MONEY IN NEBRASKA BANKS Where the Emplus Wealth of the People is Stored.

FIGURES OF INTEREST TO INVESTORS

The People of Nebraska Have Almost Fifty Dollars Per Capita to Their Credit in the State and National Ranks.

The Milling World, a paper published at Buffalo, N. Y., in the interest of millers, recently published the following:

"If we are to believe the crop figures and mortgage paying statistics published in these states (Neoraska, Kansas and lowa) they are prosperous commonwealths, in which a miller of means ought to be able to find many good chances for investment. If we are to believe the Weavers, the Peffers, the Simpsons and others of that class of men known as 'calamity howlers,' then Kansas, lowa and Nebraska are in a terrible fix, mortgaged to lamity howlers,' then Kansas, lowa and Ne-braska are in a terrible fix, mortgaged to death, their farmers weeping night and day over poor crop returns and low market values, and the mort-gages piling up so rapidly that the arithmetic can't keep up with the tremen-dous figures, and those states are good ones for a miller, or anybody else, to stay away from. If these men are lying about those states, they ought to be slienced, as they are doing just as much to check imaggration as though every one of their calamity represen-tations were wholly correct. If they are telling the truth, no outsider should invest a dollar in either of those states." The crop reports and mortgage-paying statistics in Nebraska are highly satisfactory as hinted in the above quotation, but in order to throw more light on the actual financial conditions prevailing in Nebraska, The Bee has compiled the following figures showing the amount of monay or depart in showing the amount of money on deposit in the oanks of Nebraska.

The first table shows only the deposits of the state banks. The total deposits for the state in the national banks are given in the second table, the figures for the separate counties not being available.

It will be observed that the deposits in state and national banks amount to $49.35 per capita, or almost $50 for every man, woman and child in the state. The figures are compiled from the July re-ports of the state banking department and the comptroller of the currency of the

The intro-duction of this branch of manufacture in Omaha would mean the employment of large number of men.

To Much Ice Cream.

C. H. Robrer, agent of the Missouri Pacific railway, New Haven, Mo., says: "I suffered a great deal one hot evening last week, (July 21.) I had eaten ace cream for supper, and there seemed to be an internal conflict going on. A traveling man said he had something in his grip at the hotel that he believed would relieve me, and producing a small bot-tle of medicine gave me a dose. I felt better, and in a few moments took another dose, which entirely relieves me. I believe that such a medicine is worthy of recommenda-tion and that it should be kept in the house during the summer. The bottle was labeled Chamberlain's Colic. Cholera and Diarraces Remedy." THE SPECULATIVE MARKETS

At the Cutset the Feeling Was Inclined to Be Panicky.

TRADING IN ALL THE PITS WAS LIGHT Corn Opened Very Weak on the Cholera Scare-For a Time That Cereal Seemed Without Friends and

There Was a Heavy Pressure.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 3. - The news of the arival of another cholera ship at New York had been received before the business opened on the Board of Trade this morning, and this, to-gether with the weaker cables, reported fine weather, the anticipated increase of 3,250,000 bu. in the visible supply on Monday, the extreme weakness in corn and the falling off of 1,500,000 bu. in exports for the week compared with last week, caused a lower open-ing in wheat. At the outset the feel-ing was inclined to be panicky, but the fact that wheat was already very low and that all adverse conditions had already been pretty thoroughly discounted, led to free buying by the cooler head traders. This not only prevented any further decline, but caused a steady appreciation in values until the loss at the opening was about recovered. Shorts, too, took advantage of the opening break to cover their contracts and maws sure of profits which some unforeseen development in the cholera situation might deprive them of before the next session of the board on Tuesday morning—Monday being Lubor day, a legal holiday—with no session of the board. The trading in all of the pits was light and was largely confined to evening-up deals against holiday contingencies. The appreciation in the early trading in wheat was assisted by telegrams reporting the cholera outbreak on the steamer Rugia less serious in its fatilities than at first related, and by reports of the heavy and damaging rains in the northfact that wheat was already very low and of the heavy and damaging rains in the north-west. The market then became hesitating and nervous, fluctuating frequently within a and nervous, fluctuating frequently within a comparatively narrow range, until near the end of the session, when a report was received that two cases of cholera bad appeared in Ba timore. This caused a stampedeto sell and the market broke nearly a cent, closing weak and practically at inside figures. December opened be lower at 70%c, advanced to 76%c and clo ed at 76c. September touched 72%c, the lowest figure reached in several years.

