men will not be there to tell how they grind corn and wheat and manufacture boots and shoes and machinery but to accomplish it before the eyes of all beholders. On one side may be seen the transformation of bundles of felt seen the transformation of bundles of feit into hats of every description; on another, huge roils of leather converted into boots and shoes. Here the farmer may see his wheat and corn ground by the latest im-proved machinery and there he may watch the process by which long coils of wire are converted into fences like those which sur-round his farms. round his farm

The work of preparation is being pushed as rapidly as the energy of many hands can make possible, and the enthusiasm is not confined to the small army whose scene of operations is in the interior of the building It extends all over Nebraska and the west, and even in envious Kansas City curious eyes are turned toward the enterprise that is to congregate and display the manufacturing interests of great Nebraska.

Every foot of space in the building is already taken, and every day's mail brings to Secretary Bradley fresh evidence of the interest that is being taken in the exposition throughout the state.

Interesting Exhibits.

Among the most interesting out of town exhibits will be that of the Kearney Cotton Milling company. Their float, which was shown at the silver anniversary at Lincoln, is a unique design, representing one of the great manufacturing interests of the state. It arrived yesterday in charge of B. I. Smith of Kearney and was hoisted into the building through a burg door that was a state. of Kearney and was holsted into the building through a huge door that was cut to receive it. It is an exact fac-simile of the plant, even to the builkheads of the mill race, with the water dripping incessantly ever the top. The interior will be lighted with electricity. The body of the float is covered with figures illustrating the growth of Kearney and Buffalo county from 1867 to 1893. Mr. Smith says that Kearney is enthusiastic over the exposition. The enterprise is regarded as an important event in the history of Nebraska industries, and the city council did not hesitate to appropriate the money to construct the float.

The Lincoln Paint and Color company will erect a cottage on their space which will be surrounded by a sodded lawn with flowers and fountains. The cottage alone will cost

Among other Nebraska towns that will Anong other Neoraska towns that will participate in the exposition are Lincoln, Nebraska City, Columbus, Blue Springs and Weeping Water. The idea of devoting a special day to Fremont and one to Kearney is under consideration, and committees have been appointed by the city council and board of trade of each city to arrange for a special celebration of the day.

SUCCESS A Lady Advises Ladies

A Few Secrets from Her Own Experience Which Can Be · Profitably Adopted by Others.

Iknow ach arming inity who knows more beautiful and attractive women than any other lady in this city. In conversation, recently, she said: "I often feel very sorry when I see so many beautiful women so delicate, and snifering so much, and I have often asked myself what the reason is? I think ladies do not experise the proper care. They do not eat nourishing food, they are careless of their feet, their necks, their chests. In this way they open the door for discavers, and these thousands of troubles which so often afflict womankind, but, worse than all, they allow their life and strength to run down to a low obbitow many women we see constantly in this condition. They meed help, they need something to depend upon, something that will assist them, some friend in need. I know this largely from my own experience, for I was once in the same condition myself, I thought the matter over carcuily, and decided what I would do, I knew I needed a gentle, constant stimulant, a melhing that would assist my vital forces, keep my blood throbbing and act as a tonic. I decided to try burfy a Pure Malt Whisky, and its effect has been simply wonderful. Ido not know what palms, sickness or weakness are, and I am satisfied ladies generally could be in the same happy condition by a proper use of the same means."

This lady's remarks are entitled to the greatest consideration, for they are an indication of what hundreds of laties have found to be a necessity, It should be borne in mind, however, that it is only pure whisky which should ever be used, and that Duffy's Pure Malt is the only one which receives the endorsement of scientists and the recommendations of physicians.
