

NEWS OF OMAHA CHURCHES

Arrangements for the Coming of Evangelist B. Fay Mills.

CONCERNING THE MAN AND HIS METHODS

Dean Gardner Tells of the Episcopalian General Council—The Week's Work of the Associated Charities Organization—Notes.

Since the days when Jonah entered the great city of Nineveh and began to warn the people of their imminent danger and threatening destruction, religious evangelists have pushed the work of calling men from sin and iniquity to lives of virtue and honesty by the adoption of methods as various and peculiar as were the individual dispositions of the evangelists themselves.

The city of Omaha is soon to be visited by Rev. B. Fay Mills, a young revivalist who seems to have a plan of work in particular his own, but resembling Evangelist Moody's plan very closely. He has met with marked success all the way from Maine to California, and the religious people of Omaha are hopeful that the series of meetings to be held here in December will result in a wonderful revival of religion in Omaha and in a marked increase in the Christian army enrolled in the various church organizations of the city.

Never before in Omaha have churches representing so many different denominations united in a similar manner. The preparations have been in progress continually for months. Twenty-six churches are banded together in one grand organization for the specific purpose of endeavoring to reach with the gospel of Christ and by personal influence the entire population of the city of Omaha. In the organization of the various committees, including the canvassers, ushers and chorist singers, are enrolled the names of not less than 500 Christian men and women pledged to active cooperation and definite work, all under the direction of the general executive committee. The idea of this great organization is to carry on a large city, originated with Mr. Mills. The plan to be carried out in Omaha will be along the same lines as that of the Cincinnati and Cleveland meetings conducted there by the evangelist. The different committees have taken their work with great earnestness. The music, the singing, the acting its regular rehearsal. This committee consists of a chorus of 200 trained voices who will sing under the direction of Mr. Mills.

The meetings will be held in Exposition hall and supplementary meetings will be conducted in the churches that have united in the effort.

A grand rally of those most interested in the Mills meetings, including pastors, Sunday school teachers and others, members of the various committees, etc., will be held in the Young Men's Christian association building Sunday, November 20, at 7 o'clock. At this time some one from Kansas City, where Mr. Mills is now conducting a series of meetings, will be present and address the meeting. A church invitation is extended to all to attend this meeting.

The Episcopal Convention.

Speaking of the work of the triennial convention of the Episcopal church recently held in Baltimore Dean Gardner had the following to say to THE BEE: "The convention was a memorable one chiefly for three things. First, the adoption of the revised and enriched book of Common Prayer, after the past fifteen years certain changes have been proposed and certain enrichments have been recommended which, after a good deal of discussion, have been adopted. The present prayer book is the same as adopted 100 years ago and in all that time it has been the recognized book of worship. It is hoped that the book as revised and enriched may also remain in use for 100 years to come. The new book will be placed on the market soon and will then be the only authorized book of worship for use in the Episcopal church. It was proposed by some one to have the book copyrighted, but the proposition was promptly voted down by a very large majority. It was determined to place the book before the church and the public at the least possible expense and so make it the great tract in behalf of Christian unity.

"The second important matter was the adoption of the new constitution. After years of discussion and fruitless attempts to settle upon a book that would be marked by the action of the spiritual question, the convention decided to adopt the report of the committee. We have a hymnal now with some of the best of the one that contains most of the hymns and spiritual songs that are loved by Christians the world over. It is especially rich in lyrics for positions of prayer.

"The third matter of great importance in the convention was the wonderful manifestation of the missionary spirit. This was manifest in all the deliberations of the convention and it finally culminated in the setting aside of five new missionary jurisdictions in this country and the appointment of seven missionary bishops. Then there was a marked expression of sentiment regarding Christian unity. Men of all schools of thought in the church, each in his own way, joined in the hope that they might become one in thought and aspiration for the advancement of the cause of God. Friendly overtures were received from special committees appointed by other great denominations for the purpose of carrying greetings to the Episcopal convention.

"The convention adopted as a positive basis for the future what is known as the Lambeth platform. At a meeting of all the bishops connected with the Anglican church held at Lambeth palace, London, in 1888, the following was adopted and has become known as the Lambeth platform on Christian unity: First, the acceptance of the canonical scriptures of both the old and new testaments; second, the acceptance of the episcopate as a part of the apostolic ministry and the Nicene creed with regard to the statement of Christian doctrine; third, the two sacraments invariably administered by the use of words and elements appointed to be used by our Lord; fourth, the historic episcopate locally adapted to the varying needs and periods of time.

"The spirit evinced by the convention was one of great breadth and earnestness. There was a desire on the part of all to sink individual preferences out of sight in behalf of the common good. It was the largest convention in the history of the church. Nearly all of the seventy bishops were present, and the delegates must have numbered in all over 600."

Associated Charities.

