What the Second Ward Councilman Thinks of the Great Barber Monopoly.

PERSONAL RELATIONS WITH SQUIRES

How an Unpleasantness Came Up-The Methods Pursued in Making Council Committee Reports on Contracts -One Side of a Story.

The Real Estate Owners association in vestigation was continued before Messrs. J. T. Cathers and Cadet Taylor yesterday after-

In order to correct a minapprehension that exists as to the purpose of the investigation the committee has expressed itself as foilows in order that the public may under stand the position taken by it:

There seems to be a little misunderstanding as to the purpose of the committee of the Real Estate Owners association. For some unknown reason nearly half a million of dollars worth of public improvements which should have been commenced last April have been delayed until late in the summer, to the great detriment of the workingmen, merchants, mechanics and others. This delay affects every merchant and a great many property owners and taxpayers. As the representatives of the contributing taxpayers we are not investigating anybody, but will en leavor to ascertain and fix the responsibility of the delay in the public improvements.

The inquiry will be open to everybody, and the committee will give everyone interested a fair hearing, and it will not hesitate when it ascertains the facts to fix the responsibility where it belongs. The main object is to prevent so much reckless waste of time another year, and to see i we cannot prevail upon our public servants to take up the question of public improvements and award the contracts during the winter and when the season opens in the spring be prepared to push the work. And we wish also to ascertain if, in ordering permanent side wa ks, real estate owners are properly protected in their rights. Incidentally a great deal of irrelevant matter will go into the record, and the committee expects to have the aid of the press in placing the facts before the public.

The testimony will be taken down in shorthand and will be accessible to the press or public at any time.

Letters have been sent to the city clerk and chairman of the Board of Public Works asking them to favor the committee with a complete list in detail of all public improvements considered or ordered during 1891, giving dates and copy of advertisements, copy of bids, action of board, date sent to city council and when returned to the board. with the action thereon, names of con-tractors and copy of specifications, full history of all such cases while in hands of city council, names of committees and action of the council in all cases, and requesting the same detailed information as to 1802.

What Mr. Forms Told.

Mr. J. W. Furnas was the first witness failure to order sidewalks laid after being so instructed by the council, and that although Birkhauser had told Councilman Tuttle in the hearing of the witness that he would order the contractors to go ahead at once, had not kept his promise, and had not or dered the contractor to go ahead until per emptorily ordered to do so by the council He also told of Ernest Stuht's bid on High land, Kan., stone and the action of the Board of Public Works in awarding him the con-tract at 17 ceuts, when as a matter of fact it was a fictitious stone that could not properly be classed as suitable paying stone, and was put in for the purpose of knocking out the witness, and that the council, after in-vestigating the matter, refused to confirm Stuht's bond and contract. He again called Birkhauser's veracity in question, as to the latter's statement that he had given the witness orders for 28,000 feet besides the High school grounds, when as a matter of fact it amounted to only 28,000 feet including the High school grounds. He also explained that on looking up an 8,000-foot order given him by Birkhauser it was found that all but 1,798 feet of it had all but 1,798 feet of it had already been laid by other contractors. He couldn't see how it happened that Birkhauser didn't know that the walk was laid, if he was looking after the city's business, as he should. He said he merely wanted to make these statements in reply to Birkhauser's charges that he and his son had ited when before the board on the previcus day. He read from an interview in The Bee in which Birkhauser charged that the Guillian stone, which Furnas represented was rejected because it was of the same quality as the Highland stone which had been previously rejected. He denied that this was true, and saild that the stone was far from being the same.

