Too Ill to Work, Mrs. Brechtart is Turned Into the Street.

WANTS TO RETURN TO HER O.D. HOME

Butcher Oliver Finds It Impossible to Make His Business Pay and Sincerely Decamps Leaving His Family to Shift for Themselves.

A small, delicate looking woman about 22 years of age has been about the police station for the past two days looking for some one to furnish her transportation to her home in Lansing, Ia.

About two years ago the woman was married to H. A. Brechtart, a bookkeeper in the Union Pacific headquarters, and for a year she lived with her husband's family at 1115 Thorne. While there she claims that she was compelled to do all the housework, and was half fed and half clothed.

A year ago her health failed and she went back to her mother in Iowa. On her return her husband refused to allow her to enter the house and since has done nothing for her support. She says she has given him no reason for this treatment except the failure of her health. She was penniless two weeks ago and was taken over to the station and a leaving place will be furnished her until money can be raised to pay her fare to Lansing. Her husband has refused to pay for the money and he has refused.

T. E. OLIVER LOCKS UP HIS MEAT MARKET AND QUIETLY STEALS AWAY.

T. E. Oliver, who for the past two months has run a meat market at 408 South Thirtieth street, has disappeared as the result of his failure to make the profits of his business equal the expenses.

He started the market about two months ago on a capital of $100, which he raised by mortgaging his home and wagon. He had been in business at various times during the past five years and always unsuccessfully and was generally dealt with by wholesalers on a cash basis. His liabilities are, therefore, light, his heaviest creditor being his clerk, who is out several weeks' wages.

Oliver has a wife and children at 830 South Nineteenth street, who profess to be ignorant of his whereabouts. They said that he could not be doing anything in business and had gone away to look for a new location.

IMPROBABLE AND CRUEL.

Indignation Caused by a Fake Story Concerning Judge Clarkson.

The publication of five columns of sensational street rumors by the World-Herald this morning, regarding the late Judge Clarkson and the inability to discover his body, furnished with the most grotesque theories of a reporter that that street, occasioned such a wave of indignation as has not been felt in this city for many a day. And it was not confined to intimate friends of the deceased, as the utter indifference to the feelings of the grief-stricken family and their many sympathizers, manifested by the paper, called forth bitter denunciations on every hand.

The World-Herald sensation gave expressions to all the idle talk, wild rumors and vague surmises that have originated during the past two weeks in connection with this matter, from all sources whatever, and then following out its outrageous theory that Judge Clarkson had doubtless deserted home, family and friends and endeavored to conceal his flight by leaving addresses to indicate his whereabouts, it proceeded to detail the result of the detective (1) work of a reporter in search of evidence to bolster up this position. The story sought to convey the impression that the deceased made careful arrangements for flight, and took with him a lot of that fatal trip to Honey Creek lake two suits of clothing, one of which he discarded after discarding the clothes found in the boat, and then stealthily left the spot, walking northward along the Chicago & Northwestern railway track for several miles, sleeping over night in a schoolhouse, which was broken open, and taking the train on the following morning at Leeward and going to Missouri valley where it is alleged he had his beard shaved in order to thoroughly disguise himself.

The reporter's account of the finding of a notice to Judge Clarkson from the Mutual Benefit association, in which he was insured, calling for payment of $10,000, and claiming the envelope and letter were found in the schoolhouse above referred to, were not taken to the attention of the public, and were not carefully together, and furnished proof positive that Judge Clarkson had been there after the time that he is believed to have met his death in Honey Creek lake.

It was the publication of this improbable and cruel story that occasioned a meeting of several prominent members of the bar and friends of the deceased in the office of Volney Davis and Hunt yesterday morning, and the fact of the story was readily proven, and a statement was made to the further circulation of this attack on the memory of the deceased.

In the presence of Messrs. George J. Hunt, W. E. Curtis, G. T. Murray, W. A. Hunt, Theodore Ringwalt, Mr. Isaac E. Congdon, who was Judge Clarkson's law partner, said yesterday afternoon:

"The story is absolutely without foundation and why it was ever concocted I cannot imagine. To show that it is false let me say that the letter which is claimed was found

Mr. Hollander belongs to a large class of people who have furnished many excellent citizens for the United States. He was born in the small town of Hoge, Sweden, and will be 27 years of age on November 1st. He secured the advantages of a good common school education and at the age of 16 left home. He remained in Copenhagen about six months, where he earned enough money to pay his way to America. Upon reaching New York he proceeded at once to Omaha where an older brother he had met in Copenhagen, Mr. Wabow, Neb., soon after reaching Omaha and engaged in work on the farm. He put in his spare moments in mastering the English language and in a very short time could speak it fluently. He subsequently took a course at a business college in Omaha, and in a time he became the assistant secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, which position he held for several years. It is with many regrets that his friends will see him take his departure, but all who know him will wish him abundant success.

City Hall Elevators. The Crane company's elevators in the city hall will have to be materially improved before being finally accepted and paid for by the city. Expecting that the company would not do this, the city has secured the services of a committee on public property and buildings yesterday made a thorough test of the workings of the two cars. The test was attended with success, but satisfactory results. The elevator on the west side of the court worked fairly satisfactorily, although it went up at a much slower rate of speed than the west side. The east side of the court was refused to work to the satisfaction of the committee. It would not obey the lever and when it did any floor would gradually work its way down.

They have had a good wheat crop and the corn is higher than a man's head.
