SHERMAN SUCCEED WILL

Secratary Charles Foster to Represent Obio in the Senate.

SATURDAY'S WHY THE CHANGE WILL BE MADE

Sherman Desires to Devote the Next Few Years to an Important History of the Late Civil War-Cabinet States Prepared.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BUE,] 513 FOURTEENIN STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11. Secretary Churles Foster of the Treasury department will soon become Senutor Foster of Ohio, Senator John Sherman has promised to resign in favor of Mr. Foster and if the temper of the Ohio legislature is favorable the change will be made early in the session of the legislature this winter. This information The BEE correspondent gets from two reliable sources from men intimately associated with Secretary Foster and Senator Sherman.

It transpires now that a short time before the Ohio legislature convened last winter, and the election of Senator Sherman's successor was to take place, the latter determined to abandon his campaign for re-election and retire to private life. He had been in the United States senate for a period of about twenty-five years' in the lower house of congress eight years, had served two terms as secretary of the treasury and being nearly 69 years of age felt that he could afford to retire to private life rather than continue a struggie for re-election which promised only defest. At a moment when Sherman was about to retire from the field and permit the election of ex-Governor Foraker as his successor, Secretary Foster went to him at his nome in Mansfield and begged the senator to stay in the field for re-election. He finally yielded, went to Columbus and opened beadquarters and with the very earnest support of Secretary Foster and the latters friends he was successful.

Determined to Resign.

Shortiy after his re-election the senator sent word to Mr. Foster that within a few months, or as soon as the temper of the legislature was right, he would resign and recommend as his successor the secre-tary of the treasury. Recently the senator has intimated that the time may be soon as the Ohio legislature convenes. Senator Sherman desires to devote the remaining days of his vigor to the preparation of a book upon the late war. It will be mostly of letters from bis lately deceased brother, General William T. Sherman, and will, it is stated, have many extremely interesting and new features. Senator Sherman wants to complete this work while he possesses his present mental vigor and feels that he has not long to wait. It is therefore expected that he will be ex-Senator John Sherman within a few weeks. Senator Sherman called upon President Harrison this afternoon and later upon Sec-retary Foster. In conversation with the president and touching upon the recent elec-tion Senator Sherman said that the demo-cratic victory was due to the prevailing unpopularity of the MicKinley bill. It had not had time to vindicate itself and it seemed for the present to arouse feelings of ill will upon the part of the mechanic and laborer against the manufacturer, the former believing that the latter received dispropor tionate advantages under the law. The sena-tor expressed the opinion that the law would grow in popularity if permitted to stand, al-though be recognized in it some inequalities which the republicans would have modified or rectified had they been continued in power. The senator is tooking well and happy.

May Disappoint Spoil Hunters.

President Harrison, will, it is believed, extend the civil service law so as to take in the government printing office and the bureau of engraving and printing. When President Cleveland was about to retire he left as a legacy an extension of the civil service law over the railway mail service and the special agents of the various executive departments. Democrats in Washington who claim to get their information from the confidents of the president-elect say there will be a clean sweep of the department forces not directly under the protection of the law early. As a consequence tone of the men now under the

It is said that some clerks could be assist-ants to the heads of the department but their glory and increased power and pay would only last three months. In view of Mr. Cleveland's bill of sale to Tammany it is believed that the headsmon will begin their work in Murch and show little mercy. Colonet William E. McLean of Terre Haute, Ind., is said to be slated as President Cleveland's commissioner of pensions to sac ceed General Raum. This was the informa-tion given today by D. I. Murphy, who was chief clerk of the pension office under General Black, and who is now regarded as the leading democratic pension authority in Washington, Mr. Murphy has just come from New York, where he had talked with Clavelond's most intimate advisers, and it was from them that he learned that Colonel McLean would undoutedly be chosen to take charge of the pension office. Colonel McLean was first deputy commissioner of pensions under General Black and was re-garded by republicans and democrats as one of the most popular men then in the govern-ment service.

He was so well qualified for the place that a number of republican congressmen from Indiana and elsewhere appealed to President Harrison to retain him as deputy commis-sioner under the republican administration. President Harrison did so for a time, and President Harrison did so for a time, and Colonel McLean was about the last of the prominent democrats to retire. He has re-cently been elected to the state scnate of Indiana, but his friends here say Indiana's senate is so overwhelmingly democratic that his service in that capacity is not essential. He was colonel of the Forty-third Indiana regiment during the war, and was a power among the soldier element at that time.