What Elsasser Knows. Councilman Eisasser was the next witness Councilman bisasser was the next witness, He said that no paving was done in 1891 because of the lack of money. The city had voted no bonds to pay the cost of paving intersections, and no money was voted for sewers, either. It was impossible to extend sewers, either. It was impossible to extend public improvements where no intersections were to be put in, because of injunctions secured by property-owners. He said that 100,000 feet of sidewalk was condemned, and that much of it was in good condition, and that he was opposed to it, as it was unjust and imposed a hardship on property-owners to condemn walks that had been put down only a few months before and were still in only a few months before and were still in good condition. He did not know why no brick sidewalks had been ordered until within the past few weeks, but he did know that Councilman Steel had introduced a resolution providing that only singolithic walk should be isld on Farnam between Eighteenth and Twenty-fourth streets, and the witness had managed to secure a change, providing that any kind of permanent walk would do, thus admitting of competition, which was not possible under Steel's resolu

About Squires' Specifications. Then paving was touched on, and Mr. Elthe council and the contractors. All the trouble had been between the council and Board of Public Works, and between the contractors and Board of Public Works. This year, for the first time in the history of the city government, the city engineer and Board of Public Works prepared their own specifications. In other years the Barber Asphalt company had prepared the specifications and had bid on blanks prepared by tions and had bid on blanks prepared by itself. When the new specifications calling for sheet asphaltum were prepared the council favored them, as the contractors had not discovered what was up and hadn't had time to kick, but as soon as they found it out there was a terrible how!, and the ordinance went to the commit-tee on paying, curbing and guttering, composed of Specht, Steel and Jacobson. When the ordinance was reported back after a long delay it was very much interlined, and provided that only asphaltum from the pitch lake on the island of Trinidad should be laid. This shut out everybody but the Barber This shut out everybody but the Barber company, which was the only one that could get the lake asphaltum. The council passed it as reported, and again passed it over the mayor's veto. Specht had on one occasion said that he put to the interlineations, and on another occasion said his bookkeeper did it. Squires had not denied it when accused of doing it himself.

Elsasser and Squires' Relations. The witness said Squires was opposed to him and had said he would spend $5,000 to defeat him because he had reported against Equires' disputed claim.

Equires had worked hard to secure the nomination and election of the witness, and within a few days after entering upon the discharge of his duties as councilman the witness was surprised to find himself placed on a committee to consider Squires' disputed claim for street sweeping. After making inquiry he found that in justice to the city the fill should be cut, and in order to agree us to how much of a reduction should be made the three members of the committee wrote on allies of namer and placed them. alips of paper and placed them in a bal. The writess wanted the bill cut 40 por cent, Donnelly wanted to cut it 25 per cent and Merearty 15 per cent. So they added them all together and divided the sum by 3, and that gave them a cut of 27 per cent. When they spoke to Squires about it he swere that he wouldn't stand a cut of a single cent, and witness thereupon reported in favor of compelling Squires to go into court if he wanted to collect his bill, and let him get what he could.

him get what he could.

The next time Squires saw the witness he told him now he had worked to cleet him and had voted all his men for him both at the primary and at the election, and he had thought that witness was his friend, but he had found out differently, and if he ever bobbed his head up again he would spend $5,000 to defeat him. Only the other gay Squires met the wit-Only the other day Squires met the witness and said: "Well, I've been out among your constituents. You've been such a good friend of mine I thought I ought to help you a little, and we've made up our minds to send you back-to the barber shop."

Contractors and Committees. Then they got back to the report of the committee on the specifications ordinance. "Did that committee report in favor of the changes that were calculated to benefit the Barber monop ily sione!" asked Mr. Taylor. "Did they!" ejaculated Mr. Eisasser, "well, I should say they did!"

When asked whether the contractors in-terfered with committee work and with councilmen, he said that the contractors had a habit of being very numerous when any action in which they were interested was being considered. He couldn't say, however, that the contractors paid councilmen for their votes, but he knew that there was hardly an ordinance that came up that oidn't interest somebody, and that if a councilman was looking for "stuff" he could rake in from $5 to $50 several hundred times a year. When asked about the delay of committees in reporting on matters referred to them, he said it had become very common, for some reason or other, and that there was no necessity for it. While chairman of an important committee last year he never held papers longer than a week, and frequently reported in three days if there happened to be a special meeting.

