CHRIS SPECHI'S CLOSE CALL

His Foot Slipped, and Only a Lucky Catch Saved Him from Going Head First to the Street Below-Carried

His Point.

Chris Specht, councilman from the Sixth ward, had a narrow escape from a frightful death yesterday forenoon while engaged in measuring the height of the city hall tower. He had climbed to the top of the structure for the purpose of securing evidence to be used in the city ball investigation that has been going on for several days and was standing on the narrow shelf that surrounds the tower just at the base of the roof when his foot slipped and he fell. He managed to catch hold of the stone balustrade a few feet below and pull himself to a place of safety with no more serious injury than an ugly cut and bruise on his right leg below the snee where he struck a sight projection. Specht was completely prostrated when Mr. Speent was completely prestrated when he realized his narrow escape, for how he managed to avoid being dashed to pieces on the stone sidewalk 132 feet below is some-thing that is difficult to understand, as a person undergoing that fail would not be able to obtain a hold on any of the few projections once in a thousand times, It takes a good deal more than a fall of a few hundred feet to astonish Specht much, and he coolly appounced as he was binding his bruised shin that the tower was six feet

A Cholera scare.

A reported outbreak of cholera at Helmette, N. J., created much excitement in that vicinity. Investigation showed that the disease was not cholora but a violent dysentery, which is almost as severe and danger-ous as cholera. CONGREGATIONALIST CONFERENCE

Convention Last Night. The opening sermon of the thrty-sixth aunual meeting of the Congregational Association of Nebraska was delivered in the First Congregational church last night by Rev. Lewis Gregory of Lincoin.

The weather could scarcely have been more inauspicious, but notwithstanding this discouraging fact there was a fair sized audience at the opening meeting. Dr. Gregory is a plain, practical man, who says no startling or strange things. He is content to present the truths of the gospel in a straightforward and candid manner, leaving the realm of dramatic and sensational preaching severely alone. His discourse last night was upon the subject of "Sight." His text was found in the ninth chapter and the seventeenth verse of the Acts, where Aunnias placed his hands on Saul of Tarsus and the latter received his sight. Paul had been stricken blind on the way to Damascus and he was penitent. This was the opening of his eyes, both physically and spiritually, From that time on Saul of Tarsus saw as he had never seen before. The speaker said that sight was a wonderful thing. It was a terrible thing to be born blind, and with what joy parents beheld tho first evidences in their offspring of recog-nition by sight. The babe would clutch at the moon and fail to catch toys within easy reach. So it eiten happened with grown people. They were possessed of imperpeople. They fect eyesight. fect eyesight. They undertook business ventures that were very dim within the range of their vision. The man of the keenest sight could see but a part of that which was to be seen. Some men saw one side of nature and some saw another. Where one man saw nothing but a waterfall, another Christopher Columbus saw the land of a western continent when others could nothing out water and great danger ahead. Other men were spiritually blind, could not see the great truths of the universe spread out before them by an all wise God.

Christ and He alone could confer spiritual The address was received with close atter. tion on the part of the audience.

Many Lives Lost by the Wreck of the Steamer Bokhara.

Hoxo Koxo, Oct. 17.-The Peninsular and Oriental steamer Bokhara left. Shanghal for this port October 8. When she did not arrive on time the steamer Bombay and the British Cruiser Porpoise went in search of ber. They bring the intelligence that she was wrecked on Sand Island, bemainland in the tearful typhoons which sweep that portion of the world. She car-ried a large number of both cabin and steerage passengers, besides the crew. All on board were drowned except twenty-three. After battling long in the terrible cross sea which broke over her constantly, the hatches were torn off, the hold filled with water, the fires were put out and she drifted upon the island and went to pieces. It was impossible to saunch boats and of those on board only twenty-three were able to cling to the wreck till the storm subsided.

The exact number of the lost is not known. The Boknara was a fine steamer of 3,000 tons burden. The cargo was very valuable, consisting in addition to the mails of a large amount of specie and a heavy consignment of

BOUGHT A STOLEN HORSE.

Paul Camp Arrested While Rejoicing la a Bargain He Bad Made. There are two men in this vicinity who have large loads of sorrow on their minds, all of which is brought on by a horse.

Dan Mason, a farmer residing near Florence, was the owner of a horse until a few nights ago, or until some evil disposed person broke into the barn and stole the beast away. The horse was taken to Springfield, where it was traded to Paul Camp, an Omaha man. Camp felt that he had made a good trade, and it was with some pleasure that he was showing the animat to his associates Sunday afternoon. But his pleasure was of short duration, for about that time the sheriff happened along, taking both man and horse into custody.

Camp was arrested as being the genuine robber of the barn, but by being able to show up his past reputation, which was a good one, he was released, but the horse was turned over to the original owner.

MILK- IN SHORT MEASURE

Health Officia's Cat'h the Milk Dealers' President Practicing Sharp Economy.

HIS MEASURE WAS SHORT AT EACH END

Plan of a Druggist Who Wanted All He Paid for-Health Officials Will Start a General Investigation of the Matter at Once.

