Lost Her Apples, but Saved Her Life. An old lady named Anderson, who lives in the country, had a narrow escape from serious injury and possible death under the wheels of a Northwestern freight train Saturday. She was attempting to cross the tracks on Lower Broadway when a passenger train came in from the north. She thought she could cross in front of the train by hurrying a little, and the whip was applied to ner horse, and old and shattered relic, with a gusto that had the desired offect. When she had crossed the track she and to her dismay that a northbound freight train was coming to-wards her on the same track upon which she was standing, and out a short dis-tance away. She evidently thought that it would not do to go straight ahead, and pulling the rein, started up the track, apparently hoping to outrue the freight. A moment later her horse shied and made a wild break over a pile of rock and railroad iron two or three feet high. How she over got off the rock pile alive was a mystery to the bystanders. Her greatest injury was the bystanders. Her greatest injury was the loss of several bushels of crub apples which she had in the back of the waron, and which broke out and rolled in all directions when the vehicle mounted the pile of stone The harness was ready to fall from the horse at the end of the encounter.

Mayor Lawrence Buys Some of His Office Furniture in Omaha.

WHY THE POLICEMEN WERE KICKING

some of Their Farniture Was Levied Upon by the Mayor. Who Agrees to Return it Today - A Teapot Tempest.

The doctrine of patronizing home institutions had its neck wrung most cruelly Saturday, and at the hands of no less distinguished a personage than Mayor Lawrence. Howl after how has gone up from the official organ of the city government at the residents of Council Bluffs who parsisted in buying goods in Omaha instead of at home, but the payor disregarded the howis and went to Omata, bought a table for his new office in the city building and hal it delivered Saturday morging.

There was a slight unpleasantness between the mayor and the members of the police force Saturday morning, arising from the fact that the mayor took a fancy to some of the furniture that had adorned the room that was formerly used as the private office of the chief of police, but more recently as the mayor's office. When Mayor Lawrence moved his quarters inst Saturday to his room in the new city building he took out all the furniture excepting the stove and the carpet and put it in his own office. The furniture had been bought by the policemen with the proceeds of a number of bails that they had given during the preceding administration, and they very naturally felt that the mayor was taking a good many liberties when he undertook to remove it. They did not say any thing to him, however, for none of then cared to resign on account of an incompati-bility of opinions between themselves and the mayor. But in some way the mayor binty of opinions between themselves and the mayor. But in some way the mayor beard of the dissatisfaction, and when the patrolmen gathered in their room last evening, just before the night shift went on duty he told them that he had been led to believe that the furniture was the property of the city and he had no local the property of the city and he had no idea that he was treading upon any one's toes when he took it away. He assured them that he had no desire to take anything that did not belong to him and that the furniture would be put back in its old place by Officer Wyatt and his chain gang this morning. New Districts Created by Order of the Board of Public Works. The Board of Public Works Saturday issued orders for the laving of 5,000 square feet of permanent side walk. Of this amount about four-fifths will be of stone and the balance of artificial stone. The walks will be laid along Mason, between Touth and Eleventh streets; Chicago, between Sixteenth stroots; and Seventeenth fourth, between Farnam and Dodge streets; Capitol avenue, between Eleventh and Twelfih streets and along Twenty-fourth street, between Nicholas and Paul. In the matter of laving stone walks, the members of the board claim that they have had considerable trouble with J. W. Furnas & So.s, the stone contractors. They claim that they are behind with their work and de not make any attempt to get material on the ground. Owing to this delay the work on the east side of Sixteenth, between Jones and Leavenworth streets, was take from them and turned over to Foru & Huse,

SUCCESSFULLY LAUNCHED.