Degrees of Asphaltum.

As to the lake asphaltum matter, he couldn't understand how it happened that after putting down overflow asphalt in this city for this city for years the Barber company had not discovered that it was of inferior quality until other companies tried to come in and compete with them in the use of the same article, when it suddenly made the discovery that the only good asphaltum was its own lake, where nobody else could touch it. He thought it strange that the Barber company was so anxious to furnish a superior article

He said that Jaicks had bid against the Barber company, and notwithstanding the fact that he was a lower bidder he had succeeded only in getting a block and a half on St. Mary's avenue, and it looked very much as if that was simply a part of a move to kill off Mr. Jaicks. The Board of Public Works had exacted a bond requiring a bidder to enter into a contract and now had about $4,000 of Jaicks' money tied up in this way, and there was a rule that in case a successful bidder did not go ahead he should never be allowed to bid again. Juicks had been awarded a small contract just to put him in this boat. He must now put in a $15,000 plant in order to pave that block and a half or forfelt all the money he bad up and be forever debarred from bidding The witness thought that the filioustering tactics of the contractors was due to their disapproval of the specifications and of the guaranty clause, and that they had influenced investigation was continued until Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Formally Charged With the Murder of Her Father and Stepmother.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 12.-Miss Lizzio Borden is under arrest, charged with murdering her father and stepmother last Thursday morning. She was brought into he second district court room presumably to give further evidence at the inquest. Miss Borden was accompanied by her sister and Mrs. Brigham. All the proceedings were behind locked doors. When Miss Lizzie re-turned from thes third inquiry she was a physical and mental wreck and was con-ducted to the matron's room. The investigation was adjourned about 4 o'clock.

District Attorney Knowiton and other officers went to the marshal's private office, where they remained closeted for two hours. Shortly after 6 o'clock, City Marshal Hillard and District Attorney Knowlton drove to the ome of Andrew Jennings, who had been the family attorney for some years. They re-turned about 7 o'clock and went into the matron's room, where Miss Borden was lying waived. The lady took the announcement with surprising calmness. The two women who were with her were much more visibly

The excitement was very great when the news of the arrest became known, although some hours previous it was generally under-stood that Miss Borden was soon to be made a prisoner. Miss Borden was searched by Miss Russell shortly after she was formally placed in custody.

All the afternoon a machinist had been at work on the safe at the Borden homestead, but he had not been able to open it. Other witnesses examined at the inquest were Eli Benee, who is supposed to have refused to sell poison to the prisoner; his assistant, Fred Hart, and Frank Kilrov, who was in the store when it was alleged Miss Borden made the request. Their evidence is said to have clinched the suspicions of the police. The city marshal's guard will be kept around the house for some time longer. Miss Sullivan is still with her relatives.

Miss Borden was arraigned before a Fall River, Mass., justice and held to answer for the murder of her father and stepmother. She was committed to jail and bail refused.

EXTOLLING PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Chancellor Canfield of the State University Addresses Dauglas County's Teachers.

ABSOLUTE NEED OF HIGHER EDUCATION

Benefits of Public Schools and Possible Extension of the Country Districts Work-Good Advice to Bard Working Teachers.

Chancellor Canfield of the State university addressed the teachers at the Douglas county institute yesterday afternoon. It was an address that will be remembered many years by most of the teachers present. His subject was the difficulties and worryments that beset the life of the school teacher.