The officials of the bealth department of the city have just made the startling discovery that the milk dealers, or at least some of them, are parties to a deep said plot to do up the entire population of this great Missouri river metropolis. The lines were all laid and the carrying out of the scheme was only prevented by the prompt action of Health Commissioner Somers, aided and abetted by several gruggists and the city sealer of weights and measures, A. W. Parker. For some weeks the druggists of the city, especially those who use considerable cream and milk in concocting fancy drinks, have had a suspicion lurking in their minds that their milkmen were using measures which were cut rather high at the bottom and equally low at the top. In fact they took some measurements and found that their suspicions were only too true. They appealed to these same milkmen, but were informed that there was nothing in it, if anything the measures held more than the required

This satisfied the minds of the innocent druggists for a time and they thought that they thouselves had been mistaken. They even went so far as to apologize to the milk dealers for having accused them so wrong fully.

There was one druggist, however, who could not swallow the milkmen's story so readily and still insisted that his milkman, Louis Littlefield, the president of the Milk-mens association, was doing him up at every turn of the alleged quart cup. This grug-gist bided his time and waited for developments, which came in due time.

The druggist knew when Milkman Little field was due at the store and made it a point to have Dr. Somers and Sealer Parker present. They had standard measures with them and as the milkman came into the store, humming the milkmaid's song, they at once seized upon his measure of milk and turned it into the standard measure. That was the evidence that settled the whole question, as the milk from the measure used by the dealer lacked considerable of filling the one which the two city officials had on

Or. Somers is now pretty well satisfied that Littlefield is not the only milkman who has been selling from short measures but is of the opinion that many of them have been Somers is now pretty well satisfied doing the very same thing.
The Board of Health is in session this afternoon and this question of measures is one of the principal subjects of discussion. Health officials allege that with the present limited means at their disposal it is almost impossible for them to pay any atten-tion to the inspection of milk so far as its quality is concerned, and very difficult to do much toward seeing that the dealers give the consumers the quantity purchased. effort will be made to rigidly enforce the or-dinance as it stands and if possible devise means for the proper inspection of the quality of the milk that is being sold in the city.

Rev. Frank Crane Preaches a Sermon Very Much Out of the Ordinary.

Rev. Frank Crane, the new pastor of the First Methodist church on Sunday night took for his subject "The Great American Mud God." It was a discourse brimming full of thought and he easily held the close attention of the audience for three quarters of an hour. The mud god he referred to was the modern tendency of the people to run off after materialistic things to an extent bordering on worship. Brick blocks, lands, commercial enter-prises, all mere matters of mud, lasting only for a day were absorping the attention of the people. People were too apt to look upon the clothes that a real thing were as being the thing itself. They pointed to the High school building and called it a school. They pointed to another fine building and called it a church. But back of these there were ideas that were the real things. If it had not been for the idea of education there would never have been a school house; if it had not been for the idea of a God there would never have been a church. These buildings were but the clothes that the idea put on, not the real thing itself. He made a strong plea for a kind of worship that took into consideration a real God back of all the formality and show. He believed that many churches were losing their spiritual power because the people failed to see beyond the vestments and paraphernalia of the priests or ministers who undertook to Inspector General Breckenridge Visits the Department Headquarters and Garrison. Brigadier General Breckenridge, inspector general of the United States army, arrived in Omaha Sunday and proceeded to make an inspection of the military headquarters of the Department of the Platte and of Fort Omaha yesterday in company with General Brooke. It required but a few moments for the inspector to take in the headquarters of the department, as the apartments are all on one floor of THE BEE building and are kept as neat as a pin at all times.

At 11 o'clock carriages were ordered and the inspector and General Brooke went to Fort Omaha to inspect the garrison. As nearly all the troops had their dress parade uniforms all packed in readiness to leave for Chicago today, it was not possible to re-ceive the inspector with the usual degree of pomp and circumstance and as the weather was not suitable for that sort of a demonstration the inspector was doubtless just as well pleased with the unostentations but cordial manner in which he was received at the gar-

A Case Showing How Catarrhal Disease May Involve the Mental and Nervous Trunctions.

The far-reaching effects of catarrhal lisease is stelkingly shown in cases affeeting the nervous system. Don't Worry.

If some good democratic friend tells you that the country'll go to the d- if Harrison's reelected-don't worry about it. If some protectted republican smites his breast and in an "I know it all" voice says, "I'll leave the country if Cleveland's elected"- let him go, but don't worry about it. If an alliance orator assures you that "General Weaver's got a "Lease" of the White House for the next four years"-don't worry about it. If your prohibition friend tells you he's done as much to "put down (?) liquor" as any man on earth--may be he has, but don't worry about it. If your coal man swears coal will go to fifteen dollars a ton-let him swear--(it'll save you the trouble) -- and don't worry about it. If your last year's overcoat that you packed away so carefully looks a little tired when you take it out this year--don't worry about--try a new one.
