Jessie Underwood Fatally Shot at West Point While Resisting Arrest.

HE ATTEMPTED TO MURDER THE OFFICER

Two Bullets Necessary to End the Desperate Man's Life-Details of the Affair-Nebraska Druggists at Grand Island-State News Notes.

WEST POINT, Neb., June 9 .- [Special to THE BEE. |- West Point has had another man shot by the city marshal. Last night at 11 o'clock City Marshai Alex Sims shot and killed Jesse Underwood, a hanger-on at the house of prostitution run by Maggie St.

Jesse Underwood, allas Jim Davis, the deceased, was an agent in the house of prosti-tution run by Maggie St. Clair. About two months ago Underwood was arrested by the marshal on the above charge, and secured his conviction, and since then Underwood has been waiting for an opportunity to 'do up the marshal." Underwood was considered a bad man on general principles, and being an exception-ally well developed man, people somewhat fea rd him. Last evening matters culminated by Underwood and his mistress, Maggie St. Clair, making the rounds of the saloons and making dire threats against Marshal and making dire threats against Marshal Sims. About 11 o'clock the couple went to their resort, when the marshal heard of their capers, and proceeded to the house to arrest Underwood. A fight ensued in the front room in which the banging lamp was smashed and matters upset generally. In the scramble Underwood threw the marshal down and was choking him. The marshal has but one hand and being of slight build was not capable of grappling with his powerful assailant. The marshal begged Underwood to let loose his grip on his throat, that he need not shoot him, but this was his opportunity to carry out his threat of vengeauce, and he was improving it. was improving it.

The marshal saw at a glance it was simply a question of who would be killed first, so he pulled the trigger of his 38-calibre self-cocking revoluer and fired, the ball penetrating Underwood's abdomen just two inches to the right of the navel. The ball was afterward found just under the skin in his back, it having gone through his body. This shot did not phaze Underwood, but he continued choking Marshal Sims, when Grant Neligh appeared on the scene and dragged Underwood of the marshal and out of doors.

All this fighting occurred in the front room. Once out, the fight was about to be resumed, as Underwood started again for the marshal. Sims thereupon fired another resumed, as Underwood started again for the marshal. Sims thereupon fired another shot from his revolver into Underwood, the ball striking him near the heart. The latter turned back and passed through the house to the rear of the building, where he fell unconscious and so remained until he expired. Sheriff Gallen was upon the scene immediately and picked up the limp form, and together with William Breitinger and your correspondent carried the the body into the house upon a bed, where he expired at midnight, just forty-five minutes after being night, just forty-five minutes after being shot. He never regained consciousness.

Underwood's mistress, Maggie St Clair, who was present at the shooting, went into hysterics and fainted a dozen times. In a short while two women from another house of prostitution came in and consoled her, and later on took the hysterical female to later on took the hysterical female to their bagnio.

Public feeling is decidedly with City Marshal Sims, as he has been making a good record in keeping the inmates of the houses of illfame within proper bounds. Underwood was a young man and a giant in physique, but was a moral leper.

M. J. Hughes was immediately appointed temporary marshal and took charge of the city marshal and carea for matters generally. Sheriff James H. Gallen took charge of the body until morning.

The coroner's inquest completely exonerated Marshall Sims for the killing.

Interesting P. E. O. Session YORK, Neb., June 9 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE.]-In spite of the very warm held a pleasant and profitable afternoon session, much important business being tracsacted. At S p. m. an open session was held, he program being as follows: Prayer by Rev. Crosthwait; vocal solo. "The Nightingale," Mrs. Alice Caren Briggs of Superior; paper, "The Charms and Benefits of Secret Orders," Mlss Annie Vansickle of Hastings; solo, Mrs. Clara Crawford of Nel-son; vocal solo, "Dreams," Miss Elizabeth Jones of Hastings; recitation, "A Ride Against Time," Mrs. Barnett of York; vocal solo, "Best of All," Mrs. A. G. Andrews,

The session opened this morning at the usual hour. During the devotional exercises a sacred solo was beautifully rendered by Mrs. Andrews of Omaha. Besides the busi ness discussed, two excellent papers were read by Mrs. Crawford of Nelson and Miss Dora Speer of Superior. The memorial hour was beautifully and touchingly observed. The secretary reported the loss of but one sister, Mrs. Ida Langworthy Scott of Holdrege. A brief sketch of her life was read by Miss Mocro of Holdrege and the memorial bymn sung by Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Briggs, after which the society adjourned until 2 p. m.

The afternoon session was called to order by the president. A paper was read by Mrs. Grace Kipp of Hastings. The constitution and by-laws were considered and heated dehates arose. At 4 p. m. the secretary adjourned to accept the courtesies of the York chapter in a drive around the city.

Not long ago, at a wedding dinner, says the Indianapolis Journal, one of the guests told this story: In a western town a small number of zealous people decided to put up a Young Men's Christian association building. A committee was appointed, and they sent for a con-tractor to undertake the work. When he came, the first thing he did was to inquire, in a very worldly and matter-of-fact sort of way, into the financial resources of the organization. The president replied: "Never fear, sir; we are sure of funds; the Lord is on our side." "That is all very well," replied the contractor, "but I want someone that I can send the sheriff after if necessary.
