depot and several other buildings have already been completed, and others are being finished daily. The letters being received show that the old soldiers and their families are coming in great numbers from all sections of the state with the expectation of having a giorious time visiting each other, and it is safe to say their expectations will be fully realized.

The camp is being put in perfect order, an abundance of wells are scattered throughout the camp, electric light lines have already been put up for the purpose of illuminating the camp, and before the opening day the entire great city of tents will be in perfect order. Care has been taken this year to have an abundance of fuel, seating capacity and other accommodations. And the committee is now making an effort to still further increase the tent capacity on ac-count of the fact that applications for quarters are still coming in in unprecedented num-

All Will be Accom nodated.

In addition to the tent accommodations most of the houses in Grand Island will be thrown open at reasonable rates for those who do not feel able to stand real camp life, who do not leef able to stand real camp life, and hundreds have aiready secured quarters in hotels and private dwellings. The rate fixed by all railroads from all points in Nobraska is one fare for the round trip, and special trains will be run on all rouds leading to Grand Island. Press neadquarters will be maintained in Headquarters row, where every attention and courtesy possible will be shown to visit-ing newspapermen, who will be made wel-

The applications this year show there will be a greater representation of the "World's fair" at the reunion than ever before, and special attention has been taken to provide accommodations accordingly. The state or-ganizations of the Daughters of Veterans, the Woman's Relief Corps and the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic will each have headquarters tents in Headquarters row and there will also be hundreds of ladies present who do not belong to either of said organizations. It is a noticeable fact that the proportion of indies in attendance at these state rounions increases very largely year by year, a fact which adds largely to the pleasure of camp life both in expectation and realization. And now a reunion without a large attendance of lovely ladies would be no reunion at all. There is not a veteran or son of a veteran who is not glad to welcome

A Reliable Man.

M. J. Griner, a justice of the peace at Print, Mich., says one bottle of Chamber-lain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhon Remedy saved his life. He had been down with bloody flux for three weeks when he com-menced using this medicine. It soon cured him and he believes saved his life. He also says it saved the lives of three railroad men in that vicinity. 'Squire Griner is a reliable and conscientious man, and whatever he says can be depended upon.

I am a traveling man and have been afflicted with what is called chronic diarrhoea for some ten years. Last fail I was in west-ern Pennsylvania, and accidentally was introduced to Chamberlain's Colle, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy. I ventured to make a trial and was wonderfully relieved. I would like now to introduce it among my friends. H. M. Lewis, 24 Freeman street, Cleveland, O.

Murdered and Robbed.

GUTHRIE, Osl., Aug. 21 .- One night last January O. K. Rogers, a hardware merchant, and city clerk of Beaver, Okl., started from his store for home. Since that time he had nover been heard of. Yesterday two boys playing in the woods near Beaver, found Rogers' clothes conquoting the committee's the skeleton of their taining unsustains fortunate owner. In the skull was a bullet hole. When Rogers disappeared he had a large amount of money in his possession, and no doubt he was murdered and robbed.

Grover Cleveland's Estimate of the Exsoldiers of the Union. RIDICULED THEIR JUST DEMANDS No Opportunity Neglected to Express Ilis

Dissatisfaction With the System Calculated to Partially Reward the Country's Defenders.

WASTINGTON, D. C., ALZ, 21. - [Special to THE BEE.]-The study of the veto messages of Grover Cleveland furnishes Instructive information for old soldiers. In the first session of the Forty-ninth congress, Cieveland vetoed 115 pills. Of these 102 were bills to pension veteraus of the late war or their widows or dependent parents. The proportion of pension vetoes would have been much greater if Cieveland had had more time. He says in several of his messages that a large number of pension bills will become laws without his sanction, because he has not time to examine them thoroughly. However, his record was as good as could have been expected. The total number of pension bills vetoed by his predecessors was five. Here are some sample cases chosen from the 102:

The bill to pension Mrs. Annie C. Owen, widow of a second lieutenant in the volunteer service, was vetoed May 21, 1886. Evidently President Cleveland does not know that there are thousands of veterans entitled to pensions who are too proud to ask aid of the government so long as they can support themselves. Mrs. May should have anticipated her need of this pension. Here is the reason given by Grover Cleveland for refusing her the assistance justly granted by congress:

"There is nothing before me showing that the husband of the claimant ever filed an application for pension, though he lived nearly fourteen years after his discharge, and his widow's claim was not made until twantyone years after the alleged wound, and seven years after the husband's death."

An Insult to Congress.

