FINISHING THE RACES.

Fieldmont Wins the Unfinished :20 Pace Great Time in the :35 Pace,

It was hardly 1:30 when Starter Swigert rang the bell for the sixth heat in the 2:20 pacing race, postponed on account of darkness Thursday night. Things had materially changed since the night before and the favorits in the pools dropped back to second place and Fieldmont moved up a peg. Bonnie B was ruled out for not winning a heat in five; four starters therefore came out to cettle one of the most interesting contests of the meeting. The horses got away on even terms, Fieldmont leading at the first turg, followed closely by Fred K. Just before the half was touched Prince T, the Omaha horse, left his feet, although close up in the line and for a hundred yardsman.for his life. When the string got into the stretch Fred K moved up on the pace-setter and then left his feet, to the disgust of bundreds who were backing him, running under the wire. Prince T was far in the rear when the flag fell, and another norse was out of the race. Fieldmont finished first, Fred K second, Door Knob third, Prince T distanced. Time: 2:2414.

Two borses had each taken two beats and the excitement was intense. When the seventh heat was called the three horses left eut of seven starters got away in good shape, Fieldmont showing the way, Fred K shape, Fieldmont showing the way, Fred K close up, and Door Knob, holding the sulkies, a bit bebind. The race was a dandy, the norses working like clockwork. At the three-quarter pole Fred K went up and Door Knob took the place and the race was ended. Fieldmont first, Door Knob second, Fred K third. Time: 2:26%. Summary:

Frank P's Easy Plucking.

The first race on the program was a trot for the 2:25 class for a purse of $600, with eight starters:

Frank P was the favorite in the pools, but foe Garneau was sufficiently of the opinion Joe Garneau was sufficiently of the opinion that Major Buford would give the favorite a chase for first place, and backed him to win. The sequel shows how well Nebraska's com-missioner general was posted. In the draw Major Buford was placed fourth. He led the procession when the word was given, Bob Kneebes in the sulky, and for the first o unter trotted mannin.

and for the first quarter trotted magnifi-cently, urged by Lady Savage, who was close behind, Frank P well up in the line. For a half mile the race was as pretty a contest as any one could desire; then Major Bu-ford went off his feet and the associates of the Omaha flyer closed in, Frank P seizing the pole. In the stretch Buford again broke and could not be brought down until long after the wire was passed, and for this display of ugliness was set back to third place, Frank P finishing first, Lady Savage sec-ond, Ibis fourth, Mambrino Thorn fifth, Vic-tor Wilkes sixth, A B C seventh. Time:

2:27%. The second heat was equally interesting, the race to the quarter bringing six of the horses together in a bunch, but from there it was a procession until the three-quarter pole was reached, when Mambrino Thorn moved up and the stretch showed four horses quite inside the mark, Major Buford off his feet and running like the wind, Frank P first.

Time: 2:27¹4. There was little interest shown in the third heat, it being a foregone conclusion that Frank P would be the winner. There was little time lost in getting the word and the eight horses were soon swinging round the circle. At the half again the quarter pole they were sufficiently untangled to show light between them, Frank P well up. The finish was a beauty, although the favorite had it by two lengths. Time: 2:2514.

trial, when they new down the track like a cyclone, Nick Baker showing the way. At the quarter Charley K tried to cat up the distance that separated him from Nick Baker and almost succeeded. They were all to-gether as if getting their pictures taken at the head of the stretch. Nick finished first, Uharley K second, Yankee Ban, his first race by the way, third, Jim Tucker fourth and Orphan Boy fifth. Time: 53%. Mr. Nobles carries the role of a tragedian Mr. Nobles carries the role of a tragedian famous before the war, who marries a New York banker's daughter and becomes his secretary. A forgery is committed, circum-stances point to the secretary as the guilty man and he enlists in the army under an as-samed name. He forsakes his wife, whose faith in his innocence wavered, and at the close of the war he wanders into the west and becomes a barn-stormer.