Corn opened very weak on the cholera scare, a reduction of 1d in price at Liverpool, the heavy receipts today and expected larze arrivals on Tuesday. For a time this cereal seemed without friends and there was a neavy soliling pressure. Opening saies were at a decline of 5c, compared with yesterday's last saies, and a further decline of 5c was at once made.

cline of $\frac{1}{2}$c, compared with yesterday's last sales, and a further decline of $\frac{1}{2}$c was at once made.

Then in sympathy with the advance in wheat and on reports of colder weather with probable frosts in the corn belt, a gradual appreciation, which with immaterial reactions carried values up to a point which covered the loss for Friday's close with something to spare. But the advance did not hold; longs were free seliers and shorts were putting out new lines. The result was duliness and finally a sharp decline, when wheat went off on the Baltimore cholera scare. There was some recovery at the last on covering by shorts. Around the opening October sold at $470 and $636, advanced to $4740, broke to $634, and closed at $4740.

Oats were rather quiet and weak in sympathy with the lower prices for wheat and corn and closed with a loss of at from $20 to 10.

Traders in the provision pit at the opening seemed to feel that the cholera scare had been fully discounted by the recent heavy decline in hog products. In addition to this the receipts of hogs were very light and prices were again higher. Pork opened unchanged at $10.35 for October, advanced to $10.47%, sold off with grains to $10.25 and closed at $10.30, a loss compared with yesterday's last price of 5c. Lard is $24c lower, except January, which is $25c bigher. Ribs are $25c0 be to Tuesday: Wheat, Traders' Taik.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 3.—Counselman & Day to Cockrell Commiss on Co.: The wheat market ruied heavy and a depression caused by further choicers in New York harbor. fine wheat weather. 3d lower Liverpool cables and 1,30 cars estimated receipts for Monday. Corn opened on 3d 2c break under ston loss order sales but railied it con strong buying of October by shippers and speculators and free cornering by May shorts, including some receivers. On the estimate of 1,650 cars for Monday the market yielded 3c and closed rather soft in sympathy with wheat. Oats opened quieter with few bidders and the market rema ned easier until the estimates of 810 cars for Monday were received. The prospects to have to care for nearly 1,000,000 bushels of cash oats caused a rush by September longs to let go, and near futures broke about ic, closing weak at the inside. Provisions, as we have predicted, were supported by local talent. The Cudahy-Wright combination tried to unload October ribs under cover and buy January lard, although openly Wright was an ostensible buyer of September and October ribs. All packers bought pork heavily, including the Cudahys, and Armour & Co. were moderate seilers of October ribs. Packers generally are seiling all the October ribs they think they can get.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 3.—F. G. Logan & Co. to Duncan. Hollinger & Co.: The markets opened lower on the arrival of the steamer Rugha at New York with reported twenty-three deaths from cholers and ten on the sick list. Toward the close prices again weakened on a rehash of an earlier report of the arrival of the steamer Normannia with five deaths from cholera. During the session there was good buying for foreign account and liberal charters, 220,000 being taken. The two dominating weak features are cholera and heavy receipts. With the former out of the way the feature it does, as our shipping demand is good, the price low. Corn opened off with a rush. Every one had selling orders largely from the outside. The buying was largely by a few large tr Traders' Talk.