Before entering upon the real subject selected the chancellor took occasion to explain to the teachers that he and the professors in the universty were simply teachers in an adjoining room, a different departme nt of the same great system of state education with the district teachers before him. "You may not believe," said the chancel lor, "that I am only a teacher in a different department of the same system, and you may doubt that I believe it, out I shall try to convince you that it is true, nevertheless." Rounds in Life's Ladder. He then explained the relations that exist between the district school, the graded school and the State university. They were all part and parcel of the same system. Huxley had said once that a system of education was a ladder that stood with one end In the gutter and the other in the university. "We have no such thing as the gutter in Nebraska." said the chancellor, "and I hope to God we never will have. I will say, then, that the system of state education in this state is or should be a ladder which reaches from the door of the primary school to the door of any college in good standing. Every stop and every round in this ladder ought to be within the reach of every boy and girl in the commonwealth. There was a time when the world moved slow. The ox was the motive power. Then a man had a fair chance of fighting the battles of life with no education but that which he re-ceived at the common district school. But times have changed. The world moves faster now and a man must have keener wit and a broader education in order to rise above the ranks where muscle is the reliance A man who has only a common school edu-cation is pretty sure to be nothing but a common man, as the world goes at present. Good Enough for Anybody.

"I do not'like that name common as ap plied to schools, because it formerly meant those schools that were attended by only the poor and dependent. It used to be considered a disgrace for well-to-do people to send their children to the common schools back in the New England states. But our district schools are good enough today (and if they are not, they ought to be) for any man's child. Just think of 12-70 per cent of the children of Nebraska get all the education they ever get in school while they are in the district schools. It ought not to be so, but it is. This is a long, hard life that we have to live. It's a hard fight from start to finish with most of us. Just think of a farmer taking his boy by the hand and saving 'My son, there is a long, difficult and dangerous road that you must travel, and you will have to go most of the way without my help. Just come into the house and I will give you a soupbone and a crust of bread before you start.'

It's an Absolute Necessity.

"In these days of flerce commercial strife the ignorant man is hardly as independent or as much in demand as the horse. The common laborer needs a keen intellect and well developed brain that he may bring though to bear upon his work. General educa-tion has been the greatest emanci-pator the human race has ever known. We have proven this by the establishment of the public schools, the graded schools, the high schools and colleges. We have proved it by our universities and our Chautauqua court has upon several occasions decided that the high schools of our country were a legitimate part of the public schools,

"But what is the country lad and lass to do when they finish the course at the district schools? If they come to the city they must pay tuition, and even then they can only enter the graded schools of the city by the kindness and permission of your board of education. A state system should be a free system. I hope that some day we will have the good old fashioned county academy where country boys and girls can continue their studies without paying tuition for the privilege."

Public Apathy Deplored.

The chancellor then went on to explain how indifferent the people of Nebraska were with regard to the State university. He related several ludicrous incidents going to show that even members of the legislature were ignorant of the workings of the univer sity. One memoer of the legislature had complained to him that the regents never reported the profits on the board of the

"That's so," said the chancellor, "and since you speak of it, I am reminded that the speaker of the last house did not report the profits on the board of the members."

"But what has the speaker of the house to do with the Board of Members!" asked the legislator who was working up a case on the regents.
"Just as much as the regents of the university have to do with the board of the students," replied the chancellor. "That memoer of the legislature," he continued, "thought that several of our uni-versity buildings were used for sleeping apartments and dining rooms. He did not know that the university has never boarded a solitary student, and yet he has become convinced that the regents were outrage ously dishonest because they had not reported the profits on board bills." The chancellor thought the people of Ne braska should take a deeper interest in the university since they spent $100,000 a year in maintaining the university. Good Advice to the Teachers.

Turning then to the subject of the address, the chancellor gave the teachers some excelient advice. He counselled them not to worry or fret about apparent failures, but to bear heroically all their tasks.

"Ninety per cent of all the troubles you have you never have," said the chancellor. "You imagine you have a great deal of trouble in your work that you really never meet. You must have some trouble. It would be a poor picture that had nothing in it but white. The person who has no toar in his eye will have

He said there were fewer apsolute failures in the teachers' profession than in almost any other calling in life. He touched upon the thousand and one things that meet and perplex the teacher and had some excellent advice upon every point. He said salaries were low, but if those who were engaged in teaching were dissatisfied they could do something else. Every teacher should endeavor to do the very best he or she could under all circumstances, resting assured that there were some school boards that could not be satisfied and there were some things that could not be done. Like the Sunday school boy who asked his mother if the Lord world may the "year-old cold in a provider of the lord to the state of the lord that the same the "year-old cold in a provider of the lord that the same that the sa could make the 2-year-old colt in a minute He was assured that the Lord could accomp this rather marvelous feat if He

MISLED A LITTLE CHILD.