Opening Promise of the Omaha Presbyterian Theological Seminary. A little over a year ago the first formal steps were taken in Omaha for the establishment of a theological seminary. A meeting of representative Prespyterians from the states of Nebrasea, Kansas and lowa was held in this city and it was the unanimous opinion that the time had arrived when the Presbyterian church in the great central west should make an aggressive step in the direction of providing a school for the education of young ministers of the gospel here in the Missouri valley metropolis. This conviction was followed by a united and harmonious effort all along the line and in a very short time the theological seminary of Omaha was a reality. In September last year the school opened with an attendance of nine young men. The year's work was very satisfactory both to the faculty and the young men of the firs class, and the wisdom of the effort to establish the school is proven now at the opening of the second year by an attendance which is almost double that of last year. The opening exercises of the seminary for this year were held at the First Presbyterian church last Tuesday night and were attendchurch last Tuesday night and were attendeu by a large and interested audience. Drs.

Harsha, Phelps Sterling, Saxton and Lowrie, all members of the faculty, were present.
Dr. Stephen Phelps opened the meeting by reading a passage of scripture. Dr. Sterling offered prayer and Dr. Matthew
B. Lowrie delivered the address.
The address was very appropriate and impressive, touching the importance of the work that the vonce men had uncertaken the work that the young men had uncertaken and impressing upon them the necessity of a thorough preparation for the many duties that devolve upon the successful pastor.

The Omaha Tucological seminary, although trictly Presbyterian as to church polity. open to young men of all denominations who desire to prepare for the ministry. It is the only Prestyterian seminary of the kind be-tween Chicago and San Francisco. Dr. Seorge L. Miller of this city generously do-ated to the seminary twenty-five acres of land in his beautiful Seymour park. Upon this superb site a handsome building is soon to be erected. The school will be conducted in he Second Presbyterian church this year, and ready for use by the opening of the school year in the fall of 1893.

The course of instruction covers three years of seven months each. Last year all ose who entered were enrolled, of course, the first year. Following are the names of those in the eginning class this year: C. N. Armstrong, A. Beravek, H. A. Carnahan, Joseph Fal-Cosh, C. A. Mitchell, G. T. Noyce, David Ostler, Charles E. Rice. These are in the second year class: C. H. Bandy, E. A. Euders, Alexander Litherland, Hugh McNineh, E. W. Symends, B. C.

The list comprises young men from Mis-ouri, Kansas, lowa and Nebraska. Joseph Faltoost is a batter of Syria.
The faculty consists of: Rev. William W. Harsha, D.D. LL.D., professor of didactic and polomic theology; Nev. Stephen Pheips D.D., professor of ecclesiastical, nomiletical and pastoral theology; Rev. A traveling man said he had something n his grip at the hotel that he believed would relieve me, and producing a small bot-tle of medicine gave me a dose. ## WINTER WHEAT IN NEBRASKA.

Dr. George L. Miller Wants to See More Attention Given to This Crop.

Dr. George L. Miller is very much of an enthusiast on the subject of winter wheat for Nebraska, and has worked up the executive committee of the Columbian commission to the pitch of starting out to make a very extensive exhibit in this respect at the World's fair.

"There is no reason," said the doctor. why Nebraska should not raise 100,000,000 nstead of 18,000,000 bushels of this great pereal every year. It is a staple crop, and the fertile prairies of this state will yield a return of from twenty-five to forty bushels per acre. I will admit that corn is king, but that is simply another argument in favor of wheat, for with a rotation of crops land will give greater returns than it will any other way. Take our thousands of acres of corn land throughout the state today, and go out with a drill and drill in the wheat between the rows of corn. The corn roots will hold the moisture just as the roots of trees would do, and be of material benefit to the sprouting grain. Then after the corn is busked in the fall, crush down the corn stalks and the wheat is there with but little expense. In two years out of three it will make a good crop, and even if it does not the land is better off than it would be without it. There is any amount of land in this state that would pay a big return for this kind of cultivation that is now yielding practically nothing. My advices go to show that the crop that is paying off the that the crop that is paying off the mortcages in this state today is wheat. I am confident that the great advantages offered not thoroughly appreciated either at home or abroad, and I hope that our Columbian com-mission will make it a special feature at the World's fair. We not only ought to be raising more wheat, but the great water power of the state should be utilized to run big flouring mills that would fully equal those at Minneapolis. The state of Nebraska is a garden spot and there is no reason under the sun why it should not be one of the richest states in the union. Half of the farmers in s state today are not farming intelligently, but even as it is they are getting rich. There are many things to be improved upon. With the development of the country will come the quadrupling of the stock yards, and there will be found an immense mass of fer tilizer that will find its natural resting spot on Nebraska farms. This land will soon be-come too valuable for farms of the size that we find today, and then we will see farms of about eighty or a hundred acres, and cul-tivating them a set of farmers working more intelligently than they do now. All this talk about the farmers being a lot of paupers makes me mad. Such a thing is impossible on the firtile surface of this state. There never was another snot on earth where God smiled so generously with sunshine and rais as He does here, and a man on one of these forms, if he has any energy at all, will contique to grow rich in state of himself,"

