THEIR FUNDS STILL TIED UP

What Banker Munroe Has to Say His Firm Will Not Pay Over the Money Until Advised to Do So by Its Attorneys—Simply a Matter of Business.

Paris, Nov. 2.—New York Herald Cable—Special to THE BEE.—A correspondent of the Herald called on John Munroe, head of the well-known firm of American bankers, Mr. Munroe, in relation to the Irish funds held on deposit by his firm, said:

"Yes, it is quite true, as has been stated, that we received a few days since a letter from the Irish party asking our firm to allow the Irish funds held by us to be withdrawn. We replied we would refer the matter to legal advisers. This we have already done. Up to the present we have had no answer."

"As to the other statements in the English and Irish press, and as to the political side of the question, I have nothing to say, as that does not concern us. We are simply bankers who have money to trust. We do not intend to give it up until we are assured by our legal advisers that we can do so with perfect prudence and without the danger of having to refund it twice over."

"As to the construction which has been put upon my letter to McCarthy in England and elsewhere, to the effect that it meant we would not release the fund except on an order from the Paris law court, I have nothing to say. The case is in the hands of our solicitors. It is for them to advise us what to do, and it is not for us to decide upon a line of conduct until we have their advice."

Nothing in the Note. I then called Mr. Munroe's attention to a note in the London Star, which assumed that the release of the fund was already decided upon, that three independent trustees had been selected to receive it, and that the funds were to be drawn from the Paris bank.

The note also says that the London and national press are quarreling about the division of the funds. Mr. Munroe refused to say anything about this. "I know nothing about the Redmondites," he said, "nor about any Parnellites, nor about the political aspect of the affair. The whole matter, so far as we are concerned, may be summed up as follows: We are the bankers with whom the money has been deposited. No one has approached us with a view to withdrawing it."