On the 24th of May, 1886, vetoing the pen-sion bill of James C. Chandier, Mr. Cleve-land paid this wholesale insult to congress: "There still remained an appeal to congress and probably there were not wanting those who found their interests in advising such an appeal, and who had at hand congressional precedents which promised a favorable result. That the parties interested did not

On the 28th of May, 1886, Grover Cleve-land sent back the bill pensioning J. D. Haworth. Committees of the house and senate had given the case careful investigation and the congress of the United States had passed on it favorably. Yet Grover Cleveland stepped in with the abrupt an-nouncement that "from the information furnished me I am convinced that the difficulty alleged by this applicant had its origin in causes existing prior to his enlistment," and and putting his individual opinion up as infallible sent the bill back to the senate. Success at a Widow. On the same day he sent sent back to the house the bill for the relief of the widow of Wilber H. Eldridge with this sneer; "It is not a pleasant thing to interfere in such a case, but we are dealing with pensions and not gratuities.' On June 1, 1886, Cleveland sent back to the senate the bill to pension M. Romann with the statement that certain allegations "tend to induce the suspicion that the decision of the pension bureau was entirely just and that this bill is not based upon substantial

In the case of Augustus F. Stevens, the evidence, according to the report of the sen-ate committee, was "biased in about equal proportion for and against the claimant." Congress chose to give the old soldier the benefit of the doubt. Grover Cleveland pre-ferred to set the balance against him and, working the doubt the set of the sold sold of the

Imagine the workfield veteran or his widow asking "sympathy and charity" from Grover Cleveland !

Cleveland! A similar case was that of Mary Anderson widow of Richard Anderson. "His wife and family," says Cleveland, "present pitiable objects for sympathy, but I am unable to see how they bave any claim to a pension." Again in the case of Mary S. Woodson, widow of Henry Woodson, Cleveland says: "The condition of the family is such that it would be a nonline crailing tion to aid them would be a positive gratification to aid them in the manner proposed; but —." Wood-son was discharget from service on account of valvular disease of the heart. He left home twelve years before and though "his death may naturally be presumed," accord-ing to the veto message, the absence of proof that it was due to heart disease is sufficient to dam up the wellspring of pity in Grover's heart.

Falls Back on Technicalities,

The case of R. J. Millwain was particu-larly pitiable. He suffered such pain from the stump of a leg which he lost in the service that he had to take morphine to re lieve it. An overdose of the drug resulted in his death. Technically his death did not result from wounds received in the service and the pension bureau was obliged to reject his widow's claim. Congress took a broader view of the case and passed an act to pension the widow. Grover Cleveland fell back on the technicalities of the pension bureau and Almost as pitlable was the case of Mrs.

Margaret A. Jacoby whose husband was made insane by military service, disappeared and is presumed by law to be dead. The only natural presumption is that he wandered away and died because of this mental infirmity. But natural presumptions were not popular with Grover Cleveland—in pension cases. "With proper diligence semething should be discovered to throw a little light upon this subject," he says, as he vetces Mirs. Jacoby's bill.

And in the face of this record Grover Cleveland said in a message to the house of representatives July 5, 1886: "None of us are entitled to credit for extreme tenderness and consideration toward those who fought their country's battles." Surely if any one is "entitled to credit" for these sentiments it cannot be Grover Cleveland

ARCHBISHOP CORRIGAN'S POSSTION.

He Gives Ills Views on the Cahensly Proposition.

BERLIN, Aug. 21 .- For some time past a report has been in circulation in Catholic circles in this city that Herr Caheusly had received a letter from Archbishop Corrigan of New York encouraging the former's offer to secure the election in America for Catholic immigrants of bishops of the same nationality as the people over whom they are appointed to preside. It was also said the German Catholics were exploiting the letter as showing that Archbishop Corrigan did not approve of the view of Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop Ireland on this question.

The agent of the Associated Press has succeeded in obtaining a copy of the letter of Archbishop Corrigan. In it occurs the following passage: "As to the general question of the election of bishops for the United States you have no doubt aiready seen the letter of Cardinal Ledochowski on this subject. Now that the problem is solved, anthoritatively we all join hands in working for the advancement of our boly faith.'

Sr. PETERSBURG, Aug. 21.-The official cholera report issued yesterday shows better general condition of affairs. According to the reports there were 6,902 cases of the disease vesterday throughout the country and 2,270 deaths. This is an increase of 974 new cases and 1,018 deaths, as compared with the figures for Thursday. It also shows a large fecrease in the proportion of deaths to the number of cases.

The disease continues to abate in Nizhnee Novgorod. Travelers report that cholera has been imported into Siberia by batches of convicts. No examination is made of them and if they are suffering with the disease no attention is given them. They are not even isolated.

The last Arab attacks, reports Lieutenant Tobbak, were at Riverivia. Several power-ful chiefs, including Tippoo Tibb, remain faithful. Another revolt is expected.

The Board of Public Works and Sidewalk Inspector Wilson did not let the quiet and beautiful Sabbath day pass without indulging in one of their frequent rows.

Yesterday the chairman of the board mailed Mr. Wilson a letter defining his duties and instructing him to report on certain work this morning. Mr. Wilson took the document from the postoffice, gazed at the postmark, the official card in the left hand upper corner of the envelope and then clapng a special delivery stamp upon the docu-

Congress thought the soldier entitled to a hearing. Grover Cleveland thought "the limitation thus fixed a very wise one and that it should not, in fairness to other claimants, be relaxed for causes not mentioned in the statute; no should the door be opened to applications of Grover Is Facetious. Through many of these vetoes there runs a vein of humor which could only be suggested by the conditions to a man who fought by by the conditions to a man who fought by proxy.