SOUTH OMAHA. Encouraging Outlook Noted in the Realty

Market The realty market is looking up somewhat, movement is good, many transfers being recorded and many trades are on the tapis. Values are increasing and almost everything sells at a fair advance. The outlook for real estate in the Magic city, more than holding its own and steadily becoming more valuable each day, is very pright and encouraging. The real estate agents and dealers are not dle and if it is not a large trade they are engineering, it is one of the *malier ones, and there are a sufficient number of those to keep them busy. The inquiry for desirable property is very large and many strangers are in the city each day seeking investment. The $1,000,000 expended by the packers and stock yards company in improvements, besides the hundreds of thousands of dollars from other channels, has begun to show its effect upon the prosperity of the city. The confidence in the future of South Omnha seems to be stronger and more general, and those with money more eager to invest it here where the returns cannot fail to be but satisfactory.

The rental agencies are beseiged every day with inquirers for houses. There is a great scarcity of both houses and rooms for rent, and hardly a vacant dwelling house or desirable storeroom is to be found vacabt. A profitable investment would be in the erection of a number of good houses and cottages, for which tenants could be secured without number. The supply has never equaled the demand, notwithstanding the hundreds erected during the last two years. Rents are high and destrable dwellings bring good figures, and money is to be made by the erection of houses for rent.

Bad Accident on Twenty-Fourth Street. Another collision on North Twenty-fourth street last night about 9 o'clock gives addl tional strength to the claim for more light on that thoroughfare, A team of horses drawing a double-seated carriage going north and a single horse and buggy coming south on the east bulf of the street, which is paved, came together with a terrible crash, badly wrecking both vehicles and spilling the occupants all over the pavement. Both vehicles were badly wrecked and the horses slightly injured. Both drivers were sending their horses along at a pretty lively speed and the darkness made it impossible to see any great distance abead. They gathered themselves together and disappeare any names were learned. Each blamed the other for the accident. Collisions of this nature are of a frequen occurrence on North Twenty-fourth street. and that they do not result more seriously is a wonder. But one-half of the street is paved and the other with its weeds is aimost s impassible as an African jungle. Con-equently the hundreds, of vehicles passing ng that thoroughfare use the half of the street which is paved, and on a dark night a driver has fairly to pick his way, else be collides with a vehicle coming from the op-posite direction. Three or four more electric lights are needed on Twenty-fourth street, as there are none north of J street, and the nine blocks north to the city limits are i darkness.

He Had Faith in Sully.

Ex-Policeman John Falion has removed to Denver, and if Sulfivan and Corbett had never met in the Olympic club ring at New Orleans it is probable that the ex-police officer would still be a resident of the Magic City and conducting his business at the old stand. Mr. Falton firmly believed hat the big fellow would knock Pompadous Jim into oblivion, and he said so whenever the subject was discussed. The King boys, one of whom was Fallon's partender in the Q street saloon thought just the opposite and they said so load and often. The result of so much certainty on the outcome of the contest was bound to bring about some-thing more than talk. Fallon offered big onds and wagered his saloon against a sum of money which the King boys put up. They are now the proprietors of the saloon, and feel greatly indebted to Corbett for ending the pugilistic career of the tweive years