Eighteen years after his disappearance the drama brings the tragedian, his wife and a daughter (born after his disappearance) to the same mountain summer resort in New England. The young girl persuaces the strolling actor to take part in an amateur performance in honor of her lover's birth-day. For that purpose the tragedian uses a scene from a war drama he has written, which paraphrases some of his own sad history. In this play within a play he represents a colonei who has come home to be confronted by his forsaken wife and a daughter he knew not of. His true wife, who is in the little audience, recognizes a daughter (born after his disappearance) to wife, who is in the little audience, recognizes him on his entrance, assumes the place of the amateur in the mimic play and is recor-nized by her husband, the tragic colonel, who is overcome by the shock and thrown into a delirium. Of course he has recovered in the instact and become reconciled to his wife, and the forgery is placed at the door of the real criminal. Viltainy has fittle place in the drama be-Viliality has fittle place in the drama be-yond giving it its original motive, and the action of the play is almost as quiet in its developments as the pastoral scenes among which most of it takes place. It is romantic, with a byplay of love and dashes of comedy, but after all the fate of the unfortunate tragedian is thei dominant element. The role as interpreted by Mr. Nobles is pathetic, but gentle and at no time harrowing. In his characterization of the tragedian whose memory lives in happier days, he escapes memory lives in happier days, he escapes the temptation to caricature and presents a character study admirable in conception and character study admirable in conception and excellent in portrayal. It is really wonderful how well dainty Dolly Nobles rotains her youthful freshness all these years. Her role was that of the 17-year-old daughter of the tragedian and she played the ingenue with charming vivacity and graceful, girlish sprightliness. Mr. Nobles seems to have a company of compe-tent people, who will give him adequate sup port when familiar with their work. The play is touching without being violent, and, while not remarkably original or powerful reaches tender sympathies, and is calculated to please the average audience.

Cebron sold favorite in the pools. In the draw for place Luiu G got the pole. When the fivers touched the quarter Lulu G, Belle Simmons and Cebron had their noses tosether, almost, and paring a race for your life. By the three-quarter mark Cebron stole away into a clear field and was not pressed either for time. Belle Simmons fin-ished second, Lulu G third, Fascination, King Priam, finishing in the order named.

Now here's where a new mark was made. In the second heat there was blood on the face of the charioteer of the sun, and it was blood, blue blood, too, shat wor. Without much ado the horses were sent away. Cebron pointing the desired direction, but not for long. Lulu G, a beautiful chestnut and one of Consul's likeliest daughters, hung to the bay stallion's sulky wheels until the quarter was reached, then a change came over the face of the landscape and the summer girl left the wheels of Cebron's sulky. climbed up breast to breast, nose and nose. It toos her half a mile to do this. Then a head shot into the air ahead of Cebron and a shout went up. Then light shone between the sulkies and into the stretch came the two horses working like perfect machinery thoroughly oiled. Down the nome Lulu increased the distance and she finished a winner by three lengths, Cebron second, Belle Simmons third, Fascination fourth and King Priam beyond the distance flag, shut out. Time: 2:23%. And that was the way Lulu G came to get a new mark that puts her in the 2:25 class.

The next two heats were a repetition of the second, Lulu G never being headed, Cobron second, Belle Simmons finishing fourth in the last heat and Fascination third, reversing the positions they got in the third neat. Time: 2:2714 and 2:3014. Summary inscination. 4 4 4 3 5 dis King Priam. Time: 20284, 20234, 20274, 20304.

Hamburg Officials Responsible for the Spread of the Plague.

Loxnox, Sept. 2 .- The Standard's Hamburg correspondent says that although the cholera is reported to be abatung, the number of victims is again very heavy. The disease rages with the most virulence in the suburbs of Horn and Hammerbrook, where hundreds were attacked and many died within two hours. The interments since last night number 313. It is reported that the people of Hamburg have carried the infection to twenty-three towns in Germany. The Standard's Berlin telegram has the following: The imperial health office reports that the first case of cholera appeared in Hamburg on August 26. The epidemic proba-bly originated with Russian immigrants. All the water that they used, their excreta, etc., were poured into an arm of the river Elbe near their barracks without any disinfection whatever.

Bargains in Cent's Furnishing We are pleased to sell; we sell to please. Coods, Always.

Good, honest made, well fitting, desirable styles of clothing is sold at par by every first class establishment, no matter in what city or what country. The average merchant is anxious to succeed, and to do so he must sell his wares at an advance. The philanthropist in the trade, especially in Omaha, has disappeared. No clothing house will give you a gold dollar for 90c (it might a cold one) no matter how much red, black or blue ink is used to make the assertion or how heavy they may underline the important words. Their competitors have the same power to buy and sell and about as much money to invest in whatever bargains may be affort. Then when a reputable clothing merchant broad casts his prices marked in plain figures, he knows they are right and will protect his patrons.

We have never been undersold and always will adhere to one plain marked price, as our predecessor has done for 37 long years. We will continue to give you value received for every dollar's worth you may buy of us. We direct special attention to our new fail goods which have just arrived. Suits to fit any one in any style, cut or pattern immaginable, from the suit to fit a man weighing 500 pounds to a child 3 years old. They are all new and desirable, and you can come to us with the assurance that our goods are sold at par as regards price or quality with any reputable establishment in the country.

MAIL, Olt 1.1: RS -To our friends and customers in the surrounding country, we will send all orders by express subject to approval. We'll send you a wool suit from 45 up to the finest made. Just state your measure and what you want.
