THE TARIFF AS AN ISSUE. Senator Vest of Missouri made a speech in the senate on Monday in which he departed from the measure under consideration long enough to discuss partisan politics a little.

There is an apparent inconsistency in the senator's remarks on this subject. When he says that he will not bow to the will of the national convention of his party he seems to imply very plainly that he is in doubt as to what that convention will do about the tariff question.

It is not by any means certain that the democratic party will be a unit in opposition to the McKinley tariff law. It is true, as Senator Vest says, that the parties are more evenly divided upon this than upon the silver issue, but it will be found as the contest progresses that a very large number of democrats will refuse to be counted in favor of free trade.

Comparatively few men are so devoted to their party as to lose sight of their personal interests, and it is absurd to suppose that a personal interest in the protection of home industries is wholly confined to one political party.

THE Lord's prayer came over the wires from Minneapolis yesterday and the World-Herald editor mistook it for news and published it.

PRESIDENT CARNOT has been attending the fetes at Nancy. How many and what are Nancy's fetes. We cannot understand this French business.

THE democrats who reside in Minneapolis must feel that they are not of much account at present. They should seize this opportunity to go fishing.

MONTANA is trying to move her capital to Bozeman. Why isn't Anconada after it? A town with that name ought to be able to take in anything in sight.

THE Chicago Tribune says that ten caricatures of the Chicago Bismarck club, enthusiasm and good cheer went to Minneapolis. The good cheer was in the locker.

THE western men at Minneapolis are denouncing Senators Wolcott and Teller for their speeches against Harrison. Such a protest is tardy but it was sure to come.

and European governments have done honor to our example by proposing to follow it. The addition to our foreign commerce, directly due to this policy, already amounts to many millions of dollars, and there is every assurance of a vastly greater increase in the future.

It is hardly questionable that a large majority of the intelligent voters of the country are in favor of reciprocity. It appeals to the interests of the agricultural producers, in whose behalf it was conceived, and it claims the support also of the manufacturers and of those who labor in manufacturing industries.

THE FOOD FISH SUPPLY. When an Omaha man orders a fresh fish for his Friday dinner he probably does not often ask himself or anybody else where it was caught. He is pretty sure that it did not come out of the Missouri river, if he stops to think about it, but that is only a negative.

THE suggestion that in a certain contingency the Hill support in New York might go to William G. Whitney, who was secretary of the navy in the administration of President Cleveland, implies that in the event of Hill withdrawing from the contest he would have no influence in determining who his supporters should put forward, for it is hardly probable he would select Mr. Whitney as his political legate.

THE council has authorized the city attorney to settle the $10,000 suit brought by Lizzie Richards for injuries received by falling through a defective sidewalk, the plaintiff having agreed to accept $2,500. No doubt this is a good settlement for the city, and the taxpayers have reason to congratulate themselves upon getting off so easily.

IT is interesting to note that the Chicago anarchists are appealing through their friends to the labor organizations of the country for release from prison. The public has not yet forgotten the shocking crimes of these Haymarket assassins and it seems absurd that they should ask for influence in their behalf from the very men most interested in having them punished.

AN ATTACK ON RECIPROcity. The speech of Senator Turpie of Indiana in the United States senate a few days ago, attacking the republican policy of reciprocity, is perhaps to be regarded as foreshadowing the position that will be taken by the Chicago convention regarding that plan for increasing the foreign commerce of the country.

There is good reason to hope that the anarchist has had his brief day in this country. He certainly cannot stand alone, and if the labor organizations ignore him he will soon sink out of sight. He is not a friend of labor; on the contrary, he is an enemy to every interest of the honest laboring man.

There have been rare examples of a substantial and permanent prosperity more remarkable than that of South Omaha. The report just submitted by the special committee of the Board of Trade shows a material growth in the comparatively brief period of eight years which certainly warrants the title of Magic City.

THE republican party is fully prepared to welcome such an issue. It has all the argument and all the facts on its side. Its claim that reciprocity has been a notable success can be substantiated by reference to practical results that are beyond dispute, and if testimony be wanted regarding the influence it has exerted in the interest of American commerce, the governments of Germany, France and Austria-Hungary can furnish it.

stimulate the Edwards family in its efforts to reclaim Harlem. The material progress of South Omaha must always contribute to the prosperity of Omaha. The commercial interests of the two cities are inseparably connected. They are, in every practical sense, one community, and it is undoubtedly only a question of time when they will be under one municipal government.

At the beginning of the state and congressional campaign two years ago the Omaha branch sent out a double-headed proposition to the independents and the democrats to unite and divide the offices after the republicans had been wiped from the face of the planet. It now declares that "Fusion is a failure." Having failed to become a great leader of men and parties, the young man in charge of the hyphen seems perfectly content to take advice from them and follow in their footsteps.

Advantages of Capital Punishment. The worst thing about capital punishment is that every rogue announces that he is going straight to heaven, and all the other rogues believe him. The prospect of a nearly painless transportation to the golden city is not particularly terrifying.

THE appalling calamity which has visited Oil City and Titusville calls for the sympathy of the whole country. It is not often that so sweeping a disaster strikes from any trace of disregard of natural laws or of lack of foresight, but in this case apparently neither human action nor inaction is at fault. The extent of the calamity is still uncertain; but what is definitely known and needs to be promptly acted upon to relieve the suffering, which must inevitably be very great.

THE immense value of the goosey Tribune's roster of millionaires is apparent from the following extract therefrom: GEORGE FRANCIS TRIN—Real estate in Omaha and Council Bluffs. If there is anything that Citizen Train loves and abhors it is a rich man. To be classed among a lot of rich men will, no doubt, suggest to his active mind a libel suit, with damages running high into the millions.

Mexico's Latest Tragedy. DEMING, N. M., June 8.—No news of importance reached here yesterday from Las Palmas, the scene of Sunday's tragedy. Many of the participants are under arrest and quiet has been restored. None of the wounded have died and it is probable that the death list will be limited to the father, at whose house the fight took place, and the Mexican officer. The Mexican government has taken steps to thoroughly investigate the killing. Names are still unobtainable.