Secretary Clark went to Davenport, Ia., during the week to purchase pine wood from the lumber mills to supply the woodward department. He bought five carloads. As soon as this arrives the society will be prepared to furnish the best kindling wood in the market. While in Davenport a short visit was made to headquarters of Associated Charities, which were found in a large and commodious industrial building. The building was erected last year at a cost of $19,000. The Associated Charities offices, reception rooms, committee rooms, etc., occupy the first floor. The basement contains the cooking school apartments and the laundry. The laundry is a prominent feature of the work. Aside from giving employment to many who would otherwise be compelled to beg, the poor women of the town, who have no facilities at home for washing and ironing, are allowed to take their washing to this well-equipped laundry. The sewing school for girls is on the second floor. The average attendance is 120 pupils at every meeting. The term of tuition for each pupil is the length of time necessary for her to complete the following: Sample of patchwork, one towel, two handkerchiefs, one flannel shirt, two suits underclothes, two sleeveless aprons, two other suits underclothes and one calico dress. This includes cutting, fitting and making.

One man in Davenport offered $3,000 provided $10,000 more could be raised for the building. It requires only a short time to secure the required amount. Will some one in Omaha make a generous offer toward an industrial building?

The ladies of the Omaha City Mission have an industrial school of 150 pupils and would have twice that number if they had a suitable building. It is impossible to accomplish the best work in their present building on Teutis street. It is wonderful to see what a grand work they are doing under such unfavorable circumstances. They could introduce other industrial lines of work, workroom for women, laundry, day nursery, etc. The individual charities they could introduce a workroom for women in a short time. The board of trustees elected the following ladies a special committee on the workroom: Mrs. J. M. Thurston, Mrs. J. B. Jarman, Mrs. J. B. Farar, Mrs. W. G. Manland, Mrs. Morris Meyer.

The headquarters of Associated Charities will be moved the first of this week. The association has rented the Beemer block on Howard and Eleventh streets. The woodward will be upon the track and the association will have facilities for shipping old iron and other material which may be donated. The first shipment will probably be a carload of paper to the mills, for something will be received with which to assist in the charity work this winter. The building is large enough to store all the furniture, stoves and other second hand goods which may be donated, and also to lodge the men who require temporary assistance during the winter. In opening the new office, the office furniture will be needed and will be greatly appreciated if some one will send tables and desks as donations.

In order to avoid collecting gifts of clothing the association is in constant need of a horse. Hiring a horse is expensive and the association wants to get the use of one this winter. It is hoped that some one will contribute a horse for the horse.

The dispensary physicians have been taxed more than usual this week. As the winter comes on the applicants for assistance become more numerous. Some of those who come are very deserving people and in great need of assistance. It is hoped that some one will contribute a horse for the horse.

The most touching appeals come from those who want work, but who are not strong enough to do heavy work. One woman wants to board children by the day or week, hoping to make a living for her family. She has a family of her own, her husband broken in health and her own strength so far failed that she can no longer support the family by washing and ironing. She has a room in her house for the little house to roomers and boarders. She is willing to do anything but to beg. Many others are like her.

The benevolent spirit of the city is shown in the many appeals for help. The most touching appeals come from those who want work, but who are not strong enough to do heavy work. One woman wants to board children by the day or week, hoping to make a living for her family. She has a family of her own, her husband broken in health and her own strength so far failed that she can no longer support the family by washing and ironing. She has a room in her house for the little house to roomers and boarders. She is willing to do anything but to beg. Many others are like her.

The drilling for the "Ben Hur" entertainments, which will be given November 21, 22 and 23, is well advanced. The committee is all selected. Nothing will be omitted to make this a brilliant success. The railroad companies have offered reduced rates from all points within Omaha. The rate will be one and one-half fare for round trips.

American Cholera.

"From the Daily Revere, Wash. com. Wash." "C. C. Burnett, the democratic candidate for sheriff, was taken violently ill at Clearbrook. He had all the symptoms of Asiatic cholera, and for an hour or two it was feared he would die. They finally gave him a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy, which revived him until a physician arrived." That is precisely what Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy does for cholera. Send for a physician, but give your medicine until the physician arrives. If cholera becomes prevalent in this country, the only safe precaution will be in great demand because it can always be depended upon. For sale by druggists.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Youths Who Have Been Led Astray by Reading Dime Novels.

QUEER DISCOVERY OF TWO POLICEMEN

Magie City Youths and Their Underground Rendezvous—Boys with a Touch of Romance in Their Nature—Notes from the Magie City.

Officers Wilson and Spooler located a rendezvous for small boys, at the city-ninth and G streets, yesterday afternoon. A number of boys of from 10 to 14 years of age had excavated on the level ground to a depth of seven feet, and had a very cozy cave about eight feet square nearly completed. They had secured a stove and had the place fixed up in dime novel shape.

In clearing the roof of the cave the officers found four small boys at work decorating and fixing up the interior. The boys, who were very frightened to death by the appearance of the officers and completely quaked, forgetting about the dime novel bravery they were to show when they were trapped upon their possessions. The officers secured and confiscated a number of firearms, among which was a rifle which had performed services for many years. The boys stated that the others belonging to the juvenile band had gone to Gilmore on a hunt and would return in the evening. They were given a tip and did not return to the cave. The boys promised faithfully to abandon the cave and were not arrested upon the strength of the promise. It is expected that the families and their parents will be acquainted with the fact.