values. Provisions ruled firmer on local support.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 3.—Kennett. Hopkins & Co. to S. A. McWhorter: The opening was wenk on reports of fresh choicra arrivals in New York, but the depression aid not last long and the market was reasonably steady most of the day with a light professional trade. Receipts and shipments at primary markets were about evenly balanced today which has not occurred for some time. The Paris market closed higher and the outlook favored higher prices, but the choicra scare hangs like a pall over the market and the close was weak. The opening for corn was very weak, but the market improved on a fair speculative demand. The outlook favored still higher prices, but weakness in wheat destroyed the better feeling. Increasing rece pts are a weak feature. In provisions the leading longs have again held the market, but in some quarters it is doubted if they will continue to do so with the grain market showing so much depression.

STOCKS, AND BONDS.

There Was a Material Rally in the Coal Shares. WALL STREET, New YORK, Sept. 3.—With a better understanding of the question at issue between the Reading and Pennsylvania roads over the tolls of coal, there was a disposition n the part of the local Wall street operators prices of coal shares in which there was a materini rally in all of them. The cholera scare has evidently had its day, as the report that several new cases had been brought into port failed to create even a ripple of interest on the board. The manipulations of the industrials were again at work, and were prominent buyers of sugar, though the improvement was probably legitimate, taking into consideration the possible interruption of supplies from abroad. There was an attempt to take advantage of further liquidation at the opening, but, while first prices were from 14 to 14 per cent lower than those of last even-16 to 14 per cent lower than those of last evening, offerings of stocks were limited, and the shorts were compelled to turn their attention to buying to cover immediately.

Few of the local operators wish to allow a double holiday to pass with open short accounts, and the lack of sellers, therefore, had the effect of immediately rallying the market and a firm temper was established in the general list, notwithstanding the comparative duliness which prevailed and which lasted throughout the session. The activity in Reading, Sugar and St. Paul was still marked, but the recoveries in prices were most con-

LIVE STOCK MARKETS. Conditions and Circumstances of the Trade

the proportion of range cattle has been rather smaller than anticipated the offerings of natives have been more liberal than dealers were looking for. Good, ripe cattle, whether natives or westerns, have been good seiters all week, notwithstanding the fact that there has been practically no speculative and shipping demand, at le stas far as concerned the beef grades. The swift, Hammond and Cudahy houses have been free buyers all week, especially the latter house, and for this reason the trade has not felt the absence of outside buyers.

The extremely liberal receipts of cows and mixed stock have caused a weakened feeling has not felt the absence of outside buyers.

The extremely liberal receipts of cows and mixed stock have caused a weakened feeling on everything in this line, but prices are still considerably short of the prices prevailing a year ago at this time. Good fat cows and helfers are exceedingly scarce and that will, in a measure at least, account for the low figures realized. The same is in a measure at least true of the stocker and feeder trade. Business has lacked the strength and activity of the previous week, but this weakness has been most apparent on the commoner grades, while holders of good to choice well bred steers of good flesh and weight found little difficulty in effecting a sale at a decant price. The entire trade has a good undertone and with moderate supplies any weakness can be but temporary.

Receipts of cattle were light even for a Satunday, and contrary to expectations there were very few westerns among them. The market was steady all around. Good fat beef steers sold readily at satisfactory prices, and while the off grades were slow in moving, there was little if any decline in values. Fair to good 950 to 1,250-lb steers sold at from $3.05 to $3.55. A good clearance was effected.

Butchers' stock and canners sold at generally unchanged prices. The supply was $1,50, and fair to good westerns at from $3.07 to $3.55. A good clearance was effected.

Butchers' stock and canners sold at generally unchanged prices. The supply was not excessive, and it did not take long to clear up the offerings. Sales were at from $1.00 to $2.50. Bulls, oxen and stags were steady to weak at from $1.00 to $2.25. Calves were freely offered, and on this account prices were considerably lower, with sales at from $1.50 to $4.55.