Eleven-year-old Elsie Schur Falls Into Bad Hands on a Journey.

New York, Aug. 12.-A strange story told by Little Elsie Schur, a bright-eyed miss of 11 years, who arrived here last Wednesday with a man who registered at the Hoffman house as A. Nixon. She is now in charge of the Gerry society. Little Elsie says her mother sent her alone from San Francisco to meet her father, supposed to be living on Eighty-sixth street. On the train she met Nixon, who said he was coming to New York and would help her find her father. At the Hoffman house, where Nixon took the child, her poor appearance caused remark when contrasted with the faultless attire of Nixon. The ladies connected with the hotel questioned the child, who said her mother was formerly an opera singer of some note and lived at 1026 Clay street, San Francisco An offer by the ladies to give her a bath and arrange her clothing was met with showers of tears and an appeal to be left alone when she disrobed. Nixon, who has since paid his bill and left the city, claims merely to have befriended the child, but the Gerry society are suspicious that his attentions were not disinterested and are investigating.

Doctor, when you so kindly gave me that first bottle my right side was so lame and sore and my liver enlarged so much that I could not lie upon my right side at all. There was a soreness over my kidneys all of the time, but now that trouble is all over. I sleep just as well on one side as on the other, and my sleep rests and refreshes me, and I feel the best I've feit in fifteen years and I know that it is all due to your Tree of Life. A Forger Dumps an Officer Into a Trunk and Locks Him Up. CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 12 .- A young, dudishlooking man registered at the Palmer house as D. C. Moore of New York was arrested by Detective Bailey of the Central station as E. G. Dumas of Boston, who is wanted in that city for a forgery of $650. The young man took his arrest with coolness, but protested that his name was Moore and not Dumas, and if Detective Bailey would come up to his room he would show him papers to prove that his name was Moore. The dete tive was obliging, and upon reaching the room the young man showed him papers lying in the bottom of a large sample trunk. Bailey stooped over to pick them up, when his prisoner seized him by the heels, dumped him into the trunk, slammed the lid, locked the door of the room and made his escape. It was fifteen minutes before the detective was released from the room and he is now hunt ing for his man with small chances of finding

NORTH DATE WAS WHEAT PEST. An Insect Discovered Which is Damaging

FARGO, N. D., Aug. 12.—There is much talk going on in regard to the wheat crop. A rumor was started that an iusect was working at the grain and would cut off the yield. The cry has been taken up generally and the government bureau corroborates it. President Stockbridge of the agricultural college has been investigating wheat in this vicinity and finds that the pest has been taking in some localities. Generally only very small spots are found to be infected, but on one or two farms insects have already destroyed considerable. As harvest is close at hand it is not thought the pests can destroy any great percentage in the infected districts, while most of the wheat region is not affected at all. While the crop in the Red river salley will be only about 75 per cent of last year, it will be of good grads, while last year it was a third off grade.

ANARCHISTS AFTER FRICK

Another Plot Discovered to Kill the Chairman of the Carnegie Company.

AARONSTAMME TO BE THE ASSASSIN

But the Police Are on His Trail and Will Arrest Him on Sight - Other

Officials of the Steel Company Worried.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 12 .- The Pittsburg Post publishes a story this morning to the effect that the police have discovered another anarchistic plot to assassinate H. C. Frick, the chairman of the Carnegie Steel company, who was shot by Bergman three weeks ago. The intended assassin is the anarchist, Aaroustamme of New York, who is a close friend of Bergman and Emma Goldman.

