NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Democrats Hold Their County Convention and Make Nominations.

IT WAS A VERY QUIET GATHERING

Names of the Lucky Men Who Were Favored by the Convention—Judges and Clerks of Election Appointed—Reputation of the Party.

The Pottawattamie county democrats held their convention yesterday. The court house was announced as the place of meeting, but lack of room compelled the committee to make arrangements at the last minute for the open house, and it was there that the delegates assembled.

At 11:30 o'clock the convention was called to order by Chairman Wadsworth of the county central committee, who stated that the gentlemen who had been selected for the office of temporary chairman had sent word that he would not be able to serve, and he therefore recommended that J. M. Kiley of Macedonia be appointed temporary chairman as a substitute and J. B. Johnson of Walnut temporary secretary. The recommendation was adopted.

A short talk from the new chairman, a committee on credentials was selected, one member from each precinct.

A committee of five was also appointed on the organization, consisting of the following: McElroy of Avea, S. G. Underwood of Keg Creek, John Gillfills of Carson, W. H. Knepper of Council Bluffs and J. B. Johnson of Washington.

On motion of J. J. Shea committee on resolutions was appointed, and it was decided that the report of the committee be read without reading. The following composed the committee: J. J. Shea of Council Bluffs, T. J. Wells of Danvers and S. N. Neola. Adjournment was then taken until 1:30 p. m.

Afternoon Session.

In the afternoon the delegates came together again, and after the report of the committee on credentials had been read and adopted a permanent organization was effected by the selection of S. B. Wadsworth as chairman and Frank Trimble and J. B. Johnson as secretaries.

J. J. Shea read the resolutions adopted by the committee on resolutions. The whole was read and referred to the committee on credentials. The resolutions were as follows: "For Cleveland and Reform" the republican party had its usual arraignment on account of its attitude on the question of prohibition. B. Hill read presented the regards of the convention for his stand in the present campaign. The report of the committee was concurred in, and the convention proceeded to the nomination of candidates.

W. H. Knepper wanted all nominations made by informal ballot, but his wish was disregarded and nominating speeches were limited to five minutes.

The office of county clerk was the first on the list. T. S. Campbell was named by J. J. Shea, and as there were no other candidates he was nominated by acclamation.

Fourth Ward—Over 415 Broadway, and select nine delegates.

Fifth Ward—At Squire's store building on Twenty-first street, and select nine delegates.

Sixth Ward—At 233 West Broadway, and select four delegates.

Musical Union band of Omaha will play at Manawa next Sunday.

HYPNOTIZED THE DEALER.

A North Dakota Gambler Who Successfully Hit the Combination.

Quite a commotion was raised in sporting circles in Grand Forks, N. D., a few nights ago by a stranger, dressed in the garb of a country merchant, winning at a single sitting $2,500 in Charlie Martin's gambling room. One evening he was seen, presumably a country merchant dropped into Martin's place and gazed around at the gamblers. He appeared to be greatly surprised at the extent of the gambling, while those who were present in the room of medium height, rather slim, high forehead, bald head. He was smooth shaven with eyes deeply set, and which shone with wondrous brightness. He tried his luck at different games with varying success. Finally he stopped at the roulette table and placed $1 on seventeen. The little ivory ball spun around a few times and dropped into thirtyeight. He did not appear to care about gambling any more and went into the saloon adjoining. Soon the gamblers began to go out for lunch, and he returned to the wheel where he sat down and began to play light. The room was now cleared of all the gamblers except the man at the wheel. The gambler who had been put into the man's face and his eyes fairly glistened as meanwhile he placed money on different numbers. A few men who had either gambled their money away or had been out of the room gathered around the player, seeing that he was beginning to play high. They noticed that the man at the wheel appeared to be under some influence, and was acting contrary to his desire. He would whirl the little ivory ball and it would stop on the number he wanted. The player was losing, he would pay the bet in the same ratio as if he had won. The on-lookers, of course, had no sympathy with the gambler, and they watched in silence. When the last dollar had been taken from the gambler, the player thrust the money before him into his pocket, never taking his eyes from the wheelman's face, and vanished through the door, which was the last that had been seen of him. The instant he was out of the room the man who manipulated the wheel reached his hands to his head and shuddered. When he discovered that the till was empty his excitement knew no bounds. He strove to get on his feet, but fell down and robbed, but he was informed by the bystanders, among whom were several well known citizens, that he was not the case, but that he had been paying off. He was taken twenty minutes in a very reckless manner and he had not been robbed, only cheated. "I know not how it was done; I was hypnotized." He could not be made to believe that he was careless as to give up about $2,500 taken from the gambler under some magic spell, and those who were present are firm in the belief that the gambler was really hypnotized. There was a little story going through the city about the gambler's feat of weeks ago, and the principal attraction was the mesmerist feat performed by a man who was billed as Prof. Rodeau. This show went to pieces recently at Arvill, and the gambler who had been put under some magic spell was the man who was billed as Prof. Rodeau. The games go on as usual and the man who now presides at the wheel says he is on his guard for men with bright eyes.

Rid of a Horse.

