SWORN STATEMENT OF CIRCULATION
George F. Tschick, secretary of the Bee Publishing Company, deposes that the actual circulation of the Bee for the week ending November 13, 1892, was as follows:

WE ARE pleased to observe that there is no squatter domination in this town.
The Panama canal seems to be a success in crippling its promoters and razing French cabinets.

WHAT this country is panting for is a good, liberal dose of free trade. Let us have it right in the neck.
The lot of the republican federal officeholder will not be a happy one during the next three or four months.

A POPULAR paper has been started at Oswego, Kan., called The American. That paper ought to succeed in Kansas.
ATTENTION is called to the fact that Ignatius Donnelly's cipher has not worked out his election from the figures so far submitted.

THE winter garbage cart is an excellent institution. It really seems that there is such a thing in Omaha as municipal good sense.
IOWA and Nebraska kick foot ball at this place on Thanksgiving day. Last year Iowa won, but this year the Nebraska foot will have its inning.

THE perfect harmony and undying affection which proverbially exists between all musicians is having a vivid manifestation in this village just now.
THE Iowa Unitarians in session at Keokuk last week passed resolutions favoring the opening of the World's fair on Sunday. The Iowa Unitarians are a sensible band of Christians.

THE strife among leading democrats for the position of lead spilloman waxed warmer from day to day. It is very difficult to say who will succeed in winning the favor of the president-elect.
AN UNPRINTED wag has sent to this office a prediction made by THE BEE last May. We submit that this is unfair. In May we had no adequate conception of the virility of democratic lies.

GEORGE I. BAGLEY'S method of securing a fortune was scarcely less reprehensible than means employed by others, but he lacked the nerve that characterized the operations of the successful ones.
A MOD of democrats at Lexington, Ky., howled down Senator Blackburn at a ratification meeting last week and would not allow him to speak because he opposed Cleveland's nomination. The senator got in his howl when the appointment of any Lexington democrat is sent to the senate for confirmation.

THE lad who lost a leg while playing on the railway tracks at Twentieth street has learned a lesson, but somehow these accidents never seem to have any effect as object lessons to other boys who jump aboard of moving trains. Nothing short of force can prevent them from risking life and limb in that fascinating amusement.
THE large number of new streets now being graded in the western part of the city indicates that there is a growing belief in the future of Omaha. It is expected that there will be an unusual number of dwellings erected during the coming year and a demand for building lots on these new thoroughfares is anticipated.

THE appointment of ex-Governor William M. Stone of Iowa to be commissioner of the land office, vice Carter, resigned, awards to the old Iowan an honor which he has long sought. He has been assistant commissioner during Harrison's administration and was a candidate for the place when Carter was appointed last year. He was governor of Iowa in the early seventies and has been in politics for forty years.

THOSE who urge that because the democratic party was successful in the late election it is not the business of the republican party to correct the mistakes of the democrats do not take the proper view of the duty of a great party which for a third of a century has done most patriotic service to the nation. The suggestion that the party should now hold off its hands and allow the democracy to commit unchallenged all sorts of follies and blunders is prompted by chagrin and deserves no sort of encouragement. The republican party will continue to watchfully guard the interests of the people, and no democratic policy which threatens to injure the country will be permitted to pass unchallenged. The party in opposition has a great work to do and will faithfully perform it.

ONLY A TEMPORARY REVERSE.
Secretary Foster undoubtedly voiced the feeling of republicans very generally when he said that the policy of American protection has received a reverse that is but temporary; that the people really believe in it and will endorse it in the next contest. In a similar vein was the declaration of the Home Market club of Boston a few days ago that protection is the republican watchword for the future.

It is manifestly an erroneous assumption, as we pointed out immediately after the election, that the sole significance of republican defeat was the dismissal of the protective principle from our system of national economy. Unquestionably there was dissatisfaction with the tariff, but strongly enough this was chiefly manifested in sections where the people are supposed to derive the greatest benefits from the tariff. The workingmen of the manufacturing districts in large numbers cast their votes against the party of protection, not because they desired the destruction of that principle, but for the reason that they felt they were not receiving their share of the benefits of the existing tariff. It is not worth while to consider whether they were mistaken or not in this view, but it is entirely safe to say that not one workingman employed in a mill or factory who voted with the democracy intended to endorse the platform declaration of that party against protection.

The fight for the retention of the protective principle will go on. The republican party will not abandon to its enemies this bulwark of American progress and prosperity, and there is strong reason to believe that long before the time of electing another congress is reached the people will be most fully convinced of the mistake that was made in giving the democratic party the power to revise the tariff in the direction of free trade. The democracy expects a renewal of the contest on the issue of protection. This is shown by the fact that in spite of the bragged declarations of their platform and their leaders they do not dare to assail the principle of protection by any act looking to its violation. They do not even venture to outline their plan for reducing what they have denounced as a war tariff. In this they give the imprudence of the republican position on this vital question.