Aaronstamme has been in the city for several days and it is thought he is waiting for a favorable opportunity to kill his victim. He is said to resemble Bergman very much and is armed with a revolver in one pocket of his coat and a dynamite bomb in the other. The plot was batched in Vienna and was given to the New York police by Vice Consul Eberhardt of Austria. The information was given to Mr. Eberhardt by an Austrian, who arrived in New York recently with letters from the high police officials of Vienna, stating that the Austrian's story could be relied upon.

The New York police at once notified the Pittsburg authorities and a close watch for Aaronstamme is being kent about all the anarchists' resorts. The police have a good de-scription of the fellow and will arrest him on sight.

As a result of the disclosures, additional guards have been placed about the Carnegio buildings and Mr. Frick's residence and detectives accompany him wherever he goes In this connection it can be said that Secre tary Lovejoy has been warned that he has until the 15th inst. to live. Other officials of the Carnegie company have also received threatening letters. The police say, however, that they can frustrate the plans of the Diarrhoa n Kentucky.

HARRISON'S QUIET LIFE.

The President Spends His Time in Driving. Walking and Fishing.

TROY, N. Y., Ang. 12 .- President Harrison is leading a quiet life at Loon Lake in the Adirondacks. He drives and walks in the woods and fishes. The president has taken a large double room at the Loon Lake house for an office. Mrs. Harrison is greatly im proved since the president's arrival and her gain in strength is manifest by the in creased length of her daily drives. William Brookfield, chairman of the re publican state central committee, called or the president yesterday. It was virtually decided last night that the president would leave Loon Lake about September 1, but it usiness will permit he may remain a week or ten days longer.

Another Santa Fe Wreck.

LITTLETON, Colo., Aug. 12 .- What came very near being a serious accident occurred last evening on the Santa Fe railroad. An engine collided with a heavily loaded Denver excursion train, run as second section to No. 6, just south of this place. Both engines and baggage car were made total wrecas, the crows saving themselves by jumping. The passengers, although considerably shaken up, did not receive a bruise. It is said the acci-dent was caused by a misunderstanding of orders.

Carelessness Causes Three Drownings. MONTREAL, Aug. 12 .- A peculiar drowning fatality occurred here in the Lachine canal The tug William Paul was docked for the night in the casin with three men on board. The engineer left the escape valve open, and during the night the water flowed into the tug, drowning the three men as they slept The craft was sunk. The names of were Alfred Beauchamp, Alex Batell and Henry Larose. The tug was floated and the three dead bodies recovered.

Deliciousness Within the Reach of All

By the labor and ingenuity of Dr. Price, we have now before us the sweetest, freshest and most natural flavors. His Delicious Vanilla Extract surpasses in delicate flavor any other flavoring extract, while his Extracts of Lemon and Orange are really as fresh and agreeable in their flavor as the true fruits from which they are made. Any housekeeper who has once used DR. PRICE'S DELICIOUS FLAVORS in her cakes, puddings, or creams, will never return to the use of any other.

action of AYER'S Sarsaparilla, when taken for diseases originating in impure blood; but, while this assertion is true of AYER'S Sarsaparilla, as thousands can attest, it cannot be truthfully applied to other preparations, which un rincipled dealers will recommend, and try to impose upon you, as "just as good as Ayer's." Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and Ayer's only, if you need a blood-purifier and would be benefited permanently. This medicine, for nearly fifty years, has enjoyed a reputation, and made a record for cures, that has never been equaled by other preparations. AYER'S Sarsaparilla eradicates the taint of hereditary scrofula and other blood diseases from the system, and it has, deservedly, the confidence of the people.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

the relief I have obtained from the use of AYER'S Sarsaparilla. I was afflicted with kidney troubles for about six months, suffering greatly with pains in the small of my back. In addition to this, my body was covered with pimply eruptions. The remedies prescribed failed to help me. I then began to take AYER'S Sarsaparilla, and, in a short time, the pains ceased and the pimples disappeared. I advise every young man or woman, in case of sickness resulting from impure blood, no matter how long standing the case may be, to take AYER'S Sarsaparilla."-H. L.