Alexander H. H. Stuart, when Secretary of the Interior, President Fillmore, used to tell the following good story of how he got rid of an office-seeker soon after assuming the office:

"I was very much annoyed by a persistent applicant for the post of messenger. He came in in regularity every day for several weeks until he became an unbearable bore. Finally one day after the man had gone out I asked the messenger then in office if he knew what that man was after. He said:

"Well, said I, 'he wants your place, and if ever I see him again he shall have it.'"

"I never saw the man again."

Reports from Camp Law, and Other Places Where the Cholera Lingers

TWO NEW CASES IN NEW YORK CITY

Immediate Isolation of the Stricken People—The Normanna's Steerage Passengers to Be Released Saturday. Notes of the Plague's Progress.

CAMP LAW, SANDY HOOK, N. Y., Sept. 22.—There have been no new patients admitted to the hospital today, but there are five cases of cholera in camp, which are being closely watched by the physician.

The unknown patient who was suffering from the effects of starvation in a steamer, and which was reported as better this morning, has suffered a relapse and but little hope is entertained of his recovery. Mrs. Guttel Gomez, who was the second patient in camp to be stricken with Asiatic cholera, is convalescent. There are twenty-two persons on the sick list in the camp, but the doctors declare most positively that there is no cholera a long time.

The first case requiring that a resident at the camp be placed under arrest occurred this morning and created great excitement. Louis Gienwald, who had been beating his young and comely wife with a stick, was arrested, because she objected to his spending all her savings and making love to another woman, was put in irons and will be given a diet of bread and water until Saturday.

The Normanna's passengers will probably be released Saturday and sent to Ellis Island to be landed, after which the steamer and rooms will be thoroughly cleaned, fumigated and disinfected, previous to their occupation by the passengers from the Scandia and Bohemia, who are expected to be worse afflicted than those now in camp.

The Hibernians in camp are celebrating the first of their new year, which commenced last night and is over today. Much confusion was caused today by the arrival of the steamer William Fletcher with the baggage belonging to the detained passengers in camp. A man was seen from a man island, but as Dr. Jenkins has sent no certificate of disinfection, General Hamilton refused to land him.

CAMP LAW, N. Y., Sept. 22.—The transatlantic steamer La Touraine, from Cherbourg, passed here this morning for New York. She signaled "all well on board."

HAMBURG, Sept. 22.—The official cholera returns showed eighty new cases and ninety-seven deaths yesterday, including thirty-nine new cases and twenty-nine deaths not included in previous reports. These figures show that the disease is growing worse.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 22.—Thirty-two new cases and twelve deaths from cholera here yesterday, a decrease of sixteen cases and four deaths from the previous day.

HAVE, Sept. 22.—There were four new cases and three deaths from cholera here yesterday.

BELMONT, Sept. 22.—A boatman and his child died today from cholera. Another boatman has been attacked. Eight men and two women are in the hospital with the cholera.

AT QUARANTINE.

QUARANTINE, S. I., Sept. 22.—Things at Quarantine are now getting into their normal state and Dr. Jenkins says that although he still cannot relax any of his vigilance, he thinks that cholera's attack on the port of New York is a thing of the past. No new cases on the island. The cholera is to all intents and purposes well under control. There are only two cholera ships now at lower quarantine—the Scandia and the Bohemia, which arrived first there are no passengers, her cabin passengers being on board the New Hampshire, while those on the Bohemia are on the steamer La Touraine. The Bohemia has two passengers on the island. It is believed that they brought the terms of the plague which Frick contracted. The house has been disinfected and quarantined.

Stopped at the State Line.

YUMA, Ariz., Sept. 22.—A tourist sleeper containing fifteen through passengers on the westbound overland was quarantined at Yuma, Cal., on account of cholera in New York. One passenger from Greyton, Nebraska, and one from New York are slightly sick with bowel trouble and derangement of the stomach. The state health officer will thoroughly fumigate the car, and will also isolate the sick passengers for twelve hours. Well passengers will be allowed to proceed tomorrow unless the cases prove to be cholera. The company has provided Dr. Schenck's Orlyby for the accommodation of passengers.

Normanna Passenger Wants Damages.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Action was begun in the United States court today by C. S. Van Rensselaer to recover $10,000 damages from the Hamburg-American Packet company. Mr. Van Rensselaer was one of the passengers on the Normanna when it was quarantined. He claims that when he was booked for passage the company's agent told him that there would be no steerage passengers on board.

Quiet at Fire Island.

FIRE ISLAND, N. Y., Sept. 22.—There was nothing extraordinary happened here during the past twenty-four hours, the only break in the monotony being the arrival of another detachment of regulars and the departure of a like number, whom they relieved. The Wyoming's passengers are busy preparing to leave early tomorrow for New York city.

William H. Halle of Springfield, Mass., at present lieutenant governor, and republican nominee for the governorship, is a native of the Old Granite state, whose ancestor in 1821 and 1822 was Mr. Halle's father. He removed to Springfield in 1872. "Ten years later he went to the state senate, and in 1882 he was elected to the legislature. He is a lawyer by profession.

Lieutenant Perry complains that for a long period his party was compelled to sustain on beans, and all of Boston wonders why he required relief.
