DUN'S REVIEW OF THE WEEK

Jay Could's Death Has Had a Slight Effect Upon the Speculative Market.

NEW ORDERS NOT COMING IN RAPIDLY

Except in Rollday Lines Business Has Dim-Inished in Votume Noticeably-Clearing House Statements-Wall Street for a Week - Business Notes

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 .- H. G. Dun's weekly review of trade says: 'The beginning of gold exports in November and their expected continuance this week, the death of Mr. Gould and the unfavorable reports from the silver conference have somewhat affected all speculative markets. There are also some symptoms of diminished activity in business, and while manufacturers are generally occupied with orders taken some time ago, there is more complaint that new orders do not come forward as was expected. While the volume of trade is still very large it is not surprising that there should be somewhat less activity during the remainder of the year, except in holiday lines. A set-back in speculation would be by no means an unmixed evil, but there are no signs of a disturbance at present, though money markets are working a chicago reports a good wholesale trade, with satisfactory collections, but the return of currency from the west is small and money is strong at 7 per cent. Money is in very active demand at Mil-wankee and business fairly good in spite of damp weather.

Colder weather is needed at Minneapolis, where collections are only fair and the flour market dull. There and at St. Paul trade is, on the whole, good.

Breadstuffs have been stronger, which is natural in view of the very low prices, though western receipts of wheat have been 4,500,000 bushels in four days, against Atlantic exports of only $24,000 bushels. A rise of about 1 cent in wheat and oats and three-quarters of 1 cent in corn, resulted from moderate transactions, but hogs and lard are slightly lower, and coffee declined a quarter; colton rose to 10 cents, and re-seted to 954, sales again exceeding all records, being 2,506,000 bales for the week.

Iron is weaker, with pressure to sell some southern brands. Copper has sold largely at 12 to 125 cents and lead is lower. Coal is fairly active and bituminous is scarce and dear. In dry goods the season has been one of unprecedented activity. A general boom and advance appears in cotton. Exports of merchandise from New York falls $5,277,000 below last year, in November, and are proba-bly $10,000,000 lower at cotton forts for the same month, but, even with this decrease, the excess of exports over imports must have been heavy.

The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days num-ber 269, as compared with a total of 209 last week; for the corresponding week of last year the figures were 330.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW OF TRADE. Cotton, North and South, Takes a Decided

New York, Dec. 2.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: The features of the week are the exceptionally favorable position of the cotton mills north and south, the heavy advance in the price of print cloths--114 to 4 11-16 cents-the outlook for a further advance to 6 cents a yard caused a buoyancy at the southern depositories for cotton, and the reaction in asking prices for some grades of pig iron of 25 cents per ton in northern markets, and of 50 cents per ton of steel billets. Four of the Augusta, Ga., sheeting and drill mills report a large business and good profits during last year, and this with the outlook for continued strong demand. No reasonable advance in the price of cotton can now curtail profits materially, for, as reported to Bradstreet's, mill owners at the south evi-dently have fair stocks of low-priced raw material.

In reply to our inquiry as to stocks of low-priced cotton on hand at eastern cotton mills or contracted for by them, our Boston correspondent writes that cotton goods manufacturers have sfocks of 8 cont cotton to carry them to April 1, and contracts for enough work at from 8 to 10 cents to geep them busy until the middle of June, 1893. A few mills have contracted ahead for an entire year.

few mills have contracted ahead for an entire year.

Wool is very quiet, with prices barely steady and no speculative feeling in any direction, mill owners buying for wants only. Our Australian takings are only one-half of those a year ago. Cotton has reacted somewhat from recent highest quotations, due to realizing sales. Obinion south as well as north has been expressed that short cotton crop estimates may be discounting the reduced yield too heavily. Some cotton fabrics, even prints, are less active than print cloths; woolens are quiet.

Philadelphia worsted spinners report business duil. The advance in ingrain carpets is maintained. Throughout the south, as indicated by advices from Galveston, Birming-ham.

cated by advices from Gaiveston, Birming-ham, New Orleans, Augusta, Atlanta, Charleston, Richmond and Memphis, Iancy groceries, fireworks and other Christmas specialties are in demand, with other wholesate lines relatively quiet. There is a good demand for rice, which is lower. Mercantile collections are said to be good generally, except where the cotton crop is exceptionally Battimore and St. Louis report fair filling orders from the south. Lumber is firm and in good demand at all markets, notably Bos-ton, Buffalo and Chicago. At the first ton, Buffalo and Chicago. At the first named city enormous sales of foreign hides have been made and shoe manufacturers are buying leather freely.

Coffee is firmer since the reaction, and is tending upwards.

General trade is brisk at Buffalo, where the lake and canal season has been profitable and receipts of Canadian sheep and lambs have been full

At Montreal general distribution trace will not be quite so active now that navigation has closed and, except with dealers in holiday goods, business is expected to be of mederate proportions until after the new year.

Shipments from Toronto in wholesale lines are fairly active and prices are firm. The demand for heavy weight dry goods has in-creased, as has that for dried fruit and sole leather on eastern account.

WEEK IN WALL STREET.

