THE FACTS ABOUT THE DEPOT.
The council has appointed a committee to confer with the union depot managers with a view to reaching a settlement of the controversy now pending in the courts.

On matters involving their own affairs the verbal promise of Messrs. Clark, Holdrege and Kimball would be as good as their bond, but the citizens of Omaha are not willing to bank on their verbal promises on behalf of a railroad company.

It is difficult enough to enforce contract obligations assumed by railroads when they are in black and white. Railroad managers do not hesitate to violate agreements made among themselves whenever it is to the interest of their companies to do so.

The hue and cry about the damage and disgrace to Omaha by reason of the wretched depot accommodations should not influence our authorities. We have been damaged as much as we can possibly be, even if the depot remains unfinished another year.

General Weaver is just where he belongs in the financial question, but there has been a great deal of intelligent discussion given to the subject since then, and the masses of the people have become too enlightened to be misled by the false teachings of the advocates of a debased currency.

PROTECTION NOT INVOLVED.
The effort of democratic senators to make political capital out of the labor troubles in Pennsylvania cannot be too strongly rebuked. There is no reason or warrant for it, the simple truth being that the outbreak at Homestead was of a character that may occur anywhere.

PERHAPS NOTHING BETTER IS TO BE expected of democrats like Senator Voorhees of Indiana than an attempt to use an unfortunate affair of this kind for partisan advantage, and it is gratifying to note the contrast to the position of this rabid partisan of the attitude of Senator Palmer.

WEAVER ON THE CURRENCY.
The presidential candidate of the people's party, General J. B. Weaver, has delivered a speech on the currency which may fairly be assumed to present the arguments that will be urged by the party during the campaign.

THE PURCHASING POWER OF THE paper money was consistently more than one-third less than its face value, so that reduced to a gold basis the per capita was only about $17. According to the last treasury report the total circulation July 1, 1892, was in round numbers $1,000,000,000, or over $24 per capita, estimating the present population at 65,000,000.

THE DEFECT OF JUSTIN MCCARTHY was not entirely unexpected in that Ulster district. It is hoped that he will be elected from another district, as his exile from parliament would remove from it the ablest and fairest minded member from Ireland and one of the best men in Great Britain.

SECURITIES ABROAD WOULD BE RUSHED home for redemption and as long as gold could be obtained for them it would be taken out of the country. As to European countries sending their silver here there is not a reasonable doubt that they would do so.

ONE OF THE MOST AMUSING THINGS in the Omaha convention is the declaration that "public opinion is silenced." If there were any sort of restraint upon public opinion such senseless notions as proposed would not be uttered.

THE HOMESTEAD TRAGEDY.
Kansas City Star: If the great promoter of foreign castles and libraries had exercised a little more humanity toward his employes, if he had not insisted on a policy of threats and arrogant show of power, if he had resorted to the usual means of dealing with his men, and trusted to the proper local authorities to see fair play, instead of attempting to smother in armed mercenaries, it is not likely that this bloody conflict would have been avoided.

MINNEAPOLIS TRIBUNE: If Mr. Carnegie should spend much of his time on his national estate in Scotland and more of it in studying the needs and spirit of American workmen, he would know how to get along with the "Inkerton" mercenaries and riots. Instead of giving away $2,000,000 to public institutions, Mr. Carnegie had shown a little more regard for the welfare of his employes, he would have occupied a higher niche in popular fame. He would be good, but "the gift without the giving" is bare.

ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC: It is not necessary to defend the locked-out workmen in their acts of violence. They have become participants in a branch of the peace, but they are not responsible for yesterday's tragedy at the Carnegie iron works. They simply fought platonically with their own weapons, and until "Inkertonism" is put down by law the workings of the plutocrats must be taught by such lessons as that at Homestead that if they appeal to Winchester they will receive the same treatment.

CHICAGO INTER OCEAN: It is a pity and a shame that any of this kind should have occurred. It is a pity because of the suffering that must follow in the families of these strikers, and a shame because it stirs up and vitalizes the latent animosity between capital and labor that endangers the peace and happiness of the republic. Had Mr. Carnegie been a true American, a man who loved his country and his fellow men as real patriots do—their tragic occurrences at Homestead would never have had a place in current history.

PHILADELPHIA LEDGER (rep.): At present the people's party is a political curiosity. It may be no more influential than the greenback party of 1870 and 1880, or it may, like the republicans of 1856, mean the disintegration of old parties and start a division on new and perhaps sectional lines. It is not a party to excite the apprehension of republicans or democrats at this time; whether it is a party to be ignored by those who would pierce the veil of futurity.

NEW YORK TRIBUNE (rep.): The platform adopted by the people's party convention at Omaha will not attract notice because of the poverty of its propositions. They have a familiar sound—the "subsidary plan," "a better system," "free coinage of silver," "government ownership of railroads, telegraphs and telephones," a graduated income tax. These are the traditional four horsemen of more or less lurid rhetoric.

WASHINGTON STAR: "Now," said the new reporter, as his eye followed the track of the blue pencil, "I understand what it means by an editor's line of thought."

BIGHAMTON REPUBLICAN: The tramp puts Browning, King & Co. Largest Manufacturers and Retailers of Clothing in the World.

NEW YORK EVENING SUN: The Garry-After all, there's no exercise so pleasant as rowing. Merritt—That's so. When you're out with a pretty girl you always have something nice to look forward to.

PHILADELPHIA LEDGER: The system are talking of getting up a national convention. The idea that they favor opening the proceedings with a "traveller's knives, however, is altogether trifling." If you want to know just how small a man is give him an office or let him become suddenly wealthy.

NEW ORLEANS PLYMOUE: It is all right for a theater manager to present a Grand double bill, but when a doctor or lawyer does it there is trouble ahead.

NEW YORK HERALD: Hicks—I'm going, get some quinine for the baby; he's got the malaria. Mrs. Hicks—What makes you think so? Hicks—When I try to talk to him all he says is "so-so."

THOMPSON'S HAIR VIGOR. The richness, color, and beauty of the hair, the greatest care is necessary, much harm being done by the use of worthless dressings. To be sure of having a first-class article, ask your druggist or perfumer for Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is absolutely superior to any other preparation of the kind. It restores the original color and fullness to hair which has become thin, faded, or gray. It keeps the scalp cool, moist, and free from dandruff. It heals itching humors, prevents baldness, and imparts to the hair a softness and luster which is a mark of its excellence.

TO PRESERVE THE HAIR. A silkent texture and lasting fragrance. No toilet can be considered complete without this most popular and elegant of all hair-dressings. "My hair began turning gray and falling out when I was about 25 years of age. I have lately been using Ayer's Hair Vigor, and it is causing a new growth of hair of the natural color."—R. J. Lowry, James Prairie, Texas. "Over a year ago I had a severe fever, and when I recovered, my hair began to fall out, and what little remained turned gray. I tried various remedies, but without success, till at last I began to use Ayer's Hair Vigor, and now my hair is growing rapidly and is restored to its original color."—Mrs. Annie Collins, Dighton, Mass.

USE Ayer's Hair Vigor, and now my hair is growing rapidly and is restored to its original color."—Mrs. Annie Collins, Dighton, Mass. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by Druggists Every where.