The friends of protection do not propose to abandon it. Republicans everywhere will heartily respond to the decision of the Home Market club of Boston to maintain a persistent fight for the retention of the protective principle, and within two years that policy will have a larger body of followers than it has ever had.

EDUCATION AT THE EXPOSITION.
The Columbian exposition without an adequate exhibit of the educational organization and development of the United States would be defective in one of its most important objects, as these are understood by the people at large. Let it be admitted that the chief purpose of the enterprise is to illustrate what the nation has accomplished in material development and it still remains true that to omit to show the world what has been accomplished for intellectual growth, or to make such a showing inadequate, would be to greatly impair the usefulness of the exposition and to seriously detract from its character. The American people are justly proud of their educational system and no effort should be spared to make the world better acquainted with it. It is as much to the honor and glory of the country as any other achievement of the American people, and it would be a reproach to the nation to neglect it at a time when we are inviting all peoples to come and see what we have attained in all the lines of human progress.

It appears that there is great danger of the educational interests of the country being overlooked for at the exposition. After having issued invitations to all the states to prepare educational exhibits, which were very generally accepted, and given assurance that ample space would be provided for such exhibits, it is now said that the Chicago authorities of the exposition have practically withdrawn the promise of space. If such a decision has been reached it is most unfortunate, whatever the reasons for it may be, and it should be reconsidered at once. If there are, as alleged, any interests in connection with the exposition which believe they would be benefited by having the educational interests ignored, they must be told that the American people value nothing above that great system of popular education which is the bulwark of the republic and the backbone of free institutions. No consideration for any other or for all other interests would justify us in not giving education a conspicuous place in connection with the exposition.

The friends of education everywhere should arouse themselves and take prompt action to secure at the World's fair a proper and adequate exhibit of the educational organization and development of the United States. The exposition will not be complete without this and there is no time to be lost if education is going to be given its just show of consideration.

A PROMISE FULFILLED.
The increase in the capital stock of the Cudahy Packing company from $750,000 to $3,500,000 means a great deal to South Omaha, where the principal plant of the great company is established. Many hundreds of thousands of dollars have been expended by the Cudahy concern in South Omaha, and this large increase in the capital stock indicates that the end is not yet. There is good ground for the belief that the leading men engaged in the meat business regard South Omaha as the coming center of that business in the United States. The great growth of all the packing concerns there during the past few months gives color to this view, and the fact that the South Omaha meat companies are now doing a far greater business than they did last year at this time, while in all other packing centers the business is falling off, goes to show that the meat business in the Magic City is making rapid gains over that in other places.

Perhaps it is not a matter of much consequence whether South Omaha takes second or even first rank as a meat packing center. The magnitude of the business done is of first importance, and the question of supremacy is comparatively insignificant. The free investment of capital and the rapid growth of business in our local packing concerns is what the people like to see.

THE wide difference in the laws of the various states in regard to rates of interest and penalties for usury forms an interesting and curious study. The lowest legal rate provided by any state or territory is 5 per cent, and this is confined to the states of Illinois and Louisiana. The 6 per cent rate is the most common and prevails in Arkansas, Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Indiana, Indian Territory, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, Virginia and West Virginia. The 7 per cent rate is found in Arizona, California, Georgia, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota and Wisconsin. In Alabama, Colorado, Florida and Oregon 8 per cent is the rate. It is rather odd that no state in the union has selected 9 or 11 per cent, though 10 per cent is the law in Montana, Utah and Washington, while in Wyoming 12 per cent is the lawful rate.

NOBODY ever hears of a Chinaman wishing to establish himself in Canada or Mexico, and yet thousands of the celestials are crowding into the United States through those countries. Mexico is willing to keep them, and so is Canada if they will pay a tax. They will not go to Brazil, though that country is willing to receive them. They want to come to the United States, and it is very difficult to keep them out. Not a few but millions of Chinese are desirous of finding homes in this country. It has been decided that they shall not be received here upon equal terms with other immigrants, but they will always find some way to evade and defeat our laws. It is very easy to declare that they shall not be permitted to come here, but to keep them out appears to be another matter.

THOSE who do business with banks will be interested to learn that the Bankers' Association of Illinois has passed a resolution in favor of the abolition of the customary three days of grace. The amendment of the present law in accordance with this resolution is demanded by the association. There will naturally be much opposition to this action among those who are borrowers of money.

MR. Cleveland's door-bell is being patronized by certain well-to-do men, and very unreliable predictions at Chicago.

IT is not enough for a man to know a good thing when he sees it; he must also see a good thing when he knows it.

THE cabinet game has opened, and so far as Indiana's ex-governor is concerned, Pusey wants a corner.