There was no life to the stocker and feeder trade, and on all but the best grades prices ruled lower. The volume of trading was very light Representative sales:

Hoos-With a falling off of nearly 12,000 in receipts compared with last week an advance in prices was naturally to be expected. The market as a whole has been very uneven, in common parilance a "sway-back." I. e. high at the opening and close of the week and low in the middle hog prices necessarily follow the prices of provisions and vice versa. At present the provision market is very unsettled and hogs likewise. Another disturbing feature is the uncertainty in the shipping demand. So long as this keeps up prices are likely to be fairly well maintained, but with the near approach of the winter packing season packers are naturally quick to take advantage of any let up in the shipping demand to hammer prices. Quality continues to be the main consideration, weight cutting but little figure.

Receipts are usually light on Saturday, and today was no exception. There were only twenty-six cars on saie, the quality about up to the average. The market opened active and about 15c higher than Friday on all grades. Local houses were the only buyers, the supplies being too small to induce much of a speculative or shipping demand. An easier feeling obtained along toward the close but everything was out of first hands by noon. Praces were naturally very uneven, but in general commonish light to choice, light to prime heavy nogs sold at from $5.03 to $5.00, with the bulk of the fair to good hogs at from $4.05 to $5.05, Friday and $4.55 to $4.00 last Saturday. The general average of prices paid was from $5.14½ to $5.005, Friday and $4.85 to $4.00 last Saturday. Representative sales:

THE CONDITION OF TRADE

The Past Week Barren of Any New

Features. THE JOBBING TRADE KEEPS UP ITS PACE

Purely Local Business Enterprises Not Very Active-Something Needed to Give More Snap to Omaha's Retail Trade.

In local trade circles few, if any, new features have been developed during the six days past. Omaha's jobbing trade continues active and, as a whole, most satisfactory. In the country retail merchants say that trade is not particularly rushing as the farmers are busy with threshing and other work incident to the season of the year, and are not spending much time in town. The farmers, however, all have money and when they do visit town they are far more liberal buyers than they would be under different circumstances. Thus the country retail merchants have a good steady cash trade. It is this that keeps up the movement of goods in a jobbing way and gives Omaha the best business in that line ever experienced.

"We did not brag very much last month about our business," said a prominent jobber, "for while we seemed to be having a very good trade it did not strike us as being particularly large. Since the close of the mouth we have figured up and find that our business last month was 25 per cent greater than for the month of Au-gust, 1861, and we thought that we were doing a very good business last fall. I also find," continued the same speaker, "after making careful inquiry, that our house is no making careful inquiry, that our house is no exception to the rule, but that all the jobbing houses of Omaha are doing a large and satisfactory business."

Another jobber remarked that they had about all the business during the past week that they could handle with their present force and that they had been rushed early and late to fill orders.

This is the general trend of the conversation among the local jobbers and serves to tion among the local jobbers and serves to emphasize only more fully what The Bee has been claiming for a long time, namely, that the jobbing business of Omaha is in a most prosperous condition and that the volume of prosperous condition and that the volume of trade surpasses any previous year.

This is not all, however, for not only are present conditions most satisfactory, but the outlook for the later fall and winter business was never brighter.

While the abundant crops which place money in the pockets of the farmers are generally given all the credit for the growth in the wholesale has used of owners at the wholesale.

the wholesale business of Omaha, still that is not the only cause. Nebraska is filling up with people. Counties which a very short time ago were only unorganized territory with scarcely a settler are now filled with prosperous farmers. The number of new towns that have sprung up in Nebraska dur-ing the past year or two would surprise any one who has not given particular attention to the subject. This of itself would be sufficient to largely increase the jobbing business of Omaha. While the jobbers may look upon the present good trade which they are enjoying as due only to good crop returns, still there is no prospect of the volume of pusiness ever dropping dawn again to the business ever dropping down again to the level of previous years. Some unforeseen and widespread financial depression might cause a shrinkage but the results from such causes would be of only a temporary character. It is safe to assume that the increase in business over previous years is a perma-nent gain and will continue with perhaps slight interruptions so long as the population of the west keeps on growing.