Almost a Fire.

An exploding lamp in the cannal room at the Cudady packing house yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock called out the fire department. The explosion of the lamp was discovered immediately and the flames were extinguished before any material damage was done, and the services of the fire companies were not needed in putting out the blaze, which would have caused serious but for the prompt action of those near at hand.

Amendments to the City Charter.

The city council will meet this evening, and one subject of importance which should come up is that of amendments to the city charter. In several places the charter is defective, and in many others can be greatly improved. The citizens are only waiting for the council to call a conference meeting, and as the city is growing so rapidly, it is expected that some action will be taken by the councilmen at tonight's meeting.

Magie City Notes.

S. Crooks of Lexington was the guest of H. W. Carey yesterday.

Mrs. Stella Rasmus of Colorado Springs and Mrs. Jessie Hooley of Cheyenne, N. Y., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carley.

Lute Hanchard, formerly with the South Omaha National bank, has returned from a month's hunt in Deuel county, along the Platte.

The exterior work upon Frank Doloz's new brick block on Twenty-fourth street is completed and the work has turned their attention to the interior.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. James Prince, who died from the effects of swallowing a quantity of concentrated sulphuric acid, was buried yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The funeral of the late Jeremiah Gougeon occurred yesterday afternoon from the deceased's residence at Twenty-first and I streets. Services were held at St. Agnes church.

Frank Pivonka has given notice that the new apartments for the city officials in his new block at Twenty-sixth and N streets will be ready for occupancy not later than December 1.

Magie City lodge, Independent Order of Good Templars, has a public installation of officers at the First Methodist church this evening. In addition to the installation program, a musical and literary program will be rendered. Refreshments will also be served.

An honest pill is the noisiest work of the apothecary. DeWitt's Little Early Risers cure constipation, biliousness and sickheadaches.

READY FOR THE CAMPS.

Omaha Modern Woodmen Have Everything in Good Shape.

Arrangements have been completed for the head camp meeting of the Modern Woodmen of America which convenes at Exposition hall in this city tomorrow morning, and present indications are that it will be an occasion of vast and lasting importance to the order.

The special Woodman train from Peoria will arrive this evening and the delegates will be taken up their headquarters at the Hotel Delone.

It is expected that routine business will occupy all of the first day, while Tuesday evening will be devoted to the public reception to the head officers and delegates at the hall. The committee desires to extend an earnest invitation to everybody to be present on this occasion. Addresses of the speakers will be made by Governor J. E. Dova on behalf of the state, by Mayor George P. Bemis on behalf of the city, by Congressman William J. Bryan, who is a delegate to the head camp, and who will fully set forth the benefits of fraternal and benevolent societies in general and of the Modern Woodmen of America in particular.

Wednesday evening the Royal Neighbors of America will entertain the head work for the benefit of the head officers and delegates at Omaha camp 129 in Continental block. All Woodmen are invited to be present.

Thursday night at Maple Camp 945, in Goodrich hall on North Twenty-fourth street, a ball and oyster supper for Woodmen and their ladies only will be given. The pass word will be collected at the door, and the entertainment will be strictly a Woodman affair, everything to be free.

The committee on entertainment have been indefatigable in their efforts and it is expected that the hundreds of visitors who go away well satisfied with the meeting and will sing the praises of Omaha through their several camp fires for many moons to come.

BURLINGTON, Ia. April 1, 1891.

Dr. J. B. Moore, Dear Sir: Have been troubled with catarrh in my head and face for three years—at times as unable to bear a constant ringing in my ears, and for two years was almost deaf. Have tried several so-called remedies and been treated by regular physicians and noted specialists, but failed to get any relief. Tried one bottle of Moore's Tree of Life Catarrh Cure. It gave immediate relief and effected a permanent cure. I heartily recommend it to all sufferers of this disease, and will be glad to give any further information on being addressed at my home, No. 243 Sweeney ave., Burlington, Ia. Current Topics Resumed.

The Current Topic club will again resume its Monday night meetings now that the chairman, Rev. Dr. Duryea, has returned home from a two weeks' trip through the east. The question for this evening is "Should There Be a Racial Change in the City's Treatment of Petty Criminals?"

Judge Hartman, Prosecuting Attorney, J. L. Cobb and other good speakers will take part in the discussion, which promises to be quite interesting. The club extends a cordial invitation to all those taking an interest in such matters to be present.

If you have pain DeWitt's Witch Hazel salve will surely cure you.

4 Kinds of Suits

Ten of each kind and each kind different, are shown in our largest show window today. Each of these suits bears a card which tells you in good plain figures, the price—which is either six dollars and fifty cents or ten dollars and fifty cents. These suits were placed in the window to attract your attention—to notify you that today "The Nebraska" begins another of the great special sales which have made her famous throughout the west. Two styles of these suits—those in the two front rows—are marked $6.50.

The ones in the very front row are "beats." They're made of good solid all wool cassim