More Agitation Than Prices Show Has Been

Felt by Dealers. New York, Dec 2.-Bradstreet's weekly review says: Speculation for the past week was outwardly duil, narrow and professions to a degree. Beneath the surface, however, Wali street was experiencing a greater agitation than appears in the limited fluctuations in values, which constituted the actual trading for the greater portion of the time. The market has, in fact, simply been waiting for matters of importance to develop Mr. Gould's iliness and death ranks first in effect upon the sentiment of those operators who indulge in any activity.

The prospect of gold shipment on a large scale has also been a prominent factor in the proceedings, while the news from the silver conference was discussed with an interest that shows how keenly the street appreciates the bearing of the financial and currency problems that confront the country upon the

It must, however, be noted that the Brussels conference was influential mainly so far as it affected sentiment. It has been generally believed that the gathering would be negative of results. The fact that the only serious proposition for an international agreement on the silver question came from the English delegation, and was submitted by a member of the Rothschild family, was emicently calculated to create surprise. by a member of the Rothschild family, was eminently calculated to create surprise, while the utterances of the gentleman in question, indicating plainly that failure to accomplish anything at Brussels would be followed by danger to the finances of the world, tend to create the impression that the possibilities of a successful result had been under-estimated. The favorable impression under-estimated. The favorable impressions due to this circumstance were, however, not lasting. It was quickly realized that the de Rothschild proposition that Europe should purchase £5,000,000 of silver a rope should purchase £5,000,000 of silver a year for five years, involved the real concession on the part of England, while it would commit the United States for that period to the continuance of the purchase of $54,000,000 worth of silver. Followed up by lutimations that the American delegation at Brussels, regarding the suggestions as inadmissible and garding the suggestions as inadmissible and by the outspoken condemnation of banking authorities here, the feeling that the conference would accomplish nothing, and that an agitation for congressional action on the present silver law must be experienced, be came general and resulted in anticipation of

Will Hold Another Conference. It was decided to hold another joint conference at the city of Lincoin on the evening of December 31, at which it is expected every democratic and independent member-elect will be present. At this meeting the officers for the two houses of the legislature will be decided upon and all arrangements for the organization perfected. In fact, it is pro-posed to organize both houses at this meet-ing on New Year's eve, so that when the legislature convenes the following Tuesday there will be nothing to do but simply formally ratify the action of the joint caucus.

In the meantime the state central committees of both parties will be expected to meet and select members for a joint steering com-mittee to take entire charge of the work of carrying out the plans of the combination.

During the month of January, 1888, William H. Craig wrote to Rev. C. F. Creighton, president of the university, that he would give the sum of $25,000 for the endowment of the Charles H. Fowler professorship of Christian etnics, providing the trustees of the university would find some other party who would make an endowment of $50,000. This was acceptable to all of the parties concerned and there was a hustling to secure the $50,000 from the eastern friends of the school, but it was apparent that they did not succeed, for later on, at a meeting of the trustees they approached Mr. Craig with the proposition to take his gift, when turned over, and apply it in paying off some of the debts that had been incurred. Before such an agreement was reached, however, Craig died and the heirs refused to pay the money. ceed, for later on, at a meeting of Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 2 .- [Special to THE Brn. !- The democrats of this city who have been able today to skirmish around and find out just what was done at the conference last evening, are feeling considerably elated at the prospect of organizing the legislature and electing a United States senator of their own political faith. The corrected list of democrats and independents who had been invited to participate in the deliberations of the joint conference is as follows: Demo crats-A. J. Sawyer, Victor Vifquain and J. D. All were present at the meeting last night but Marvin and Campbell. The invited independents were as follows: John H. Powers of Culbertson, B. F. Allen of Wabash, W. L. Green of Kearney, W. A. How People Live in Berlin:

Frank Carpenter in his Berlin letter gives graphic pictures of everyday life in the German capital. He speaks of the crowded tenement houses and of the housands who live in cellars. He visited one house occupied by 1,500 people. He says: "As I looked at them and the people about them it struck me that the building was typical of the world. Every variety of life was going on among them. On one side I saw two women laughing. In another part a young girl and an old man were trying to teach a baby to walk, and as D toed there an undertaker came through with a little coffin containing a baby. under his arm and with its weeping mother following behind as its mourner. This building is known as 'Meyer's Mof.' and it is one of the largest tene-ment houses in Berlin."

How the Isle of Man is Governed:

An extraordinary letter by Wakeman about a people enjoying self-gov-ernment. The remarkable feature is found in the fact that the present system was inaugurated by King Orry. who gave Manxmen their first constitution, which, with slight modifications, exists and is in force as it was over 1,000 years ago. The letter is invaluable to students of history.

Last Hope of the Buffalo:

The slaughter of the American bison is a disgraceful story that has been told again and again, until the tragedy of this noble race has become a familiar tale. Few general readers, however, know that there is a possibility of the resurrection of the race, and that Omaha men are working earnestly to that end. THE SUNDAY BEE will tell the story of "Buffalo" Jones' adventures in capturing wild buffalo, and will review the progress made in domesticating and breeding the monarch of the plains. The bison is being broken to drive to yoke like the ox, and his fur is being woven into clothing soft as lamb's wool. These are but incidents in the salvation of the buffaio which makes a story of absorbing interest.