The jobbers of Omaha might as well real-The jobbors of Omaha might as well realize the actual situation one time as well as another and prepare for it. Those who are struggling along trying to keep up with the business with their present facilities, expecting that there will be a cessation of the rush later on, will be disappointed. The jobbing business of Omaha has made a permanent growth and the jobbers will be forced to grow with it. forced to grow with it. Local Retail Trade,

In the retail trade of Omaha the changes the past week have also been very alight. There does not appear to be very much activity in business enterprises of a purely local character. Some merchants are doing a fair business, but there is no snap to trade and it is generally quoted as dull. Among some there is an anticipation of an improvement later in the season, while others, of a less hepeful disposition, do not look for any marked improvement until another year roll around. Business appears to have reached the low ebb point and it might not take much to start it in the opposite direction. The undertaking of some enterprise or enterprises which would give steady employment to a few hundred additional men would, without doubt, have a most beneficial effect AS DUN SEES IT.

Nebraska Trade Through the Eyes of a Specialist-That Bank Failure. Jobbing trade continues excellent in nearly every line, said Manager Roberson of R. G. Dun & Co's Mercantile agency. "While trade locally in retail circles shows no marked improvement, the orders for goods from the country tributary to Omaha are exceptionally good. Sugar has advanced half a cent per pound in the past week, and this has stimulated buying of that staple. The advance is partly attributed to the increased demand of fruit canners and preserving works in sections of the union favored with a good fruit crop. The price of canned fruits and preserves will be high, as the crop in most parts of the United States is a failure. "The ovster men were considerably elated the first part of the week over the prospect of cool weather for opening the September trade. The return of warm weather has postponed active oyster sales for the time, "The banks have all the money they know what to do with and are fiving upon the lope that the demand for their surplus will not be much longer delayed. Crops are moving. Grain dealers are in the field and builders are pushing their work in anticipation of winter. These and other indications lead to the belief that before the month ends the idle funds now in bank will be more largely called into use.

"Speaking of banking brings to mind the fact that the banks of Nebraska are generally staunch institutions, and failures and embarrassments among them are so rare that when one occurs it becomes something of a sensation. The State bank of Nebraska at Crete was closed by order of the state board of bank examiners Friday afternoon. Attorney General Hastings, on behalf of the state authorities, served notice on E. M. Harrington, cierk in charge, that he would on Wednesday next apply to Chief Justice Maxwell for the appointment of a re-ceiver. An attachment notice in favor of ceiver. An attachment notice in lavor of the county treasurer was tacked on the building late Friday night to secure a claim of $4,300. This, however, it is thought will be set aside. The capital of the bank was $75,000 under the original charter, but this was reduced to $50,000. George D. Stevens, the cashler, and his friends were supersed to have taken to $50,000. George D. Stevens, the cashler, and his friends were supposed to have taken up this stock, but it now appears that the negotiations for placing a portion were not completed and that Stevens went east to secure some active man who would put in capital and give his time to the business of the bank, Mr. Stevens' prolonged and unexplained absence brought the affairs to a crisis. The reserve in the Union National, Chicago and Hanover National, New York, is intact, and Cashler Stevens does not appear to have Cashier Stevens does not appear to have taken any funds with him. Thus far comparatively few persons regard the bank as insolvent; on the contrary, our authorities generally agree that the bank has ample organized. "Our travelers in the interior of the state report local trade rather quiet and collec-tions a little slow, but the threshing ma-chines are at work and the small grain is beginning to move, and very shortly this should liven up collections and increase merchandise sales. Wheat and oats are yielding well and corn is promising. Recent rains have improved the pasturage and the outlook generally is favorable for a prosperous season."