NEW YORK World: General P. A. Collins of Massachusetts has the honor of being the first man called to the next cabinet.

NEW YORK Advertiser: Major Charles H. Jones, the editor of the St. Louis Republic, is not likely to be overlooked by Mr. Cleveland when his selection of a cabinet is made.

ST. LOUIS Globe-Democrat: Governor Russell is suggested for a cabinet post, but it is scarcely certain that he will not accept anything of the sort if he be offered him.

PHILADELPHIA Press: Pennsylvania has no claim for a cabinet officer, and only special individual merit could command such an honor for our state.

JUDGE J. H. BROADY of Lincoln, who was the democratic nominee for the supreme court of New York, is one of the aspirants for the next legation.

CONGRESSMAN Bryan is busily engaged in declaring to the independents that he is the only man within the borders of the state of Nebraska who stands the ghost of a vote of being elected United States senator by the democrats and independents.

MR. LEASE'S AMBITION.
Chicago Times: Mrs. Lease wants to be a United States senator, but there are enough old women in the senate already.

INDIANAPOLIS News: Mrs. Lease means to break the record for States senator via Kansas. It is needless to say that that body is thoroughly alarmed.

PHILADELPHIA Leader: Mrs. Lease is going to be a candidate for the United States senate from Kansas "if the constitution doesn't hinder her."

NEW YORK Commercial: Since the democrats in Kansas voted with the farmers against the tariff, they should go the length of their power and support Mrs. Lease for the senate.

ST. PAUL Globe: "What in the world, or at least in the United States, would we do in politics if Kansas weren't here to furnish it?"

ST. LOUIS Members of the Order Addressed by the Leaders.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 20.—Though Sunday is usually a day of rest for workmen, today was, for many of the officers and delegates attending the sixteenth general convention of the Knights of Labor, a very busy one.

HOW TO AVOID A DEFICIT
Democratic Financiers Now Engaged in Discussing the Subject.

MAY IMPOSE A DIRECT INCOME TAX
Some Members of the Party Think an Increased Revenue Could Be Secured from the Distillers of the Country.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BEE, 513 FORTY-SEVENTH STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 20.

IN view of the repeated announcement made by the democrats during the campaign and since that of the concessions of treasury officials that this do not will occur about the end of the first fiscal year of the democratic administration, the principal problem that is now vexing the financiers of the democratic party is how to raise sufficient revenues for the government without increasing and disorganizing the solemn statutes of the party platform to repeal the McKinley tariff.

TO begin with, the democrats are pledged to place wool on the free list and to materially reduce the duties upon certain woollen goods, which must reduce the revenues at least $10,000,000 a year.

THE deficit under the present laws is estimated at from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000, should nothing be done in the way of legislation raising or reducing the revenues.

INcreasing the Whisky Tax.
It has been suggested that the tax of 90 cents per gallon on whisky can be raised to $1.00, but this would be to increase the price of certain states which will raise a body and force their representation in congress more rebellious opposition.

THE deficit under the present laws is estimated at from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000, should nothing be done in the way of legislation raising or reducing the revenues.

Care was appointed by a Mr. Black, a member of the national committee of the Young Men's Democratic club. It is not recognized by Mr. Cleveland. The first correspondent is informed there will be a wall of war set up from over all the south.

Mr. E. Rosewater spent today in Washington, D. C., with friends and returned tonight to New York where he has been for some days and where he will be most of Omaha. Colonel A. F. Airborn, former of Omaha, now editor of the Daily Globe, Darnam, N. C., has been here several days rustating.

Chicago Tribune: "Aye! There's the rub!" said the grasshopper to the case of wool. "Aye! Wool!" responded the wool.

Philadelphia Ledger: The Klan of Klivia, who has never before been west of Moscow, is to visit London, and is on the Klivia eve of departure.

Philadelphia Times: As the orange is on the ticket for soup, who will be most of them? Almost everybody is inclined to knife him!

Philadelphia Times: "Why should I spend my money from my pocket? Right you are, J. Jones! The price of wool is open handed, can't do good work. So just you keep closed and you'll hold your own."

BROWNING, KING & CO. Largest Manufacturers and Retailers of Clothing in the World. Suckers. Are about the only kind of fish worth while trying to catch at this time of the year. At least the ordinary observer would think so to see the many flim flam games resorted to by the average seller of clothing. Our hook is baited with quality; price takes care of itself. If there is any virtue in quality—i. e. garments that will wear as long, look as well and are as good as tailored goods—the price cuts but mighty little figure. Our qualities are guaranteed to be the best. You get nothing inferior from us. Overcoats, ulsters, suits, lowest $10 and different prices up to $35 and $10, depending on the fabric, finish and style. But the price is for the best on earth. Browning, King & Co. Our store closes at 6:30 p. m., except Saturdays, when we close at 10 p. m.
